36 But the people held their peace, and answered him not a word: for the kings commaundement was, saying, Answere yee him not.

37 Then Eliakim, the sonne of Hilkiah, which was steward of the house, and Shebnah the Chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the Recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes rent, and told him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

CHAP. XIX.

6 God promiseth by Isaiah victorie to Hezekiah. 33 The Angel of the Lord killeth an hundreth and fourescore and fiue thousand men of the Assyrians. 37 Sanherib is killed of his owne sonnes.

AND [a] when king Hezekiah heard it, hee rent his clothes, and put on sackecloth, and came into the house of the Lord,

2 And sent Eliakim which was the steward of the house, & Shebnah the Chancellor, and the Elders of the Priestes clothed in sackecloth, [a] to Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they sayd vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to [b] the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 It is be the Lord thy God hath heard all the wordes of Rabshakeh, whome the king of Assur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with words which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the [c] remnant that are left.

5 ¶ So the seruants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah sayd vnto them, So shall ye say to your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words which thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Assur haue blasphemed me.

7 Behold, I wil send a blast [d] vpon him, and he shall heare a noyse, and returne to his owne lande: and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 [e] He heard also men say of Tirhakah king of ‖ Ethiopia, [f] Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: he therefore departed and sent other messengers vnto Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, and say, Let not thy [g] God deceiue thee in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not bee deliuered into the hand of the king of Assur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Assur haue done to all lands, how they haue destroyed them: and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the heathen deliuered them which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were in Thelasar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went vp into the house of the Lorde, and Hezekiah spred it before the [h] Lord.

15 And Hezekiah [i] prayed before the Lord, and sayd, O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

16 Lord, [k] bowe downe thine eare, and heare: Lord open thine eyes and behold, and heare the words of Sanherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the [l] liuing God.

17 Trueth it is, Lord, that the kings of Assur haue destroyed the nations and their lands, 18 And haue set fire on their gods: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood and stone: therefore they destroyed them.

19 Now therefore, O Lord our God, I beseech thee, saue thou vs out of his hand, that all the [m] kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou O Lord, art onely God.

20 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel, I haue heard that which thou hast prayed me, concerning Sanherib king of Assur.

21 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, O [n] virgin, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: O daughter of Ierusalem, he hath shaken his head at thee.

22 Whom hast thou railed on, and whom hast thou blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted vp thine eyes on high? euen [o] against the Holy one of Israel.

23 By thy messengers thou hast railed on the Lord, and sayd, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the top of [p] mountaines, by the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie Cedars thereof, and the faire firre trees thereof, and I will goe into the [p] lodging of his borders, and into the forest of his ‖ Carmel.

24 I haue digged, and dunke the waters of others, and with the plant of my feet haue I dried all the ‖ floods closed in.

25 Hast thou not heard how I haue of old time made it, and haue formed it long ago? [q] and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and layd on ruinous heapes, as cities defenced?

26 Whose [r] inhabitants haue small power and are afraid, and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field, and greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or as corne blasted before it be growen.

1 Hezekiah is sicke, and receiueth the signe of his health. 12 He receiueth rewards of Berodach, 13 Sheweth his treasures, and is reprehended of Isaiah. 22 Hee dieth, and Manasseh his sonne reigneth in his stead.

2.Chron.32.24. isa.38.1.

A Bout that time a was Hezekiah sicke vnto death: and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz came to him, and sayde vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in an order: for thou shalt die, and not liue.

a That his mind might not bee troubled.

2 Then he turned his face to the b wall, and prayed to the Lord, saying, b Meaning, without all hypocrisie.

3 I beseech thee, O Lord, remember now, how I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a c perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah c wept sore.

c Not so much for his owne death as for feare that idolatrie should be restored, which he had destroyed, and so Gods name bee dishonoured.

4 ¶ And afore Isaiah was gone out into the middle of the court, the word of the Lord came to him, saying,

5 Turne againe, and tell Hezekiah the captaine of my people, Thus sayth the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy d prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I haue healed thee, and the third day thou shalt goe vp to the e house of the Lord.

d Because of his vnfained repentance and praier, God turned away his wrath.

6 And I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteen yeere, and will deliuer thee and this citie out of the hand of the king of Assur, and will defend this citie for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my seruants sake.

7 Then Isaiah sayd, Take a f lumpe of drye figs. And they tooke it, and laid it on the boyle, and he recouered.

f He declareth that albeit God can heale without other medicines, yet hee sheweth that he will not haue these inferiour meanes contemned.

8 ¶ For Hezekiah had sayd vnto Isaiah, What shall bee the signe that the Lord will heale mee, and that I shall goe vp into the house of the Lord the third day?

Eccluſ.48.24.

9 And Isaiah answered, This signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe that hee hath spoken, Wilt thou that the shadow goe forward tenne degrees, or g goe backe ten degrees?

g Let the Sunne go so many degrees backe that the houres may be so many the fewer in the kings diall.

10 And Hezekiah answered, It is a light thing for the shadow to passe forward tenne degrees: not so then, but let the shadow h goe backe ten degrees.

h Which diall was set in the top of the staires that Ahaz had made.

Isa 39.1.

12 ¶ * The same season Berodach Baladan the sonne of Baladan king of Babel, sent letters and a k present to Hezekiah: for he had heard how that Hezekiah was sicke.

k Being moued with ambition and vaine glory, and also because he seemed to reioyce in the friendshipof him that was Gods enemie and an infidel.

Chap.24.13. and 25.13. ierem 27 19.

13 And Hezekiah heard them, and shewed them all his treasure house, to wit, the siluer and the golde, and the spices, and the pretious ointment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, and in all his l realme, that Hezekiah shewed them not.

l I acknowledgeth Isaiah to be the true Prophet of God, and therefore humbleth himselfe to his word.

14 Then Isaiah the Prophet came vnto king Hezekiah, and sayd vnto him, What sayd these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah sayd, They be come from a farre countrey, euen from Babel.

15 Then sayd hee, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

16 And Isaiah said vnto Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord.

17 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and whatsoeuer thy fathers haue layd vp in store vnto this day, m shall be caried into Babel: Nothing shall bee left, sayth the Lord.

m Seeing that God hath shewed me this fauour to grant me quietnesse during my life: for he was afraid lest enemies should haue had occasion to reioice, if the Church had decayed in his time, because he had restored religion.

18 And of thy sonnes that shal proceed out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shalbe eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

19 Then Hezekiah said vnto Isaiah, The word of the Lord which thou hast spoken, is good: for, sayd he, Shall it not be good, if n peace and trueth be in my dayes?

n Concerning the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, and all his valiant deedes, and how he made a poole and a conduit, and brought water into the citie, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

21 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers: and Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXI.

3 King Manasseh restoreth idolatrie, 16 And vseth great cruelties. 18 He dieth, and Amon his sonne succeedeth, 23 Who is killed of his owne seruants. 26 After him reigneth Iosiah.

MAnasseh * was twelue yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned fiftie and fiue yeere in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Hephzi-bah.

2 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord after the abomination of the heathen, whom the* Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For hee went backe and built the high places, * which Hezekiah his father had destroyed: and hee erected vp altars for Baal, and made a groue, as did Ahab King of Israel, and worshipped all the hoste of heauen and serued them.

4 Also he* built altars in the house of the Lord, of the which the Lord sayd, * In Ierusalem will I put my Name.

5 And hee built altars for all the hoste of the heauen in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And hee caused his sonnes * to passe thorow the fire, and gaue himselfe to witchcraft and sorcerie, and he vsed them that had familiar spirites, and were soothsayers, and did much euil in the sight of the Lord to anger him.

7 And he set the image of the groue, that he had made in the house, whereof the Lord had sayd to Dauid & to Salomon his sonne, * In this house, and in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I make the feete of Israel moue any more out of the land, which I gaue their fathers: so that they wil * obserue and do all that I haue commanded them, and according to all the Law that my seruant Moses commanded them.

9 Yet they obeyed not, but Manasseh led them out of the way, to doe more wickedly then did the heathen people, whom the Lord destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 Therefore the Lorde spake by his seruants the Prophets, saying,

11 * Because that Manasseh king of Iudah hath done such abominations, and hath wrought more wickedly then all that the Amorites (which were before him) did, and hath made Iudah also sinne with his idoles, 12 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I wil bring an euil vpon Ierusalem and Iudah, that who so heareth of it, both his * eares shall * tingle.

13 And I will stretch ouer Ierusalem the line of * Samaria, and the plummet of the house of Ahab: and I will wipe Ierusalem, as a man wipeth a dish, which hee wipeth, and turneth it vpside downe.

14 And I will forsake the * remnant of mine inheritance, and deliuer them into the hand of their enemies, and they shall be robbed and spoyled of all their aduersaries, 15 Because they haue done euill in my sight, and haue prouoked me to anger, since the time their fathers came out of Egypt, vntill this day.

16 Moreouer Manasseh shed * innocent blood exceeding much, till he replenished Ierusalem from corner to corner, beside his sinne wherewith hee made Iudah to sinne, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord.

17 Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and all that he did, and his sinne that hee sinned, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

18 And Manasseh slept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his owne house, euen in the garden of Uzza: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

19 ¶ * Amon was two and twenty yeere old, when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned two yeere in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Iotbah.

20 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, as his father Manasseh did.

21 For he walked in all the way, that his father walked in, and serued the idoles that his father serued, and worshipped them.

22 And hee forsooke the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the * way of the Lord.

23 And the seruants of Amon conspired against him, and slew the King in his owne house.

24 And the people of the lande slewe all them that had conspired against King Amon, and the people made Iosiah his sonne King in his stead.

25 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amon, which hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

26 And ‖ they buried him in his sepulchre in the garden of Uzza: and Iosiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXII.

4 Iosiah repaireth the Temple. 8 Hilkiah findeth the booke of the Law, and causeth it to be presented to Iosiah, 12 Who sendeth to Huldah the Prophetesse to enquire the Lords will.

IOsiah was * eight yere old when he began to reigne, and hee reigned one and thirtie yeere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Iedidah, the daughter of Adaiah of Boscath.

2 And hee did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and * walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

3 ¶ And in the eighteenth yeere of King Iosiah, the King sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah, the sonne of Meshullam the chancellor, to the house of the Lord, saying,

4 Go vp to Hilkiah the high Priest, that hee may ‖ summe the siluer which is brought into the house of the Lord, which the keepers of the * doore haue gathered of the people.

14 ¶ So Hilkiah the Priest, & Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asahiah went vnto Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tikuah, the sonne of Harhas keeper of the wardrobe: (and she dwelt in Ierusalem in the g Colledge) and they communed with her.

9 Neuertheless the Priests of the hie places i came not vp to the altar of the Lord in Ierusalem, saue onely they did eate of the vnleauened bread among their brethren.

10 He defiled also k Topheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man should make his sonne or daughter passe through the fire to Molech.

11 Hee put downe also the l horses that the kings of Iudah had giuen to the sunne at the entring in of the house of the Lord, by the chamber of Nethan-melech the eunuch, which was ruler of the suburbes, and burnt the charets of the sunne with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Ahaz, which the kings of Iudah had made, and the altars with Manasseh had made in the two courts of the house of the Lord, did the king breake downe, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the m brooke Kedron.

13 Moreouer the king defiled the hie places that were before Ierusalem and on the right hande of the n mount of corruption (which o Salomon the king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the idole of the Zidonians, and for Chemosh the idole of the Moabites, and for Milchom the abomination of the children of Ammon)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, & cut down the groues, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore, p the altar that was at Beth-el, and the hie place made by Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, both this altar, and also the hie place brake hee downe, and burnt the hie place, and stampt it to powder and burnt the groue.

16 And as Iosiah turned himselfe, hee spied the graues, that were in the mount, and sent and tooke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the worde of the Lorde that the q man of God proclaimed which cryed the same wordes.

17 Then he said, What title is that which I see? And the men of the citie sayde vnto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Iudah, and tolde these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

18 Then said he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the r Prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Iosiah also tooke away all the houses of the hie places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to anger the Lord, and did to them according to all the factes that he had don in Beth-el.

20 And he sacrificed al the Priests of the hie places, that were there, vpon the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Ierusalem.

21 ¶ Then the King commanded all the people, saying, * Keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord your God, * as it is written in the booke of this couenant.

22 And there was no Passeouer holden q like that from the dayes of the Iudges that iudged Israel, nor in all the dayes of the Kings of Israel, and of the Kings of Iudah.

23 And in the eighteenth yeere of King Iosiah was this Passeouer celebrated to the Lord in Ierusalem.

24 Iosiah also tooke away them that had familiar spirits, and the soothsayers, and the images, and the idoles, and all the abominations that were espied in the lande of Iudah and in Ierusalem, to performe the wordes of the * Lawe, which were written in the booke that Hilkiah the Priest founde in the house of the Lord.

25 Like vnto him was there no king before him, that turned to the Lorde with all his heart, and with all his soule, and with all his might, according to all the Law of Moses, neither after him arose there any like him.

26 Notwithstanding the Lorde turned not from the s fiercenesse of his great wrath wherewith hee was angry against Iudah, because of all the prouocations wherewith Manasseh had prouoked him.

27 Therefore the Lord sayd, I will put Iudah also out of my sight, as I haue put away Israel, and will cast off this citie Ierusalem, which I haue chosen, and the house whereof I sayde, * My Name shall be there.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Iewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Grecians, because of the length, diuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories frō Adam to the returne from their captiuity in Babylon. But these are not those books of Chronicles, which are so often mentioned in the bookes of the Kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set forth the story of both the kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Iewes write, after their returne from Babylon. This first booke booke conteineth a briefe rehearsall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iaakob and the twelue Patriarkes, chiefly of Iudah and of the reigne of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth foorth more amply his actes, both concerning ciuill gouernement, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyceth, and giueth thankes to the Lord.

2 This was after the death of Ishbosheth Sauls sonne, when Dauid had reigned ouer Iudah seuen yeeres and sixe moneths in Hebron, 2 Sam. 5. 5. 2 And in time past, euen when Saul was king, thou leddest Israel out and in: and the Lord thy God said vnto thee, Thou shalt feede my people Israel, and thou shalt be captaine ouer my people Israel.

1. Sam. 16. 13. 3 So came all the Elders of Israel to the king to Hebron, and Dauid made a couenant with them in Hebron, before the Lord. And they anoynted Dauid king ouer Israel, * according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Samuel.

20 ¶ And Abishai the brother of Joab, he was chiefe of the three, and he lift vp his speare against three hundred, and slew them, and had the name among the three.

21 Among the three hee was more honourable then the two, and he was their captaine: * but hee attained not vnto the first three.

19 ¶ And of Manasseh some fell to Dauid, when hee came with the Philistims against Saul to battel but they [f] helped them not: for the princes of the Philistims by aduisement sent him away, saying, He will fall to his master Saul ‖ for our heads.

20 As he went to Ziklag there fell to him of Manasseh, Adnah, and Iozabad, and Iediael, and Michael, and Iozabad, and Elihu, and Zilthai, heads of the thousands that were of Manasseh.

21 And they helped Dauid against [g] that band: for they were all valiant men, & were captaines in the hoste.

22 For at that time day by day there came to Dauid to helpe him, vntill it was a great hoste, like the hoste of [h] God.

3 And we will bring againe the [a] Arke of our God to vs: for we sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs doe so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 ¶ [*] So Dauid gathered all Israel together from ‖ Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entring of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from [b] Kiriath-iearim.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Vzza, and he smote him, because he layed his hand vpon the Arke: so he died there [f] before God.

11 And Dauid was angry, because the Lord had made a breach in Vzza, and he called the name of that place Perez-Vzza vnto this day.

12 And Dauid feared God that day, saying, How shall I bring in to me the Arke of God?

10 Then Dauid asked counsell at God, saying, Shall I goe vp against the Philistims, and wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lord said vnto him, Goe vp: for I will deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came vp to Baal-perazim, and Dauid smote them there: and Dauid sayd, God hath diuided mine enemies with mine hand, as waters are diuided: therefore they called the name of that place, c Baal-perazim.

c That is, the valley of diuisions, because the enemies were dispersed there like waters.

12 And there they had left their gods: and Dauid sayd, Let them bee euen burnt with fire.

13 Againe the Philistims came and spred themselues in the valley.

14 And when Dauid asked againe counsell at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not go vp after them, but turne away from them, that thou mayest come vpon them ouer against the mulberie trees.

15 And when thou hearest the noyse of one going in the tops of the mulberie trees, then goe out to battel: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the host of the Philistims.

16 So Dauid did as God had commanded him: and they smote the host of the Philistims from Gibeon euen to Gezer.

17 And the fame of Dauid went out into all lands, and the Lord brought the feare of him vpon all nations.

ANd Dauid made him houses in the a citie of Dauid, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

a That was in the place of the city called Zion, 2. Sam. 5. 7, 9. Num. 4. 2, 20.

2 Then Dauid said, * None ought to carie the Arke of God but the Leuites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minister vnto him for euer.

3 ¶ And Dauid gathered all Israel together to Ierusalem to bring vp the b Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which he had ordeined for it.

b From the house of Obed Edom, 2. Sam. 6. 10, 12.

d The third son of Kohath, Exod. 6. 18.

10 Of the sonnes of Vzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundreth and twelue.

11 ¶ And Dauid called Zadok and Abiathar the Priests, and of the Leuites, Uriel, Asaiah, and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab:

12 And hee sayd vnto them, Yee are the chiefe fathers of the Leuites: e sanctifie your selues, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lorde God of Israel vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

e Prepare your selues, and be pure, absteine from all things whereby ye might be polluted, and so not able to come to the Tabernacle. Chap. 13. 10.

13 For * because yee were not there at the first, the Lord our God made a breach among vs: for we sought him not after f due order.

f According as he hath appointed in the Law. Exod. 25. 14, 15.

14 So the Priests and the Leuites sanctified themselues to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 ¶ And the sonnes of the Leuites bare the Arke of God vpon their shoulders with the barres, as Moses had commanded, * according to the word of the Lord.

16 And Dauid spake to the chiefe of the Leuites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with g instruments of musicke, with violes and harpes, and cymbals, that they might make a sound, and lift vp their voyce with ioy.

g These instruments and other ceremonies, which they obserued, were instructions of their infancie, which continued to the coming of Christ.

17 So the Leuites appointed Heman the sonne of Joel, and of his brethren Asaph the sonne of Berechiah, ‡ of the sonnes of Merari their brethren, Ethan ‖ sonne of Kushaiah, 18 And with them their brethren in the h second degree, Zechariah, Ben, ‡ Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, and Benaiah, ‡ Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphaleh, and Mikneiah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel the porters.

h Which were inferiour in dignitie.

19 So Heman, Asaph and Ethan were singers to make a sound with cymbales of brasse, 20 And Zechariah, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, Eliab, and Maaseiah, and Benaiah with violes on i Alamoth, 21 And Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneiah, and Obed Edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harpes vpon k Sheminith Ienazzeah.

22 But Chenaniah the chiefe of the Leuites l had the charge, bearing the burden in the charge, for he was able to instruct.

23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Shecaniah, m Iehoshaphat, and Nethaneel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer the Priests did blow with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed Edom and Iehiah were porters n for the Arke.

25 *So Dauid and the Elders of Israel & the captaines of thousands went to bring vp the Arke of the couenant of the Lorde from the house of Obed Edom with ioy.

26 And because that God o helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lorde, they offered p seuen bullockes and seuen rammes.

27 And Dauid had on him a linnen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke and the singers, and Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the singers: and vpon Dauid was a linnen q Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought vp the Arke of the Lordes couenant with shouting, and sound of cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a sound with violes and with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the r Couenant of the Lorde came into the citie of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out at a window, and saw king Dauid dancing and playing, and * she despised him in her heart.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Arke being placed, they offer sacrifices. 4 Dauid ordaineth Asaph and his brethren to minister before the Lord. 8 He appointeth a notable Psalme to be sung in prayse of the Lord.

So they brought in the Arke of God, and set it in the mids of the Tabernacle that Dauid had pitched for it, and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.

2 And when Dauid had made an end of offring the burnt offering and the peace offerings, hee s blessed the people in the Name of the Lord.

3 And hee dealt to euery one of Israel both man and woman, to euery one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottle of wine.

4 And he appointed certaine of the Leuites to minister before t Arke of the Lord, and to t rehearse and to thanke and prayse the Lord God of Israel,

5 Asaph the chiefe, and next vnto him Zechariah, Ieiel, and Shemiramoth, and Iehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, and Obed Edom, euen Ieiel with instruments, violes and harpes, and Asaph to make a sound with cymbales,

6 And Benaiah and Iahaziel Priestes, with trumpets continually before the Arke of the couenant of God.

7 Then at that time Dauid did u appoint at the beginning to giue thanks to the Lord by the hand of Asaph and his brethren.

8 *Prayse ye Lord, & call vpon his Name: declare his x workes among the people.

9 Sing vnto him, sing prayse vnto him, and talke of all his y wonderfull workes.

10 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the hearts of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

12 Remember his marueilous workes that he hath done, his wonders, and the z iudgements of his mouth, 13 O seede of Israel his seruaunt, O the children of Iaakob his a chosen.

14 Hee is the Lord our God: his iudgements are throughout all the earth.

15 Remember his couenant for euer, and the worde, which he commanded to a thousand generations:

38 And Obed Edom and his brethren, threescore and eight: and Obed Edom the sonne of Iedithun, and Hosah were porters.

CHAP. XVII.

3 Dauid is forbidden to build an house vnto the Lord. 12 Christ is promised vnder the figure of Salomon. 18 Dauid giueth thankes, 23 and prayeth vnto God.

NOw * afterwarde when Dauid dwelt in his house, he said to Nathan the Prophet, Behold, I dwell in an house of a cedar trees, but the Arke of the Lordes couenant remaineth vnder b curtaines.

2 Then Nathan said to Dauid, Do c all that is in thine heart: for God is with thee.

3 And the same d night euen the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 Go, and tel Dauid my seruant, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in:

5 For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bene from e tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.

6 Whereseuer I haue f walked with all Israel, spake I one worde to any of the Iudges of Israel (whom I commaunded to feede my people) saying, Why haue yee not built me an house of Cedar trees?

7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I tooke thee from the sheepecoate g and from following the sheepe, that thou shouldest bee a prince ouer my people Israel.

8 And I haue bene with thee whithersoeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue ‖ made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth:

9 (Also I will appoynt a place for my people Israel, and h will plant it, that they may dwell in their place, & moue no more: neither shall the i wicked people vexe them any more, as at the beginning,

10 And since the time that I commaunded Iudges ouer my people Israel) And I will subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord will k build thee an house.

11 And when thy dayes shall be fulfilled to goe with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seede after thee, which shall bee of thy sonnes, and will stablish his kingdome.

12 He shall build me an house, and I will stablish his throne for l euer.

13 I will be his father, and he shalbe my sonne, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before t thee.

14 But I wil establish him in mine house, and in my kingdom for euer, and his throne shall be established for euer.

15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to Dauid.

16 ¶ And Dauid the King m went in, and ‖ sate before the Lorde, and sayde, Who am I, O Lorde God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought mee n hitherto?

17 Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of o hie degree, O Lord God.

18 What can Dauid desire more of thee for the honour of thy seruant? for thou knowest thy seruant.

19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine p heart hast thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

20 Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we haue heard with our eares.

21 Moreouer, what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israel, whom God went to redeeme them to be his people, and to make thy selfe a Name, and to doe great and terrible things by casting out nations from before thy people, whom thou hast deliuered out of Egypt?

22 For thou hast ordeined thy people Israel to be thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become their God.

23 Therefore nowe Lorde, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruant and concerning his house, be confirmed for euer, and doe as thou hast sayd,

24 And let thy Name bee stable and magnified for euer, that it may bee sayde, The Lorde of hostes, God of Israel, is the God

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The battell of Dauid against the Philistims, 3 and against Moab, 3 Zobah, 5 Aram, 13 and Edom.

AND after this Dauid smote the Philistims, and subdued them, and tooke a Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistims.

2 And hee smote Moab, and the Moabites became Dauids seruants, and ‖ brought gifts.

3 ¶ And Dauid smote ‖ Hadarezer king of Zobah vnto Hamath, as he went to stablish his border by the riuer ‖ Perath.

4 And Dauid tooke from him a thousand charets, and seuen thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen, and destroyed all the charets, but he reserued of them an hundreth charets.

5 ¶ Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarezer king of Zobah, but Dauid slewe of the Aramites two and twenty thousand.

6 And Dauid put a garison in Aram of ‖ Damascus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruants, and brought gifts: and the Lord b preserued Dauid wherefoeuer he went.

7 And Dauid tooke the shields of golde that were of the seruants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

8 And from c Tibhath, and from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought Dauid exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the d brasen Sea, and the pillars and the vessels of brasse.

9 ¶ Then Tou king of Hamath heard how Dauid had smitten all the hoste of Hadarezer king of Zobah:

10 Therefore hee sent d Hadoram his sonne to king Dauid to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because hee had fought against Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who brought all vessels of golde, and siluer, and brasse.

11 And king Dauid did dedicate them vnto the Lord, with the siluer and gold that he brought from all the nations, from e Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

12 ¶ And Abishai the sonne of Zeruiah smote of Edom in the salt valley f eighteene thousand.

13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: and the Lord preserued Dauid wherefoeuer he went.

14 So Dauid reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to all his people.

15 And Ioab the sonne of Zeruiah was ouer the hoste, and Iehoshaphat the sonne of Ahilud Recorder.

16 And Zadok the sonne of Ahitub, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priests, and ‖ Shausha the Scribe.

17 And Benaiah the sonne of Iehoiada was ouer the g Cherethites and the Pelethites: and the sonnes of Dauid were chiefe about the king.

CHAP. XIX.

4 Hanun king of the children of Ammon doeth great iniuries to the seruants of Dauid. 6 Hee prepareth an armie against Dauid, 15 and is ouercome.

AFter this also a Nahash the king of the children of Ammon died, and his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And Dauid said, I will shew kindnesse vnto Hanun the sonne of Nahash, because his a father shewed kindnesse vnto me. And Dauid sent messengers to comfort him for his father. So the seruants of Dauid came into the lande of the children of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon sayde to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Dauid doeth honour thy father that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to b search, to serche, and to spie out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids seruants, and c shaued them, and cut off their garments by the halfe vnto the buttockes, and sent them away.

5 And there went certaine and tolde Dauid concerning the men: and hee sent to meete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the King sayd, Tarie at Iericho vntill your beards be growen: then returne.

6 ¶ When the children of Ammon saw that they ‖ stanke in the sight of Dauid, then sent Hanun and the children of Ammon a thousand talents of siluer to hire them charets and horsemen out of q Aram Naharaim, and out of Aram Maachah, and out of r Zobah.

7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousand charets, and the king of Maachah and his people which came and pitched before s Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselues together from their cities, and came to the battell.

8 ¶ And when Dauid heard, he sent Ioab and all the hoste of the valiant men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in aray at the gate of the citie. And the kings that were come, were by themselues in the field.

10 When Ioab saw that the front of the battell was against him before and behinde, then he chose out of all the choise of Israel, and set himselfe in aray to meete the Aramites.

2 [*] Then Dauid tooke the crown of their King from off his head, and found it the weight of a [b] talent of golde, with precious ſtones in it: and it was ſet on Dauids head, and he brought away the ſpoyle of the citie exceeding much.

3 And hee caried away the people that were in it, and cut them with ſawes, and with harrowes of yron, and with axes: euen thus did Dauid with all the cities of the children of Ammon. Then Dauid and all the people came againe to Ieruſalem.

6 And yet againe there was a battell at Gath, where was a man of a great ſtature, and his fingers were by [d] ſixes, euen foure and twenty, and was alſo the ſonne of Haraphah.

CHAP. XXI.

Dauid cauſeth the people to bee numbred, and there die ſeuentie thouſand men of the peſtilence.

AND Satan ſtood vp againſt Iſrael, and prouoked Dauid to number Iſrael.

2 Therefore Dauid ſayd to Ioab, and to the rulers of the people, Goe, and number Iſrael from [b] Beer-ſheba euen to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

3 And Ioab anſwered, The Lord encreaſe his people an hundreth times ſo many as they be. O my lord the king: are they not all my lords ſeruants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why ſhould he be a cauſe of [c] treſpaſſe to Iſrael?

13 And Dauid sayd vnto God, I am in a wonderfull straite: let mee now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seuentie thousand men.

15 ¶ And God sent the Angel into Ierusalem to destroy it. And f as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and g repented of the euill, and sayd to the Angel that destroyed, It is now enough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of ‖ Ornan the Iebusite.

16 And Dauid lift vp his eyes, and saw the Angel of the Lorde stand betweene the earth and the heauen with his sword drawen in his hand, and stretched out toward Ierusalem. Then Dauid and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17 And Dauid sayd vnto God, Is it not I that commaunded to number the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these sheepe, what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee, let thine hand be on me, and on my fathers house, and not on h thy people for their destruction.

18 ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord commanded Gad to say to Dauid, that Dauid should goe vp, and set vp an altar vnto the Lorde in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

19 So Dauid went vp according to the saying of Gad, which hee had spoken in the Name of the Lord.

20 And Ornan turned about, and sawe the Angel, and his foure sonnes that were with him, hid themselues, and Ornan threshed wheate.

21 And as Dauid came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw Dauid, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed himselfe to Dauid with his face to the ground.

22 And Dauid sayd to Ornan, Giue me the place of thy threshing floore, that I may build an k altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it mee for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 Then Ornan sayd vnto Dauid, Take it to thee, and let my lord the king doe that which seemeth him good: loe, I giue thee bullocks for burnt offerings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheat for meat offering, I giue it all.

24 And king Dauid sayd to Ornan, Not so: but I will buy it for sufficient l money: for I will not take that which is thine for the Lord, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

25 So Dauid gaue to Ornan for that place m fiue hundreth shekels of golde by weight.

26 And Dauid built there an altar vnto the Lord, and offered burnt offerings & peace offerings, and called vpon the Lord, and he n answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnes offering.

27 And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, he put vp his sword againe into his sheath.

28 At that time when Dauid saw that the Lorde had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29 (But the tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wildernesse, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the hie place at Gibeon.

2 And Dauid commanded to gather together the b strangers that were in the land of Israel, and he let masons to hew and polish stones to build the house of God.

3 c Dauid also prepared d much yron for the nailes of the doores and of the gates, and for the joynings, and abundance of braſſe passing weight,

4 And cedar trees without number: for the Zidonians and they of Tyrus brought much cedar wood to Dauid.

5 And Dauid sayd, Salomon my sonne is young and tender, and wee must build an house for the Lord, magnificall, excellent, and of great fame and dignitie throwout all countreys. I will therefore now prepare for him. So Dauid prepared very much before his death.

6 Then hee called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7 And Dauid sayd to Salomon, e My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lord my God,

8 But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, d e Thou hast shed much blood, and hast made great battels: thou shalt not build an house vnto my Name: for thou hast shed much blood vpon the earth in my sight.

9 Beholde, a sonne is borne vnto thee, which shall be a man of rest: for I will giue him rest from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I will send peace and quietnesse vpon Israel in his dayes.

10 f He shall build an house for my Name, and hee shall be my sonne, and I will be his Father, and I wil establish the throne of his kingdome vpon Israel for euer.

11 Now therefore my sonne, the Lord shall be with thee, and thou shalt g prosper, and thou shalt build an house to the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken of thee.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Dauid being olde, ordaineth Salomon king. 3 He causeth the Leuites to be numbred, and assigneth them to their offices. 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the high Priest. 14 The sonnes of Moses.

SO when Dauid was olde ‡ full of dayes, * hee made Salomon his sonne king ouer Israel.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Israel with the Priests and the Leuites.

3 And the Leuites were numbred from the age of thirtie yere and aboue, and their number according to their summe was eight and thirty thousand men.

4 Of these foure and twentie thousand were set ‖ to aduance the worke of the house of the Lord, ‡ fiue thousand were ouerseers and Iudges.

5 And foure thousand were porters, and foure thousand praysed the Lorde with instruments which ‡ hee made to prayse the Lord.

6 * So Dauid diuided offices vnto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Leui, to * Gershon, Kohath, and Merari.

7 Of the Gershonites were Laadan and Shimei.

8 The sonnes of Laadan, the chiefe was Iehiel, and Zetham, and Joel: three.

9 The sonnes of Shimei, Shelomith and Haziel, and Haran, three: these were the chiefe fathers of Laadan.

10 Also the sonnes of Shimei were Iahath, Zina, Ieush, and Beriah: these foure were the sonnes of Shimei.

11 And Iahath was the chiefe, and ‖ Zizah the second, but Ieush and Beriah had not many sonnes: therefore they were in the families of their father, counted but as one.

12 ¶ The sonnes of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, foure.

13 * The sonnes of Amram, Aaron, and Moses: and Aaron was separated to ‡ sanctifie the most holy place, he and his sonnes for euer to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his Name for euer.

14 ¶ Moses also the man of God, his children were named with the b tribe of Leui.

15 The sonnes of Moses were Gershom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the sonnes of * Gershom was Shebuel the chiefe.

17 And the sonne of Eliezer was Rehabiah the c chiefe: for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiah were very many.

18 The sonne of Izhar was Shelomith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of Hebron were Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekamiam the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Uzziel were Michah the first, and Ishiah the second.

21 ¶ The sonnes of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sonnes of Mahli, Eleazar and Kish.

22 And Eleazar died, and had no sonnes, but daughters, ‡ their * brethren the sonnes of Kish tooke them.

23 The sonnes of Mushi were Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui according to the house of their fathers, euen the chiefe fathers according to their offices, according to the number of names, and their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord from the age of * twentie yeeres and aboue.

25 For Dauid sayde, The Lord God of Israel hath giuen rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Jerusalem for euer.

26 And also the Leuites shall no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last words of Dauid, the Leuites were numbred from twenty yeere and aboue,

28 And their office was vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in the courts, and chambers, and in the ‡ purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the seruice of the house of God,

Dauid assigneth offices vnto the sonnes of Aaron,

THese are also the *diuisions of the sonnes of Aaron. The sonnes of Aaron were Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

5 Thus they distributed them by lot the one from the other, and so the rulers of the Sanctuarie, and the rulers of the house of God, were of the sonnes of Eleazar, and of the sonnes of Ithamar.

6 And Shemaiah the sonne of Nethaneel the Scribe of the Leuites, wrote them before the King and the Princes, and Zadok the Priest, and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar, and before the chiefe fathers of the Priests and of the Leuites, one family being reserued for Eleazar, and another reserued for Ithamar.

19 These were their orders according to their offices, when they entred into the house of the Lord according to their custome vnder the *hand of Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commaunded him.

20 ¶ And of the sonnes of Leui that remained of the sonnes of Amram, was Shubael, of the sonnes of Shubael, Jedaiah.

21 Of Rehabiah, euen of the sonnes of Rehabiah, the first Ishiah.

22 Of Izhari, Shelomoth, of the sonnes of Shelomoth, Jahath.

CHAP. XXVIII.

3 Because Dauid was forbidden to builde the Temple, he willeth Salomon and the people to performe it, 9 exhorting him to feare the Lord.

NOw Dauid assembled all the princes of Israel: the princes of the tribes, and the captaines of the bands that serued the king, and the captaines of thousands, and the captaines of hundreths, and the rulers of all the substance and possession of the king, and of his sonnes, with the i Eunuches, and the mightie, and all the men of power vnto Ierusalem.

2 And king Dauid stoode vp vpon his feete, and said, Heare yee me, my brethren and my people: I purposed to haue built an house of * rest for the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, and for a footestoole of our God, and haue made ready for the building,

3 But God said vnto mee, * Thou shalt not build an house for my Name, because thou hast bene a man of warre, and hast shed blood.

4 Yet the Lord God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father, to bee king ouer Israel for euer (for in Iudah would hee chuse a prince, and of the house of k Iudah is the house of my father, & among the sonnes of my father he delighted in mee to make me king ouer all Israel.)

5 * So of all my sonnes (for the Lord hath giuen me many sonnes) hee hath euen chosen Salomon my sonne to sit vpon the throne of the kingdome of the Lord ouer Israel.

6 And hee said vnto mee, Salomon thy sonne, he shal build mine house & my courts: for I haue chosen him to be my sonne, and I will be his father.

7 I will stablish therefore his kingdome for euer, if hee endeuour himselfe to doe my commaundements, and my iudgements, as * this day.

8 Now therefore in the sight of all Israel the Congregation of the Lord, and in the audience of our God, keepe and seeke for all the commandements of the Lord your God, that yee may possesse this d good land, and leaue it for an inheritance for your children after you for euer.

9 And thou, Salomon my sonne, know thou the God of thy father, and serue him with a perfect heart, & with a willing mind: * For the Lord searcheth all hearts, & vnderstandeth all the imaginations of thoughts: if thou seeke him, hee will be found of thee: but if thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for euer.

10 Take heed now, for the Lord hath chosen thee to build the house of the Sanctuarie: be strong therefore, and l doe it.

11 ¶ Then Dauid gaue to Salomon his sonne the paterne of the porche and of the houses thereof, and of the closets thereof, and of the galleries thereof, and of the chambers thereof that are within, and of the house of the mercie seate,

12 And the paterne of all that m he had in his minde for the courts of the house of the Lord, and for all the chambers round about, for the treasures of the house of God, and for the treasures of the dedicate things,

13 And for the courses of the Priests, and of the Leuites, and for all the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord, and for all the vessels of the ministerie of the house of the Lord.

14 Hee gaue of gold by weight, for the vessels of golde, for all the vessels of all maner of seruice, and al the vessels of siluer by weight, for al maner of vessels of al maner of seruice.

15 The weight also of gold for the n candlesticks, and gold for their lamps, with the weight for euery candlesticke, and for the lamps thereof, and for the candlesticks of siluer by the weight of the candlesticke, and the lamps thereof, according to the vse of euery candlesticke,

16 And the weight of the gold for the tables of shewbread, for euery table, and siluer for the tables of siluer,

17 And pure gold for the fleshhookes, and the bowles, and plates, and for balins, gold in weight for euery basin, and for siluer basins by weight for euery basin,

18 And for the altar of incense pure gold by weight, and golde for the paterne of the charet of the Cherubs, that spread themselues, and couered the Arke of the couenant of the Lord.

19 All, said he, by writing sent to mee o by the hand of the Lord which made mee vnderstand all the workemanshippe of the paterne.

20 And Dauid sayd to Salomon his sonne, Be strong, and of a valiant courage and doe it: feare not, be not afraid: for the Lord God, euen my God is with thee: he will not leaue thee nor forsake thee, till thou hast finished all the worke for the seruice of the house

CHAP. XXIX.

2 The offring of Dauid and of the princes for the building of the Temple. 10 Dauid giueth thanks to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to do the same. 22 Salomon is created King. 28 Dauid dieth, and Salomon his sonne reigneth in his stead.

MOreouer Dauid the King sayd vnto all the Congregation, God hath chosen Salomon mine onely sonne yong and tender, and the worke is great: for this house is not for man, but for the * Lord God.

2 Now I haue prepared with all my power for the house of my God, golde for vessels of golde, and siluer for them of siluer, and braſſe for things of braſſe, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood, and Onyx stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones, and of diuers colours, and all precious stones, and marble stones, in abundance.

3 Moreouer, because I haue † delight in the house of my God, I haue of mine owne golde and siluer, which I haue giuen to the house of my God, beside all that I haue prepared for the house of the Sanctuarie,

4 Euen † three thousand talents of gold of the golde of Ophir, and seuen thousande talents of tried siluer to ouerlay the walles of the houses.

5 The golde for the things of golde, and the siluer for things of siluer, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is ‡ willing to fill his hande to day vnto the Lord?

6 So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the captaines of thousands and of hundreds, with the Rulers of the Kings worke, offered willingly,

7 And they gaue for the seruice of the house of God, fiue thousand talents of gold, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousande talents of siluer, and eighteene thousand talents of braſſe, and one hundreth thousand talents of yron.

8 And they with whom precious stones were * found, gaue them to the treasure of the house of the Lorde, by the hand of Jehiel the Gershunnite.

9 And the people reioyced when they offered willingly: for they offered willingly vnto the Lord, with a † perfect heart. And Dauid the King also * reioyced with great ioy.

10 Therefore Dauid blessed the Lord before all the Congregation, and Dauid sayd, Blessed be thou, O Lord God of ‡ Israel our father, for euer and euer.

11 Thine, O Lord, is greatnesse, † power, and glory, and victorie, and praise: for all that is in heauen and in earth is thine: thine is the kingdome, O Lorde, and thou exalt lest as head ouer all.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest ouer al, and in thine hand is power and strength, and in thine hand it is to make great, & to giue strength vnto all.

13 Now therefore our God we thanke thee, and praise thy glorious Name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer willingly after this sort? for all things † come of thee: and of thine owne hand we haue giuen thee.

15 For we are † strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadow vpon the earth, and there is none † abiding.

16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that we haue prepared to build thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand, and all is thine.

17 I know also, my God, that thou * triest the heart, and hast pleasure in righteousnes: I haue offered willingly in the vprightnesse of mine heart al these things: now also haue I seene thy people which are founde here, to offer vnto thee willingly with ioy.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Isaak and Israell our fathers, keepe this for euer in the * purpose, and the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts vnto thee.

19 And giue vnto Salomon my sonne a perfite heart to keepe thy commandements, thy testimonies and thy statutes, and to do all things, and to builde the house which I haue prepared.

20 ¶ And Dauid said to all the Congregation, Now blesse the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord, and the † King.

21 And they offered sacrifices vnto the Lorde, and on the morrow after that day, they offered burnt offerings vnto the Lord, euen a thousande yong bullockes, a thousand rammes, and a thousand sheepe, with their * drinke offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

22 And they did eate, and drinke before the Lord the same day with great ioy, and they made Salomon the sonne of Dauid King the second time, and anoynted him Prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the Priest.

23 So Salomon sate on the * throne of the Lord, as King in stead of Dauid his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes † men of power, and all the sonnes of King Dauid † submitted themselues vnder King Salomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignitie, in the sight of all Israel, and gaue him so glorious a kingdome, as no King had before him in Israel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis second booke conteineth briefly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two bookes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this story are certaine things declared and set forth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, & therfore serue greatly to the vnderstanding of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered. First that the godly Kings, when they sawe the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, & the plagues remooued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his Religion, should ioyne in amitie with the wicked. And thirdly, how the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, & were very zealous to set forth his Religion throughout all their dominions, & contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, deposed them, and for the true Religion and word of God, set vp idolatry, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe actes from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yeere of Darius, and containe in the whole, three thousand fiue hundreth, threescore and eighteene yeeres, and sixe moneths.

CHAP. I.

6 The offering of Salomon at Gibeon. 8. His prayeth vnto God to giue him wisdome. 11. Which he giueth him and more. 14. The number of his charets and horses. 15. And of his riches.

THen Salomon the sonne of Dauid was ‖ confirmed in his kingdome: and the Lord his God was with him, and magnified him highly.
2 And Salomon ª spake vnto all Israel, to the captaines of thousands, and of hundreths, and to the Iudges and to all the gouernours in all Israel, euen the chiefe fathers.
3 So Salomon and all the congregation with him went to the high place that was at ᵇ Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle ᶜ of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wildernesse.
4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kiriath-iearim, when Dauid had made preparation for it: for hee had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.
5 Moreouer the ᵈ brasen Altar that Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomon and the Congregation sought it.
6 And Salomon offered there before the Lord vpon the brasen Altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: ᵉ euen a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.
7 ¶ The same night did God appeare vnto Salomon, and sayde vnto him, Aske what I shall giue thee.
8 And Salomon sayde vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy vnto Dauid my father, and hast made mee to reigne in his stead.
9 Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy promise vnto Dauid my father bee ᶠ true: for thou hast made mee King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.
10 Giue mee now wisedome and knowledge, that I may goe out and goe in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?
11 And God sayde to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures, nor honour, nor the ᵍ liues of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisedome and knowledge, that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee King, 12 Wisedome and knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches, and treasures ᵍ honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the Kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there be the like.
13 Then Salomon came from the high place that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israel.
14 ʰ And Salomon gathered the charets and horsemen: and hee had a thousande and foure hundreth charets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whom hee placed in the ᵏ charet cities, and with the king at Ierusalem.
15 And the King gaue siluer and golde at Ierusalem as ‡ stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wilde figge trees, that are abundant in the plaine.
16 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt and ˡ fine linnen: ᵐ the Kings merchants receiued the fine linnen for a price.
17 They came vp and brought out of Egypt some charet, worth six hundreth shekels of siluer, and an horse for an hundreth and fifty: and thus they brought horses to all the Kings of the Hittites, and to the Kings of Aram by their meanes.

CHAP. II.

2 The number of Salomons workemen to build the Temple. 3 Salomon sendeth to Hiram the king of Tyrus for wood and workemen.

THen Salomon determined to build an house for the Name of the Lord, and an house for his kingdome.

2 And Salomon told out seuentie thousand that bare burdens, and fourescore thousand men to hewe stones in the mountaine, and three thousand and a fyre hundred to ouersee them.

3 And Salomon sent to ‖ Huram the king of Tyrus, saying, As thou hast done to Dauid my father, and diddest a sende him Cedar trees to build him an house to dwell in, so doe to me.

4 Beholde, I build an house vnto the Name of the Lorde my God, to sanctifie it vnto him, and to burne sweete incense before him, and for the continuall shew bread, and for the burnt offerings of the morning, and euening, on the Sabbath dayes, and in the new moneths, and in the solemne feasts of the Lord our God: that is a perpetuall thing for Israel.

5 And the house which I build, is great: for great is our God aboue all gods.

6 Who is hee then that can bee able to build him an house, when the heauen, & the heauen of heauens can not conteine him? who am I then that I should build him an house: but I do it to burne b incense before him

7 Send me now therefore a cunning man that can worke in golde, in siluer, & in braße, and in yron, and in purple, and ‖ crimsin, and blue silke, and that can graue in grauen worke with the cunning men that are with me in Iudah and in Ierusalem, whom Dauid my father hath prepared.

8 Send me also Cedar trees, firre trees and a ‖ Algummim trees from Lebanon: for I know that thy seruants can skill to hewe timber in Lebanon: and behold, my seruants shalbe with thine, 9 That they may prepare me timber in abundance: for the house which I do build, is great and wonderfull.

10 And beholde, I will giue to thy seruants the cutters and the hewers of timber, twenty thousand measures of beaten wheat and twentie thousand measures of barley, and twenty thousande baths of wine, and twenty d thousand baths of oyle.

11 Then Huram king of Tyre answered in writing which hee sent to Salomon, Because the Lord hath loued his people, hee hath made thee king ouer them.

12 Huram said moreouer, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which made the heauen and the earth, and that hath giuen vnto Dauid the king a e wise sonne that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to build an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

13 Now therefore I haue sent a wise man, and of vnderstanding of my father Hurams.

14 The sonne of a woman of the daughters of Dan: and his father was a man of Tyrus, and he can skill to worke in golde, in siluer, in braße, in iron, in stone, and in timber, in purple, in blue silke, and in fine linnen, and in crimolin, and can graue in all grauen workes, and deuiser in all broudred worke that shall be giuen him, with thy cunning men, and with the cunning men of my lord Dauid thy father.

15 Nowe therefore the wheate and the barley, the oyle, and the wine, which my lord hath spoken of, let him sende vnto his seruants.

16 And wee will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt neede, and will bring it to thee in ‖ rafters by the sea to ‖ Iappho, & thou mayest carie them to Ierusalem.

17 ¶ And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbring that his father Dauid had numbred them: and they were found an hundreth and three and fiftie thousand, and fyre hundreth.

18 And he set seuentie thousand of them to the burden, and fourescore thousand to hew stones in the mountaine, and three thousand and fyre hundreth ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

1 The Temple of the Lord and the porch are builded, with other things thereto belonging.

SO a Salomon beganne to build the house of the Lorde in Ierusalem, in Mount b Moriah which had beene declared vnto Dauid his father, in the place that Dauid prepared in the threshing floore of c Ornan the Iebusite.

2 And he beganne to build in the second moneth and the second day, in the fourth yeere of his reigne.

3 And these are the measures, wherein Salomon grounded to build the house of God: the length of cubites after the first d measure was threescore cubites, & the breadth twentie cubites:

4 And the porch, that was before the length in the front of the breadth was twentie cubites, and the height was an e hundreth and twentie, and he ouerlaid it within with pure gold.

5 And the greater house hee sieled with firre tree which hee ouerlayde with good golde, and graued therein palme trees and chaines.

6 And he ouerlayde the house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was golde of f Paruaim.

7 The house, I say, the beames, postes, and walles thereof, and the doores thereof ouerlayde hee with golde, and graued Cherubims vpon the walles.

8 ¶ Hee made also the house of the most holy place: the length thereof was in the front of the breadth of the house, twenty cubites, and the breadth thereof twentie cubites: and he ouerlaid it with the best golde, of fyre hundreth talents.

9 And the weight of the nailes was fiftie shekels of golde, and he ouerlayd the chambers with gold.

6 ¶ He made also ten caldrons, and put five on the right hande, and five on the left, to wash in them, and to cleanse in them that which appertained to the burnt offerings: but the Sea was for the Priestes to wash in.

7 ¶ And hee made ten candlesticks of golde, (according to [e] their forme) and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left.

8 ¶ And hee made ten tables, and put them in the Temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left: and hee made an hundred basens of gold.

9 And he made the court of the Priests, and the great [f] Court, and doores for the Court, and overlayed the doores thereof with brasse.

10 And hee set the Sea on the right side Eastward toward the South.

11 And Huram made ‖ pots, and besoms, and basens, and Huram finished the worke that he should make for king Salomon for the house of God,

12 To wit, two pillars, and the bowles and the chapiters on the top of the two pillars, & two grates to couer the two bowles of the chapiters, which were vpon the top of the pillars:

13 And foure hundreth pomegranates for the two grates, two rowes of pomegranates for euery grate to couer the two bowles of the chapiters, which were vpon the pillars.

14 Hee made also bases, and made caldrons vpon the bases:

15 And a Sea, and twelue bulles vnder it:

16 Pots also and besoms, and fleshhookes, and all their vessels made Huram his [h] father to king Salomon for the house of the Lord, of shining brasse.

17 In the plaine of Jorden did the king cast them in clay, betweene Succoth and Zeredathah.

18 And Salomon made all these vessels in great abundance: for the weight of brasse could not be reckoned.

19 And Salomon made also these vessels that were for the house of God: the golden altar also & the tables whereon the [h] shewbread stood.

20 Moreouer the candlesticks with their lamps to burne them after the maner, before the Oracle, of pure gold:

21 And the flowres, and the lamps, and the snuffers of gold, which was fine gold:

21 And the ‖ bookes, and the basens, and the spoones, and the ashpans of pure golde: the entry also of the house and doores thereof within, euen of the most holy place: and the doores of the house, to wit, of the Temple were [i] of gold.

5 And they carted vp the Arke, and the Tabernacle of the Congregation: & all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests and Leuites bring vp.

6 And king Salomon and all the Congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke offering sheepe and bullockes, which could not be told nor numbred for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the most holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims.

3 Salomon blesseth the people. 4 He praiseth the Lord. 14 He prayeth vnto God for those that shall pray in the Temple.

1.King.8.12. a After that he had seene the glory of the Lord in the cloud.

THen a Salomon a sayd, The Lord hath sayd, that he would dwell in the darke cloud:

2 And I haue built thee an house to dwell in, an habitation for thee to dwell in for euer.

3 And the king turned his face, and blessed all the Congregation of Israel, (for all the Congregation of Israel stood there.)

4 And he said, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouth vnto Dauid my father, and hath with his ‖ hand fulfilled it, saying,

‖ Or, power.

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no citie of all the tribes of Israel to build an ‖ house, that my Name might be there, neither chose I any man to be a ruler ouer my people Israel:

‖ Or, Temple

6 But I haue chosen Ierusalem, that my Name might be there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

7 a And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to build an house vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

2.Sam.7.3.

8 But the Lord said to Dauid my father, (Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house vnto my Name, thou didst well that ‡ thou wast so minded.

‡ Ebr. that it was in thine heart.

9 Notwithstanding thou shalt not build the house, but thy sonne which shal come out of thy loynes, he shall build an house vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hath performed his word that he spake: and I am risen vp in the roume of Dauid my father, & am set on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised, and haue built an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

11 And I haue set the Arke there, wherein is the b Couenant of the Lord, that hee made with the children of Israel.

b Meaning, the two Tables, wherein is conteined the effect of the couenant, that God made with our fathers.

12 (And the King c stood before the altar of the Lord, in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands, c On a scaffold that was made for that purpose, that he praying for the whole people, might be heard of all, as 1.King.8.22.

13 (For Salomon had made a brasen scaffold, and set it in the mids of the court, of fine cubites long, and fiue cubites broad, and three cubites of height, and vpon it he stood, and kneeled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israel, & d stretched out his hands toward heauen)

d Both to giue thanks for the great benefits of God bestowed vpon him, & also to pray for the perseuerance and prosperitie of his people.

14 And sayde, O Lorde God of Israel, e there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepest couenant, and mercy vnto thy seruaunts, that walke before thee with all their heart.

e 2.Mac.2.8.

15 Thou that hast kept with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine ‖ hand, as appeareth this day.

‖ Or, in effect, or by thy power.

16 Therefore nowe Lord God of Israel, keepe with thy seruaunt Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou ‡ shalt not want a man in my sight, that shall sit vpon the throne of Israel: so that thy sonnes take heed to their waies, to walke in my Law, as thou hast walked before me.

‡ Ebr. a man shall not be cut off.

17 And now, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy seruant Dauid.

f 1.King.8.27.

19 But haue thou respect to the prayer of thy seruaunt, and to his supplication, O Lord my God, to heare the crie and prayer which thy ſeruant prayeth before thee,

20 That thine e eies may be open toward this houſe day and night, euen toward the place, whereof thou haſt ſaid that thou wouldeſt put thy Name there, that thou mayeſt hearken vnto the prayer, which thy ſeruaunt prayeth in this place.

21 Heare thou therefore the ſupplication of thy ſeruaunt, and of thy people Iſrael, which they pray in this place: & heare thou in the place of thine habitation, euen in heauen, and when thou heareſt, be mercifull.

22 ¶ * When a man ſhall ſinne againſt his f neighbour, and he lay vpon him an othe to cauſe him to ſweare, & the ‡ ſwearer ſhall come before thine altar in this houſe,

24 ¶ And when thy people Iſrael ſhall be ouerthrowen before the enemie, becauſe they haue ſinned againſt thee, and turne againe and ‖ confeſſe thy Name, and pray, and make ſupplication before thee in this houſe,

25 Then heare thou in heauen, and bee mercifull vnto the ſinne of thy people Iſrael, and bring them againe vnto the land which thou gaueſt to them and to their fathers.

29 Then what prayer and ſupplication ſoeuer ſhall be made of any man, or of all thy people Iſrael, when euery one ſhall know his owne plague, and his owne diſeaſe, and ſhall ſtretch forth his hands toward this houſe, 31 That they may feare thee, and walke in thy wayes as long as they liue in the land which thou gaueſt vnto our fathers.

32 ¶ Moreouer, as touching the ſtranger which is not of thy people Iſrael, who ſhall come out of a farre country for thy great Names ſake, and thy mightie hand, and thy ſtretched out arme: when they ſhall come and pray in this houſe,

33 Heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, and do according to all that the ſtranger calleth for vnto thee, that all the people of the earth may know thy Name, and feare thee like thy people Iſrael, and that they may know, that thy Name is called vpon in this houſe which I haue built.

34 ¶ When thy people ſhall go out to battell againſt their enemies, by the way that k thou ſhalt ſend them, and they pray to thee, ‖ in the way toward this citie, which thou haſt choſen, euen toward the houſe which I haue built to thy Name,

35 Then heare thou in heauen their prayer and their ſupplication, and iudge their cauſe.

36 If they ſinne againſt thee (* for there is no man that ſinneth not) and thou be angry with them, and deliuer them vnto the enemies, and they take them and carie them away captiue vnto a land farre or neere,

37 If they ‖ ſtirre againe to their heart in the land whither they bee caried in captiues, and turne and pray vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie, ſaying, We haue ſinned, wee haue tranſgreſſed and haue done wickedly,

39 Then heare thou in heauen, in y place of thine habitation their prayer & their ſupplication, and ‖ iudge their cauſe, & be mercifull vnto thy people, which haue ſinned againſt thee.

40 Nowe my God, I beſeech thee, let thine eyes be open, & thine eares attent vnto the prayer that is made in this place.

41 * Now therefore ariſe, O Lord God, to come into thy l reſt, thou, and the Arke of thy ſtrength: O Lord God, let thy Prieſts be clothed with m ſaluation, & let thy Saints reioyce in goodneſſe.

sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And king Salomon offered a sacrifice of two and twenty thousand bullockes, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheepe. So the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priests waited on their offices, and the Leuites with the instruments of musicke of the Lord, which king Dauid had made to praise the Lord, Because his mercie lasteth for euer: when Dauid praised God † by them, the Priests also blew trumpets ouer against them: and all they of Israel stood by.

7 Moreouer Salomon halowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there he had prepared burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brasen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receiue the burnt offering, and the meate offring, and the fat.

8 And Salomon made [b] a feast at that time of seuen dayes, † all Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entring in of Hamath, vnto the riuer of Egypt.

b The feast of the Tabernacles which was kept in the seuenth moneth.

9 And in the eight day they [c] made a solemne assembly: for they had made the dedication of the altar seuen dayes, and the feast seuen dayes.

c They assembled to heare the word of God after that they had remained seuen dayes in the boothes or Tabernacles.

10 And the [d] three and twentieth day of the seuenth moneth, he sent the people away into their tents, ioyning and with glad heart because of the goodnesse that the Lord had done to Dauid and to Salomon, and to Israel his people.

d They had leaue to depart the two and twentieth day, 1 Kings. 8. 66. but they went not away till the next day. 1. Kings. 9. 1. Numb. 12, 8.

11 So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart, to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 ¶ And the Lord * appeared to Salomon by night, and said to him, I haue heard thy prayer, and haue chosen this place for my selfe to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heauen that there bee no raine, or if I commaund the grashopper to deuoure the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people, among whom my Name is called vpon, doe humble themselues and pray, and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked waies, then will I heare in heauen, and be mercifull to their lande, and will [e] heale their land:

e I will cause the pestilence to cease and destroy the beasts that hurt the fruits of the earth, and send raine in due season.

15 Then mine eyes shall be open, & mine eares attent vnto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I haue now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for euer; and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as Dauid thy father walked, to doe according vnto all that I haue commaunded thee, and shalt obserue my statutes and my iudgements, 18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdome, according as I made the couenant with Dauid thy father, saying, * Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

Chap. 6. 16.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statutes and my commaundements which I haue set before you, and shal go and serue other gods, and worship them,

20 Then will I plucke them vp out of my land which I haue giuen them, and this house which I haue [f] sanctified for my Name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a prouerbe and a common talke among all people.

f Which thing declareth that God had more respect to their saluation, then to the aduancement of his owne glory: and wherein men abuse those things, which God hath appointed to set forth his prayse, he doeth withdraw his graces thence.

21 And this house which is most hie, shall be an astonishment to euery one that passeth by it, so that hee shall say, Why hath the Lorde done thus to this lande, and to this house?

22 And they shall answere, Because they forsooke the Lorde God of their fathers, which brought them out of the lande of Egypt, and haue taken holde on other gods, and haue worshipped them, & serued them, therefore hath he brought all this euill vpon them.

9 Then shee gaue the King threescore talents of gold, & of sweete odours exceeding much, and precious stones: neither was there such sweet odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue vnto king Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and the seruants of Salomon which brought golde from Ophir, brought d Algummim wood and precious stones.

11 And the king made of the Algummim wood * staires in the house of the Lorde, and in the Kings house, and harpes and violes for singers: and there was no such seene before in the land of Iudah.

12 And King Salomon gaue to the Queene of Sheba, euery pleasant thing that shee asked, ‖ besides for that which shee had brought vnto the king: so she returned and went to her owne country, both she, and her seruants.

13 ¶ Also the weight of golde that came to Salomon in one yeere, was sixe hundreth, threescore and sixe talents of gold, 14 Besides that which chapmen & marchants brought: and all the Kings of Arabia, and the princes of the country brought gold and siluer to Salomon.

15 And King Salomon made two hundreth targets of beaten gold, and e sixe hundreth shekels of beaten golde went to one target, 16 And three hundreth shields of beaten golde: three hundreth f shekels of gold went to one shield, and the King put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

17 And the king made a great throne of yuorie, and ouerlayd it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had sixe steppes, with a foote stoole of gold ‖ fastened to the throne, and rayes on either side on the place of the seate, and two lyons standing by the ‖ rayes.

19 And twelue lions stood there on the sixe steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdome.

20 And all King Salomons drinking vessels were of golde, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure gold: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruants of Huram, euery three yeres once came the ships of ‖ Tarshish, and brought golde, and siluer, yuorie and apes, and peacockes.

22 So King Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and wisedome.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisedome that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of gold, and raiment, armour, and sweete odours, horses, and mules from yeere to yeere.

CHAP. X.

4. 14 The rigor of Rehoboam. 13 He followeth lewd counsell. 16 The people rebell.

THen * Rehoboam * went to Shechem: for to Shechem came all Israel to make him king.

2 And when Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat heard it (which was in Egypt, whither he had fled from the presence of Salomon the king) he returned out of Egypt.

3 And they sent and called him: so came Ieroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying,

4 Thy father made our yoke grieuous: now therefore make thou the grieuous seruitude of thy father, and his sore yoke, that he put vpon vs, lighter, and we will serue thee.

5 And he said vnto them, Depart yet three dayes, then come againe vnto me. And the people departed.

6 And king Rehoboam tooke counsell with the olde men that had stood before Salomon his father, while he yet liued, saying, What counsell giue ye that I may answere this people?

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kinde to this people, and please them and speake louing words to them, they will be thy seruants for euer.

8 But he left the counsell of the ancient men that they had giuen him, and tooke counsell of the yong men that were brought vp with him, and * wayted on him.

9 And he said vnto them, What counsell giue yee, that we may answere this people, which haue spoken to me, saying, Make the yoke which thy father did put vpon vs, lighter?

10 And the yong men that were brought vp with him, spake vnto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answere the people that spake to thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heauie, but make thou it lighter for vs: thus shalt thou say vnto them, My ‖ least part shall be bigger then my fathers loynes.

11 Now whereas my father did burden you with a grieuous yoke, I will yet increase your yoke: my father hath chastised you with roddes, but I will correct you with ‖ scourges.

12 ¶ Then Ieroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying, Come againe to me the third day.

13 And the king answered them sharply: and king Rehoboam left the counsell of the ancient men, 14 And spake to them after the counsell of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I will increase it: my father chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the * ordinance of God, that the Lord might perfourme his saying, which he had spoken ‡ by Ahiah the Shilonite to Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israel saw that the king would not heare them, the people answered the king, saying, * What portion haue we in Dauid? for we haue none inheritance in the sonne of Iisai. O Israel, euery man to your tents: now see to thine owne house, Dauid. So all Israel departed to their tents.

17 Howbeit Rehoboam reigned ouer the children of Israel, that dwelt in the cities of Iudah.

18 Then king Rehoboam sent Hadoram that was * ouer the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: then king Rehoboam ‡ made speed to get him vp to his charet, to flee to Ierusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of Dauid vnto this day.

AND * when Rehoboam was come to Ierusalem, he gathered of the house of Iudah and * Beniamin nine score thousand chosen men of warre to fight against * Israel, and to bring the kingdome again to Rehoboam.

4 Thus saith the Lord, Ye shall not goe vp, nor fight against your brethren: returne euery man to his house: for this thing is done of me. They obeyed therefore the worde of the Lord, & returned from going against Ieroboam.

12 And in all cities he put shieldes and so Iudah and Beniamin were his.

13 ¶ And the Priests & the Leuites that were in all Israel, ‡resorted vnto him out

14 For the Leuites left their suburbes, and their possession, and came to Iudah and to Ierusalem: * for Ieroboam & his sonnes had cast them out from ministring in the Priests office vnto the Lord.
15 * And he ordeined him priests for the 16 And after the Leuites there came to Ierusalem of all the tribes of Israel, such as set their ᵉ hearts to seeke the Lord God of 17 So they strengthened the kingdome of Iudah, and made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon mighty, three yeere long: for three yere they ᶠ walked in the way of Dauid and Salomon.

18 ¶ And Rehoboam tooke him Mahalath the daughter of Ierimoth the sonne of Dauid to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Ishai, 19 Which bare him sonnes, Ieush, and Shemariah, and Zaham.
20 And after her hee tooke Maakah the daughter of Absalom which bare him Abiiah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.
21 And Rehoboam loued Maakah the daughter of Absalom aboue all his wiues and his concubines: for he tooke eighteene wiues, and threescore concubines, and begat eight and twenty sonnes, and threescore

22 And Rehoboam made ᵍ Abiiah the

1 Rehoboam forsaketh the Lord & is punished by Shishak. 5 Shemaiah reproueth him. 6 He humbleth himselfe. 7 God sendeth him succour. 9 Shishak taketh his treasures. 13 His reigne and death. 16 Abiiah his sonne succeedeth him.

AND ‖when Rehoboam had established the kingdome and made it strong, hee forsooke the Law of the Lord, and ‖all Israel with him.
2 Therefore in the fift yeere of king Rehoboam, Shishak the king of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem (because they had transgressed against the Lord)
3 With twelue hundreth charets, and threescore thousand horsemen, and the people were without number, that came with him from Egypt, euen the Lubims, ᵇ Sukkiims, and the ‖Ethiopians.
4 And he tooke the strong cities which were of Iudah, and came vnto Ierusalem.
5 ¶ Then came Shemaiah the Prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Iudah, that were gathered together in Ierusalem, because of Shishak, and said vnto them,
Thus saith the Lord, Ye haue forsaken me, ᶜ therefore haue I also left you in the hands of Shishak.
6 Then the princes of Israel, and the King humbled themselues, and said, The Lord is ᵈ iust.
7 And when the Lord saw that they humbled themselues, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, They haue humbled themselues, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will send them deliuerance shortly, and my wrath shall not ‡ bee powred out vpon Ierusalem by the hand of Shishak.
8 Neuertheless they shalbe his seruants:
so shall they know my ᵉ seruice, and the seruice of the kingdomes of the earth.
9 ¶ Then Shishak king of Egypt came vp against Ierusalem, and tooke the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the kings house: he tooke euen all, and hee caryed away the shieldes of golde,
* which Salomon had made.
10 In steade whereof king Rehoboam made shields of brasse, and committed them to the hands of the chiefe of the garde, that waited at the doore of the kings house.
11 And when the King entred into the house of the Lord, the gard came and bare them, & brought them againe vnto the gard

12 And because he ᶠ humbled himselfe, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, that he would not destroy all together. And also in Iudah the things prospered.
13 * So king Rehoboam was strong in Ierusalem and reigned: for Rehoboam was one and fortie yeere olde, when he began to reigne, & reigned ᵍ seuenteene yeeres in Ierusalem, the city which the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his Name there. And his mothers name was

In the eighteenth yeere of king Jeroboam, began Abiah to reigne ouer a Iudah.

2 He reigned three yeere in Jerusalem: (his mothers name also was b Michaiah the daughter of c Uriel of Gibea) & there was warre betweene Abiah and Jeroboam.

3 And Abiah set the battel in aray with the army of valiant men of warre, euen foure hundreth thousand chosen men. Jeroboam also set the battell in aray against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men, which were strong and valiant.

4 And Abiah stood vp vpon mount d Zemaraim, which is in mount Ephraim, & said, O Jeroboam, and all Israel, heare you me,

5 Ought you not to know that the Lord God of Israel hath giuen the kingdom ouer Israel to e Dauid for euer, euen to him and to his sonnes by a couenant e of salt?

6 And Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen vp, and hath f rebelled against his lord:

7 And there are gathered to him g vaine men & h wicked, & made themselues strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was i but a child, and k tender hearted, and could not resist them.

8 Now therefore ye thinke that ye be able to resist against the kingdom of the Lord, which is in the hands of the sonnes of Dauid, and yee be a great multitude, and the golden calues are with you which Jeroboam made you for gods.

9 l Haue ye not driuen away the Priests of the Lord, the sonnes of Aaron and the Leuites, & haue made you priests like the people of other countreys? whosoeuer commeth to m consecrate with a young bullocke and seuen rams, the same may be a priest of them that are no gods.

10 But wee belong vnto the Lorde our God, & haue not forsaken him, & the Priests the sonnes of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

11 And they burne vnto the Lord euery n morning and euery euening burnt offrings and sweete incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure table, and the candlestick of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne euery euening: for we keepe the watch of the Lorde our God: but yee haue forsaken him.

12 And behold, this God o is with vs as a captaine, and his Priests with the sounding trumpets, to cry an alarme against you. O ye children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for yee shall not prosper.

13 ¶ But Jeroboam caused an ambushment p to compasse, and come behind them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambushment behind them.

14 Then Iudah looked, and behold, the battel was before and behind them, and they cried vnto the Lord, and the Priests blew with the trumpets, 15 And the men of Iudah gaue a shout: and euen as they cried, God smote Jeroboam and all Israel before Abiah and Iudah.

16 And q children of Israel fled before Iudah, & God deliuered them into their hand.

17 And Abiah & his people slew a great slaughter of them, so that there fell downe wounded of Israel fiue hundred thousand chosen men.

18 So r children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Iudah preuailed, s because they stayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

19 And Abiah pursued after Jeroboam, and tooke cities from him, euen Beth-el, and the t villages thereof, and Jesanah with her villages, and Ephron with her villages.

20 And Jeroboam recouered no strength againe in the dayes of Abiah, but the Lord plagued him, and he died.

21 So Abiah waxed mighty, & maried fourteene wiues, & begate two and twentie sonnes, and sixteene daughters.

22 The rest of the acts of Abiah, & his maners and his sayings are written in the storp of the Prophet Jddo.

3 Asa destroyeth idolatry, and commandeth his people to serue the true God. 11 He prayeth vnto God when he should goe to fight. 12 Hee obtaineth the victory.

SO a Abiah slept with his fathers, & they buried him in the citie of Dauid, and Asa his sonne reigned in his stead: in whose dayes the land was quiet ten yeere.

2 And Asa did that was good and right in the eyes of the Lord his God.

3 For hee tooke away the altars of the strange gods & the hie places, & brake downe the images, and cut downe the b groues,

4 And commanded Iudah to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, and to doe according to the Law and the commandement.

5 And he tooke away out of all the cities of Iudah the hie places, & the images: therefore the kingdome was c quiet before him.

6 He built also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and he had no warre in those yeeres: for the Lord had giuen him rest.

7 Therefore he sayd to Iudah, Let vs build these cities and make walles about and towers, gates, and barres, whiles the land is d before vs: because we haue sought the Lord our God, we haue sought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built and prospered.

8 And Asa had an armie of Iudah that bare shields & speares, three hundred thousand, and of Beniamin that bare shields and drew bowes, two hundred & fourescore thousand: all these were valiant men.

9 ¶ And there came out against them Zerah e of Ethiopia with an host of ten hundred thousand, and three hundred charets, and came vnto f Mareshah.

1 The exhortation of Azariah. 8 Asa purgeth his country of idolatry. 11 He sacrificeth with the people. 14 They sweare together to serue the Lord. 16 He deposeth his mother for her idolatry.

THen the Spirit of God came vpon [a] Azariah the sonne of Obed.

2 And he went out to meete Asa, & sayd vnto him, O Asa, and all Iudah and Beniamin, heare ye me. The Lord is with you, while ye bee with him: and if ye seeke him, he wil be found of you, but if ye forsake him, he wil forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bene without the [b] true God, & without Priest to teach, and without Law.

4 But whosoeuer returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he [c] was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him, that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, & city of city: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be ye strong therfore, and let not your hands be weake: for your [d] worke shall haue a reward.

8 ¶ And when Asa heard these wordes, and the prophecie of Obed the Prophet, hee was encouraged, and tooke away the abominations out of all the land of Iudah, and Beniamin, & out of the cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and he renued the altar of the Lord, that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And he gathered all Iudah & Beniamin, & the strangers w them out of Ephraim, and [e] Manasseh, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they saw that the Lord his God was w him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the [e] third moneth, in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Asa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord [f] same time of the [f] spoyle, which they had brought, seuen hundred bullocks, and seuen thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a couenant to seek the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart, and with all their soule.

13 And [g] whosoeuer will not seeke the Lord God of Israel, shall be slaine, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they sware vnto the Lord with a loud voyce, & with shouting and with trumpets, and with cornets.

15 And all Iudah reioyced at the othe: for they had sworne vnto the Lord with all their heart, and sought him with a whole desire, and he was [h] found of them. And the Lord gaue them rest round about.

16 ¶ And king Asa remoued [i] Maachah his [i] mother from her regentie, because she had made an idole in a grout: and Asa brake downe her idole and stamped it, and burnt it at the brooke Kidron.

17 But the hie places were not [k] taken away out of [l] Israel: yet the heart of Asa was [m] perfect all his dayes.

2 Asa for feare of Baasha king of Israel, maketh a couenant with Benhadad king of Aram. 7 He is reproued by the Prophet, 10 Whom he putteth in prison. 12 Hee putteth his trust in the Physicians. 13 His death.

IN the fiue and thirtieth yeere of the reigne of Asa came [a] Baasha king of Israel vp against Iudah, and built [b] Ramah to let none passe out or goe in to Asa king of Iudah.

2 Then Asa brought out siluer and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at [n] Damascus, saying,

3 There is a couenant betweene me and thee, and betweene my father, and thy father: behold, I haue sent thee siluer and gold: come, [c] breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may depart from mee.

4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto king Asa, and sent the captaines of the armies which he had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Iion, & Dan, and Abelmaim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, hee left building of Ramah, and let his worke cease.

6 Then Asa the king tooke all Iudah, and caryed away the stones of Ramah and and the slimder therpof, wherewith Baasha had built, and he built therewith Geba and Mizpah.

7 ¶ And at the same time Hanani the Seer came to Asa King of Iudah, and said vnto him, Because thou hast rested vpon the King of Aram, and not rested in the Lorde thy God, therefore is the hoste of the King of Aram escaped out of thine hand.

8 The Ethiopians and the Lubims, were they not a great hoste with charets and horsemen, exceeding many? yet because thou diddest rest vpon the Lord, he delyuered them into thine hand.

9 For the eyes of the Lord beholde all the earth to shew himselfe strong with them that are of perfect heart towarde him: thou hast then done foolishly in this: therefore from henceforth thou shalt haue warres.

10 Then Asa was wroth with the Seer, and put him into a prison; for he was displeased with him, because of this thing. And Asa oppressed certaine of the people at the same time.

11 And behold, the actes of Asa first and last, loe, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Iudah and Israel.

12 ¶ And Asa in the nine and thirtieth yeere of his reigne was diseased in his feete, and his disease was extreme: yet hee sought not the Lord in his disease, but to the Physicians.

13 So Asa slept with his fathers, and died in the one and fourtieth yeere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchres, which he had made for himselfe in the citie of Dauid, and layd him in the bed, which they had filled with sweete odours and diuers kindes of spices, made by the arte of the Apothecary: and they burnt odours for him with an exceeding great fire.

CHAP. XVII.

5 Iehoshaphat trusting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 He abolisheth idolatrie, 7 and causeth the people to bee taught. 11 Hee receiueth tribute of strangers. 13 His munitions, and men of warre.

AND Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead, and preuailed against Israel.

2 And hee put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudah, and set bands in the land of Iudah, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphat, because he walked in the first wayes of his father Dauid, and sought not Baalim.

4 But sought the Lorde God of his father, and walked in his commandements, and not after the trade of Israel.

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdome in his hand, And all Iudah brought presents to Iehoshaphat, so that hee had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And hee lift vp his heart vnto the wayes of the Lorde, and hee tooke away moreouer the hie places and the groues out of Iudah.

7 ¶ And in the third yeere of his reigne he sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiah, and Zechariah, and Nethanel, and Michaiah, that they should teach in the cities of Iudah.

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Asahel, and Shemiramoth, and Ionathan, and Adoniah, and Tobiah, and Tob-adoniah, Leuites, and with them Elishama and Iehoram Priests.

9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdomes of the lands that were round about Iudah, and they fought not against Iehoshaphat.

11 And some of the Philistims brought Iehoshaphat giftes, and tribute siluer, & the Arabians brought him flockes, seuen thousand and seuen hundred rammes, and seuen thousand and seuen hundred hee goates.

12 So Iehoshaphat prospered and grew vp on hie: and he built in Iudah palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great workes in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, and valiant men in Ierusalem.

14 And these are the number of them after the house of their fathers. In Iudah were captaines of thousands, Adnah the captaine, and with him of valiant men three hundred thousand.

15 And last the hand Iehohanan a captaine, and with him two hundreth & fourscore thousand.

16 And at his hand Amaliah the sonne of Zichri, which willingly offered himselfe vnto the Lorde, and with him two hundred thousand valiant men.

17 And of Beniamin, Eliada a valiant man, and with him armed men with bow and shield two hundred thousand.

18 And at his hand Iehozabad, and with him an hundred and fourescore thousand armed to the warre.

19 These waited on the King, besides those which the king put in the strong cities throughout all Iudah.

4 And Iehoshaphat said vnto the king of Israel, Aske counsell, I pray thee, at the [a] word of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered of [b] Prophets foure hundred men, and sayd vnto them, Shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they said, Goe vp: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

6 But Iehoshaphat said, Is there here neuer a Prophet more of the Lord that we might inquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Iehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may aske counsell of the Lorde, but I [c] hate him: for hee doeth not prophesie good vnto me, but alway euill: it is Michaiah the sonne of Imla. Then Iehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called an Eunuch, and sayd, Call quickly Michaiah the sonne of Imla.

9 ¶ And the king of Israel, and Iehoshaphat king of Iudah sate either of them on his throne clothed in their [d] apparell: they sate euen in the threshing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and all the prophets prophesied before them.

10 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him [e] hornes of yron, and sayd, Thus sayth the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites, vntill thou hast consumed them.

11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Goe vp to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

12 ¶ And the messenger that went to call Michaiah, spake to him, saying, Behold, the words of the Prophets declare good to the king with one [f] accord: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, bee like one of theirs, and speake thou good.

13 And Michaiah said, As the Lord liueth, whatsoeuer my God sayth, that will I speake.

14 ¶ So hee came to the King, and the King sayd vnto him, Michaiah, shall wee goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I leaue off? And hee said, [g] Goe yee vp, and prosper, and they shall be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the king said to him, Howe oft shal I charge thee, that thou tell me nothing but truth in the Name of the Lord?

16 Then he sayd, I saw all Israel scattered in the mountaines, as sheepe that haue no shepheard: and the Lord sayd, [m] These haue no master: let them returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the king of Israel sayd to Iehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would not prophesie good vnto me, but euill?

18 Againe he said, Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord: I saw the Lorde sit vpon his throne, and all the [n] hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord said, Who shall ‖ perswade Ahab king of Israel, that hee may goe vp and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and said thus, and another sayd that.

20 Then there came forth a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and sayde, I will perswade him. And the Lorde sayd vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he said, I will goe out, and be a [o] lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And he said, Thou shalt perswade, and shalt not preuaile: goe forth and doe so.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a [p] lying spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the Lorde hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere, and smote Michaiah vpon the [q] cheeke, and said, By what way went the spirit of the Lorde from me, to speake vnto thee?

24 And Michaiah sayd, Behold, thou shalt see that day, when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel sayd, Take ye Michaiah, and carie him to Amon the gouernour of the citie, and to Ioash the kings sonne, 26 And say, Thus sayth the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of [r] affliction, and with water of affliction, vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiah sayd, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by mee. And ‖ he sayd, Heare, all ye people.

28 So the king of Israel, and Iehoshaphat the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Iehoshaphat, I will [s] change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparel. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went into the battell.

30 And the king of Aram had commanded the captaines of the charets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charets saw Iehoshaphat, they sayde, It is the king of Israel: and they compassed about him to fight. But Iehoshaphat [t] cryed, and the Lord helped him, and moued them to depart from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charets saw that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drewe a bowe [u] ‡ mightily, and smote the king of Israel betweene the ioynts ‖ of the brigandine: therefore he sayd to his charetman, Turne thine hand, and carie me out of the hoste: for I am hurt.

34 And the battell increased that day: and the king of Israel [x] stood still in his charet against the Aramites vntill euen, and died at the time of the sunne going downe.

A Fter this also came the children of Moab and the children of Ammon, a with them of the * Ammonites against Iehoshaphat to battell.

5 And Iehoshaphat stoode in the congregation of Iudah and Ierusalem in the house of the Lord before the new court.
6 And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen? and reignest not thou on all the Kingdomes of the heathen? and in thine hand is power and might, and none is able to withstand thee.

18 Then Iehoshaphat ᵇ bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell down before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Korhites stood vp to praise the Lord God of Israel with a loude voyce on high.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wildernesse of Tekoa: and as they departed, Iehoshaphat stood and said, Heare ye me, O Iudah, and ye inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lord your God, and ye shall be assured: beleeue his ᵐ Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when hee had consulted with the people, and appointed singers vnto the Lord, and them that should praise him that is in the beautifull Sanctuarie, in going foorth before the men of armes, and saying, ⁿ Praise ye the Lord, for his mercy lasteth for euer, 22 And when they began to shout and to praise, the Lord layed ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab and ᵒ mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slew one another.

23 For the children of Ammon, & Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, euery one helped ᵖ to destroy another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wildernesse, they looked vnto the multitude: and behold, the carkaises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoile of them, they found among them in abundance both of substance, and also of bodies laden with precious iewels, which they tooke for themselues, til they could carry no more: they were three dayes in gathering of the spoyle: for it was much.

26 And in the fourth day they ᵠ assembled themselues in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therfore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

27 Then euery man of Iudah and Ierusalem returned with Iehoshaphat their head, to goe againe to Ierusalem with ioy: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with viols, and with harpes, and with trumpets, euen vnto the house of the Lord.

30 So the kingdome of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on euery side.

31 ¶ And ˢ Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and was fiue and thirtie yeere olde, when he began to reigne: and reigned fiue and twentie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the ᵗ way of Asa his father, and departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit the high places were not ᵘ taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts vnto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the acts of Iehoshaphat first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of Iehu the sonne of Hanani, which ˣ is mentioned in the bookes of the kings of Israel.

36 And hee ioyned with him to ʸ make ships to goe to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the sonne of Dodauah of Maresha prophesied against Iehoshaphat, saying, ᶻ Because thou hast ᵃ ioyned thy selfe with Ahaziah, the Lorde hath broken thy works: and the ships were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tarshish.

rose vp by night, and smote Edom, which had compassed him in, and the captaines of the charets.

10 But Edom rebelled from vnder the hand of Iudah vnto this day. Then did Libnah rebell at the same time from vnder his hand, because hee had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 Moreouer, he made hie places in the mountaines of Iudah, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from Elijah the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Iehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa King of Iudah,

13 But hast walked in the way of the Kings of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to goe a whoring, as the house of Ahab went a whoring, and hast also slaine thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou, 14 Behold, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wiues, and all thy substance.

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels, vntill thy bowels fall out for the disease, day by day.

16 Then the Lord stirred vp against Iehoram the spirit of the Philistims, and the Arabians that were beside the Ethiopians.

17 And they came vp into Iudah, and brake into it, and caried away all the substance that was found in the Kings house, and his sonnes also, and his wiues, so that there was not a sonne left him, saue Iehoahaz, the youngest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this, the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And in processe of time, euen after the ende of two yeeres, his guts fell out with his disease: so he died of sore diseases: and his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

20 When he began to reigne, he was two and thirtie yeere olde, and reigned in Ierusalem eight yeere, and liued without being desired: yet they buried him in the citie of Dauid, but not among the sepulchres of the Kings.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah reigneth after Iehoram. 9 Iehu king of Israel killeth Ahaziah. 10 Athaliah putteth to death all the kings lineage. 11 Ioash escapeth.

AND the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his yongest sonne King in his stead: for the armie that came with the Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Iehoram King of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and fourtie yeere old was Ahaziah when he began to reigne, & hee reigned one yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 Hee walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counselled him to doe wickedly.

4 Wherefore hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his counsellers after the death of his father, to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsel, and went with Iehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Hazael King of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 And he returned to be healed in Iezreel, because of the wounds wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, when hee fought with Hazael king of Aram. Now Azariah the sonne of Iehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Iehoram the sonne of Ahab at Iezreel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah came of God in that hee went to Ioram: for when he was come, hee went forth with Iehoram against Iehu the sonne of Nimshi, whome the Lord had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudah and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, he slew them also.

9 And hee sought Ahaziah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slewe him, and buried him, because, said they, hee is the sonne of Iehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to retaine the kingdome.

10 Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah sawe that her sonne was dead, she arose and destroyed all the kings seede of the house of Iudah.

11 But Iehoshabeath the daughter of the King, tooke Ioash the sonne of Ahaziah, and stale him from among the Kings sonnes, that should bee slaine, and put him and his nurse in the bed chamber: so Iehoshabeath the daughter of King Iehoram the wife of Iehoiada the Priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so she slew him not.

12 And hee was with them hidde in the house of God sixe yeeres, while Athaliah reigned ouer the land.

and her said vnto them, Behold, the Kings sonne must reigne, as the Lord hath said of the sonnes of Dauid.

4 This is it that ye shall doe, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priestes, and the Leuites, shall be porters of the doores,

5 And another third part toward the Kings house, and another third part at the gate of the foundation, and all the people shalbe in the courts of the house of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lord saue the Priests, and the Leuites that minister: they shall goe in, for they are holy: but all the people shal keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Leuites shall compasse the King round about, and euery man with his weapon in his hand, and he that entreth into the house shall bee slaine, and be you with the King, when hee commeth in, and when he goeth out.

8 So the Leuites and all Iudah did according to all things that Iehoiada the Priest had commaunded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that went out on the Sabbath: for Iehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courses.

9 And Iehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundreths, speares, and shields, and bucklers which had beene King Dauids, and were in the house of God.

10 And hee caused all the people to stand (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the Altar and by the house round about the King.

11 Then they brought out the Kings son, and put vpon him the crowne, and gaue him the testimonie, and made him King. And Iehoiada and his sonnes anoynted him, and said, God saue the King.

12 But when Athaliah heard the noyse of the people running and praising the king, shee came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13 And when she looked, behold, the king stood by his pillar at the entring in, and the princes and the trumpets by the King, and all the people of the land reioyced, and blew the trumpets, and the singers were with instruments of musicke, and they that could sing praise: then Athaliah rent her clothes, and said, Treason, treason.

14 Then Iehoiada the Priest brought out the captaines of hundreths that were gouernours of the hoste, and said vnto them, Haue her forth of the ranges, and hee that followeth her, let him die by the sword: for the Priest had said, Slay her not in the house of the Lord.

15 So they laide hands on her: and when shee was come to the entring of the horsegate by the Kings house, they slew her there.

16 And Iehoiada made a coenant betweene him, and all the people, and the king, that they would be the Lords people.

17 And all the people went to the house of Baal, and destroyed it, and brake his altars and his images, and slewe Mattan the Priest of Baal before the altars.

18 And Iehoiada appointed officers for the house of the Lord, vnder the hands of the Priestes and Leuites, whom Dauid had distributed for the house of the Lord, to offer burnt offrings vnto the Lord, as it is written in the Law of Moses, with reioycing and singing by the appointment of Dauid.

19 And he set porters by the gates of the house of the Lorde, that none that was vncleane in any thing, should enter in.

20 And he tooke the captaines of hundreths, and the noble men, and the gouernours of the people, and all the people of the land, and he caused the King to come downe out of the house of the Lord, and they went through the hie gate of the Kings house, and set the king vpon the throne of the kingdome.

21 Then all the people of the land reioyced, and the citie was quiet, after that they had slaine Athaliah with the sword.

CHAP. XXIIII.

4 Ioash repaireth the house of the Lord. 17 After the death of Iehoiada he falleth to idolatry. 21 Hee slayeth to death Zechariah the Prophet. 23 Ioash is killed of his owne seruants. 27 After him reigneth Amaziah.

IOash was seuen yeere old, when he began to reigne, and hee reigned fourtie yeere in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Zibiah of Beer-sheba.

2 And Ioash did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, all the dayes of Iehoiada the Priest.

3 And Iehoiada tooke him two wiues, and he begate sonnes and daughters.

4 And afterward it came into Ioash minde to renew the house of the Lord.

5 And he assembled the Priests and the Leuites, and said to them, Goe out vnto the cities of Iudah, and gather of all Israel money to repaire the house of your God, from yeere to yeere, and haste the thing: but the Leuites hasted not.

6 Therefore the King called Iehoiada the chiefe, and said vnto him, Why hast thou not required of the Leuites to bring in out of Iudah and Ierusalem the tax of Moses the seruant of the Lord, and of the Congregation of Israel, for the Tabernacle of the testimonie?

7 For wicked Athaliah, and her children brake vp the house of God: and all the things that were dedicate for the house of the Lord, did they bestow vpon Baalim.

8 Therefore the King commanded, and they made a chest, and set it at the gate of the house of the Lord without.

9 And they made proclamation through Iudah and Ierusalem, to bring vnto the Lord the tax of Moses the seruant of God, laide vpon Israel in the wildernesse.

10 And all the princes and all the people reioyced, and brought in, and cast into the chest, vntill they had finished.

g For the wicked kings his predecessors and Athaliah had destroyed the vessels of the Temple, or turned them to the vse of their idoles.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the siluer before the king and Iehoiada, and he made thereof ᵍ vessels for the house of the Lord, even vessels to minister, both mosters and incense cups, and vessels of gold and of siluer: and they offred burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the dayes of Iehoiada.

15 ¶ But Iehoiada waxed old, and was full of dayes, and dyed. An hundreth and thirty yeere old was he when he died.

16 And they buried him in the citie of Dauid with the ʰ kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, ᶜ The fathers shall not die for the ᵈ children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but euery man shall die for his owne sinne.

c That is, forthat fault, wherefore the childe is punished, except he be culpable of the same.

d That is, out of the tenne tribes, which had separated themselues before, both frō God and their true king.

5 ¶ And Amaziah assembled Iudah, and made them captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Iudah and Beniamin: and hee numbred them from ᵉ twentie yeere old & aboue, and found among them three hundred thousand chosen men to goe forth to the warre, and to handle speare and shield.

e So many as were able men to beare weapons, & go to the warre.

6 Hee hired also an hundred thousand valiant men ᶠ out of Israel for an hundreth talents of siluer.

f That is, out of the tenne tribes.

7 But a man of God came to him, saying, O king, let not the armie of Israel goe with thee: for the Lord is not ᵍ with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

g And therefore to thinke to haue helpe of them, whom the Lord auoureth not, is to cast off the helpe of the Lord.

8 If ʰ not, goe thou on, doe it, make thy selfe strong to the battell, but God shal make thee fall before the enemie: for God hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

h If thou wilt not giue credit to my words.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, What shall wee doe then for the hundreth talents, which I haue giuen to the host of of Israel? Then the man of God answered, The Lord is able to giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah separated them, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was kindled greatly against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, and went to the salt valley, and smote of the children of [a] Seir, ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudah take aliue, and caried them to the top of a rocke, and cast them downe from the top of the rocke, and they all burst to pieces.

13 But the men of the [b] armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they should not goe with his people to battell, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Bethhoron, and smote three thousand of them, and tooke much spoyle.

14 Nowe after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, and set them vp to be his gods, and [c] worshipped them, and burned incense vnto them.

15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which sayd vnto him, Why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to [d] deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as he talked with him, [e] he said vnto him, Haue they made thee the kings counseller? cease thou: why should they [f] smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but said, I know that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsell.

17 ¶ Then Amaziah king of Iudah tooke counsell, and sent to Ioash the sonne of Iehoahaz, the sonne of Iehu king of Israel, saying, Come, [g] let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Ioash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The thistle that is in Lebanon, sent to the Cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, [h] Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wilde beast that was in Lebanon, went and trode done the thistle.

19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home: why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fal, and Iudah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for [i] it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hand, because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Ioash the king of Israel went vp: and he, and Amaziah king of Iudah, saw one another in the face at Bethshemesh, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to his tents.

23 But Ioash the king of Israel tooke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Ioash, the sonne of Iehoahaz in Bethshemesh, and brought him to Ierusalem, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hundreth cubits.

24 And he tooke all the gold and the siluer, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with [k] Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

25 ¶ And Amaziah the sonne of Ioash king of Iudah liued after the death of Ioash sonne of Iehoahaz king of Israel, fiftene yeere.

26 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amaziah first and last, are they not written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel?

27 Now after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lord, [l] they wrought treason against him in Ierusalem: and when he was fled to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.

28 And they brought him vpon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the citie of Iudah.

9 Moreouer Vzziah built towers in Ierusalem at the corner gate, and at the valley gate, and at the *i turning, and made them strong.

10 And hee built towers in the wildernesse, and digged many cisternes: for he had much cattel both in the valleys and plaines, plowmen, and dressers of vines in the mountaines, and in *g Carmel: for hee loued husbandry.

11 Vzziah had also an hoste of fighting men that went out to war by bands, according to the count of their number vnder the hand of Ieiel the scribe, and Maaseiah the ruler, and vnder the hand of Hananiah, one of the kings captaines.

12 The whole *h number of the chiefe of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and sixe hundreth.

13 And vnder their hand was the armie for warre, three hundreth ‡ seuen thousand, and fiue hundreth that fought valiantly to helpe the King against the enemie.

14 And Vzziah prepared them throughout all the hoste, shieldes, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also very ‡ artificiall engins in Ierusalem to be vpon the towers and vpon the corners, to shoote arrowes, and great stones: and his name spred farre abroad, because God did helpe him marueilously, till he was mighty.

16 ¶ But when he was strong, his heart *i was lift vp to his destruction: for he transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lorde to burne incense vpon the Altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him, and with him fourescore Priests of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstood Vzziah the King, and sayde vnto him, *It pertaineth not to thee, Vzziah, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the Priests, the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: *k go forth of the Sanctuary: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.

19 Then Vzziah was wroth, and had incense in his hand to burne it: and while hee was wroth with the Priestes, the leprosie rose vp in his forehead before the Priestes in the house of the Lord beside the incense Altar.

20 And when Azariah the chiefe Priest with all the Priestes looked vpon him, beholde, hee was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to depart thence; and hee was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.

21 *And Vzziah the king was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an ‖ house apart, because hee was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the Kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

22 Concerning the rest of the acts of Vzziah, first and last, did Isaiah the Prophet the sonne of Amoz write.

23 So Vzziah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the fielde of the buriall, which pertained to the Kings: for they sayd, He *m is a leper. And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

3 He built the high *c gate of the house of the Lord, and he built very much on the wal of the castle.

4 Moreouer, he built cities in the mountaines of Iudah, and in the forrests he built palaces and towers.

And the children of Ammon gaue him the same yeere an hundreth talents of siluer, and ten thousand ‡ measures of wheate, and ten thousand of barley: this did the children of Ammon giue him ‖ both in the second yeere and the third.

14 And of the sonnes of Heman, Iehiel, and Shimei: and of the sonnes of Iedithun, Shemaiah, and Vzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselues, and came according to the commandement of the king, and ‖ by the words of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lord.

16 And the Priestes went into the inner parts of the house of the Lord, to g cleanse it, and brought out all the vncleannesse that they found in the Temple of the Lord, into the court of the house of the Lorde: and the Leuites tooke it, to carie it out vnto the brooke Kidron.

17 They began the first day of the h first moneth to sanctifie it, and the eight day of the moneth came they to the porch of the Lorde: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight dayes, and in the fifteenth day of the first moneth they made an end.

18 ¶ Then they went in to Hezekiah the King, and sayd, Wee haue cleansed all the house of the Lord, and the altar of burnt offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the ‖ shewbread table, with all the vessels thereof:

19 And all the vessels which king Ahaz had cast aside when hee reigned, and transgressed, haue we prepared and sanctified: and beholde, they are before the altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king i rose early, and gathered the Princes of the city, and went vp to the house of the Lord.

21 And they brought seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes, and seuen lambes, and seuen hee goates, for a * sinne offring for the kingdome, and for the Sanctuary, and for Iudah. And hee commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slewe the bullockes, and the Priestes receiued the blood, and k sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slewe also the rams, and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slew the lambes, and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goates for the sinne offering before the King and the Congregation, l and they layd their handes vpon them,

24 And the Priests slew them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the king had commanded for all Israel the burnt offring and the sinne offering.

25 Hee appoynted also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, with viols, and with harpes, * according to the commaundement of Dauid, and Gad the Kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the m commaundement was by the hand of the Lorde, and by the handes of his Prophets.

26 And the Leuites stoode with the instruments of Dauid, and the Priestes with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commaunded to offer the burnt offering vpon the Altar: and when the burnt offering began, the song of the n Lorde beganne with the trumpets, and the instruments * of Dauid King of Israel.

28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a long, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued vntill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an ende of offering, the king and all that were present with him, bowed themselues, and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the king and the princes commaunded the Leuites to prayse the Lord with the o words of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer: so they prayed with ioy, and they bowed themselues and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah spake, and sayde, Nowe yee haue ‡ consecrate your selues to the Lord: come neere and bring the sacrifices and offerings of prayse into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, and offerings of prayses, and euery man that was willing in heart, offred burnt offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt offrings, which the Congregation brought, was seuenty bullocks, an hundreth rammes, & two hundreth lambes: all these were for a burnt offering to Lord:

33 And for p sanctification fire hundreth bullocks, and three thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priestes were too fewe, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings, therfore their brethren the Leuites did helpe them, till they had ended the worke, and vntil other Priests were sanctified: for the Leuites were q more vpright in heart to sanctifie themselues, then the Priests.

1. 13 The keeping of the Passeouer by the kings commandement 6 He exhorteth Israel to turne to the Lord. 18 He prayeth for the people. 24 His oblation and the princes. 27 The Leuites blesse the people.

AND Hezekiah sent to all Israel, and Iudah, and also wrote leteers to [a] Ephraim, and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, to keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And the king and his princes, and all the Congregation had taken counsell in Ierusalem to keepe the Passeouer in the [b] second moneth.

3 For they could not keepe it at this time, because there were not Priestes enowe sanctified, neither was the people gathered to Ierusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the king, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation throwout all Israel from [c] Beer-sheba euen to Dan, that they should come to keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Ierusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, [d] as it was written.

6 ¶ So the postes went with letters by the commission of the king and his princes, throwout all Israel and Iudah, and with the commandement of the king, saying, Ye children of Israel, turne again vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Israel, and [e] he will returne to the remnant that are escaped of you out of the hands of the kings of Ashur.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, [f] like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate as ye see.

8 Be not ye now stiffnecked like your fathers, but [g] giue the hand to the Lord, and come into his Sanctuary, which hee hath sanctified for euer, and serue the Lord your God, and the fiercenesse of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if ye returne vnto the Lord, your brethren and your children shall finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shall [s] returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious and mercifull, and will not turne away his face from you, if ye conuert vnto him.

10 ¶ So the posts went from city to city throwow the lande of Ephraim and Manasseh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they [h] laughed them to scorne, and mocked them.

11 Neuertheless, diuers of Asher, and Manasseh, and of Zebulun submitted themselues, and came to Ierusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Iudah, so that he gaue them one [i] heart to doe the commandement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Ierusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the vnleauened bread in the second month, a very great assembly.

14 ¶ And they arose, and tooke away the [k] altars that were in Ierusalem: and all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slew the Passeouer the fourteenth day of the second moneth: and the Priestes and Leuites were [l] ashamed, and sanctified themselues and brought the burnt offerings into the house of the Lord.

16 And they stoode in their place after their maner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the [m] blood, receiued of the handes of the Leuites.

17 Because there were many in the congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Leuites had the charge of the killing of the Passeouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun had not cleansed themselues, yet did eate the Passeouer, but not as it was written: wherefore Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, The [n] good Lord bee mercifull toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seeke the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though he be not cleansed according to the purification of the Sanctuary.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and [o] healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Ierusalem, kept the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes with great ioy, and the Leuites, and the Priests praysed the Lord day by day, singing with loude instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah ‡ spake comfortably vnto all the Leuites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: and they did eat in that feast seuen dayes, and offered peace offerings, and praysed the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly tooke counsel to keepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioy.

24 For Hezekiah king of Iudah had giuen to the Congregation a [p] thousand bullocks, and seuen thousand sheepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullocks, and ten thousand sheepe: and many Priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Iudah reioyced with the Priests and the Leuites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, and the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Iudah.

26 So there was great ioy in Ierusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of Dauid king of Israel, there was not the like thing in Ierusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Leuites arose, and [q] blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heauen, to his holy habitation.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 The people destroy idolatry. 2 Hezekiah appointeth Priests and Leuites, 4 and prouideth for their liuing. 13 He ordeineth ouerseers to distribute to euery one his portion.

AND when all these things were finished, all Israel that were found in the cities of Iudah, went out and [a] brake the images, and cut downe the groues, and brake downe the hie places, and the altars throwout all Iudah and Beniamin, in Ephraim also and Manasseh, vntill they had made an ende: afterward all the [b] children of Israel returned euery man to his possession, into their owne cities.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courses of the Priests and Leuites, by their turnes, euery man according to his office, both Priests and Leuites, for the burnt offering and peace offerings, to minister and to giue thankes, and to prayse in the gates of the [c] tents of the Lord.

3 (And the Kings portion was of his owne substance for the burnt offerings, euen for the burnt offerings of the morning and of the euening, and the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths, and for the new moones, and for the solemne feasts, * as it is written in the Law of the Lord)

4 Hee commanded also the people that dwelt in Ierusalem, to giue a [d] part to the Priestes, and Leuites, that they might bee [e] encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

5 ¶ And when the commandement was spred, the children of Israel brought abundance of first fruits of corne, wine, and oyle, and hony, and of all the increase of the field, and the tithes of all things brought they abundantly.

6 And the children of Israel and Iudah that dwelt in the cities of Iudah, they also brought the tithes of bullocks and sheepe, and the holy tithes [f] which were consecrate vnto the Lord their God, and layd them on [g] many heapes.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 ¶ And when Hezekiah and the Princes came and saw the heapes, they [h] blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priestes and the Leuites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and sayde, Since the people began to bring the offerings vnto the house of the Lord, wee haue [i] eaten and haue bene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

11 ¶ And Hezekiah commaunded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them, 12 And caried in the first fruites, and the tithes, and the dedicate things faithfully: and ouer them was Conaniah the Leuite, the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

13 And Iehiel, and Azariah, and Nahath, and Asahel, and Ierimoth, and Iozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Benaiah were ouerseers [‡] by the appointment of Conaniah, and Shimei his brother, and by the commandement of Hezekiah the King, and of Azariah the chiefe of the house of God.

14 And Kore the sonne of Imnah the Leuite, porter toward the East, was ouer the things that were willingly offered vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, and Miniamin, and Ieshua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses both to the great and small,

16 Their dayly portion: beside their generation being males [k] from three yeere old and aboue, euen to all that entred into the house of the Lorde to their office in their charge, according to their courses:

17 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Leuites, from twenty yeere olde and aboue, according to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wiues, and their sonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their [l] fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

19 * Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priests, which were in the fields and suburbs of their cities, in euery citie the men that were appointed by names, should giue portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Leuites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah throwout all Iudah, and did wel and vprightly, and truely before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the workes that hee began for the seruice of the house of God, both in the Law and in the commaundements, to seeke his God, hee did it with all his heart, and prospered.

5 And ‡ hee tooke courage, and built all the broken wall, and made vp the towers, and another wall without, and repayred a Millo in the b citie of Dauid, and made many c darts and shields.

6 And hee set captaines of warre ouer the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and ‡ spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

7 Be strong and couragious: feare not, neither bee afrayd for the King of Ashur, neither for all the multitude that is with him: * for there be moe with vs, then is with him.

8 With him is an d arme of flesh, but with vs is the e Lorde our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the words of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 * After this did Sancherib king of Ashur send his seruants to Jerusalem (while he was f against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah, and vnto all Iudah that were at Jerusalem, saying,

10 Thus sayeth Sancherib the king of Ashur, Wherein doe ye trust, that ye will remaine in Jerusalem, during the siege?

11 Doth not Hezekiah entice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the king of Ashur?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places and his g altars, and commanded Iudah and Jerusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Know yee not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreyes? Were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is hee of all the h gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beleeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of i mine hande, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruants spake yet more against the Lord God, and against his k seruant Hezekiah.

17 Hee wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countreis could not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shal not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they l cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes speach vnto the people of Jerusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the m workes of mans hands.

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz * prayed against this, and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and * captaines of the hoste of the king of Ashur: so he returned ‡ with shame to his owne land. And when hee was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his p owne bowels, slew him there with the sword.

22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sancherib king of Ashur, and from the hand of all other, and ‖ maintained them on euery side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Jerusalem, and pretents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that he was q magnified in the sight of al nations from thence forth.

24 * In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him r a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not render according to the rewarde bestowed vpon him: for his heart s was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Jerusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himselfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) hee and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and he gate him treasures of siluer and of gold, and of precious stones, and of sweete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels,

28 And of storehouses for the increase of wheat and wine, and oyle, and stalles for all beasts, and ‖ rowes for the ‖ stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of sheepe and oxen in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water spring of t Gihon, and ledde them straight vnderneath toward the citie of Dauid Westward. So Hezekiah prospered in all his works.

31 But because of the ambassadors of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to u trie him, and to know all that was in his heart.

a Reade 2.King. 16.3.

7 He put also the carued image, which he had made, in the house of God: whereof God had said to Dauid, & to Salomon his sonne, *In this house and in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

b By the charge giuen to Moses.

9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to erre, and to doe woorse then the heathen, whom the Lorde had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake * to Manasseh and to his people, but they would not regard.

c Meaning, by his Prophets, but their hearts were not touched to beleeue and repent, without the which the preaching of the word taketh no place.

11 Wherefore the Lord brought vpon them the captaines of the hoste of the king of Asshur, which tooke Manasseh, and put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and carted him to Babel.

12 And when hee was in tribulation, hee prayed to the Lord his God, & humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers, 13 And prayed vnto him: and God was d entreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Ierusalem into his kingdome: then Manasseh knew that the Lord was God.

d Thus affliction giueth vnderstanding: for he that hated God in his prosperity, now in his misery seeketh vnto him.

14 Now after this he built a wall without the citie of Dauid, on the West side of * Gihon in the valley, euen at the entrie of the fish gate, and compassed about e Ophel, and raised it very high, and put captaines of warre in all the strong cities of Iudah.

e Reade Chap. 32.30.

15 And hee tooke away the strange gods and the image out of the house of the Lord, and all the altars that hee had built in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Ierusalem, and cast them out of the citie.

f Read Chap. 27.3.

16 Also hee prepared the f altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offrings, and of thanks, and commaunded Iudah to serue the Lord God of Israel.

g Which Salomon had caused to be made.

17 Neuertheless, the people did sacrifice still in the high places, but vnto the h Lord their God.

h Thus by ignorance they were deceiued, thinking it nothing to keepe the altars, so that they worshipped God: but it is idolatry to worship God any otherwise then he hath appointed.

18 ¶ Concerning the rest of the acts of Manasseh, and his i prayer vnto his God, and the wordes of the Seers, that spake to him in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel.

i Which albeit that it is not conteined in the Ebrew, yet because it is here mentioned, & is written in the Greek, we haue placed it in the end of this booke.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his own l house, and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

21 ¶ Amon was two and twentie yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned two yeere in Ierusalem.

22 But hee did euil in the sight of the Lord, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the images, which Manasseh his father had made, and serued them.

23 And hee humbled not himselfe before the Lord, as Manasseh his father had humbled himselfe: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his seruants * conspired against him, and slew him in his owne house.

(when he was yet a b childe) he beganne to seeke after the God of Dauid his father, and in the twelft yeere he began to purge Iudah and Ierusalem from the high places and the groues, and the carued images, and molten images.

4 And they brake downe c in his sight the altars of Baalim, and hee caused to cut downe the images that were on high vpon them: he brake also the groues, and the carued images, and the molten images, and stampt them to powder, and strawed it vpon the graues of them that had sacrificed vnto them.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Leuites that kept the doore had gathered at the hand of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and of all the residue of Israel, and of all Iudah and Beniamin, and f of the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 And they put it in the handes of them that should doe the worke, and had the ouersight in the house of the Lorde: and they gaue it to the workemen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repaire and amend the house.

13 And they were ouer the bearers of burdens, & them that set forward all the workemen in euery worke: and of the Leuites were scribes, and officers and porters.

14 ¶ And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the Priest found the i booke of the Law of the Lord giuen by the hand of Moses.

15 Therfore Hilkiah answered, and sayd to Shaphan the chancellour, I haue found the booke of the Lawe in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan caried the booke to k the king, and brought the king worde againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that do they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was found in the house of the Lord, and haue deliuered it into the hands of the ouerseers, and to the hands of the workemen.

18 Also Shaphan the chancellour declared to the king, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath giuen me a booke: and Shaphan read it before the king.

19 And when the king had heard the words of the Law, he l tare his clothes.

20 And the king commaunded Hilkiah and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the chancellour, and Asaiah the kings seruant, saying,

21 Go and enquire of the Lord for me, and for the rest in Israel and Iudah, concerning the words of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled vpon vs, because our m fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord, to doe after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the king had appointed, went to Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the sonne of ‖ Tokhath, the sonne of ‖ Hasrah keeper of the n wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalem within the o colledge) and they communed hereof with her.

23 And she answered them, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Tell ye the p man that sent you to me,

24 Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and vpon the inhabitants therof, euen all the curses, that are written in the booke which they haue read before the king of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsaken mee, and burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger mee with all the workes of their q hands, therefore shall my wrath kindled vpon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the king of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, The words which thou hast heard, shal come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did r melt, and thou didst humble thy selfe before God, when thou heardest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants therof, & humbledst thy selfe before mee, and tarest thy clothes, and weptest before me, I haue also heard it, sayth the Lord.

q This declareth what is the end of Gods threatnings, to call his to repentance, and to assure the vnrepentant of their destruction.

r It may appeare that very fewe were touched with true repentance, seeing that God spared them for a time, onely for y kings sake.

Priests and the Leuites, and all the people from the greatest to the f smallest, & hee read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the couenant that was found in the house of the Lord.

31 And the king stood by his pillar, and made a couenant before the Lord, to walke after the Lord, and to keepe his commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes, with all his heart, and with all his soule, and that hee would accomplish the wordes of the couenant written in the same booke.

32 And hee caused all that were found in Ierusalem and Beniamin to stand to it: and the inhabitants of Ierusalem did according to the couenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

33 So Iosiah tooke away all the abominations out of all the countreys that pertained to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Iosiah keepeth the Passeouer. 3 He setteth forth Gods seruice. 20 He fighteth against the king of Egypt, and dieth. 24 The people bewaile him.

MOreouer a Iosiah kept a Passeouer vnto the Lord in Ierusalem, and they slew the a Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and encouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord.

3 And hee sayd vnto the Leuites that b taught all Israel, and were sanctified vnto the Lord, Put the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel did build: it shall bee no more a c burden vpon your shoulders: serue now the Lord your God and his people Israel,

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as d Dauid the King of Israel hath written, and according to the writing of Salomon his sonne,

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your brethren ‖ the children of the people, and after the diuision of the famine of the Leuites:

6 So kill the Passeouer, & sanctifie your selues, and e prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Iosiah also gaue to the ‡ people sheepe, lambes, and kids, all for the Passeouer, euen to all that were present, to the number of thirty thousand, & three thousand bullocks: these were of the kings substance.

8 And his Princes offered willingly vnto the people, to the Priests and to the Leuites: Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priests for the Passeouer, euen two thousand and fiue hundred sheepe, and three hundred bullockes.

9 g Conaniah also and Shemaiah and Nethaneel his brethren, and Hashabiah and Ieiel, and Iozabad, cheife of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passeouer, fiue thousand sheepe, and fiue hundreth bullocks.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priestes stood in their places, also the Leuites in their orders, according to the Kings commandement:

11 And they slew the Passeouer, and the Priestes f sprinckled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites flayed them.

12 And they tooke away from the h burnt offring to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullocks.

13 And i they rosted the Passeouer with fire, according to the custome, but the sanctified things they sod in pots, pans, and caldrons, and distributed them quickely to all the people.

14 Afterward also they prepared for themselues & for the Priests: for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offring of burnt offrings, and the fatte vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselues, and for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sonnes of Asaph stood in their standing k according to the commaundement of Dauid, and Asaph, and Heman, and Iedithun the Kings l Seer: and the porters at euery gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day to keepe the Passeouer, and to offer burnt offrings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passeouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

18 And there was no Passeouer kept like that in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the kings of Israel keepe such a Passeouer as Iosiah kept and the Priests and the Leuites, and all Iudah & Israel that were ‡ present, and the Inhabitants of Ierusalem.

19 This Passeouer was kept in i the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah.

20 ¶ * After all this, when Iosiah had prepared the Temple, Necho king of Egypt came vp to fight against k Carchemish by ‖ Perath, and Iosiah went out against him.

21 But hee sent messengers to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, thou king of Iudah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house & of mine enemie, and God commaunded mee to make haste: leaue off to come against God, which is with me, lest he destroy thee.

22 But Iosiah would not turne his face from him, but l changed his apparell to fight with him, and hearkened not to the wordes of Necho, which were of the mouth of God, but came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

23 And

f Forasmuch as neither yong nor old could be exempted from the curses conteined therin, if they did transgresse, he knew it appertained to all, & was his duety to see it read to all sorts, that euery one might learne to auoid those punishments by seruing God aright.

2.King.23.30. THen * the people of the land tooke Iehoahaz the sonne of Iosiah, and made him king in his fathers stead in Ierusalem.

2 Iehoahaz was three and twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned three [a] moneths in Ierusalem.

3 And the king of Egypt tooke him away at Ierusalem, and condemned the land in an [b] hundred talents of siluer, & a talent of gold.

4 ¶ And the king of Egypt made Eliakim his brother King ouer Iudah and Ierusalem, and turned his name to Iehoiakim: and Necho tooke Iehoahaz his brother, and caried him to Egypt.

5 Iehoiakim was fiue and twenty yeere olde when he began to reigne, and hee reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem, and did [c] euill in the sight of the Lord his God.

6 Against him came vp Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and bound him with chaines to carie him to Babel.

7 Nebuchad-nezzar also * caried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his Temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the acts of Iehoiakim, and his abominations which hee did, and [d] that which was found vpon him, beholde, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudah: and Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

9 ¶ Iehoiachin was [e] eight yere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord.

10 And when the yeere was out, King Nebuchad-nezzar sent and brought him to Babel with the precious vessels of the house of the Lord, and he made Zedekiah his brother king ouer Iudah and Ierusalem.

11 Zedekiah was one and twenty yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem.

12 * And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himselfe before Ieremiah the Prophet at the commandement of the Lord, 13 But he rebelled moreouer against Nebuchad-nezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and he hardened his necke and made his heart obstinate that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priestes also, and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which he had sanctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them † by his messengers, [f] rising early and sending: for he had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, & misused his Prophets, vntill the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and till there was no [g] remedie.

17 For hee brought vpon them the King of the Caldeans, who slew their young men with the sword [h] in the house of their Sanctuary, and spared neither young man, nor virgine, ancient, nor aged: God [i] gaue all into his hand.

18 And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes: all these caried hee to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, and burnt all the palaces therof with fire, and all the precious vessels therof to destroy all.

20 And they that were left by the sword, caried he away to Babel, and they were seruants to him and to his sonnes, vntill the kingdome of the [k] Persians had rule, 21 To fulfill the word of the Lord by the [l] mouth of Ieremiah, vntill the land had her full of her Sabbaths: for all the dayes that she lay desolate, she kept Sabbath, to fulfill seuentie yeers.

22 ¶ * But in the [m] first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (when the word of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Ieremiah, was finished) the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he made a Proclamation throw all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

23 Thus sayth Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdoms of the earth hath the Lord God of heauen giuen me, and he hath [n] commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, that is in Iudah. Who is among you of all his people, with whom the Lord his God is? let him goe vp.

a For three moneths after the death of Iosiah, came Necho to Ierusalem, and so the plagues began, which Huldah and the Prophets forewarned should come vpon Ierusalem

¶ THE

The Prayer of Manasseh king of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Hebrew, but is translated out of the Greeke.

O Lord Almightie, God of our fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob, and of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the word of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the deepe, and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious Name, whom all doe feare, and tremble before thy power: for the maiestie of thy glorie cannot be borne, and thine angrie threatning toward sinners is vnportable, but thy mercifull promise is vnmeasureable and vnsearchable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnesse hast promised [a] repentance and forgiuenesse to them that sinne against thee, and for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, as to Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob, which haue not [b] sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto me, that am a sinner: for I haue sinned aboue the number of the sand of the sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to behold and see the height of the heauens, for the multitude of mine vnrighteousnesse. I am bowed downe with many yron bands, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath, and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandements, I haue set vp abominations, and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgiue me, O Lord, forgiue me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angrie with me for euer by reseruing euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower parts of the earth. For thou art the God, euen the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnesse: for thou wilt saue me that am vnworthy, according to thy great mercy: therefore I will praise thee for euer all the dayes of my life. For all the power of the heauens praise thee, and thine is the glory for euer and euer. Amen.

a Thou hast promised that repentance shall be the way for them to returne to thee.

b He speaketh this in comparison of himselfe, and those holy fathers which haue their commendation in the Scripture, so that in respect of himselfe he calleth their sinnes nothing, but attributeth vnto them righteousnesse.

Ezra.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS the Lord is euer mercifull vnto his Church, and doth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world, and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that hee had visited the Iewes, and kept them now in bondage seuentie yeeres in a strange countrey, among infidels and idolaters, he remembred his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a deliuerer, and moued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pitie them, and also by him punished such, which had kept them in seruitude Notwithstanding, lest they should grow into a contempt of Gods great benefit, he keepeth them still in exercise, and raiseth domesticall enemies, which indeuour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets they went forward by little and little till their worke was finished. The authour of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest and Scribe of the Law, as Chap 7. 6. Hee returned to Ierusalem the sixt yeere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fiftie yeeres after the returne of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. He brought with him a great companie, and much treasures, with letters to the kings officers for all such things as should be necessarie for the Temple: and at his comming he redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

CHAP. I.

1 Cyrus sendeth againe the people that was in captiuitie, & and restoreth them their holy vessels.

NOw [a] in the [b] first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (that the word of the Lord, spoken by the [b] mouth of Ieremiah, might bee accomplished) the Lord stirred vp the [c] spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he made a proclamation throgow all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heauen hath giuen me [d] all the kingdomes of the earth, and hee hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudah.

3 Who is he among you of all his people with whome his God is? let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudah, and build the house of the Lord God of Israel: hee is the God which is in Ierusalem.

4 And euery one that remaineth in any place (where he sojourneth) [e] let the men of his place relieue him with siluer and with gold, and with substance, and with cattell, and with a willing offering, for the house of God that is in Ierusalem.

5 Then the chiefe fathers of Iudah and Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuites rose vp, with all them whose spirit God had raised to goe vp to build the house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

7 Also the king Cyrus brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lord, which Nebuchad-nezzar had taken out of Jerusalem, and had put them in the house of his god.

8 Euen them did Cyrus king of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them vnto h Sheshbazzar the prince of Iudah.

9 And this is the number of them, thirtie basins of golde, a thousand basins of siluer, nine and twentie i knines,

AND [a] when the seuenth moneth was come, and the children of Israel were in their cities, the people assembled themselues as one man vnto Jerusalem.

2 Then stoode vp Jeshua the sonne of Jozadak, and his brethren the Priestes, and Zerubbabel the [b] sonne of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the Altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses, the man of God,

3 And they set the Altar vpon [c] his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreys) therefore they offered burnt offrings thereon vnto the Lord, euen burnt offerings in the morning, and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, and the burnt offering [*] dayly, by number according to the custome day by day,

7 They gaue money also vnto the masons, and to the workemen, and meate and drinke and oyle vnto them of Sidon and of Tyrus, to bring them Cedar wood from Lebanon to the sea vnto ‖ Japho, according to the graunt that they had of Cyrus King of Persia.

8 ¶ And in the second yere of their coming vnto the house of God in Jerusalem in the [e] second moneth, began Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Jeshua the sonne of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the Priestes and the Leuites, and all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Jerusalem, and appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere olde and aboue, to set forward the worke of the house of the Lord.

9 And Jeshua [f] stood with his sonnes, and his brethren, and Kadmiel with his sonnes, and the sonnes of Judah together to set forward the workemen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Henadad with their sonnes, and their brethren the Leuites.

10 And when the builders layd the foundation of the Temple of the Lorde, they appointed the Priestes in their apparell with trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with Cymbals, to prayse the Lorde, [*] after the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue praise, and when they gaue thankes vnto the Lord, For he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shoute, when they praysed the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was layd.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The building of the Temple is hindered, and how. 11 Letters to Artaxerxes, & the answere.

NOw a the aduersaries of Iudah and Beniamin heard, that the children of the captiuitie builded the Temple vnto the Lorde God of Israel.

2 And they came to Zerubbabel, f to the chiefe fathers, and said vnto them, Let vs will build with you: for wee seeke the Lord your God, as ye doe, and wee haue sacrificed vnto him, since the time of Esar Haddon King of Assur, which brought vs hither.

3 Then Zerubbabel, and Ieshua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, sayd vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to builde the house vnto our God: b for wee our selues together will build it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the King of Persia had commanded vs.

4 Wherefore the people of the land ‡ discouraged the people of Iudah, and troubled them in building,

5 And they c hired counsellers against them, to hinder their deuice, all the dayes of Cyrus king of Persia, euen vntill the reigne of Darius King of Persia.

6 And in the reigne of d Ahashuerosh (in the beginning of his reign,) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Iudah and Ierusalem.

7 And in the dayes of Artahshashte, Mithredath, Tabeel, & the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, vnto Artahshashte King of Persia, and the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

8 Rehum the ‖ chancellor, and Shimshai the Scribe wrote a letter against Ierusalem to Artahshashte the King, in this sort.

9 Then wrote Rehum the chancellor, and Shimshai the Scribe, and their companions, f Dinaie, and Apharsathcaie, Tarpelaie, Arphasaie, Archeuaie, Biblaie, Shushanchaie, Dehaie, Elmaie, 13 Be it knowen now vnto the King, that if this citie be built, and the foundations of the walles layd, they will not giue toll, tribute, nor k custome: so shalt thou hinder the Kings tribute.

14 Now therefore because ‡ we haue bene brought vp in the Kings palace, it was not meete for vs to see the Kings dishonour: for this cause haue wee sent and certified the King, 16 Wee certifie the King therefore, that if this citie bee builded, and the foundation of the walles layed, by this meanes the portion beyond the River shall not be thine.

17 ¶ The King sent an answere vnto Rehum the Chancellour, and Shimshai the Scribe, and to the rest of their companions that dwelt in Samaria, and vnto the other beyonde the River, l Shelam, and m Theeth.

18 ¶ The letter which yee sent vnto vs, hath bene openly read before me,

23 ¶ When the copy of King Artahshashtes letter was read before Rehum & Shimshai the Scribe, and their companions, they went vp in all the haste to Ierusalem vnto the Iewes, and caused them to cease by force and power.

3 At that same time came to them Tatnai, which was captaine beyond the riuer, and Shether-boznai and their companions, and sayde thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these walls?

4 b Then sayd we vnto them after this maner, What are the names of the men that build this building?

b That is, the enemies asked this, as verse 10.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundation of these walls?

10 We asked their names also, that we might certifie thee, and that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

f Read Chap. 1. 8.

15 And he said vnto him, Take these vessels and go thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Ierusalem, and let the house of God be built in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar, and layde the foundation of the house of God, which is in Ierusalem, and since that time euen vntill now, hath it bene in building, yet it is not finished.

3 IN THE FIRST yere of King Cyrus, King Cyrus made a decree for the house of God in Ierusalem, Let the house be built, euen the place where they offered sacrifices, and let the wals thereof be ioyned together: let the height thereof be threescore cubites, and the breadth thereof threescore cubites, c Meddle not with them, neither hinder them

7 Suffer yee the worke of this house of God, that the captaine of the Iewes and the Elders of the Iewes may build this house of God in his place.

8 For I haue giuen a commandement what ye shall do to y Elders of these Iewes for the building of this house of God, that of the reuenues of the king, which is the tributte beyond the riuer, there be incontinently expenses giuen vnto these men that they d ceale not.

d For lacke of money.

9 And that which they shall haue neede of, let it bee giuen vnto them day by day, whether it be young bullockes, or rammes, or lambes for the burnt offerings of the God of heauen, wheate, salt, wine and oyle, according to the appointment of the Priests that are in Ierusalem, that there bee no fault,

10 That they may haue to offer sweete odours vnto the God of heauen, and pray for the kings life, and for his sonnes.

11 And I haue made a decree, that whosoeuer shal alter this sentence, the wood shal be pulled downe from his house, and shall bee set vp, and bee shall bee hanged thereon, and his houſe ſhall bee made a dunghill for this.

12 And the God that hath cauſed his Name c to dwell there, deſtroy all kings and people that put to their hand to alter, and to deſtroy this houſe of God, which is in Ieruſalem. I Darius haue made a decree, let it be done with ſpeed.

13 ¶ c Then Tatnai the captaine beyond the riuer, and Shethar Boznai and their companions, according to that which Darius had ſent, ſo they did ſpeedily.

15 And I gathered them to the * River that goeth toward Ahava, and there abode we three dayes: then I viewed the people, and the Priestes, and found there none of the sonnes of Leui.

16 Therefore sent I to Eliezer, to Ariel, to Shemaiah, and to Elnathan, and to Jarib, and to Elnathan, and to Nathan, and to Zechariah, and to Meshullam the chiefe, and to Joiarib, and to Elnathan, men of vnderstanding.

17 And I gaue them commandement, to Iddo the * chiefest at the place of Casiphia, and I ‡ telde them the wordes that they should speake to Iddo, and to his brethren the Nethinims at the place of Casiphia, that they shoulde cause the ministers of the house of our God to come vnto vs.

18 So by the good hand of our God, which was vpon vs, they brought vs a man of vnderstanding of the sonnes of Mahali the sonne of Leui the sonne of Israel, and Sherebiah with his sonnes and his brethren, euen eighteene.

19 Also Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiah of the sonnes of Merari, with his brethren, and their sonnes twentie.

20 And of the * Nethinims, whom Dauid had set, and the Princes for the seruice of the Leuites, two hundreth and twentie of the Nethinims, which all were named by name.

21 And there at the River, by Ahava, I proclaimed a fast, that wee might humble † our selues before our God, and seeke of him a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

22 For I was ‖ ashamed to require of the king an armie and horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemie in the way, because wee had spoken to the king, saying, The hand of our God is vpon all them that seeke him in goodnesse, but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this: and he was intreated of vs.

24 Then I separated twelue of the chiefe of the Priestes, Sherebiah, and Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them,

2 For they haue taken their daughters to themselues, and to their sonnes, and they haue mixed the holy seede with the people of the landes, and the hand of the Princes and rulers hath been chiefe in this trespasse.

3 But when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and plucked off the haire of mine head, and of my beard, and sate downe *astonied.

4 And there assembled vnto me all that feared the wordes of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of them of the captiuitie. And I sate downe astonied vntill the *euening sacrifice.

CHAP. X.

1 The people repent and turne, and put away their strange wiues.

WHiles Ezra prayed thus, and confessed himselfe weeping, and falling downe before the house of God, there assembled vnto him of Israel a very great Congregation of men, and women, & children: for the people wept with a great lamentation.

2 Then Shechaniah the sonne of Iehiel one of the sonnes of Elam, answered, and sayd to Ezra, We haue trespassed against our God, and haue taken strange wiues of the people of the land, yet nowe there is hope in Israel concerning this.

3 Nowe therefore let vs make a couenant with our God, to put away all the wiues, (and such as are borne of them) according to the counsell of the Lorde, and of those that feare the commandements of our God, & let it be done according to the Law.

4 Arise: for the matter belongeth vnto thee: we also will be with thee: be of comfort and doe it.

5 Then arose Ezra, & caused the chiefe Priests, the Leuites, & all Israel to sweare, that they would doe according to this word. So they sware.

6 And Ezra rose vp frō before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib: he went euen thither, but hee did eate neither bread, nor drunke water: for hee mourned, because of the transgression of them of the captiuity.

7 And they caused a proclamation to goe throughout Iudah and Ierusalem, vnto all them of the captiuitie, that they should assemble themselues vnto Ierusalem.

8 And whosoeuer would not come within three dayes according to the counsell of the Princes and Elders, all his substance should be forfeit, and hee should be separate from the Congregation of them of the captiuitie.

9 Then all the men of Iudah & Beniamin assembled themselues vnto Ierusalem within three dayes, which was the twentieth day of the ninth moneth, and all the people sate in the streete of the house of God, trembling for this matter, and for the raine.

10 And Ezra the Priest stood vp & sayd vnto them, Ye haue transgressed, and haue taken strange wiues, to increase the trespasse of Israel.

11 Now therefore giue praise vnto the Lord God of your fathers, and doe his will and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

12 And all the Congregation answered, and said with a loude voice, As thou hast said vnto vs, so will we doe according to thy words vnto vs.

13 But the people are many and it is a rainie weather and we are not able to stand without, neither is it the worke of one day or two: for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

14 Let our rulers stand therefore before all the Congregation, & let all them which haue taken strange wiues in our cities, come at the time appointed, and with them the Elders of euery city and the Iudges thereof, till the fierce wrath of our God for this matter turne away from vs.

i Let them be appointed to examine this matter.

15 Then were appointed, Ionathan the sonne of Asah-hel, and Iahaziah the sonne of Tikuah ouer this matter, and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Leuites helped them.

16 And they of the captiuitie did so and departed, euen Ezra the Priest, & the men that were chiefe fathers to the familie of their fathers by name, and sate downe in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine the matter.

k They went to the chiefe cities to sit on this matter, which was three moneths in finishing.

17 And vntill the first day of the first moneth they were finishing the businesse with all the men that had taken strange wiues.

18 And of the sonnes of the priests there were men found, that had taken strange wiues, to wit, of the sonnes of Ieshua, the sonnes of Iozadak, and of his brethren, Maaseiah, Eliezer, and Iarib, and Gedaliah.

19 And they gaue their handes, that they would put away their wiues, and they that had trespassed, gaue a ramme for their trespasse,

THE ARGVMENT.

GOD doeth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persons for the commoditie and profit of his Church, as now within the compasse of seuenty yeeres he raised vp diuers excellent men for the preseruation of his people, after their returne from Babylon: as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Whereof the first was their captaine to bring them home, and prouided that the Temple was builded: the second reformed their maners, and planted religion: and the third builded vp the wals, deliuered the people from oppression, and prouided that the Lawe of God was put in execution among them. He was a godly man and in great authoritie with the King, so that the King fauoured him greatly, & gaue him most ample letters for the accomplishment of al things which he could desire. This book is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

4 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 He confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth to God for them.

THe woords of Nehemiah the sonne of Hachaliah. In the moneth [a] Chilleu, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shushan, 2 Came Hanani one of my [b] brethren, he and the men of Iudah: and I asked them concerning the Iewes þ were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.
3 And they sayd vnto mee, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the [c] prouince, are in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.
4 And when I heard these woordes, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen,
5 And said, O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth couenant and mercy for them that loue him, and obserue his commandements,
6 I pray thee, let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee dayly, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which wee haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:
7 We haue [‡] grieuously sinned against thee, & haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements which thou commandedst thy seruant Moses.
8 I beseech thee, remember the woorde that thou commandedst thy seruant Moses, saying, Ye will transgresse, and I will scatter you abroad among the people.
9 But if ye turne vnto me, and keepe my commandements, and do them, [*] though your scattering were to the vttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, & will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen, to place my Name there.
10 Nowe these are thy seruants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mightie hand.
11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eare nowe hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruaunts, who desire to [d] feare thy Name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of [e] this man: for I was the kings butler.

3 And I sayd to the King, God saue the King for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the citie and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lieth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?
4 And the King sayd vnto me, For what thing doest thou require? Then I prayed [c] to the God of heauen, 5 And sayd vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou wouldest send me to Iudah vnto the citie of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.
6 And þ king sayd vnto me (the Queene also sitting by him) Howe long shall thy iourney bee? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the King, and he sent me, and I set him a time.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I arose in the night, I, and a few men with mee: for I told no man what God had put in mine heart to doe at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with mee, saue the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the Dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walles of Ierusalem, how they were broken downe, and the ports thereof deuoured with the fire.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I said vnto them, Ye see the miserie that wee are in, how Ierusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs build the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more a reproch.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God (which was good ouer me) and also of the Kings wordes, that he had spoken vnto mee. And they sayde, Let vs rise, and build. So they strengthened their hand to good.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs, and despised vs, and sayd, What a thing is this that ye doe? will ye rebell against the King?

20 Then answered I them, and sayd to them, The God of heauen, he will prosper vs, and wee his seruants will rise vp and build: but as for you, yee haue no portion nor right, nor memoriall in Ierusalem.

18 After him fortified their brethren: Bauai, the sonne of Henadad the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah:

19 And next vnto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Ieshua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion ouer against the going vp to the [c] corner of the armour.

20 After him was earnest Baruch the sonne of Zacchai, and fortified another portion from the corner vnto the doore of the house of Eliashib the hie Priest.

21 After him fortified Meremoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkoz, another portion from the doore of the house of Eliashib, euen as long as the house of Eliashib extended.

22 After him also fortified the Priestes, the men of [e] the plaine.

e Which dwelt in the plaine countrey by Iordan and Iericho.

23 After them fortified Beniamin, and Hashub ouer against their house: after him fortified Azariah the sonne of Maaseiah, the sonne of Ananiah, by his house.

24 After him fortified Binnui, the sonne of Henadad another portion, from the house of Azariah vnto the turning and vnto the corner.

25 Palal, the sonne of Uzai, from ouer against the corner, and the high towre that lyeth out from the Kings house, which is beside the court of the prison. After him Pedaiah the sonne of Parosh.

f Reade Ezra Chap. 2. 43.

27 After him fortified the Tekoites another portion ouer against the great towre, that lyeth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortresse.

28 From aboue the horsegate foorth fortified the Priestes, euery one ouer against his house.

29 After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer against his house: and after him fortified Shemaiah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East gate.

30 After him fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, and Hanun, the sonne of Zalaph, the [g] sixt, another portion: after him fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah ouer against his chamber.

g Meaning, the sixt of his sonnes.

31 After him fortified Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, vntill the house of the Nethinims, and of the marchants ouer against the gate [h] Miphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

h Which was the place of iudgement, or execution.

32 And betweene the chamber of the corner vnto the sheepegate, fortified the goldsmiths and the marchants.

CHAP. IIII.

7 The building of Ierusalem is hindred. 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Iewes build with one hand, & hold their weapons in the other.

BVt when Sanballat heard that we builded the wall, then was he wroth and sore grieued, and mocked the Iewes.

2 And said before his [a] brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus he sayd, What doe these [b] weake Iewes? will they fortifie the matter? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make the stones whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seeing they are burnt?

a Of his companions that dwelt in Samaria.

b Thus the wicked, that consider not that Gods power is euer in a readinesse for the defence of his, mocke them as though they were weake & feeble.

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a fore goe vp, he shall euen breake downe their stonie wall.

c This is the remedie that the children of God haue against the derision & threatnings of their enemies, to flee to God by prayer.

4 [c] Heare, O our God, (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a prayse [d] in the land of their captiuitie, d Let them be spoyled and led away captiue.

5 And couer not their [e] iniquity, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they haue prouoked vs before the builders.

e Let thy plagues declare to the world, that they set themselues against thee, and against thy Church: thus he prayeth, only hauing respect to Gods glory, and not for any priuate affection or grudge.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the ‖ halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

‖ Or, halfe height.

7 ¶ But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodims heard that the walles of Ierusalem were repaired, (for the breaches began to bee stopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired all together to come and to fight against Ierusalem, and to ‡ hinder them.

‡ Ebr. make to slay, Meaning, the people.

9 Then wee prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them, day and night, because of them.

10 And Iudah sayd, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that wee are not able to build the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had sayd, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the middes of them and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they told vs [f] ten times, [g] From all places whence ye shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

f That is, often times.

g They, which brought the tydings, said thus, When you leaue your worke, and goe either to eate or to rest your enemies will assaile you.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall vpon the tops of the stones, and placed the people by their families with their swoordes, their speares and their bowes.

14 Then I beheld, and rose vp, and sayd vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Bee not afraid of them: [h] remember the great Lord, and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

h Who is euer at hand to deliuer his out of danger, and therefore seeing they should fight for the maintenance of Gods glory & for the preseruation of their own liues & of theirs, he encourageth them to play the valiant men.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowen vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and wee turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke.

16 And from that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, and shields, and bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stood [i] behinde all the house of Iudah.

i To ouersee them and to encourage them to their worke.

17 They that builded on the wall, & they that that bare burdens, and they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other held the sword.

18 For euery one of the builders had his sword girded on his loynes, and so builded: and he that blew the trumpet, was beside me.

19 Then sayd I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore yee heare the sound of the trumpet, k resort yee thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

21 So wee laboured in the worke, and halfe of them held the speares from the appearing of the morning, til the starres came foorth.

22 And at the same time saide I vnto the people, Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Ierusalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my seruaunts, nor the men of the warde, (which followed me) none of vs did put off our clothes, saue euery one put them off l for washing.

k Meaning, to resist their enemies, if neede required.

l That is, when they purified themselues, or els when they washed their clothes.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessitie. 6 Nehemiah remedieth it. 14 He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, lest he should griue the people.

NOw there was a great crie of the people and of their wiues a against their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were that sayde, Wee, our sonnes and our daughters are many: therefore wee take vp b corne, that wee may eate and liue.

3 And there were that sayd, Wee must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were also that sayd, Wee haue borowed money for the kings c tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And now our flesh is as d the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes: and loe, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power e in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angrie when I heard their crie and these words.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the Princes, and the rulers, and sayd vnto them, You lay f burdens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great g assembly against them,

8 And I said vnto them, We (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe? or shall they bee h sold vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answere.

a Against the rich, which oppressed them.

b This is the complaint of the people, shewing to what extremitie they were brought vnto.

c To pay our tribute to the King of the Persians, which was exacted yeerely of vs.

d By nature the rich is no better then the poore.

e We are not able to redeeme them, but for pouerty are constrained to hire them to others.

f You presse them with vsurie, and seeke how to bring all things into your hands.

g Both because they should be moued with pitie, seeing how many were by them oppressed, and also heare the iudgement of others, which should bee as it were witnesses of their dealing toward their brethren.

h Seeing God hath once deliuered them from the bondage of the Heathen, shall wee make them our slaues?

9 Also I saide, That which yee doe, is not good. Ought ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the i reproch of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euen I, my brethren, and my seruants doe lend them money and corne: I pray you, let vs leaue off this k burden.

11 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their landes, their vineyardes, their oliues, and their houses, and remit the hundreth part of the siluer and of the corne, of the wine and of the oyle l that yee exact of them.

12 Then said they, We will restore it, and will not require it of them: we will doe as thou hast said. Then I called the Priestes, and caused them to sweare that they should doe according to this promise.

13 So I shooke my lap, and said, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise, from his house, and from his labour: euen thus let him be shaken out, and emptied. And all the congregation said, Amen, and praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the King gaue mee charge to be gouernour in the lande of Iudah from the twentieth yeere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yeere of King Artahshashte, that is, twelue yeere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the m bread of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before mee, had beene chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides fourtie shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and we bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreouer there were at my table an hundreth and fifte of the Iewes, and Rulers which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared dayly an ox, and sixe chosen sheepe, and birdes were prepared for mee, and n within ten dayes wine for all o in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember mee, O my God, in goodnesse, according to all that I haue done for this people.

i Meaning, Nehemiah.

k Who by this occasion will blaspheme the name of God, seeing that our acts are no better then theirs.

m Which ye take of them for the lone.

m I received not that portion and diet, which the gouernours, that were before me, exacted: wherein he declareth that he rather sought the wealth of the people, then his owne commoditie.

n Whereas at other times they had by measure, at this time they had most liberally.

CHAP. VI.

1 Nehemiah answereth with great wisedome, and zeale in his aduersaries. 11. He is not discouraged by the false prophets.

NOw when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no more p breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates.)

2 Then sent Sanballat and Geshem vnto mee, saying, Come, that wee may meete together in the villages in the plaine of o Or, once in ten dayes.

p That is, that they were ioyned together, as Chap. 4. 6.

of Dno: and they thought to doe me euill.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I cannot come downe: [b] why should the worke cease, whiles I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto mee foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruaunt after this sort vnto me the fifth time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and [‖] Gashmu hath saide it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt be their king according to these [c] words.

7 Thou hast also ordeined [d] the Prophets to preache of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these wordes it shall come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these wordes that thou sayest: for thou fainest them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afrayed vs, saying, Their hands shall bee weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore [‡] incourage thou me.

10 ¶ And I came to the house of Shemaiah, the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of [e] Mehetabeel, and he was [e] shut vp, and he said, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then said I, [f] Should such a man as I, flee? Who is hee, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to liue? I will not goe in.

12 And loe, I perceiued, that God had not sent him, but that hee pronounced this prophecie against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraide, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproch me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiah and Sanballat according vnto these their workes, and Noadiah the [g] Prophetesse also, and the rest of the Prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 ¶ Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the fifte and twentieth day of [h] Elul, in two and fiftie dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraide, and their courage failed them: for they knewe that this worke was wrought by our God.

17 And in those dayes were there many of the Princes of Iudah, whole letters went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Iudah, that were [i] sworne vnto him: for hee was the sonne in lawe of Shechaniah, the sonne of Arah: and his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah.

19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me, and tolde him my wordes, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

CHAP. VII.

1 After the wall once builded, the watch appointed. 6 They that returned from the captiuitie are numbred.

NOw when the wall was builded, and I had set vp the doores, and the porters and the singers and the Leuites were appointed,

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Ierusalem (for he was doubtlesse a faithfull man, and feared God aboue many)

3 And I sayde vnto them, Let not the gates of Ierusalem bee opened, vntil the heate of the sunne: and while [a] they stand by, let them shut the doores, and [‡] make them fast: and I appointed wardes of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, euery one in his ward, and euery one ouer against his house.

4 Now the citie was large and great, but the people were few therein, and the houses were not builded.

5 And my God put into mine heart, and I gathered the princes, and the rulers, and the people to count their genealogies: and I found a booke of the genealogie of them, [*] which came vp at the first, and found written therein,

6 These are the [b] sonnes of the prouince that came vp from the captiuitie that was caried away (whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away) and they returned to Ierusalem and to Iudah euery one vnto his citie.

7 They which came with Zerubbabel, Ieshuah, Nehemiah, [c] Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Biguai, Nehum, Baanah. This is the number of the men of the people of Israel.

c As the same goeth.

d Thou hast bribed, and set vp false prophets to make thy selfe King, and so to defraud the King of Persia of that subiection, which you owe vnto him.

e As though he would be secret, to the intent that he might pray vnto God with greater libertie, and receiue some reuelation, which in him was but hypocrisie.

f He doubted not but God was able to preserue him, and knew that if he had obeyed this counsell, hee should haue discouraged all the people: thus God giueth power to his to resist false prophesies, though they seeme to haue neuer so great probabilitie.

g Very griefe caused him to pray against such which vnder the pretence of being the ministers of God, were aduersaries to his glory, and went about to ouerthrowe his Church, declaring also herby that where there is one true minister of God, the deuill hath a great sort of hirelings.

h Which was the sixt moneth, and contained part of August, and part of September.

1 Esra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They reioyce in Iſrael for the knowledge of the worde of God. 15 They keepe the feaſt of Tabernacles or boothes.

AND all the people aſſembled themſelues ‡ together, in the ſtreete that was before the water gate, and they ſpake vnto Ezra the a Scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Law of Moſes, which the Lord had commanded to Iſrael.

a Reade Ezra 7.6.

2 And Ezra the Prieſt brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that b could heare and vnderſtand it, in the firſt day of the ſeuenth moneth, b Which had age and diſcretion to vnderſtand.

3 And he read therein in the ſtreete that was before the watergate (frō the morning vntil the c midday) before men and women, and them that vnderſtood it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the booke of the Law.

c This declareth the great zeale that the people had to heare the word of God.

4 And Ezra the Scribe ſtoode vpon a pulpit of wood, which hee had made for the preaching, and beſide him ſtood Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Vriah, and Hilkiah, and Maaſeiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiah, and Miſhal, and Malchiah, and Haſhum, and Haſhbadana, Zechariah, and Meſhullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for he was d aboue all the people: and when he opened it, all the people ſtood vp.

6 And Ezra praiſed the Lord the great God, and all the people anſwered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hands: and they bowed themſelues, and worſhipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 And Ieshua, and Bani, ‡ Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiiah, Maaſeiah, Kelita, Azariah, Iozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Leuites cauſed the people to vnderſtand the Law, and the people ſtoode in their place.

13 And on the ſecond day, the cheefe fathers of all the people, the Prieſts and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the Scribe, that he alſo might inſtruct them in the words of the Law.

14 And they found written in the Law, (that the Lord had commanded by Moſes) that the children of Iſrael ſhould dwell in a boothes in the feaſt of the ſeuenth moneth,

18 Moreouer, when they made them a molten calfe (saied, This is thy God that brought thee vp out of the lande of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies, 19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forsookest them not in the wildernesse: * the pillar of the cloude departed not from them by day to leade them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to shew them light, and the way whereby they should go.

20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, e withheldest not thy MAN from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.

23 And thou diddest multiply their children like the starres of the heauen, f broughtest them into the land, whereof thou hadst spoken vnto their fathers, that they should go and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the land, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, euen the Cananites, and gauest them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might doe with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses, full of all goods, cisterns digged out, vineyards and olues, and trees for food in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodnesse.

28 But when they had * rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore lettest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted, and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliuredst them according to thy great mercies many times,

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them: for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Now therefore our God, * thou great God mighty and terrible, that keepest couenant and *mercie, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto vs, seeme a litle before thee, that is, to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our Priestes, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people, since the time of the kings of ‖ Assur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou k hast dealt truely, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our kings and our Princes, our Priestes and our fathers haue not done thy Lawe, nor regarded thy commaundements nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast ‖ protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnesse that thou hewedst vnto them, and in the large and fatte land which thou diddest set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill works.

36 Beholde, wee are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eate the *fruite thereof, and the goodnesse thereof, beholde, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruite vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies and ouer our cattel at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

38 Now because of all this we make *a sure couenant, and write it, and our princes, our Leuites and our Priests seale vnto it.

5 And hee had made him a great chamber, and there had they afore time laid the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine, & of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the singers, and the porters) and the offrings of the Priests.

6 But in all this time was not I in Jerusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yeere [d] of Artahshashte king of Babel, came I vnto the king, and [e] after certaine dayes I obtained of the king.

7 And when I was come to Jerusalem, I vnderstood [e] the euill that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God, e Thus we see to what inconueniences the people fall into, when they are destitute of one that hath the feare of God, seeing that their chiefe gouernour was but a while absent, and yet they fel into such great absurdities: as appeareth also Exod.32.1.

8 And it grieued me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meat offring and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, & that euery one was fled to his land. euen the Leuites and singers that executed the worke.

11 Then reproued I the rulers, & said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Judah the tithes of corne and of wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the Scribe, and of the Leuites, Pedaiah, and vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zaccur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my [f] kindnesse that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

f I declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressors of his law to be vnpunished.

15 In those dayes saw I in Judah, them that trode wine presses on the Sabbath, and that brought in sheaues, and which laded asses also with wine, grapes and figges, and al burthens, and brought them into Jerusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and [g] I protested to them in the day that they solde victuals.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares, & solde on the Sabbath vnto the children of Judah euen in Jerusalem.

17 Then reproued I the rulers of Judah, and sayd vnto them, What euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers [h] thus, and our God brought al this plague vpon vs, & vpon this citie? yet yee increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

h Was not this a great cause why God plagued vs in times past? meaning that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater.

19 And when the gates of Jerusalem began to be [i] dark before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged, that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants set I at the gates, that there should no burde be brought in on the Sabbath day.

i About the time that the Sunne went downe: for the Sabbath lasted from the sun going downe of the one day, to the sunne setting of the other.

20 So the chapmen and merchants of all merchandize remained once or twise all night without Jerusalem.

21 And I protested among them and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? If yee doe it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 ¶ And I sayd vnto the Leuites that they should cleanse themselues, and that they should come and keepe the [k] gates to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercy.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speech of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reproued them, and [m] cursed them, and smote certaine of them and pulled off their haire, and tooke an othe of them by God, Ye shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall yee take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

CHAP. I.

3 King Ahashueroshe maketh a royall feast, 12 Wherevnto the Queene Vashti will not come: 19 for which cause she is diuorced. 20 The kings decree touching the preeminence of man.

IN the dayes of a Ahashueroshe (this is Ahashueroshe that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an b hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahashueroshe c sate on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan,

3 In the third yere of his reigne he made a feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were before him,

4 That hee might shew the riches and glory of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maiestie many dayes, euen an hundred and fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the king made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan, both vnto great and small, seuen daies, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blew clothes, fastened with cords of fine linnen and purple, in siluer rings, & pillars of marble: the d beds were of gold, and of siluer vpon a pauement of porphyre, and marble and alabaster, and blew colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of gold, and changed vessell after vessell, and royall wine in abundance according to the e power of the king.

8 And the drinking was by an order, none might f compel: for so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, that they should do according to euery mans pleasure.

9 ¶ The queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royal house of king Ahashueroshe.

10 Upon the g seuenth day, when the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Bizetha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen Eunuches, (that serued in the presence of king Ahashueroshe)

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the king with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: for she was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the kings word, ‡ which he had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the king was very angry, & his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king sayde to the wise men, h that knew the times (for so was the kings maner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement:

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, Shetar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marsena & Memucan the seuen princes of Persia and Media, which saw the i Kings face, and sate the first in the kingdome)

14 What shall we doe vnto the Queene Vashti according to the law, because she did not according to the word of the king Ahashueroshe by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the king and the princes, The Queene Vashti hath not onely done k euill against the king, but against all the princes, & against all the people that are in all the prouinces of king Ahashueroshe.

17 For the l act of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women: so that they shal despise their husbands in their owne eyes, and shall say, The king Ahashueroshe commanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the m princesses of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the kings princes, when they heare of the act of the queene: thus shall there bee much displeasure and wrath.

19 If it please the king, let a royall decree proceed from him, & let it be written among the statutes of Persia, and Media (and let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come n no more before king Ahashueroshe: & let the king giue her royall estate vnto her companion that is better then she.

20 And when ‖ decree of the king which shall be made, shall be published throughout all his kingdome (though it be great) all the women shal giue their husbands honor both great and small.

CHAP. II.

1 After the Queene is put away, certaine yong maides are brought to the King. 17 Ester pleaseth the King, and is made Queene. 22 Mordecai discloseth vnto the King those that would betray him.

AFter these things, when the wrath of King Ahashuerosh was appeased, he remembred Vashti, and what shee had done, and what was decreed b against her.

2 And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, Let them seeke for the King beautifull yong virgins,

3 And let the King appoint officers through all the prouinces of his kingdome, and let them gather all the beautifull yong virgins vnto the palace of Shushan, into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the kings eunuch c keeper of the women, to giue them their things d for purification.

4 And the maid that shal please the king, let her reigne in the stead of Vashti. And this pleased the King, and he did so.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shushan, there was a certaine Iewe, whose name was Mordecai, the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish a man of Ieminí,

6 Which had beene caried away from Ierusalem e with the captiuitie that was caried away with Ieconiah King of Iudah (whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel had caried away)

7 And hee nourished Hadassah, that is Ester his vncles daughter: for shee had neither father nor mother, and the maide was faire, and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father & her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the Kings commandement and his decree was published, and many maides were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the Kings house vnder the hand of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maide pleased him, and shee found fauour in his sight: therefore he caused her things for purification to bee giuen her speedily, and her f state, and seuen comely maides to bee giuen her out of the Kings house, and hee gaue change to her and to her maides of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kinred: for Mordecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked g euery day before the court of the womens house, to know if Ester did well, and what should bee done with her.

12 And when the course of euery maide came, to goe in to King Ahashuerosh, after that she had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, fiue moneths with oyle of myrrhe, and fiue moneths with sweete odours, and in the purifying of the women:

13 And thus went the maydes vnto the King) whatsoeuer she required, was h giuen her, to goe with her out of the womens house vnto the Kings house.

14 In the euening shee went, and on the morow she returned into the second house of the women, vnder the hand of Shaashgaz the Kings eunuch, which kept the concubines: shee came in to the King no more, except she pleased the King, and that she were called by name.

15 Nowe when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vncle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that she should goe in to the King, shee desired nothing, but what i Hege the kings eunuch the keeper of the womens said: and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 ¶ So Ester was taken vnto King Ahashuerosh into his house royall in the tenth moneth, which is the k moneth Tebeth, in the seuenth yeere of his reigne.

17 And the King loued Ester aboue all the women, and she found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgines: so that he set the crowne of the kingdome vpon her head, and made her Queene in stead of Vashti.

18 Then the King made a great feast vnto all his princes, & his seruants, which was l the feast of Ester, and gaue rest k vnto the prouinces, and gaue gifts, according to l the power of a King.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the m second time, then Mordecai sate in the Kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kinred, nor her people, as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In those dayes when Mordecai sate in the kings gate, two of n Kings eunuchs, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, and sought to lay n hand on the King Ahashuerosh.

22 And the thing was knowen to Mordecai, and hee told it vnto Queene Ester, and Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecais name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree: and it was written in the booke of the o Chronicles before the king.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman after hee was exalted, obtained of the king that all the Iewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

AFter these things did King Ahashuerosh promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seate aboue all the Princes that were with him.

reuerenced Haman, for the king had so commaunded concerning him: but Mordecai a bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the Kings seruants which were at the Kings gate, sayde vnto Mordecai, Why trangressest thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake dayly vnto him, yet he would not heare them: therefore they b tolde Haman, that they might see howe Mordecais matters would stand: for he had told them, that he was a Iew.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him, nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was ful of wrath.

6 Now hee ‡ thought it too little to lay handes onely on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Iewes, that were throughout the whole Kingdome of Ahashuerosh, euen the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth c Nisan) in the twelfth yeere of King Ahashuerosh, they cast Pur (that is a lot) d before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, vnto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth e Adar.

8 Then Haman said vnto King Ahashuerosh, There is a people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the f Kings lawes: therefore it is not the Kings profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the King, let it bee written that they may be destroyed, and I will ‡ pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the handes of them that haue the charge of this business to bring it into the Kings treasurie.

10 Then the King tooke his ring from his hand, and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Iewes aduersarie.

11 And the King said vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings ‖ Scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the Kings officers, and to the captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, and to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of King Ahashuerosh was it written, and sealed with the Kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent ‡ by postes into all the Kings prouinces, to roote out, to kill and to destroy all the Iewes, both yong and old, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there should bee giuen a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should bee readie against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the Kings commaundement went forth, and the commaundement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the King and Haman sate drinking, but the g citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Mordecai giueth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the King against the Iewes.
16 She willeth that they pray for her.

NOw when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackecloth and ashes, and went out into the middes of the citie, and cryed with a great crie and a bitter.

2 And hee came euen before the Kings a gate, but hee might not enter within the Kings gate, being clothed with sackecloth.

3 And in euery prouince, and place, whither the Kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorow among the Iewes, and fasting, and weeping, and mourning, and ‡ many lay in sackecloth & in ashes.

4 ¶ Then Esters maides & her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was very heauie, and sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the Kings eunuches, whom hee ‡ had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai vnto the street of the citie which was before the Kings gate.

7 And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, & of the ‡ summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the Kings treasures, because of the Iewes for to destroy them.

8 Also he gaue him the ‖ copie of the writing & commission that was giuen at Shushan, to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester, and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that she should go in to the king, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 ¶ So when Hatach came, hee told Ester the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester sayde vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai, 11 All the Kings seruants and the people of the Kings prouinces do know, that whosoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the King into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that he shall die, except him to whom the King holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Now I haue not bene called to come vnto the King these thirtie dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters words.

13 And Mordecai said, that they should answere Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe, that thou shalt escape in the Kings house, more then all the Iewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, ‡ comfort and deliuerance, b shall appeare to the Iewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish: and

4 Then ſaid Ester, If it pleaſe the king, let the king and Haman come this day vnto the banket that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king ſayd, Cauſe Haman to make haſte that hee may doe as Ester hath ſayd. So the king and Haman came to the banket that Ester had prepared.

6 And the king ſaid vnto Ester, at the banket of [d] wine, What is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? and what is thy requeſt, it ſhall euen bee performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then anſwered Ester, and ſaid, My petition and my requeſt is,

8 If I haue found fauour in the ſight of the king, and if it pleaſe the king to giue mee my petition, and to performe my requeſt, let the king and Haman come to the banket that I ſhall prepare for them, and I will do to morrow according to the kings [e] ſaying.

9 Then went Haman forth the ſame day ioyful and with a glad heart. But when Haman ſawe Mordecai in the kings gate, that hee ſtood not vp, nor mooued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Neuertheleſſe Haman refrained himſelfe: and when hee came home, he ſent and called for his friends, and Zereth his wife.

11 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherin the king had [f] promoted him, and how that hee had ſet him aboue the princes and ſeruants of the king.

12 Haman ſayd moreouer, Yea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the king to the banket that ſhe had prepared, ſaue me: and to morrowe am I bidden vnto her alſo with the king.

13 But all this doeth nothing auaile me, as long as I ſee Mordecai the Iewe ſitting at the kings gate.

14 Then ſayd Zereth his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie cubits hie, and to morrow ſpeake thou vnto the king, that Mordecai may be hanged theron: then ſhalt thou go ioyfully with the king vnto the banket. And the thing pleaſed Haman, and he cauſed to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The king reſteth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the ſeruice of Mordecai, 10 And commaundeth Haman to cauſe Mordecai to be had in honour.

THE ſame night [†] the king ſlept not, and he commanded to bring the booke of the Records and the Chronicles: and they were read before the king.

2 Then it was found written that Mordecai had told of Bigtana, and Tereth two of the kings eunuches, keepers of the doore, who ſought to lay handes on the king Ahaſhuerosh.

3 Then the king ſaid, What honour and dignitie hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings ſeruants that miniſtred vnto him, ſayd, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king ſaid, Who is in the court? (Nowe Haman was come into the inner court of the kings houſe, that hee might ſpeake vnto the king to [b] hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings ſeruants ſaid vnto him, Behold, Haman ſtandeth in the court. And the king ſaid, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king ſaid vnto him, What ſhall be done vnto the man, whom the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whome would the king do honour more then to mee?

7 And Haman anſwered the king, The man whom the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royal apparel, which the king vſeth to weare, and the horſe that the king rideth vpon, & that the crowne royall may be ſet vpon his head.

9 And let the raiment and the horſe be deliuered by the hand of one of the kings moſt noble princes, and let them apparel the man (whom the king will honour) and cauſe him to ride vpon the horſe through the ſtreete of the city, and proclaime before him, Thus ſhall it be done vnto the man whom the king will honour.

10 Then the king ſaid to Haman, Make haſte, take the raiment and the horſe as thou haſt ſaid, and do ſo vnto Mordecai the Iew, that ſitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou haſt ſpoken.

11 So Haman tooke the raiment and the horſe, and arayed Mordecai, and brought him on horſebacke through the ſtreete of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus ſhall it bee done to the man whome the king will honour.

13 And Haman told Zereth his wife, and all his frendes all that had befallen him. Then ſaid his wiſe men, and Zereth his wife vnto him, If Mordecai be of the ſeed of the Iewes, before whom thou haſt begun to fall, thou ſhalt not preuaile againſt him, d but ſhalt ſurely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the Kings eunuches and haſted to bring Haman vnto the banket that Ester had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Queene biddeth the king and Haman againe, and prayeth for her ſelfe and her people. 6 She accuſeth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallowes which he had prepared for Mordecai.

SO the King and Haman came to banket with the Queene Ester.

2 And the king ſaid againe vnto Ester on the ſecond day at the banket of a wine, What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may bee giuen thee? and what is thy requeſt? It ſhall be euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Ester the Queene anſwered, and ſaid, If haue found fauour in thy ſight, O king, and if it pleaſe the king, let my life be giuen mee at my petition, and my people at my requeſt.

4 For we are ſolde, I, and my people to be deſtroyed, to be ſlaine and to periſh: but if wee were ſold for ſeruants, and for handmaydes, I would haue holde my tongue: although the aduerſarie could not b recompence the kings loſſe.

5 Then King Ahaſhuerosh anſwered, and ſaide vnto the Queene Ester, Who is hee? and where is hee that ‡ pretumeth to doe thus?

6 And Ester ſayde, The aduerſary and enemie is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraide before the king and the Queene.

7 And the king aroſe from the banket of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: But Haman ſtood vp, to make requeſt for his life to the Queene Ester: for he ſaw that there was a miſchiefe prepared for him of the king.

8 And when the king came againe out of the pallace garden, into the houſe where they dranke wine, Haman was d fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester ſate: therefore the king ſaid, Will he force the Queene alſo before me in the houſe? as the word went out of the kings mouth, they e couered Hamans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the eunuches ſayde in the preſence of the king, Behold, there ſtandeth yet the tree in Hamans houſe fiftie cubites hie, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that ſpake f good for the king. Then the king ſaid, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree that hee had prepared for Mordecai: then was the kings wrath pacified.

CHAP VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 3 Comfortable letters are ſent vnto the Iewes.

THe ſame day did king Ahaſhuerosh giue the houſe of Haman the aduerſary of the Iewes vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai a came before the king: for Ester told what he was b vnto her.

2 And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it vnto Mordecai: and Ester ſet Mordecai ouer the houſe of Haman.

3 And Ester ſpake yet more before the king, and fell downe at his feete weeping, and beſought him that hee would put away the c wickedneſſe of Haman the Agagite, and his deuiſe that he had imagined againſt the Iewes.

4 And the king helde out the golden d ſcepter toward Ester. Then aroſe Ester, and ſtood before the king.

5 And ſaid, If it pleaſe the king, and if I haue found fauour in his ſight, and the thing be acceptable before the king, and I pleaſe him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuiſe of Haman the ſonne of Ammedatha the Agagite, may be called againe, which he wrote to deſtroy the Iewes, that are in all the kings prouinces.

6 For how can I ſuffer and ſee the euill, that ſhall come vnto my people? Or, howe can I ſuffer and ſee the deſtruction of my kinred?

7 And the king Ahaſhuerosh ſaid vnto the Queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Iewe, Beholde, I haue giuen Ester the houſe of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree, becauſe he e laid hand vpon the Iewes.

8 Write ye alſo for the Iewes, as it liketh you in the kings name, and ſeale it with the kings ring (for the writinge written in the kings name, and ſealed with the kings ring, may no man reuoke.

14 So the postes rode vpon beasts of price, and dromedaries, & went forth with speed, to execute the kings commaundement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the King in royall apparell of blue and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linnen and purple, and the city of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

l He sheweth by these words that folow, what this light was.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all ᵍ euery citie and place, where the kings commaundement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnesse to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land ᵐ became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandement of the king the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

NOw in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the kings commaundement and his decree drew neere to bee put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it ª turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them) a This was by Gods great prouidence, who turneth the ioy of the wicked into sorow, and the teares of the godly into gladnesse.

2 The Iewes gathered themselues together into their cities, throughout all the prouinces of the king Ahasuerosh, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, ᵇ no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

b Did them honour and shewed them friendship.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaines, and the officers of the king ᵇ exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went through all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their ᶜ enemies with strokes of the sword and slaughter, and destruction, ᵈ did what they would vnto those that hated them.

c Which had conspired their death by the permission of the wicked Haman.

d Besides those three hundreth, that they slew the second day, as verse 15.

6 And at Shushan the palace slew the Iewes and destroyed ᵉ fiue hundred men.

e Whereby they declared that this was Gods iust iudgement vpon the enemies of his Church, forasmuch as they sought not their owne gaine, but to execute his vengeance.

7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspatha,

8 And Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaizatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersary of the Iewes slew they: but they layd not their hands ᶠ on the spoyle.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shushan before the king.

12 And the King layd vnto the Queene Esther, The Iewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace and destroyed fiue hundreth men, and the ten sonnes of Haman; what haue they done in the rest of the kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? or what is thy request moreouer, that it may bee performed?

13 Then saide Esther, If it please the king, let it be granted also to morrow to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to doe according ᵍ vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 ¶ So the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselues vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, ᵉ slew three hundreth men in Shushan, but on the spoyle they layd not their hand.

f This she requireth, not for desire of vengeance, but with zeale to see Gods iudgements executed against his enemies.

16 And the rest of the Iewes that were in the kings prouinces assembled themselues and stood for ʰ their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that ᵇ hated them, seuenty and fiue thousand: but they layd not their hand on the spoyle.

g Reade Chap. 8. 11.

h Meaning, that they layd hands on none, that were not the enemies of God.

17 This they did on the ⁱ thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

i Meaning, in all places saue in Shushan.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselues on the thirteenth day, and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the vnwalled townes, ᵏ kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

k As the Iewes doe euen to this day, calling it in the Persian language Purim, that is, the day of lots.

20 ¶ And Mordecai ˡ wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the king Ahasuerosh, both neere and farre, l The Iewes gather hereof that Mordecai wrote this story, but it seemeth that he wrote but onely these letters, and decrees that follow.

21 Inioyning them that they shoulde keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth day of the same, euery yeere, 22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth, which was turned vnto them from sorow to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting and ioy, and ᵐ to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them,

25 And when o she came before the king, he commanded by letters, Let his wicked p deuise (which hee imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him and his sonnes on the tree.

26 Therefore they called these dayes Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seen beside this, and of that which had come vnto them.

27 The Iewes also ordeined and promised for them and for their seede, and for all that ioyned vnto them, that they would not ‖ faile to obserue those q two dayes euery yeere, according to their writing, and according to their season,

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail & Mordecai the Iew wrote with all ‖ authority (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time)

The estimation and authoritie of Mordecai.

AND the king Ahashuerosh layd a tribute vpon the land, and vpon the yles of the sea.

2 And all the actes of his power, and of his might, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai, wherewith the king magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia?

3 For Mordecai the Iewe was the second vnto king Ahashuerosh, and great among the Iewes, and * accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the wealth of his people, and spake peaceably to all his seede.

t These three points are here set foorth as commendable, and necessary for him that is in authority: to haue the fauour of the people, to procure their welth, and to be gentle and louing toward them.

Iob.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this history is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not only extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde and conscience, by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement words, and subtil disputations brought him almost to despaire: for they set foorth God as a seuere Iudge, and mortall enemy vnto him which had cast him off, therefore in vaine hee should seeke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this story wee haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe, his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alway punish men according to their sinnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof man knew not the cause, and therefore man could not reason against God therein, but he should be conuicted. Moreouer, he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments and affliction, hee brasteth forth into many inconueniences both of wordes and sentences, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and this is his good cause which he doth not handle well. Againe, the aduersaries maintaine with many goodly arguments, that God punisheth cõtinually according to the trespasse, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans sinnes, yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into despaire, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14 14 & Iames setteth out his patience for an Example, Iames 5.11.

were gone about, Iob sent, and f sanctified them, and rose vp earely in the morning, and s offred burnt offrings according to the number of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and h blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob i euery day.

6 ¶ Now on a day, when the k children of God came and stoode before the Lord, Satan m came also among them.

7 Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Whence n commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, o From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth, an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill?

9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Doth Iob feare God for p nought?

10 Hast thou not made an q hedge about him and about his house, and about all that hee hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out now thine hand, and r touch all that hee hath, to see if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy s face.

12 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, all that hee hath is in t thine hand: onely vpon himselfe shalt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the u presence of the Lord.

13 ¶ And on a day, when his sonnes and his daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

15 And the x Shabeans came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, & said, The y fire of God is fallen from the heauen, & hath burnt vp the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The Caldeans set out three bands, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, & haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came another, and sayde, Thy z sonnes, and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And behold, there came a great winde from beyond the wildernesse, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Iob arose, and a rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, 21 And said, b Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne b thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: c blessed bee the Name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sinne, nor charge God d foolishly.

f That is, commanded them to be sanctified: meaning, that they should consider the faults, that they had committed, and reconcile themselues for the same.

g That is, he offered for euery one of his children an offering of reconciliation, which declared his religion toward God, and the care that he had toward his children.

l Because our infirmitie cannot comprehend God in his maiestie, he is set forth vnto vs as a King, that our capacity may bee able to vnderstand that which is spoken of him.

m This declareth that although Satan be aduersarie to God, yet he is compelled to obey him, and to doe him all homage, without whose permission and appointment hee can doe nothing. n This question is asked for our infirmitie: for God knew whence hee came. o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euer raging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8. p Hee feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commoditie that hee receiueth by thee. q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob, as a rampart, against all temptations. r This signifieth, that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that must doe it. s Satan noteth the vice, whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to bee content with God in the time of prosperitie, which vice is disclosed in the time of their aduersitie. t God giueth not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that hee hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueth him. u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to doe: for else he can neuer go out of Gods presence. x That is, the Arabians. y Which thing was also done by the craft of Satan, to tempt Iob the more grieuously, forasmuch as he might see, that not only men were his enemies, but that God made warre against him.

z The last plague declareth, that when one plague is past, which seemeth hard to be borne, God can send vs another farre more grieuous, to try his, and teach them obedience.

a Which came not of impatiencie, but declareth that the children of God are not insensible like blockes, but that in their patience they feele affliction & griefe of mind: yet they keepe a meane herein, and rebell not against God, as the wicked doe. Eccles 5. 14. 1. tim. 6. 7. b That is, into the belly of the earth, which is the mother of all. c Hereby he confesseth that God is iust and good, although his hand be sore vpon him. d But declared that God did all things according to iustice and equitie.

CHAP. II.

6 Satan hath permission to assault Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His three friends visit him.

A Nd on a day the a children of God came and stood before the Lord, and b Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord sayde vnto Satan, Whence commest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lord sayd vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth, c an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? for yet he continueth in his vprightnesse, d although thou mouedst mee against him, to destroy him e without cause.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and sayd, f Skinne for skinne, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue for his life.

5 But stretch now out thine hand, and touch his g bones, and his flesh, to see if he wil not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Loe, he is in thine hand, but h saue his life.

7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Iob with sore i boiles, a That is, the Angels, as Chap. 1. 6 b Reade Chap. 1. 6. Ezek. 14. 14. ebap. 1. 1.

c He prooueth Iobs integritie by this, that he ceased not to feare God when his plagues were grieuously vpon him.

d That is, when thou haddest nought against him, or when thou wast not able to bring thy purpose to passe.

e Hereby hee meant that a mans owne skin is dearer vnto him then another mans. f Meaning his owne person. g Thus Satan can go no further in punishment, then God hath limited him. h This sore was most vehement, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exo. 9. 9. and threateneth to punish the rebellious people, Deut. 28. 27. So that this tentation was most grieuous: for if Iob had measured Gods fauour by the vehemency of his disease, hee might haue thought that God had cast him off.

from the sole of his foot vnto his crowne.

8 And hee tooke a [a] potcheard to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes.

9 Then said his [b] wife vnto him, Dostt thou [l] continue yet in thine vprightnesse? [m] Blaspheme God, and die.

10 But hee said vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall wee receiue good at the hand of God, and not [n] receiue euil? In all this did not Iob sinne with his [o] lips.

11 Nowe when Iobs three [p] friendes heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes afarre off, they knew him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and [q] sprinkled dust vpon their heades towarde the heauen.

13 So they sate by him vpon the ground seuen dayes, and seuen nights, and none spake a word vnto him: for they saw that the griefe was very [r] great.

i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorrow of his disease.

k Satan vseth the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam.

l Meaning, what gainest thou to serue God, seeing he thus plagueth thee, as though hee were thine enemie?

This is the most grieuous tentation of the faithfull, when their faith is assailed, and when Satan goeth about to perswade them, that they trust in God in vaine.

m For death was appointed to the blasphemer, and so thee meane that he should be soone rid out of his paine n That is, to be patient in aduersitie, as we reioyce when he sendeth prosperitie, and so to acknowledge him to be both merciful and iust. o Hee so bridled his affections, that his tongue through impatiencie, did not murmure against God. p Which were men of authoritie, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, Kings, & came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceiued an euill opinion of him, as though he had bene but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his sins. q This was also a ceremonie, which they vsed in those countreys, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorrow, &c. r And therefore thought that hee would not haue hearkened to their counsell.

CHAP. III.

1 Iob complaineth, and curseth the day of his birth. 11 Hee desireth to die, as though death were the end of all mans miserie.

AFterward [a] Iob opened his mouth, and [b] cursed his day.

2 And Iob cried out, and said,

3 Let the day [c] perish wherein I was borne, and the night when it was said, There is a man child conceiued.

4 Let that day be darkenesse, let not God [d] regard it from aboue, neither let the light shine vpon it,

5 But let darkenesse, and the [e] shadow of death staine it: let the cloud remain vpon it, and let them make it fearful as a bitter day.

6 Let darkenesse possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the daies of the yeere, nor let it come vnto the count of the moneths.

7 Yea, desolate be that night, and let no ioy be in it.

a The seuen daies ended, chap. 2. 13.

b Here Iob beginneth to feele his great imperfection in this battel betweene the spirit and the flesh, Rom. 7. 18. and after a maner yeeldeth, yet in the end hee getteth victorie, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded.

c Man ought not to bee wearie of their life, and curse it because of the infirmities that it is subiect vnto, but because they are giuen to sinne and rebellion against God. d Let it bee put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night. e That is, most obscure darkenesse, which maketh them afraid of death that are in it,

8 Let them that curse the day (being ready to renew their mourning) curse it.

9 Let the starres of that twilight bee dimme through darkenesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it [f] see the dawning of the day,

10 Because it shut not vp the doores of my mothers wombe: nor hidde sorow from mine eyes.

11 [g] Why died not I in the birth? or why died not I when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I sucke the breasts?

13 For so should I now haue [h] lien and bene quiet, I should haue slept then, and bene at rest,

14 With the kings and counsellers of the earth, which haue builded themselues [i] desolate places:

15 Or with the princes that had gold, and haue filled their houses with siluer.

16 Or why was I not hid, as an vntimely birth, either as infants, which haue not seene the light?

17 The wicked [k] haue there ceased from their tyrannie, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest.

18 The [l] prisoners rest together, and heare not the voyce of the oppressour.

19 There are small and great, and the seruant is free from his master.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in miserie? and [m] life vnto them that haue heauy hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen search it more then treasures:

22 Which ioy for gladnesse, and reioyce when they can finde the graue.

23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is [n] hidde, and whom God hath hedged in?

24 For my sighing commeth before I eate, and my roarings are powred out like the water.

25 For the thing I [o] feared, is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afrayd of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnes, neither had I rest, [p] yet trouble is come.

f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night.

g Let it be alwayes night, and neuer see day.

h This and that which followeth, declareth that when man giueth place to his passions, he is not able to stay nor keepe measure, but runneth headlong into all euill, except God call him backe.

i The vehemencie of his afflictions made him to vtter these words, as though death were the ende of all miseries, & as if there were no life after this, which he speaketh not as though it were so, but the infirmities of his flesh caused him to braste out into this errour of the wicked.

k Hee noteth the ambition of them, which for their pleasure, as it were change the order of nature, and build in most barren places, because they would here-by make their names immortall. l That is, by death the cruelcie of the tyrants hath ceased. m All they that sustaine any kind of calamity & misery in this world: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh. n He sheweth that the benefites of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyful, and the conscience quieted. o That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because hee dependeth not on Gods prouidence. p In my prosperitie I looked euer for a fall, as is come now to passe q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperity to seeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatiencie, 7 and vniustice, 17 and of the presumption of his owne righteousnesse.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and sayd,

2 If wee assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieued? but [a] who can withhold himselfe from speaking?

3 Behold, thou hast taught many, and [b] hast a Seeing this thine impatiencie.

b Thou hast cõforted others in their afflictions, & canst not now comfort thy selfe.
c Thus he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, and had no true feare, nor trust in God.
d Hee concludeth that Iob was reprooued, seeing that God handled him so extremely, which is the argument that the earnall men make against the children of God.
e They that doe euill, cannot but receiue euill
f He sheweth that God needeth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for he can doe it with the blast of his mouth.
g Though men according to their office doe not punish tyrants (whom for their cruelty he compareth to lions, and their children to their whelpes) yet God both is able, and his iustice will punish them
h A thing that I knew not before, was declared vnto me by a vision: that is, that whosoeuer thinketh himselfe iust, shall be found a sinner, when hee commeth before God.
i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certaine feare ioined, that y autoritie thereof might be had in greater reuerence.
k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was somewhat asswaged, as God appeared to Elijah, 1 king. 19 12.
l He proueth that if God did punish the innocent, the creature should be more iust then the Creator, which were a blasphemie.
m If God find imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maincained by his power, how much more shall he lay folly to mans charge, when he would iustifie himselfe against God?
n That is, in this mortall body subiect to corruption, 2. Cor. 5 1.
o They see death continually before their eyes, & daily approching toward them.
p No man for all this doeth consider it.
q That is, before that any of them were so wise as to thinke on death.

b hast strengthened the weake hands.
4 Thy words haue confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weake knees.
5 But now it is come vpon thee, & thou art grieued: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.
6 Is not this thy feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and the vprightnesse of thy waies?
7 Remember, I pray thee: who euer perished being an innocent? or where were the vpright destroyed?
8 As I haue seene, they that plough iniquitie, and sow wickednes, reape the same.
9 With the blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his nostrels are they consumed.
10 The roaring of the Lion, and the voice of the Lionesse and the teeth of the Lions whelpes are broken.
11 The Lion perisheth for lacke of pray, and the Lions whelpes are scattered abroad.
12 But a thing was brought vnto me secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a little thereof.
13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dread, which made all my bones to tremble.
15 And the winde passed before me, and made the haires of my flesh to stand vp.
16 Then stoode one, and I knewe not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in silence heard I a voyce, saying,
17 Shall man be more iust then God? or shall a man be more pure then his maker?
18 Behold, he found no stedfastnes in his seruants, and layd folly vpon his Angels.
19 How much more in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moth?
20 They bee destroyed from the morning vnto the euening: they perish for euer without regard.
21 Doth not their dignitie go away with them? doe they not die, and that without wisdome?

CHAP. V.

1, 2 Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power, who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth hu.

CAll now, if any will answere thee, and to which of the saints wilt thou turne?
2 Doubtlesse anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idiot.
3 I haue seene the foolish well rooted, & suddenly I cursed his habitation, saying,
4 His children shall bee farre from saluation, & they shalbe destroyed in the gate, and none shall deliuer them.
5 The hungry shall eate vp his haruest: yea, they shal take it from among thornes, and the thirstie shall drinke vp their substance.
6 For miserie commeth not forth of the dust, neither doth affliction spring out of the earth.
7 But man is borne vnto trauaile, as the sparkes flie vpward.
8 But I would enquire at God, and turne my talke vnto God:
9 Which doeth great things and vnsearchable, and marueilous things without number.
10 He giueth raine vpon the earth, and powreth water vpon the streetes, 11 And setteth vp on high them that bee lowe, that the sorowfull may bee exalted to saluation.
12 He scattereth the deuises of the crafty: so that their hands cannot accomplish that which they doe enterprise.
13 He taketh the wise in their craftines, & the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.
14 They meete with darkenesse in the day time, and grope at noone day, as in the night.
15 But hee saueth the poore from the sword, from their mouth, & from the hand of the violent man, 16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquitie shall stop her mouth.
17 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almightie.
18 For hee maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp; hee smiteth, and his handes make whole.
19 He shall deliuer thee in six troubles, and in the seuenth the euill shall not touch thee.
20 In famine hee shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.
21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of a Hee willeth Iob to consider the example of all them that haue liued or do liue godly, whether any of them be like vnto him in raging against God as hee doeth.

b Murmuring against God in afflictions, increaseth the paine and vexeth mans folly.
c That is, the sinner that hath not the feare of God.
d I was not moued with his prosperitie, but knew that God had cursed him and his.
e Though God sometime suffer the fathers to passe in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked children.
f By publique iudgements they shall bee condemned and none shall pitie them.
g Though there be but two or three eares left in the hedges, yet these shalbe taken from him.
h That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse and mans misery, but his owne sinne.

i Which declareth that sinne is euer in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to paine and affliction.
k If I suffered as thou doest, I would seeke vnto God l He counselleth Iob to humble himselfe to God, to whom all creatures are subiect, and whose workes declare that man is inexcusable except hee glorifie God in all his works.
m He sheweth by particular examples what the workes of God are 1. Cor. 3. 19.
n In things plaine and euident they shew themselues fooles in stead of wise men.
o This declareth that God punisheth the worldly wise, as he threatned, Deu. 28. 29.
p That is, he that humbleth himselfe before God.
q He compareth the slaunder of the wicked to sharpe swords.
r If the wicked be compelled at Gods works to stop their mouthes, much more they that professe God.
s He will send trouble after trouble, that his children may not for one time, but continually trust in him: but they shall haue a comfortable issue, euen in the greatest and the last, which is here called the seuenth.

t Whereas the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.

u When we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shal serue vs.

x God shall so blesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.

y Though the children of God haue not alwaies this promise performed, yet God doeth recompense it otherwise to their aduantage.

the tongue, and thou shalt not be afraid of destruction when it commeth.

22 But thou shalt t laugh at destruction and dearth, and shalt not bee afraid of the beast of the earth.

23 For the stones of the field u shall be in league with thee, and the beastes of the field shall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt know that peace shall be in thy tabernacle, & thou shalt visite thine habitation, and shalt not x sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seed shall be great, and thy posterity as the grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt goe to thy graue in y a full age, as a ricke of corne commeth in due season into the barne.

27 Lo, z thus haue wee enquired of it, and so it is: heare this, and know it for thy selfe.

z We haue learned these points by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, & that the affliction which man sustaineth, commeth for his owne sinne.

CHAP. VI.

1 Iob answereth, that his paine is more grieuous then his fault. 8 He wisheth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

BVt Iob answered, and sayd,

2 Oh that my griefe were wel weighed, and my miseries were layd together in the a balance!

3 For it would bee now heauier then the sand of the sea: therfore my words are b swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almightie are in mee, the venime whereof doeth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrors of God c fight against me.

5 Doeth the d wilde asse bray when hee hath grasse? or loweth the oxe when he hath fodder?

6 That which is e vnsauorie, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the white of an egge?

7 Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sorowes, are my meate.

8 Oh that I might haue my f desire, and that God would grant me the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God would destroy me: that he would let his hand go, and cut mee off.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorow, let him not spare) because I haue not denied the words of the Holy one.

11 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine g end, that I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of braste?

13 Is it not so, that there is in mee no h helpe? & that i strength is taken from me?

14 He that is in miserie ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almightie.

15 My brethren haue deceiued me as a k brooke, and as the riuing of the riuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with ice, & wherein the snow is hid.

17 But in time they are dryed vp with heat, and are consumed: and when it is hote, they faile out of their places.

18 Or they depart from their way & course, yea, they vanish and perish.

19 They that goe to Tema, l considered them, and they that go to Sheba, waited for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are ye like m vnto it: ye haue seene my fearefull plague, and are afraid.

22 Was it because I sayd, Bring vnto me? or giue a reward to me of your n substance?

23 And deliuer me frō the enemies hand, or ransome me out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, & I wil o hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand wherein I haue erred.

25 How p stedfast are the words of righteousnesse? and what can any of you iustly reproue?

26 Doe ye imagine to reproue q words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the wind?

27 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friend.

28 Now therefore be content to r looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none iniquitie: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousnesse in that behalfe. Is there iniquitie in my tongue? doth not my mouth feele sorowes?

a To know whether I complaine without iust cause.

b My griefe is so great, that I lacke words to expresse it.

c Which declareth that he was not onely afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest battell that the faithfull can haue.

d Thinke you that I cry without cause, seeing the bruit beasts doe not complaine when they haue what they would?

e Can a mans taste delite in that that hath no sauour? meaning that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they cannot away with things that are vnsauorie to the mouth.

f Herein he sinneth double, both in wishing through impatiencie to die, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.

g That is, let me die at once before I come to distrust in Gods promise through mine impaciencie h He feareth lest hee should be brought to inconueniences, if his sorowes should continue.

i Haue I not sought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible? Or, wisedome, or Law.

k He compareth those friends which comfort vs not in misery, to a brooke which in summer when we needs waters, is drie, in winter is hard frosen, and in the time of raine, when we haue no needs, ouerfloweth with water.

l They that passe thereby to goe into the hote countreyes of Arabia, thinke to find water there, to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

m That is, like to this brooke, which deceiueth them that thinke to haue water there in their need, as I looked for consolation at your hands.

n He toucheth the worldlings, which for no necessitie will giue part of their goods, and much more these men, which wouldnot giue him cōfortable words.

o Shew me wherein I haue erred, and I will confesse my faule.

p He that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharp words or reasoning of others, except they be able to perswade him by reason.

q Do you cauil at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly which am now in misery?

r Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatiencie through very sorow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

CHAP. VII.

1 Iob sheweth the shortnes & misery of mans life.

IS there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an s hireling?

2 As a seruant longeth for the shadowe, and as an hireling looketh for the end of his worke,

3 So haue I had as an inheritance the t moneths of vanitie, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me.

4 If I layd me downe, I said, When shall s Hath not an hired seruant some rest & ease? then in this my continuall torment I am worse then an hireling.

t My sorowe hath continued from moneth to moneth, and I haue looked for hope in vaine.

shall I arise? and measuring the euening I am euen full with tossing to and fro vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthinesse of the dust, my skinne is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then a weauers shittle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a winde, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eie that hath seene me shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shal be no longer.

9 As the cloud vanisheth and goeth away, so hee that goeth downe to the graue shall come vp no more.

10 He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and mutter in the bitternesse of my minde.

12 Am I a sea, or a whale fish, that thou settest me in ward?

13 When I say, My couch shall refresh me, and my bed shal bring comfort to my meditation, 14 Then fearest thou me with dreames, and affrightest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule chuseth rather to bee strangled and to die, then to be in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not liue alway: spare me then, for my dayes are but vanitie.

17 What is man, that thou shouldest magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him?

18 And doest visite him euery morning, and triest him euery moment?

19 Howe long will it be yer thou depart from me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallow my spittle.

20 I haue sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee, O thou preseruer of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe?

21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespasse, and take away mine iniquitie? for now shal I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shal not be found.

CHAP. VIII.

Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner, bee cause God punisheth the wicked, & preserueth the good.

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

2 Howe long wilt thou talke of these things? and how long shall the words of thy mouth be as a mighty winde?

3 Doth God peruert iudgement? or doth the Almighty subuert iustice?

4 If thy sonnes haue sinned against him and he haue sent them into the place of their iniquitie,

5 Yet if thou wilt early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almightie,

6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely he will awake vp vnto thee, and bee will make the habitation of thy righteousnesse prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

8 Inquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow)

10 Shall not they teach thee and tel thee, and vtter the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush grow without mire? or can the grasse grow without water?

12 Though it were in greene and not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.

13 So are the paths of al that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shalbe cut off, and his trust shalbe as the house of a spider.

15 She shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: she shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The tree is greene before the sunne, and the branches spread ouer the garden thereof.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountaine, and are folden about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it deny, saying, I haue not seene thee, 19 Behold, it will reioyce by this meanes, that it may grow in another mold.

20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Till hee haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee shall bee clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

a This signifieth that his disease was rare & most horrible.

d This hee speaketh in respect of the breuitie of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning: in consideration whereof, he desireth God to haue compassion on him.

e Thou behold mee in thine anger, I shal not be able to stand in thy presence.

f Shall no more enioy this mortall life.

g Seeing I can by none other meanes comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words: and thus he speaketh as one ouercome with griefe of minde.

h Am not I a poore wretch? what needest thou then to lay so much payne on mee?

i So that I can haue no rest night nor day.

k Hee speaketh as one ouercome with sorow, and not of iudgement, or of the examination of his faith.

l Seeing my terme of life is so short, let me haue some rest and ease.

m Seeing that man of himselfe is so vile, why doest thou giue him that honour to contend against him?

a Hee declareth that their words which would diminish any thing from the iustice of God, is but as a puffe of wind that vanisheth away.

b That is, I shalbe dead.

b That is, hath rewarded them according to their iniquities: meaning, that Iob ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God.

c That is, if thou turne betime, whiles God calleth thee to repentance.

d Though the beginnings be not so pleasant, as thou wouldest desire, yet in the end thou shalt haue sufficient occasion to content thy selfe.

e He willeth Iob to examine al iniquitie, & he shal find it true which he here saith.

f Meaning that it is not enough to haue the experience of our selues, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that went before vs.

g As a rush cannot growe without moistnesse, so cannot the hypocrite because he hath not faith which is moistened with Gods Spirit.

h Which is to day, and to morrow swept away.

i He compareth the inst to a tree, which although it bee remooued out of one place to another, yet flourisheth: so the affliction of the godly turneth to their profite.

k That is, so that there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tree hath growen there or no.

l To be planted in another place, where it may growe at pleasure

m If thou be godly, hee will giue thee occasion to reioyce, and if not, thine affliction shall increase.

CHAP. IX.

Iob declareth the mighty power of God, and that mans righteousnesse is nothing.

THen Iob answered, and said,

2 I know verely that it is so: for how should man compared vnto God be iustified?

3 If he would dispute with him, he could not answere him one thing of a thousand.

a Iob here answereth to that point of Eliphaz and Bildads oration touching justice of God & his innocency, confessing God to be infinite in iustice, and man to bee nothing in respect.

b Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answere him one.

4 Hee is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered?
5 Hee remoueth the mountaines, and they feele not when hee ouerthroweth them in his wrath.
6 Hee remoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.
7 He commandeth the sunne, and it ri-seth not: hee closeth vp the starres as vnder a signet.
8 Hee himselfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.
9 He maketh the starres f Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.
10 He doeth great things and vnsearch-able: yea, marueilous things without number.
11 Loe, when he goeth by me, I see him not: and when hee passeth by, I perceiue him not.
12 Behold, when he taketh a praye, who can make him to restore it: who shall say vnto him, What dost thou?
13 God will not withdraw his anger, and the most mighty helpers doe stoupe vnder him.
14 How much lesse shall I answere him? or how should I finde out my wordes with him?
15 For though I were iust, yet could I not answere, but I would make supplication to my iudge.
16 If I cry, and hee answere mee, yet would I not beleeue that he heard my voice.
17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me without cause.
18 Hee will not suffer mee to take my breath, but filleth me with bitternesse.
19 If wee speake of strength, behold, he is strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to pleade?
20 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine owne mouth shall condemne mee: if I would be perfit, he shall iudge me wicked.
21 Though I were perfect, yet I know not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.
22 This is one poynt: therefore I sayd,
He destroyeth the perfect and the wicked.
23 If the scourge should suddenly slay, should God laugh at the punishment of the innocent?
24 The earth is giuen into the hand of the wicked: hee couereth the faces of the Iudges thereof: if not, where, or who is hee?
25 My dayes haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fled, and haue seene no good thing.
26 They are passed as with the most swift shippes, and as the Eagle that flieth to the pray.
27 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me,
28 Then I am afraide of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innoc-cent.
29 If I be wicked, why labour I thus in vaine?
30 If I wash my selfe with snowe-water, and purge mine handes most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne clothes shall make mee lo-thy.
32 For hee is not a man as I am, that I should answere him, if we come together to iudgement.
33 Neither is there any umpire that might lay his hand vpon vs both.
34 Let him take his rod away from me,
and let not his feare affright me:
35 Then will I speake, and feare him not, but because I am not so, I hold me still.

CHAP. X.

1 Iob is weary of his life, and setteth out his fragilitie before God. 20 He desireth him to stay his hand. 22 A description of death.

MY soule is cut off though I liue: I will leaue my complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitternesse of my soule.
2 I will say vnto God, Condemne me not: shewe mee wherefore thou contendest with mee.
3 Thinkest thou it good to oppresse me,
and to cast off the labour of thine handes,
and to fauour the counsell of the wicked?
4 Hast thou carnall eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?
5 Are thy dayes as mans dayes? or thy yeeres as the time of man, 6 That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne?
7 Thou knowest that I cannot do wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.
8 Thine hands haue made me, and fashioned mee wholy round about, and wilt c He declareth what is the infirmitie of man by the mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what hee could doe if he would set fourth his power.

d These are the names of certaine starres, whereby he meaneth, that all starres both knowen and vnknowen, are at his appointment e I am not able to comprehend his works, which are common, and daily before mine eyes, much lesse in those things which are hid and secret.
f Hee sheweth that when God doeth execute his power, hee doeth it iustly, forasmuch as none can controle him.
g God will not be appeased for ought that man can say for himselfe for his iustification.
h That is, all the reasons that men can lay to approue their cause.
i How should I be able to answere him by eloquence? wherby he noteth his friends, albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart that which they spake
k Meaning, in his own opinion: signifying y man wil sometimes flatter himselfe to be righteous, which before God is abomination l Whiles I am in my pangs, I cannot but burst forth into many inconueniences although I know still that God is iust.
m I am not able to feele my sinnes so great, as I feele the weight of his plagues: and this he speaketh to condemne his dulnesse, and to iustine God.
n After he hath accused his owne weakenesse, he continueth to iustifie God & his power.
o If I would stand in mine owne defences, yet God hath iust cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart & conscience.
p If God punish according to his iustice, he will destroy aswel them that are counted perfect, as them that are wicked q To wit, the wicked.
r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though hee would say, If God destroy but the wicked, as Chap. 5. 3 why should he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them?
f That they can not see to do iustice.
t That can shew the contrary?
u I thinke not to fall into these affections, but my sorrowes bring me to these manifold infirmities, and my conscience condemneth me.
x Why doth not God destroy me at once? thus he speaketh according to the infirmitie of the flesh.
y Though I seeme neuer so pure in mine owne eyes, yet all is but corruption before God.
z Whatsoeuer I would vse to couer my filthinesse with, shall disclose me so much more.
a Which ought make an accord betweene God and me, speaking of impatience, and yet confessing God to be iust in punishing him.
b Denying that Gods iudgements keepe him in awe.

a I am more like to a dead man, then to one that liueth.
b I will make an ample declaration of my torments, accusing my selfe, and not God.
c He would not that God should proceed against him by his secret iustice, but by the ordinary meanes that the punisheth others.
d Is it agreeable to thy iustice to do me wrong?

l As brittle as a pot of clay.
m That is, reason and vnderstanding, and many other gifts whereby man excelleth all earthly creatures.
n That, thy fatherly care and prouidence, whereby thou preseruest me, & without ſ which I should perish straightway.
o Though I be not fully able to cõprehend these things, yet I must needes confesse that it is so.
p I will alway walke in feare & humilitie, knowing that none is iuſt before thee.
q Iob being sore assaulted in this battell betweene ſ flesh & the spirit, brasteth out into these affections, wishing rather short dayes then long paine.
t That is, diuerſitie of diseases, & in great abundance, shewing that God hath infinite meanes to punish man.
ſ Hee wisheth that God would leaue off his affliction, considering his great miserie & the breuitie of his life
t He speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is ouercome with passions and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, and therefore cannot apprehend in that state the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection.
u No distinction between light and darknesse, but where all is very darknesse it selfe.

thou destroy me?
9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made mee, as the [l] clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?
10 Hast thou not powred mee out as milke? and turned me to cruds like cheese?
11 Thou hast clothed me with skinne and flesh, and ioyned mee together with bones and sinewes.
12 Thou hast giuen me life, and [m] grace: & thy [n] visitation hath preserued my spirit.
13 Though thou hast hidde these things in thine heart, yet I know [o] that it is so with thee.
14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt straitly looke vnto mee, and wilt not holde me guiltlesse of mine iniquitie.
15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto mee: if I haue done righteously, I will not [p] lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.
16 But let it increase: hunt thou me as a lion: returne and shewe thy selfe [q] marueilous vpon me.
17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against mee: [r] changes and armies of sorowes are against mee.
18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene mee, 19 And that I were as I had not beene, but brought from the wombe to the graue!
20 Are not my dayes few? let him [t] cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort,
21 Before I goe and shall not [u] returne, euen to the land of darkenesse, and shadow of death:
22 Into a land, I say, darke as darkenesse it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none [u] order, but the light is there as darknes.

CHAP. XI.

Iob is vniustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that liue godly.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,
2 Should not the multitude of wordes be answered? or should a great [a] talker bee iustified?
3 Should men hold their peace at thy lies? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?
4 For thou hast sayd, [b] My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.
5 But oh, that God would speake and open his lips against thee!
6 That he might shew thee the [c] secrets of wisedome, how thou hast deserued double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquitie.
7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almighty to his perfection?
8 The heauens are hie, what canst thou doe? [d] it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it?
9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.
10 If he cut off, and [e] shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?
11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.
12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wild asse's colt.
13 If thou [f] prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him:
14 If iniquitie be in thine [h] hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy tabernacle.
15 Then truly shalt thou lift vp thy [i] face without spot, and shalt bee stable, and shalt not feare, 16 But thou shalt forget thy misery, and remember it as waters that are past.
17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine & be as the morning.
18 And thou shalt be bolde, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pits, and shalt lie downe safely.
19 * For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make suite vnto thee.
20 But the eies of the [k] wicked shal faile, and their refuge shall perish, and their hope shalbe sorow of mind.

a Should he perswade by his great talke, that he is iust?
b Hee chargeth Iob with this, that hee should say, that ſ thing which hee spake, was true, & that he was without sinne in the sight of God.
c Which is, not to stand in iustifying of thy selfe: he signifieth that man will neuer be ouercome, whiles he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake off the controuersie, and stop mans mouth.

d That is, this perfection of God and if man bee not able to comprehend ſ height of the heauen, the depth of hell, the length of ſ earth, the bredth of the sea, which are but creatures: howcan heattain to the perfection of the Creator?
e If God should turne the state of things, and establish a new order in nature, who could controll him?
f That is, without vnderstanding, so that what soeuer gifts hee hath afterward, come of God, & not of nature.
g If thou repent pray vnto him.
h Renounce thine owne euill works, and see that they offend not God, ouer whom thou hast charge.
i Hee declareth what quietnesse of conscience and successe in all things such shall haue, which turne to God by true repentance. Leuit. 26. 5, 6.
k Hee sheweth that contrary things shall come vnto them that do not repent.

CHAP. XII.

Iob accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 Hee declareth the might and power of God, 17 and how he changeth the course of things.

Then Iob answered and sayd,
2 In deede because that yee are the people onely, [a] wisedome must die with you.
3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferior vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?
4 * I am [b] as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he [c] heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.
5 [d] He that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

a Because you feele not that which you speak you thinke the whole standeth in words, and so flatter yourselues as though none knew any thing, or could know but you.
Pro. 14. 2.
b He reprooueth these his friends of two faults: the one, that they thought they had better knowledge then indeed they had, and the other, that in stead of true consolation, they did deride and despise their friend in his aduersitie.
c The which neighbour being a mocker, and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hath all things that he desireth d As the rich esteeme not a light or torch, that goeth out, so is he despised that falleth from prosperity to aduersity.

6 The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safetie, that prouoke God, ‡ whom God hath enriched with his hand.

7 Aske now the beasts, e and they shall teach thee, and the foules of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shew thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

10 In whose hand is the soule of euery liuing thing, and the breath of all g mankind.

11 Doth not the eare ‖ discerne words? and the mouth taste meat for it selfe?

12 Among the h ancient is wisedome, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him is wisedome and strength: he hath counsell and vnderstanding.

14 Behold, hee will breake downe, and it cannot be built: he shutteth a man vp, and he cannot be loosed.

15 Behold, hee withholdeth the waters, and they dry vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisedome: hee that is deceiued, and that k deceiueth, are his.

17 He causeth the counsellers to go as spoiled, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 l Hee looseth the k collar of kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle:

19 He leadeth away the princes, as a pray, and ouerthroweth the mighty.

20 He taketh away the speech from the l faithfull counsellers, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He powreth contempt vpon princes, & maketh the strength of the mighty weake.

22 He discouereth the deepe places from their darkenesse, and bringeth foorth the shadow of death to light.

23 Hee m increaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he inlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 Hee taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wildernesse out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

e He declareth to them that did dispute against him, that their wisdome is common to all, and such as the very brute beasts doe daily teach.

f He exhorteth them to be wise in iudging, and as well to know the right vse why God hath giuen them eares, as he hath done a mouth.

g Though men by age, and continuance of time attaine to wisedome, yet it is not comparable to Gods wisedome, nor able to comprehend his iudgements, wherein he answereth to that, which was alledged, Chap. 8. 8.

h He sheweth that there is nothing done in this world without Gods will & ordinance: for else hee should not be almighty.

i He taketh wisdom from them

k He abaseth the honour of Princes, and bringeth them into the subiection of others.

l He causeth that their words haue no credite, which is, when hee will punish sinne.

m In this discourse of Gods wonderfull workes, Iob sheweth that whatsoeuer is done in this world, both in the order, and change of things is by Gods wil & appointment, wherein he declareth that he thinketh wel of God, and is as able to set forth his power in words, as they that reasoned against, were.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitent shall be saued, and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God that he would not handle him rigorously.

LOe, mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard and vnderstood it.

2 I know also as much as you know: I am not inferiour vnto you.

3 But I will speake to the Almighty, and I desire n to dispute with God.

4 For indeede yee forge lies, and all you are o physicians of no value.

5 Oh, that you would hold your tongue, that it might bee imputed to you for wisedome!

6 Now heare my disputation, and giue eare to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will yee speake p wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Will yee accept his person? or will yee contend for God?

9 Is it well that hee should seeke of you? will you make a lie for him, as one lieth for a man?

10 He will surely reproue you, if yee doe secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellency make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your q memories may bee compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of clay.

13 Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon me what will.

14 Wherefore do I r take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hand?

15 Loe, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reproue my wayes in his sight.

16 He shall be my saluation also: for the ſ hypocrite shall not come before him.

17 Heare diligently my words, and marke my talke.

18 Beholde now: if I prepare mee to iudgement, I know that I shall bee t iustified.

19 Who is he that will plead u with me? for if I now hold my tongue, I x die.

20 But do not these two things vnto me: then will I not hide my selfe from thee:

21 y Withdraw thine hand from me, and let not thy feare make me afraide.

22 Then call thou, and I will answere: or let me speake, and answere thou me.

23 How many are ‖ mine iniquities and sinnes? shewe mee my rebellion, and my sinne.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemie?

25 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the dry stubble?

26 For thou writest bitter things against mee, and makest mee to possesse a the iniquities of my youth.

27 Thou puttest my feete also in the b stockes, and lookest narrowly vnto all my pathes, and makest the print thereof in the ‡ heeles of my feete.

28 Such one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is moth eaten.

n For although hee knew that God had a iustice which was manifest in his ordinary working, & another in his secret counsell, yet would he vtter his affection to God, because he was not able to vnderstand the cause why hee did thus punish him.

o You doe not well apply your medicine to the disease.

p Hee condemneth their zeale which had not knowledge, neither regarded they to comfort him, but alway grated on Gods iustice, as though it was not euidently seene in Iob, except they had vndertaken the probation thereof.

q Your fame shall come to nothing.

r Is not this a manifest signe of mine affliction, and that I doe not complaine without cause, seeing that I am thus tormented as though I should teare mine owne flesh, and put my life in danger?

ſ Whereby hee declareth that he is not an hypocrite, as they charged him.

t That is, cleared, and not cast off for my sinnes, as you reason.

u To proue that God doeth thus punish mee for my sinnes.

x If I defend not my cause, euery man will condemne mee.

y His pangs thus moue him to reason with God, not denying but that he had sinned: but he desired to vnderstand what were his great sinnes, that had deserued such rigour, wherein he offended, that he would knowe a cause of God why hee did punish him.

z Thou punishest mee nowe for the faultes that I committed in my youth.

a Thou makest me thy prisoner, and doest so presse mee that I cannot stirre hand or foote. ‡ Ebr. rootes.

CHAP.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iob describeth the shortnesse and miserie of the life of man. 14 Hope sustaineth the godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

MAn a that is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.

2 He shooteth foorth as a flower, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as * a shadow, and continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such b one, and causest me to enter into iudgment with thee.

4 * Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the number of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bounds, which he cannot passe.

6 Turne from him that he may cease vntill his desired day, c as an hireling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not cease.

8 Though the roote of it waxe old in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in the ground,

9 Yet by the sent of water it wil bud, and bring foorth boughs like a plant.

10 d But man is sicke, and dieth, and man perisheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp,

12 So man sleepeth and riseth not: for he shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, and keepe mee secret, vntill thy * wrath were past, and wouldest giue mee terme, and e remember me!

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I waite, till f my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call me, and I shall g answere thee: thou louest the worke of thine owne hands.

16 But now thou * numbrest my steps, and doest not delay my sinnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a h bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the i rock that is removed from his place:

19 As the water teareth the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which growe in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: hee changeth his face when thou castest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his sonnes shall be honourable, neither shall he vnderstand concerning them, whether they shall bee of lowe degree:

22 But while his k flesh is vpon him, hee shall bee sorowfull, and while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because he ascribeth wisedome and pureness to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

THen answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and sayd,

2 Shall a wise man speake words of the l winde, and fill his belly m with the East winde?

3 Shal he dispute with words not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast off * feare, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen n the tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the o first man that was borne? and wast thou made before the hilles?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God? and dost thou restraine wisedome to thee?

9 What knowest thou that wee knowe not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seeme the consolations of God small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why doeth thine heart p take thee away, and what do thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God q at thy pleasure, and bringest such words out of thy mouth?

14 What is man, that he should be cleane? and hee that is borne of woman, that hee should be r iust?

15 Behold, he found no stedfastnesse in his saints: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 Howe much more is man abominable, and filthie, which s drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I haue seene:

18 Which wise men haue told, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whom alone the land was t giuen, and no stranger passed thorow them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that trauaileth of childe, and the number of u yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperitie the destroyer shall come vpon him.

22 Hee beleeueth not to returne out of * darknes: for he seeth the sword before him.

23 Hee wandreth * to and fro for bread

a That is, vaine words, and without consolation.
b Meaning, with matters that are of none importance, which are forgotte assoone as they are vttered, as the East wind drieth vp the moisture assoone as it falleth.
c He chargeth Iob as though his talke caused men to cast off the feare of God and prayer.
d Thou speakest as doe the mockers & contemners of God.
e That is, the most ancient, & so by reason the most wise?
f Art thou only wise?
g He accuseth Iobs pride, and ingratitude, that will not be comforted by God, nor by their counsell.
h Why doest thou stand in thine owne conceite?
Eb. in thy spirit.
i His purpose is to proue that Iob as an vniust man and an hypocrite is punished for his sinnes, like as hee did before, Chap. 4.18.
k Which hath a desire to sinne, as he that is thirstie to drinke. l Who by their wisdome so gouerned, that no stranger inuaded them, & so the land seemed to be giuen to them alone. m The cruell man is euer in danger of death, and is neuer quiet in conscience. n Out of that miserie wherein he once faileth. o God doeth not onely impouerish the wicked oft times: but euen in their prosperity hee punisheth them with a greedinesse euermore to gather: which is as a beggerie, l Yet whiles he liueth, he is albe in paine and miserie.

13 June. Iob. Morning.
13 Iune. Iob. Euening

where hee may: hee knoweth that the day of darkenesse is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and [p] anguish shall make him afraid: they shall preuaile against him as a king ready to the battell.

25 For hee hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almightie.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shield, 27 Because he had couered his face with [q] his fatnesse, and hath collops in his flanke.

28 Though hee dwell [r] in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the [s] perfection thereof in the earth.

30 Hee shall neuer depart out of darkenes: the flame shall dryte vp his branches, and hee shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He [t] beleeueth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall be his change.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shal be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him as the vine her sowre [u] grape, and shall cast him off, as the olive doeth her flower.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall be desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of [x] bribes.

35 For they conceiue mischiefe, and bring forth vanitie, and their belly hath prepared deceit.

p He sheweth what weapons God vseth against the wicked which lift vp themselues against him, to wit, terrour of conscience, and outward afflictions.

q That is, he was so puft vp with great prosperitie and abundance of al things, that he forgate God: noting that Iob in his felicitie had not the true feare of God.

r Though hee build and repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shall bring all to nought, & turne his great prosperitie into extreme misery.

s Meaning, that his sumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection.

t He standeth so in his owne conceit, that he wil giue no place to good counsel, therfore his own pride shal bring him to destruction.

u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe. x Which were built or maintained by powling and briberie. y And therefore all their vaine deuices shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Iob moued by the importunitie of his friends, 7 Counteth in what extremitie he is, 19 And taketh God to witnesse of his innocencie.

BVt Iob answered, and sayd,

2 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there bee none end of words of [a] winde? or what maketh thee bolde so to [b] answere?

4 I could also speake as you doe: (but would God your [c] soule were in my soules stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could [d] shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you [e] with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should asswage your sorow.

6 Though I speake, my sorow [f] cannot be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?

7 But now [g] he maketh mee wearie: O God, thou hast made all my [h] congregation desolate, a Which serue for vain ostentation, and for no true comfort.

b For Eliphaz did reply against Iobs answare.

c I would you felt that which I doe.

d That is, mocke at your miserie, as you doe at mine.

e If this were in my power, yet would I comfort you, and not doe as yee doe to me. f If they would say, Why doest thou not then cofort thy self? he answereth, that the iudgements of God are more heauie, then he is able to asswage either by words or silence. g Meaning God. h That is, destroyed most of my family.

8 And hast made me full of [i] wrinckles, which is a witnesse thereof, and my leannes riseth vp in mee, testifying the same in my face.

9 [k] His wrath hath torne me, and he hateth mee, and gnasheth vpon mee with his teeth: mine enemie hath sharpened his eyes against me.

10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon me, and smitten mee on the [l] cheeke in reproch: they gather themselues together against me.

11 God hath deliuered mee to the vniust, and hath made mee to turne out of the way by the [m] hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but he hath brought me to nought: hee hath taken mee by the necke, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.

13 His [n] archers compasse mee round about: he cutteth my reines, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall [o] vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon mee like a giant.

15 I haue sowed a sackecloth vpon my skinne, and haue abased mine [p] horne vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes, 17 Though there bee no wickednesse in [q] mine hands, and my prayer [r] be pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my [s] blood, and let my crying find no place.

19 For loe, nowe my [t] witnesse is in the heauen, and my record is on hie.

20 My friendes [u] speake eloquently against mee: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

21 Oh that a man might [x] pleade with God, as man with his neighbour!

22 For the yeeres accounted come, and I shall goe the way, whence I shal not returne.

i In token of sorow and griefe.

k That is, God by his wrath: and in this diuersitie of words and his stile, he expresseth howe grieuous the hand of God was vpon him.

l That is, hath handled me most contemptuously: for so smiting on the cheeke signified, 1. King. 22. 24 mar. 14. 65.

m They haue led me whither they would.

n His manifold afflictions.

o I am wounded to the heart.

p Meaning, his glory was brought lowe.

q Signifying, that he is not able to comprehend the cause of this his grieuous punishment.

r That is, vnfained, and without hypocrisie.

s Let my sinne be knowen, if I be such a sinner as mine aduersaries accuse me, and let me find no fauour.

t Though man condemne me, yet God is witnesse of my cause.

u Vse painted words in stead of true consolation.

x Thus by his great torments he is caried away, and brasteth out into passions, and speaketh vnaduisedly, as though God should intreate man more gently, seeing he hath but a short time here to liue.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Iob saith that he consumeth away, & yet doeth patiently abide it. 10 He exhorteth his friends to repentance, 13 shewing that he looketh but for death.

MY breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the graue is readie for me.

2 There are none but [a] mockers with mee, and mine eye continueth in [b] their bitternesse.

3 [c] Lay downe now and put me in surety for thee: who is he, that will [d] touch mine hand?

4 For thou hast hid their heart from [e] vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not lift them vp on hie.

vexe me. c He reasoneth with God as a man beside himselfe, to the intent that his cause might be brought to light. d And answere for thee? e That these mine afflictions are by iust iudgements, though man know not the cause.

f He that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happie in his prosperitie, shall not himselfe onely, but in his posteritie be punished.
g God hath made all the world to speake of me, because of mine afflictions.
h That is, as a continuall sound in their eares.
i To wit, when they see the godly punished: but in the end they shall come to vnderstanding, and know what shalbe the reward of the hypocrite.
k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked.
l Iob speaketh to them three, that came to comfort him.
m That is, hath brought me sorow in stead of comfort.
n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie, as your discourse pretendeth.
o I haue no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shall be to me in stead of them.
p All worldly hope, and prosperitie faile, which you say, are onely signes of Gods fauour: but seeing that these things perish, I set mine hope in God, and in the life euerlasting.

5 f For the eyes of his children shal faile, that speaketh flatterie to his friends.
6 Yet hath also made mee a g byword of the people, and I am as a tabret h before them.
7 Mine eye therfore is dimme for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.
8 The righteous shall bee astonied at i this, and the innocent shalbe moued against the hypocrite.
9 But the righteous will hold his k way, and hee whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength.
10 All l you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not finde one wise among you.
11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart
12 Haue changed the m night for the day, and the light that approched, for darkenesse.
13 Though I hope, n yet the graue shall bee mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.
14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my o father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.
15 Where is then now my hope? or who shall consider the thing that I hoped for?
16 p They shall goe downe into the bottome of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rebuketh the proude. 5 He describeth the vnfortunate fall and wicked.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
2 When will a yet make an ende of your words? b cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake.
3 Wherefore are wee counted as beasts, and are vile in your sight?
4 Thou art c as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the d earth bee forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place?
5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall bee e quenched, and the sparke of his fire shal not shine.
6 The light shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shalbe put out with him.
7 The steps of his strength shall bee restrained, and his owne counsel shall cast him downe.
8 For he is taken in the net by his feete, and he f walketh vpon the snares.
9 The grenne shal take him by the heele, and the theefe shall come vpon him.
10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.
11 Fearefulnesse shall make him afraide on euery side, and shall driue him to his feet.
12 His strength shall be g famine, and destruction shall be readie at his side.
13 It shall deuoure the inner parts of his skinne, and the h first borne of death shall deuoure his strength.
14 His hope shall bee rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the i King of feare.
15 Feare shall dwel in his house (because it is not k his) l and brimstone shalbe scattered vpon his habitation.
16 His roots shall bee dried vp beneath, and aboue shall his branch bee cut downe.
17 His remembrance shall perish from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.
18 They shall driue him out of the m light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the world.
19 Hee shall neither haue sonne nor nephew among his people, nor any posterity in his dwellings.
20 The posteritie shall be astonied at his n day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.
21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Iob reproueth his friends, 15 and recounteth his miseries and grieuous paines. 25 He assureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

Then Iob answered, and said,
2 How long will yee vexe my soule, and torment me with words?
3 Yee haue now a ten times reproched mee, and are not ashamed: ye are impudent toward me.
4 And though I had in deede erred, mine b errour remaineth with me.
5 But in deede if you will aduance your selues against mee, and rebuke mee for my reproch,
6 Knowe now, that God hath c ouerthrowen mee, and hath compassed mee with his net.
7 Behold, I crie out of violence, but I haue none answere: I crie, but there is no iudgement.
8 Hee hath hedged vp my way that I cannot d passe, and hee hath set darkenesse in my paths.
9 He hath spoiled me of mine honour, and taken the e crowne away from mine head.
10 Hee hath destroyed mee on euery side, and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a f tree.
11 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.
12 His g armies came together, and made their way vpon mee, and camped about my tabernacle.
13 Hee hath removed my brethren farre from mee, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.
14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.
15 k They that dwell in mine house, and my maides tooke mee for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.
16 I called my seruant, but he would not answere, a Which count your selues iust, as Chap. 12.4. b Whom you take to be but beasts, as Chap. 12.7.

c That is, like a mad man.
d Shall God change the order of nature for thy sake, by dealing with thee otherwise then he doth with all men?
e When the wicked is in his prosperity, then God changeth his state: and this is his ordinarie working for their sinnes.
f Meaning, that the wicked are in continuall danger.

g That which should nourish him shall be consumed by famine.
h That is, some strong and violent death shall consume his strength: or as the Hebrew word signifieth, his members or parts.
i That is, with most great feare.
k Meaning, not truely come by.
l Though all the world would fauour him, yet God would destroy him and his.
m He shall fall from prosperitie to aduersitie.
n When they shall see what came vnto him.

a That is, many times, as Nehe. 4.12.
b That is, I my selfe shalbe punished for it, or you haue not yet confuted it.
c He brasteth out againe into his passions, and declareth still, that his affliction commeth of God, though he be not able to feele the cause in himselfe.
d Meaning, out of his afflictions.
e Meaning, his children, and whatsoeuer was deare vnto him in this world.
f Which is plucked vp, and hath no more hope to grow.
g His manifold afflictions.
h Mine household seruants, by all these losses Iob sheweth, that touching the flesh hee had great occasion to be moued.

i Which were hers and mine.
k Besides these great losses and most cruell vnkindnesse, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.
l All my flesh was consumed.
m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaineth, condemne me not as an hypocrite, especially ye which should comfort me. n Is it not enough that God doth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorrow?
o To see my bodie punished, except ye trouble my minde?
p He protesteth that notwithstanding his sore passions, his religion is perfite, and that he is not a blasphemer, as they iudged him.
q I know that I shal come before the great iudge, who shalbe my deliuerer and Sauiour.
r Herein Iob declareth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enioy the presence of God in the last resurrection, s Though his friends thought that he was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet hee declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the triall of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others.
t God will be reuenged of this hastie iudgement, whereby ye condemne me.

answere, though I prayed him with my mouth.
17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body.
18 The wicked also despised me, & when I rose, they spake against me.
19 All my secret friends abhorred me, and they whom I loued, are turned against me.
20 My bone cleaueth to my skinne, and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skinne of my teeth.
21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue pitie vpon me, (O yee my friends) for the hand of God hath touched me.
22 Why doe yee persecute me as God? and are not satisfied with my flesh?
23 Oh that my wordes were now written! Oh that they were written euen in a booke!
24 And graued with an yron pen in lead, or in stone for euer!
25 For I am sure that my Redeemer liueth, and he shal stand the last on the earth.
26 And though after my skinne wormes destroy this body, yet shall I see God in my flesh.
27 Whom I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall beholde, and none other for mee, though my reines are consumed within me.
28 But yee said, Why is hee persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me.
29 Be ye afraid of the sword: for the sword will bee auenged of wickednesse, that yee may know that there is a iudgement.

CHAP. XX.

Zophar sheweth that the wicked and the vngodly shall haue a short ende, 22. Though for a time they flourish.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and said,
2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answere, and therefore I make haste.
3 I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere.
4 Knowest not thou this of olde? and since God placed man vpon the earth,
5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment?
6 Though his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the clouds.
7 Yet shall hee perish for euer, like his dung: & they which haue seene him shall say, Where is he?
8 He shal flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night.
9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall doe so no more, and his place shall see him no more.
10 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance.
11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust.
12 When wickednesse was sweet in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue, 13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 14 Then his meate in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the midst of him.
15 Hee hath deuoured substance, and he shall vomite it: for God shall draw it out of his belly.
16 He shall sucke the gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him.
17 Hee shall not see the riuers, nor the floods and streames of honie and butter.
18 Hee shall restore the labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shalbe his exchange, and he shall enioy it no more.
19 For he hath vndone many: he hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoyled houses which he builded not.
20 Surely hee shall feele no quietnesse in his bodie, neither shal he reserue of that which he desired.
21 There shall none of his meat be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.
22 When he shall be filled with his abundance, he shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall assaile him.
23 Yee shall be about to fill his belly, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meate.
24 He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of steele shal strike him through.
25 The arrow is drawen out, and commeth forth of the body, and shineth of his gall, so feare commeth vpon him.
26 All darknesse shalbe hid in his secret places: the fire that is not blowen, shall deuoure him, and that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shall be destroyed.
27 The heauen shall declare his wickednesse, and the earth shall rise vp against him.
28 The increase of his house shall goe away: it shall flowe away in the day of his wrath.
29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that he shal haue of God for his words.

c Whereas the father through ambition and tyrannie oppressed the poore, his children through pouertie and misetie shall seeke fauour at the poore.
d So that the thing, which he hath taken away by violence, shall be restored againe by force.
e Meaning, that he shall carie nothing away with him, but his sin.
f As poyson that is sweete in the mouth, bringeth destructiō, when it commeth into the body: so all vice at the first is pleasant, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.
g He compareth ill gotten goods to the venime of Aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truely come by, and therefore God did plague him iustly for the same.
h Though God giue to all other abundance of his blessings, yet he shall haue no part thereof.
i That is, these raueners and spoylers of the poore shall enioy their theft but for a time:

1 Iune
Euening

2 He declareth that two things moued him to speake: to wit, because Iob seemed to touch him, and because he thought he had knowledge sufficient to confute him.
b His purpose is to proue Iob to be a wicked man, & an hypocrite, because God punished him, and changed his prosperitie into aduersitie.

for after, God will take it from them, and cause them to make restitution, so that it is but an exchange.
k He shall leaue nothing to his posteritie.
l The wicked shall neuer be in rest: for one wicked man shall seeke to deuour another.
m Some reade, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smitten with a scab.
n Some reade, of the quiuer.
o All feare and sorow shall light vpon him, when he thinketh to escape.
p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath.
q Meaning, the children of the wicked shall flow away like riuers, and bee dispersed in diuers places.
r Thus God will plague the wicked.
s Against God, thinking to escape himselfe, and to escape Gods hand.

CHAP.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iob declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proud. 15 Insomuch that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

BVt Iob answered, and said,

2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this a shall be in stead of your consolations.

3 Suffer mee that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it b were so, how should not my spirit be troubled?

5 Marke me, and bee abashed, and lay your hand vpon your c mouth.

6 Euen when I remember, I am afraid, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore doe the wicked d liue, and waxe old, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seed is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendreth and faileth not: their cowe calueth, and casteth not her calfe.

11 They send foorth their children e like sheepe, and their sonnes dance.

12 They take the tabret and harpe, and f reioyce in the sound of the Organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth and suddenly g they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the h knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Who is the Almightie, that we should serue him? and what profit should we haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 Lo, their wealth is not in their i hand: therefore let the counsell of the wicked k bee farre from me.

17 How oft shal the candle of the wicked bee put out? and their destruction come vpon them? hee will diuide their liues in his wrath.

18 They shall bee as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme carieth away.

19 God will lay vp the sorow of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shall know it.

20 l His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his moneths is cut off?

22 Shall any teach m God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?

23 One n dieth in his full strength, being in all ease and prosperitie.

24 His brestes are full of milke, and his bones moysture full of marrow.

25 And another o dieth in the bitternesse of his soule, and neuer tasteth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both in the p dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterprises, wherewith ye do me wrong.

28 For yee say, Where is the Princes q house? and where is the tabernacle of the wickedes dwelling?

29 May yee not r aske them that go by the way? and ye cannot deny their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of s destruction, and they shall bee brought foorth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way t to his face? and who shall reward him for that he hath done?

32 Yet shall he bee brought to the graue, and remaine in the heape.

33 The u slime valley shall be sweet vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort x yee mee in vaine, seeing in your answeres there remaine but lies?

a Your diligent marking of my words, shalbe to me a great consolation.

b As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who will not answere me: and therefore my mind must needs be troubled.

c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence.

d Iob proueth against his aduersaries, that God punisheth not straightwaies the wicked, but oft times grieueth them long life & prosperitie, so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eyes.

e They haue store of children lusty, and healthfull: and in these points he answereth to that which Zophar alledged before.

f Not being tormented with long sicknesse.

g They desire nothing more then to bee exempt from all subiection that they should beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason onely by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God are better delt withal, the they that loue him.

h It is not their owne, but God only lendeth it vnto them.

i God keepe me from their prosperitie.

k When God recompenseth his wickednes, he shal know it.

l Who sendeth to the wicked prosperitie, and punisheth the godly.

m Meaning the wicked.

n To wit, the godly.

o As concerning their bodies: and this he speaketh according to the common iudgement.

p Thus they called Iobs house in derision, concluding that it was destroied because he was wicked.

q Which through long traueling haue experience and tokens hereof, to wit, that the wicked doe prosper, and the godly liue in affliction.

r Though the wicked flourish here, yet God will fetch him, and none dare reproue him in this world, yet death is a token, that God will bring him to an accoũt: He shalbe glad to lie in a slimie pit, which before could not be content with a royal palace.

s Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperitie, and the wicked aduersitie.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 Hee accuseth him of vnmercifulnesse. 13 And that he denied Gods prouidence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

THen Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 May a man be a profitable vnto God, as he that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe?

3 b Is it any thing to the Almightie, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy waies vpright?

4 Is it for feare c of thee that he will accuse thee? or goe with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the d pledge from thy brother for nought, & spoyled the clothes of the naked.

7 To such as was wearie, thou hast not giuen water to drink, and hast withdrawen bread from the hungrie.

8 But the mightie man e had the earth, and he that was in authoritie dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowes empty, and the armes of the f fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee:

11 Or darknes that thou shouldest not see, and g abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Is not God on a hie in the heauen? and behold a Though man were iust, yet God could haue no profit of this his iustice: and therefore when hee punisheth him, he hath no regard to his iustice, but to his sinne.

Chap. 3 5.7.

b Lest thou shouldest reproue or hurt him?

c Thou hast been cruell and without charitie, and wouldest do nothing for the poore, but for thine owne aduantage.

d When thou wast in power & authoritie, thou didst not iustice but wrong.

e Thou hast not only not shewed pitty, but oppressed them.

f That is, manifold afflictions.

g He accuseth Iob of impiety & contempt of God, as though he would say, Iob, If I passe not for man, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie.

h That so much the more by that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him.

i He reproueth Iob as though he denied Gods prouidence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this world.

k How God hath punished them from the beginning?

l He prooueth Gods prouidence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe.

m He answereth to that which Iob had said, Chap. 21. 7. that the wicked haue prosperitie in this world: desiring that he might not be partaker of the like.

n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first because God sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, and by this meanes continueth his honour and glory: secondly, because God sheweth that hee hath care ouer his, in that he punisheth their enemies.

o That is, the state & preseruation of the godly is hid vnder Gods wings.

p Meaning, of the wicked

q He exhorteth Iob to repentance, and to returne to God.

r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance.

s Which shalbe in abundãce like dust.

t That is, the fauour of God.

u God will deliuer his, when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood, and in Sodome.

x God will deliuer a whole countrey from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

behold the height of the k starres howe hie they are.

13 But thou sayest, Howe should God l knowe? can he iudge through the darke cloud?

14 The cloudes hide him that he cannot see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of m worlde, n wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were o cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that ouerflowed:

17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the almighty could doe for them.

18 Yet he p filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shal reioyce, q and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne.

20 Surely r our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of s them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, t with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperitie.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the Law of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be u built vp, and thou shalt put iniquity farre from thy Tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp gold for x dust, and the gold of Ophir, as the flintes of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shalbe thy defence, and thou shalt haue plentie of siluer.

26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almightie, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shal establish it vnto thee, and the y light shal shine vpon thy wayes.

29 z When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shal deliuer the a Iland, and it shall bee preserued by the pureneſſe of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1. Iob affirmeth that he both knoweth & feareth the power & sentence of the Iudge, 10. And that he is not punished onely for his sinnes.

THen Iob answered and said,

2 Though my talke bee this day in a bitternesse, and my plague greater then my groning,

3 (Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would know the wordes, that hee would answere mee, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.

6 (Would he b plead against me with his great power? No but he would c put strength in me.

7 d There the righteous might reason with him, so I should bee deliuered for euer from my Iudge.

8 e Behold, if I go to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

9 If to the North where he worketh, yet I cannot see him: he wil hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.

10 But he knoweth my f way, and trieth me, and I shall come forth like the gold.

11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.

12 Neither haue I departed from the commandement of his lips, & I haue esteemed the words of his mouth more then mine appointed foode.

13 Yet hee is in one minde, and who can g turne him? yea, hee doeth what his minde desireth.

14 For he will performe that which is decreed of me, and h many such things are with him.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraide of him.

16 For God i hath softned mine heart, and the Almightie hath troubled me.

17 For I am not cut off in k darknes, but he hath hid the darkenesse from my face.

a He sheweth the iust cause of his complaining, and as touching that Eliphaz had exhorted him to returne to God, Chap. 22. 21. hee declareth that he desireth nothing more: but it seemed that God would not be found of him.

b Vsing his absolute power, & saying, Because I am God, I may doe what I will.

c Of his mercie he would giue me power to answere him.

d When he of his mercie hath giuen strength to maintaine their cause.

e Meaning, that if hee consider Gods iustice, hee is not able to comprehend his iudgements, on what side or part so euer he turneth himselfe.

f God hath this preeminence aboue me, that he knoweth my way: to wit, that I am innocent, and I am not able to iudge of his workes: he sheweth also his confidence, that God doeth visite him for his profit

g His worde is more precious vnto me, then the meat wherewith the body is sustained.

h Iob confesseth that at this present hee felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured, that he had appointed him to a good end.

i In many points man is not able to attain to Gods iudgements k That I should not be without feare.

l He sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, seeth none end, neither yet knoweth the cause.

CHAP. XXIIII.

2 Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 12 How all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

HOw should not the times bee a hid from the Almightie, seeing that they which know him, see not his b dayes?

2 Some remoue the land marks, that rob the flockes, and feede thereof.

3 They lead away the Asse of the fatherlesse, and take the widowes ore to pledge.

4 They make the poore to turne out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselues c together.

5 Behold, others as wilde Asses in the wildernesse, goe forth to their businesse, and d rise early for a pray: the wildernesse a Thus Iob speaketh in his passions and after the iudgement of the flesh, that is, that he seeth not the things that are done at times, neither yet hath a peculiar care ouer all because he punisheth not the wicked, nor reuengeth the godly.

b When he punisheth the wicked, & rewardeth the good.

c And for cruelty and oppression dare not shewe their faces.

d That is, spare no diligence.

e giueth

e He and his liue by robbing and murthering.
f Meaning, the poore mans.
g Signifying, that one wicked man will not spoile another, but for necessity.
h The poore are driuen by the wicked into rocks and holes, where they cannot lie dry for the raine.
i That is, they so powle and pill the poore widow, that shee cannot haue to sustaine her selfe, that she may be able to giue her childe sucke.
k That is, his garment, wherewith he should be couered or clad.
l In such places, which are appointed for that purpose: meaning that those that labour for the wicked are pined for hunger.
m For the great oppression and extortion.
n Cry out & call for vengeance.
o God doth not condemne the wicked, but seemeth to passe ouer is by his long silence p That is, Gods worde, because they are reproued thereby.
q By these particular vices, and the licence thereunto, he would proue that God punisheth not the wicked, and rewardeth the iust.

* giueth him and his children foode.

6 They reape [f] his prouision in the field, but they gather the late [s] vintage of the wicked.

7 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the colde.

8 They are wet with the showers of the mountaines, [h] and they imbrace the rocke for want of a couering.

9 They plucke the fatherlesse [i] from the breast, and take the pledge [k] of the poore.

10 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the gleaning from the hungry.

11 They that make oyle [l] betweene their walles, and tread their wine presses, suffer thirst.

12 Men [m] cry out of the city, & the soules of the slaine [n] cry out: yet God doeth [o] not charge them with folly.

13 These are they that abhorre the [p] light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the paths thereof.

14 The murtherer riseth early, & killeth the poore and the needy: and in the night he is as a theefe.

15 The eye also of the [q] adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and saith, None eye shall see me, and disguiseth his face.

16 They dig through houses in the darke, which they marked for themselues in the day: they know not the light.

17 But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death: if one knowe them, they are in the terrours of the shadow of death.

18 He is swift vpon the [r] waters: their [s] portion shall be cursed in the earth: he will not behold the way of the vineyards.

19 As the dry ground and heate consume the snow waters, so shall the graue the [t] sinners.

20 [u] The pitifull man shall forget him: the worme shal feele his sweetnesse: he shalbe no more remembred, and the wicked shal be broken like a tree.

21 He [x] doeth euil intreat the barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth he good to the widow.

22 Yet draweth also the [y] mighty by his power, and when he riseth vp, none is sure of life.

23 Though men giue him assurance to be in safety, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 They are exalted for a little, but they are gone, and are brought low as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the top of an eare of corne.

25 But if it be not [z] so, where is hee? or who will proue me a liar, & make my words of no value?

r That is, that contrary to your reasoning no man can giue a perfect reason of Gods iudgements, let mee bee reprooued.

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

THen answered Bildad the Shuhite, and sayd,

2 [a] Power and feare is with him, that maketh peace in his hie places.

3 Is there any number in his armies? and vpon whom [b] shall not his light arise?

4 And how may a man be [c] iustified with God? or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman?

5 Behold, hee will giue no light to the moone, [d] and the starres are vncleane in his sight.

6 How much more man, a worme, euen the sonne of man, which is but a worme?

a His purpose is to prooue that albeit God try & afflict the iust, yet soone after he sendeth prosperity, and because he did not so to Iob, he concludeth that he is wicked.
b Who can hide him frō his presence?
c That is, be iust in respect of God?
d If God shew his power, the moone and starres cannot haue that light, which is giuen them, much lesse can man haue any excellency, but of God.

CHAP. XXVI.

Iob sheweth that man cannot helpe God, and proueth it by his miracles.

BUt Iob answered, and sayd,

2 [a] Whom helpest thou? him that hath no power? sauest thou the arme that hath no strength?

3 Whom counsellest thou? him that hath no wisdome? thou [b] shewest right well as the thing is.

4 To whome doest thou declare [c] these words? or what spirit [d] commeth out of thee?

5 The [e] dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neere vnto them.

6 The graue is [f] naked before him, and there is no couering for [g] destruction.

7 He stretcheth out the [h] North ouer the emptie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

8 He bindeth the waters in his clouds, and the cloud is not broken vnder them.

9 He holdeth backe the face of his throne: [i] and spreadeth his cloud vpon it.

10 He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the [k] day and night come to an end.

11 The [l] pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

12 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding hee smiteth the pride thereof.

13 His Spirite hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked [m] serpent.

14 Loe, these are part of his wayes: but [n] how little a portion heare we of him? and a Thou concludest nothing: for neither thou helpest me, which am destitute of all helpe, neither yet speakest sufficiently on Gods behalfe, who hath no needs of thy defence.

b But thou doest not apply it to the purpose.
c That is, mooueth thee to speake this?
d Iob beginneth to declare the force of Gods power & prouidence in the mines & mettals in the deepe places of the earth.
e There is nothing hid in the bottome of the earth, but hee seeth it.
f Meaning, the graue wherein things putrifie.
g Hee causeth the whole heauen to turne about the North pole.
h That is, he hideth the heauens, which are called his throne.
i So long as this world endureth.
k Not that heauen hath pillars to vphold it, but he speaketh by a similitude, as though he would say, The heauen it selfe is not able to abide his reproch.
l Which is a figure of starres fashioned like a serpent, because of the crookednes.
m If these few things, which wee see dayly with our eyes, declare his great power and prouidence, how much more would they appeare, if we were able to comprehend all his workes?

who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perfitnesse of Iob. 13 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying.

2 The liuing God hath taken away my [a] iudgement: for the almighty hath put my soule in bitternesse.

3 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrels, 4 My lippes surely shall speake no wickednesse, [b] and my tongue shall vtter no deceite.

5 God forbid, that I should [c] iustifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine [d] innocencie from my selfe.

6 I will keepe my righteousnes, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reproue me of my [e] dayes.

7 Mine enemie shall be as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrighteous.

8 For what [f] hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?

9 Will God heare his cry, when trouble commeth vpon him?

10 Will he set his delight on the Almightie? will he call vpon God at all times?

11 I will teach you what is in the hand of [g] God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almightie.

12 Behold, all ye your selues [h] haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanish [i] in vanitie?

13 This is the [k] portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almightie.

14 If his children bee in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

15 His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes [l] shall not weepe.

16 Though he should heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare rayment as the clay, 17 Yet may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.

18 He buildeth his house as the [m] moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the rich man sleepeth, [n] he shal not bee gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrours shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall cary him away by night.

21 The East winde shall take him away, and he shal depart: and it shal hurle him out of his place.

22 And God shall cast vpon him and not spare, though hee would faine flee out of his hand.

23 Euery man shal clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

a He hath so sore afflicted me, that men cannot iudge of mine vprightnesse: for they iudge onely by outward signes.

b Howsoeuer men iudge of me, yet wil I not speake contrary to that which I haue sayd, and so doe wickedly in betraying the trueth.

c Which condemne me as a wicked man because the hand of God is vpon me.

d I will not confesse that God doeth thus punish me for my sinnes.

e Of my life past.

f What aduantage hath the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seeing he shal lose his own soule?

g That is, what God reserueth to himselfe, and whereof he giueth not the knowledge to al.

h That is, these secret iudgements of God, and yet doe not vnderstand them.

i Why maintaine you then this errour?

k Thus wil God order the wicked, and punish him euen vnto his posteritie.

l None shall lament him.

m Which breedeth in another mans possession or garment, but is soone shaken out.

n He meaneth that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisedome of God is vnsearchable.

THe siluer surely hath his veine, [a] and the gold his place, where they take it.

2 Iron is taken out of the dust, and [b] brasse is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an end to darknesse, [c] and he trieth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bond of darkenesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the [d] inhabitant, and the waters [e] forgotten of the foot, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth commeth [f] bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place [g] of sapphires, and the dust of it is gold.

7 There is a path which no foule hath knowen, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

8 The lyons whelps haue not walked it, nor the lyon passed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the [h] rocke, & ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 He breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods that they do not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wisdome found? [i] and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not [k] the price thereof: for it is not found in the land of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also saith, It is not with me.

15 [l] Gold shal not be giuen for it, neither shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir.

17 The gold nor the christal shalbe equal vnto it, nor the exchange shall be for plate of fine gold.

18 No mention shall bee made of coral, nor of the [m] gabish: for wisedome is more precious then pearles.

19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equall vnto it, neither shal it be valued with the wedge of pure gold.

20 Whence then commeth wisedome? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the [n] foules of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, We haue heard the fame thereof with our eares:

23 But God vnderstandeth the [o] way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth the ends of [p] world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen.

25 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders, 27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this world to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wisedom of God.

b There is nothing but it is compassed within certaine limits and hath an end, but Gods wisedome.

c Meaning, him that dwelleth thereby.

d Which a man cannot wade through.

e That is, come, and vnderneath is brimstone or cole, which easily conceiueth fire.

f He alludeth to the mines and secrets of nature which are vnder the earth, where into neither soules nor beasts can enter.

g After that he hath declared the wisdome of God, in the secrets of nature, he describeth his power.

h Though Gods power and wisedome may be vnderstood in earthly things, yet his heauenly wisdome cannot be attained vnto.

i It is too hie a thing for man to attaine vnto in this world.

k It can neither be bought for gold nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God.

l Which is thought to be a kind of precious stone.

m Meaning, that there is no naturall meanes, whereby man may attaine to the heauenly wisedome: which he meaneth by the soules that flie hie.

n Hee maketh God onely the authour of this wisedome, and the giuer thereof.

28 And

Prouer.1.7. o He declareth that man hath so much of this heauenly wisedome, as hee sheweth by fearing God, and departing from euill.

28 And vnto man he said, Beholde, * the * feare of the Lord is wisedome, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Iob complaineth of the prosp rute of the time past. 7.21. His authoritie, 12 Iustice and equitie.

MOreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 Oh that I were as ‡ in times past, when God preserued me!

3 When his * light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked thorow the b darknesse,

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth, when c Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almighty was yet with me, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my paths d with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seate in the streete.

8 The yong men saw mee, & * hid themselues, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

9 The princes staied talke, and laid their hand on their f mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hid, & their tongue cleaued to the roofe of their mouth.

11 And when the eare heard me, it blessed mee: and when the eye saw mee, it gaue witnesse to g me.

12 For I deliuered the i poore that cried, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 k The blessing of him that was readie to perish, came vpon mee, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put l on iustice, and it couered mee: my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feet to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I said, I shall die in my m nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my root is * spread out by the water, and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glory shall renue toward me, and my bow shall be restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gaue care, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my words they replied not, and my talke * dropped vpon them.

23 And they waited for mee, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth n as for the latter raine.

24 If I * laughed on them, they beleeued it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance o to fall.

25 I appointed out p their way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a king in the armie, and like one that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that hee is contemned of the most contemptible, 11. 21. because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

BVt now they that are younger then I, a mocke me: yea, they whose fathers I haue refused to set with the b dogges of my flockes.

2 For whereto should the strength of their hands haue serued me, seeing age c perished in them?

3 For pouertie and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wildernesse, which is darke, desolate and waste.

4 They cut vp ‖ nettles by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meate.

5 They were d chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a theefe.

6 Therefore they dwelt in the cliffes of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

7 They roared among the bushes, & vnder the thistles they gathered themselues.

8 They were the children of fooles, and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their * song, and I am their talke.

10 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my f cord and humbled me, e they haue loosed the bridle before me.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue puffed my feete, and haue troden on me as on the h paths of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my pathes: they tooke pleasure at my calamity, they had none i helpe.

14 They came as a great breach of waters, and k vnder this calamity they come on heapes.

15 Feare is turned vnto me: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloud.

16 Therefore my soule is now l powred out vpon mee, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.

17 m It pierceth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth mee about as the collar of my coat.

19 * He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I cry vnto thee, thou doest not heare mee, neither regardest mee, when I stand vp.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe cruelly against mee, and art enemie vnto mee with the strength of thine hand.

22 Thou takest mee vp and causest me to ride vpon the r winde, and makest my

I Made a couenant with mine [a] eyes: why then should I thinke on [b] a mayd?

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihu reproueth them of folly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

SO these three men ceased to answere Iob, because he a esteemed himselfe iust.
2 Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the b Buzite, of the family of c Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because hee iustified himselfe d more then God.
3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not find an answere, and yet condemned Iob.
4 (Now Elihu had waited till Iob had spoken: for e they were more ancient in yeres then he)
5 So when Elihu sawe that there was none answere in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.
6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, answered and sayde, I am yong in yeres, and yee are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraide to shewe you mine opinion.
7 For I sayd, The f dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeres shall teach wisedome.
8 Surely there is a spirit in man, f but the inspiration of the Almightie giueth vnderstanding.
9 Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway vnderstand iudgement.
10 Therefore I say, Heare me, and I will shew also mine opinion.
11 Behold, I did wait vpon your words, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out g reasons.
12 Yea, when I had considered you, loe, there was none of you that reproued Iob, nor answered his words:
13 Lest yee should say, We haue h found wisedome: for God hath cast him downe, and no man.
14 Yet hath i he not directed his words to me, neither will I answere k him by your words.
15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke.
16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stood still, and answered no more) 17 Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.
18 For I am full of l matter, and the spirit within me compelleth me.
19 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the newe bottels that breast.
20 Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answere.
21 I will not now accept the person of man, m neither will I giue titles to man.
22 For I may not giue n titles, least my Maker should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuerse meanes to instruct man and to draw him from sinne. 19. 29 He assisteth man, and suddenly deliuereth him. 26 Man being deliuered, giueth thankes to God.

WHerefore, Iob, I pray thee, heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my wordes.
2 Behold now I haue opened my mouth: my tongue haue spoken in my mouth.
3 My wordes are in the vprightnesse of mine heart, and my lips shall speake pure knowledge.
4 The o Spirit of God hath made mee, and the breath of the Almightie hath giuen me life.
5 If thou canst giue me answere, prepare thy selfe, and stand before me.
6 Beholde, I am according to thy wish in p Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.
7 Behold, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand q be heauie vpon thee.
8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy words:
9 I am r cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.
10 Loe, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemie.
11 Hee hath put my feete in the stockes, and looketh narrowly vnto all my pathes.
12 Beholde, in this hast thou not done right: I will answere thee, that God is greater then man.
13 Why doest thou striue against him? for hee doeth not s giue account of all his matters.
14 For God speaketh t once or twise, and one t heeth it not.
15 In dreames and u visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, x they sleepe vpon their beds.
16 Then hee openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which hee y had sealed, 17 That hee might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the z pride of man, 18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.
19 Hee is also striken with sorrowe vpon his bed, and the greefe of his bones is sore, 20 So that his a life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule dainty meate.

Iob CHAP. XXXIIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob, that hee called himselfe righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mightie. 30 Byhim the hypocrite reigneth.

MOreouer Elihu answered, and sayd,

2 Heare my words, yee • wise men, and hearken vnto me, yee that haue knowledge.

3 For the eare trieth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meate.

4 Let vs seeke ᵇ iudgement among vs, & let vs know among our selues what is good.

5 For Iob hath sayde, I am righteous, and God hath taken ᶜ away my iudgement.

6 Should I lie in my ᵈ right? my wound of the arrowe is ᵉ grieuous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh ᶠ scornefulnesse like water?

8 Which goeth in the ᵍ company of them that worke iniquity, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath said, ʰ It profiteth a man nothing, that he should ⁱ walke with God.

a Which are esteemed wise of the world.

b Let vs examine the matter vprightly.

c That is, hath afflicted me without measure.

d Should I say, I am wicked, being an innocent?

e I am sorer punished, then my sinne deserueth.

f Which is compelled to receiue the reproch & scornes of many for his foolish words.

g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God and submit himselfe to his iudgements.

h He wresteth Iobs words, who said that Gods children are oft times punished in this world, and the wicked goe free.

i That is, liue godly, as Gene. 5.22.

10 Therefore hearken vnto mee, ye men of wisedome, God forbid that wickednesse should bee in God, and iniquitie in the Almightie.

11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to find according to his way.

12 And certainely God will not doe wickedly, neither will the Almightie peruert iudgement.

13 Whom • hath hee appointed ouer the earth beside himselfe? or who hath placed the whole world?

14 If ᵏ hee set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit ˡ and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this, and hearken to the voyce of my words.

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, ᵐ gouerne? and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art • wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich, more then the poore? for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shall die suddenly, • and the people shall be troubled at midnight, ᵖ and they shall passe away and take away the mightie without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darkenes nor shadowe of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that he should ᵠ enter into iudgement with God.

24 Hee shall breake the mightie without ʳ seeking, and shal set vp other in their stead.

25 Therefore shal he declare their ˢ worke: hee shall turne the ᵗ night, and they shall be destroyed.

26 Hee striketh them as wicked men in the places of the • seers,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider al their wayes:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to ˣ come vnto him, and hee hath heard the cry of the afflicted.

29 And when hee giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when he hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because the ʸ hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are snared.

31 Surely it appertaineth vnto God ᶻ to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 • But if I see not, teach thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.

z Only it belongeth to God to moderate his corrections, & not vnto man.

a Thus Elihu speaketh in the person of God as it were mocking Iob, because he would be wiser then God.

b Will God vse thy counsell in doing his works?

c Thus he speaketh in the person of God, as though Iob should chuse and refuse affliction at his pleasure.

that thou hast chosen, and not I: now speake what thou knowest.

34 Let men of vnderstanding tell me, and let a wise man hearken vnto me.

35 Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his wordes according to wisedome.

36 I desire that Iob may be [d] tried vnto the ende touching the answeres for wicked men.

37 For he [e] addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: he clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplieth his words against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doth godlinesse profit, nor vngodlinesse hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked crie vnto God, and are not heard.

ELihu spake moreouer and sayd,

2 Thinkest thou this right, that thou hast sayde, I am [a] more righteous then God?

3 For thou hast sayd, What profiteth it thee, and what availeth it me, to purge me from my sinne?

4 Therefore will I answere thee, and thy [b] companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, and see, and behold the [c] clouds which are higher then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou [d] against him, yea, when thy sinnes bee many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what giuest thou vnto him? or what receiueth hee at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednesse may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousnesse may profite the sonne of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed to [e] crie, which crie out for the violence of the mightie.

10 But none sayeth, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beasts of the earth, and giueth vs more wisedome then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crie because of the violence of the wicked, but [f] he answereth not.

13 Surely God will not heare vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, [g] yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the euil with great extremitie, 16 Therefore Iob [h] openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God, 6 and his iustice: 9 And wherefore he punisheth. 13 The properties of the wicked.

ELihu also proceeded and sayd,

2 Suffer me a little, and I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.

3 I will fetch [a] my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteousnesse vnto my Maker.

4 For truly my wordes shall not be false, and he that is [b] perfit in knowledge, speaketh with thee.

5 Behold, the mighty God casteth away none that is [c] mighty and valiant of courage.

6 [d] He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraweth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with [e] Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters and tied with the cords of affliction, 9 Then will he shew them their [f] worke and their sinnes, because they haue beene proud.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commaundeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 [g] If they obey and serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeeres in pleasures.

12 But if they will not obey, they shall passe by the sword, and perish [h] without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites [i] of heart increase the wrath: for they [k] call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soule dieth in [l] youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 Hee deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the strait place into a broad place and not shut vp beneath: and [m] that which resteth vpon thy table, had beene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the [n] iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equity maintaine all things.

18 [o] For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? hee regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 [p] Be not carefull in the night, how he destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede: looke not to [q] iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then affliction.

22 Beholde, God exalteth by his power: what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.

25 All men see it, and men behold it [r] afarre off.

26 Beholde, God is excellent, [s] and we know him not, neither can the number of his yeeres be searched out.

f He will mous their hearts to feele their sinnes, that they may come to him by repentance as he did Manasseh. Isa. 1. 19.

g That is, in their folly or obstination, and so shall be cause of their own destruction.

h Which are maliciously bent against God, and flatter themselues in their vices.

i When they are in affliction they seeke not to God for succour, as Asa, 2 Chro. 16. 12. Reu. 16. 11.

k They die of some vile death, and that before they come to age.

l If thou hadst bene obedient to God, he would haue brought thee to liberty and wealth.

m Thou art altogether after the manner of the wicked: for thou doest murmure against the iustice of God n God doth punish thee, lest thou shouldest forget God in thy wealth, and so perish. o Bee not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroyeth any p And so murmure against God through impatiencie. q The workes of God are so manifest that a man may see them a farre off, and know God by the same. r Our infirmitie hindreth vs so, that wee cannot attaine to the perfit knowledge of God.

27 When

27 When he restraineth the drops of water, the raine ſ powreth downe by the vapour thereof, 28 Which raine the clouds do droppe and let fall abundantly vpon man.
29 Who can know the diuiſions of the clouds, and the thunders of his t tabernacle?
30 Behold, he ſpreadeth his light vpon u it, and couereth the x bottome of the ſea.
31 For thereby hee iudgeth y the people, and giueth meat abundantly.
32 He couereth the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to go x againſt it.
33 a His companion ſheweth him thereof, and there is anger in riſing vp.

ſ That is, the raine commeth of thoſe droppes of water, which he keepeth in the cloudes.
t Meaning, of the cloudes, which he calleth the Tabernacle of God.
u Vpon the cloud.
x That men can not come to the knowledge of the ſprings thereof.
y He ſheweth that the raine hath double vſe: the one that it declareth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ouerflow any places, and the other that it maketh the land fruitfull.
z That is, one cloud to dash against another a The cold vapour ſheweth him: that is, the cloud of the hot exhalation, which being taken in the cold cloud, mounteth vp toward the place where the fire is, and ſo anger is ingendred: that is, noiſe and thunder claps.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Elihu preacheth that the vnſearchable wiſdom of God is manifeſt by his works, 4 as by the thunders, 6 the ſnow, 9 the whirlewind, 11 and the raine.

AT this also my heart is a aſtonied, and is moued out of his place.
2 Heare the b ſound of his voice, and the noiſe that goeth out of his mouth.
3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.
4 After it a noiſe ſoundeth: he thundreth with the voice of his maieſty, and he will not ſtay c them when his voyce is heard.
5 God thundreth marueilouſly with his voyce: he worketh great things, which wee know not.
6 For he ſaith to the ſnow, Be thou vpon the earth: d likewiſe to the ſmall raine and to the great raine of his power.
7 With the force thereof hee c ſhutteth vp euery man, that all men may know his worke.
8 Then the beaſts goe into the den, and remaine in their places.
9 The whirlewind commeth out of the South, and the cold from the e Northwind.
10 At the breath of God the froſt is giuen, and the breadth of the waters g is made narrow.
11 He maketh alſo the clouds to h labour, to water the earth, and ſcattereth the cloud of i his light.
12 And it is turned about by his gouernment, that they may do whatſoeuer he com-mandeth them vpon the whole world:
13 Whether it be for k puniſhment, or for his land, or of mercie, he cauſeth it to come.
14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob: ſtand and conſider the wondrous works of God.

a At the marueiling of the thunder and lightnings: whereby hee declareth that the faithfull are liuely touched with the maieſtie of God, when they behold his works.
b That is, the thunder, whereby he ſpeaketh to men to waken their dulneſſe, & to bring them to the conſideration of his works c Meaning, the raines and thunders.
d So that neither ſmall raine nor great, ſnow nor any thing els commeth without Gods appointment.
e By raines and thunders God cauſeth men to keepe themſelues within their houſes.
f In Ebrew it is called the ſcattering wind, because it driueth away the cloudes, and purgeth the aire g That is, is frozen vp and dried.
h Gather the vapours and moue to and fro to water the earth.
i That is, the cloud that hath lightning in it.
k Raine, cold, heate, tempeſts and ſuch like are ſent of God, either to puniſh man, or to profite the earth, or to declare his fauour toward man, as Chap. 36.31.

15 Diddſt thou know when God diſpoſed them? and cauſed the l light of his cloud to ſhine?
16 Haſt thou knowen the m variety of the cloud, and the wondrous works of him, that is perfit in knowledge?
17 Or how the clothes are n warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through o South wind?
18 Haſt thou ſtretched out the heauens, which are ſtrong, and as a molten p glaſſe?
19 Tell vs what we ſhall ſay vnto him:
for we cannot diſpoſe our matter because of p darkeneſſe.
20 Shall it be q told him when I ſpeake? or ſhall man ſpeake when he ſhall bee r deſtroyed?
21 And now men ſee not the light, which ſhineth in the cloudes, but the wind paſſeth and cleanſeth them.
22 The s brightneſſe commeth out of the North: the praiſe thereof is to God, which is terrible.
23 It is the Almighty: we cannot find him out: hee is excellent in power and iudge-ment, and abundant in iuſtice: he t afflicteth not.
24 Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regard any that are wiſe in their owne conceite.

l That is, the lightening to breake forth in the clouds?
m Which is ſometime changed into raine, or ſnow, or haile, or ſuch like.
n Why thy clothes ſhould keepe thee warme, when the South winde bloweth, rather then when any other winde bloweth?
o For their clearenesse.
p That is, our ignorance: ſignifying that Iob was ſo preſumptuous that hee would controll the workes of God.
q Hath God need that any ſhould tell him
r when man murmureth againſt him?
r If God would deſtroy a man, ſhould he repine?
ſ The cloud ſtoppeth the ſhining of the ſunne, that man cannot ſee it till the winde haue chaſed away the cloude: and if man be not able to attaine to the knowledge of theſe things, how much leſſe of Gods iudgements?
t In Hebrew, gold: meaning faire weather and cleere as gold.
u Meaning, without cauſe.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God ſpeaketh to Iob, and declareth the weakneſs of man in the conſideration of his creatures, by whoſe excellency the power, iuſtice, & prouidence of the Creatour is knowen.

THen anſwered the Lord vnto Iob out of the a whirlewinde, and ſaid, 2 Who is this that b darkeneth the counſell by words without knowledge?
3 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man:

vnto me.
4 Where waſt thou when I layde the d foundations of the earth? declare, if thou haſt vnderſtanding,
5 Who hath laide the meaſures thereof,

6 Wherupon are the foundations thereof ſet: or who laid the corner ſtone thereof:

ed me together, and all the f children of God reioyced:

of the wombe?

a That his words might haue greater maieſtie, and that Iob might know with whom he had to doe.
b Which by ſeeking out the ſecret counſell of God by mans reaſon, maketh it more obſcure, and ſheweth his owne folly.
c Because he had wiſhed to diſpute with God, Chap. 13.3 God reaſoneth with him to declare his raſhneſſe.
d Seeing he could not iudge of thoſe things, which were done ſo long before he was borne, he was not able to comprehend all Gods works: much leſſe the ſecret cauſes of his iudgements
e The ſtarres and dumbe creatures are ſaid to praiſe God, because his power, wiſedome and goodneſſe is manifeſt and knowen therein.
f Meaning, the Angels.

g As though the great sea were but as a little babe in ỳ hands of God to turne to and fro.
h That is, Gods decree and commandement, as verse 10.
i To wit, to rise, since thou wast borne.
k Who having in the night bene giuen to wickednesse, cannot abide the light, but hide themselues.
l The earth which seemed in the night to haue no forme, by the rising of the sunne is as it were created anew, and all things therein clad with new beauty.
m If thou art not able to seeke out the depth of the sea, how much lesse art thou able to comprehend the counsel of God?
n That thou mightest appoint it his way and limits.
o To punish mine enemies with them, as Exod. 9. 18. Iosh. 10. 11.

10 When I established my commandement vpon it, and set barres and doores, 11 And said, Hitherto shalt thou come, but no further, and here h shall it stay thy proude waues.
12 Hast thou commanded the i morning since thy dayes? hast thou caused the morning to know his place?
13 That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, and that the wicked might bee k shaken out of it?
14 It is turned as clay to fashion, l and all stand vp as a garment.
15 And from the wicked their light shall be taken away, & the hie arme shalbe broken.
16 Hast thou entred into the bottomes of the sea? or hast thou walked to seeke out the m depth?
17 Haue the gates of death beene opened vnto thee? or hast thou seene the gates of the shadowe of death?
18 Hast thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knowest all this.
19 Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkenesse, 20 That thou n shouldest receiue it in the bounds thereof, and that thou shouldest know the pathes to the house thereof?
21 Knewest thou it, because thou wast then borne, and because the number of thy dayes is great?
22 Hast thou entred into the treasures of the snow? or hast thou seene the treasures of the haile, 23 Which I haue o bid against the time of trouble, against ỳ day of war and battell?
24 By what way is ỳ light parted, which scattereth the East wind vpon the earth?
25 Who hath diuided the spowtes for the raine? or the way for the lightning of the thunders, 26 To cause it to raine on ỳ earth where no man is, & in the wildernesse where there is no man?
27 To fulfill the wild and waste place, and to cause the bud of the herbe to spring foorth?
28 Who is the father of the raine? or who hath begotten the dropps of the dew?
29 Out of whose wombe came the yce? who hath engendred the frost of the heauen?
30 The waters are hid p as with a stone: and the face of the depth is frozen.
31 Canst thou restraine the sweete influences of q the Pleiades, or loose the bands of r Orion?
32 Canst thou bring foorth s Mazzaroth in their time? canst thou also guide t Arcturus with his sonnes?
33 Knowest thou the course of heauen, or canst thou set u the rule thereof in the earth?
34 Canst thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes, that the abundance of water may couer thee?
35 Canst thou send the lightnings ỳ they may walke, & say vnto thee, Lo, here we are?
36 Who hath put wisdome in the x reines?

x In the secret parts of man.

or who hath giuen the heart vnderstanding?
37 Who can number clouds by wisdome? or who can cause to cease the y bottels of heauen, 38 When the earth groweth into hardnesse, z and the clots are fast together?

y That is, the clouds wherein the water is conteined as in bottels.
z For when God doth not open these bottels, the earth commeth to this inconuenience.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 The bountie and prouidence of God, which extendeth euen to the yong rauens, giueth man full occasion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob confesseth and humbleth himselfe.

VVilt a thou hunt the praye for the Lyon? or fill the appetite of the lyons whelpes,
2 When they couch in their places, and remaine in the couert to lie in waite?
3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meat, when his birds b cric vnto God, wandering for lacke of meate?
4 Knowest thou the time when the wilde goates bring forth young? or dost thou marke when the c hindes doe calue?
5 Canst thou number the moneths that they d fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?
6 They bowe themselues: they e bruise their yong, and cast out their sorowes.
7 Yet their yong ware fat, and grow vp with corne: they goe foorth and returne not vnto them.
8 Who hath set the wild asse at libertie? or who hath loosed the bonds of the wilde asse?
9 It is I which haue made the wildernesse his house, & the f salt places his dwellings.
10 He derideth the multitude of the citie: he heareth not the cry of the driuer.
11 He seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.
12 Will the Vnicorne g serue thee? or will he tarie by thy crib?
13 Canst thou binde the Vnicorne with his band to labour in the furrow? or will he plow the valleyes after thee?
14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him?
15 Wilt thou beleeue him, ỳ he will bring home thy seed, and gather it vnto thy barne?
16 Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the peacokes? or wings and feathers vnto the ostrich?
17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh h them hote in the dust, 18 And forgetteth that the foote might scatter them, or that the wilde beast might breake them.
19 Hee sheweth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he trauailed i in vaine.
20 For God hath depriued him of k wisdome, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding.
21 When l time is, hee mounteth on hie: he mocketh the horse and his rider.
22 Hast thou giuen the horse strength? or a After he had declared Gods workes in the heauens, he sheweth his maruelious prouidence in earth, euen toward the bruite beastes.

b Reade Psalme 147. 9.
c He chiefly maketh mention of wilde goates and hindes, because they bring forth their yong with most difficultie.
d That is, how long they goe with yong?
e They bring forth with great difficultie.
f That is, the barren ground where no good fruits grow.
g Is it possible so make the Vnicorne tame? signifying, that if man cannot rule a creature, that it is much more impossible that he should appoint the wisedome of God, whereby he gouerneth all the world.
h They write that the ostrich coureth her egges in the sand and because the countrey is hote, and the sunne still keepeth the warme, they are hatched.
i If hee should take care for them.

27 He o swalloweth the ground for fiercenesse and rage, and beleeueth not that it is the noyse of the trumpet.

33 His yong ones also sucke vp blood: and where the slaine are, there is shee.
34 Moreouer the Lord spake vnto Iob, and said,
35 Is this to q learne, to striue with the Almightie? he that reproueth God, let him answere to it.
36 ¶ Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,
37 Behold, I am r vile: what shall I answere thee? I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth.
38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answere no more, yea twice, but I will proceed no further.

CHAP. XL.

2 How weake mans power is, being compared to the workes of God: 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beasts.

AGaine, the Lord answered Iob out of the a whirlewind, and said,
2 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demaund of thee, and declare thou vnto mee.
3 Wilt thou disanull my iudgement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayst be iustified?
4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voyce like him?
5 Decke thy selfe now with b maiestie and excellencie, & aray thy selfe with beautie and glory.
6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proud, and abase him.
7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place.
8 Hide them in the dust together, and binde c their faces in a secret place.
9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can d saue thee.
10 ¶ Behold now e Behemoth, (whom I made f with thee) which eateth grasse f Whom I made as wel as thee. g This commendeth the prouidence of God toward man: for if he were giue to deuoure as a lyon, nothing were able to resist him or content him.

as an ox.
11 Beholde now, his strength is in his loynes, & his force is in the nauil of his belly.
12 When he taketh pleasure, his tayle is like a Cedar: the sinewes of his stones are wrapt together.
13 His bone are like staues of brasse, and his small bones like staues of yron.
14 h He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: i hee that made him, will make his sword to approch vnto him.
15 Surely the mountains bring him forth grasse, where all the beastes of the field play.
16 Lieth he vnder the trees in the couert of the reede and fennes?
17 Can the trees couer him with their shadow? or can the willowes of the riuer compasse him about?
18 Behold, hee swalloweth the riuer, k and hasteth not: he trusteth that he can draw vp Iorden into his mouth.
19 He taketh it with his eyes, & thrusteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him.
20 ¶ Canst thou draw out l Leuiathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?
21 Canst thou cast an hooke into his nose? canst thou pierce his iawes with an angle?
22 Will hee make many m prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?
23 Will he make a couenant with thee? & wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer?
24 Wilt thou play with him, as with a bird? or wilt thou binde him for thy maides?
25 Shall the companions banquet with him? shall they diuide him among the merchants?
26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinne? or the fish panier with his head.
27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember n the battell, and do no more so.
28 Behold, his hope is in vaine, for shall not one perish euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

1 By the greatnesse of this monster Leuiathan, God sheweth his greatnesse, and his power, which nothing can resist.

NOne is so fierce that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then o that can stand before me?
2 Who hath preuented me that I should p make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.
3 I will not keepe silence concerning q his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.
4 Who can discouer the face r of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double s bridle?
5 Who shall t open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.
6 The mailes of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure sealed.
7 One is set to another, that no winde can come betweene them.
8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together, that they cannot be sundred.
9 His neesings u make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning.
10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and sparkes of fire leape out.
11 Out of his nostrels commeth out smoke,

i Though man dare not come neere him, yet God can kill him.
k He drinketh at leasure, and beareth no body.

l Meaning, the whale.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob. 9 He prayeth for his friends. 11 His goods are restored double vnto him. 13 His children, age, and death.

THen Iob answered the Lord, and sayd,

2 I knowe that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no ^a thought hid from thee.

3 Who is he that hideth counsel without ^b knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstood not, euen things too wonderfull for me, ^c and which I knew not.

4 Heare, I beseech thee, & I will speake: I will demand of thee, ^d and declare thou vnto me.

5 I haue ^e heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

7 ¶ Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also sayde vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for yee haue not spoken of me the thing that is ^f right, like my seruant ^g Iob.

8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes, and goe to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall ^h pray for you: for I will accept him, least I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my seruant Iob.

9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had sayd vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

10 ¶ Then the Lord turned the ⁱ captiuitie of Iob, when hee prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue Iob twise so much as hee had before.

11 Then came vnto him all his ^k brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, & did eate bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill, that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a ‖ piece of money, and euery one an earring of golde.

12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for hee had ^l fourteene thousand sheepe, and sixe thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, & a thousand she asses.

13 Hee had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

14 And hee called the name of one ^m Iemimah, and the name of the second ^n Keziah, and the name of the third ^o Kerenhappuch.

15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And after this liued Iob an hundreth and forty yeeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.

17 So Iob died, being old, & full of dayes.

a No thought so secret, but thou doest see it, nor any thing that thou thinkest, but thou canst bring it to passe.

b Is there any but I? for this God layd to his charge, cha. 38.2.

c I confesse herein mine ignorance, & that I spake I wist not what.

d He sheweth that he will be Gods scholler to learne of him.

e I knew thee only before by hearesay: but now thou hast caused me to ſeele what thou art to me, ſ I may reigne my selfe ouer vnto thee.

f You tooke in hand an euill cause in that you condemned him by his outward afflictions, & not comforted him with my mercies.

g Who had a good cause, but handled it euill.

h When you haue reconciled your selues to him for ſ faults that you haue committed against him, hee shall pray for you, and I will heare him.

The *Psalmes of Dauid.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis booke of Psalmes is set foorth vnto vs by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things are contained that appertaine to true felicitie, aswel in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge, & hartily wisedome are here set open for vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and high maiestie of God, here we may see the brightnes thereof shine most cleerely. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisdome, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bounty and aproch neere thereunto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here we may haue a most lusty and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, and howe to attaine to life euerlasting, here is Christ our only Redeemer and Mediatour most euidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may finde full consolation. He that will reioyce shall knowe the true ioy, and howe to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shal see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is euer against them: and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he brideleth them, insomuch as they cannot touch an haire of ones head, except he permit them, & how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, heere we may haue most present remedies against all temptations and troubles of mind and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, liue in the true feare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crown of glory, which is laid vp for all them that loue the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSAL. I.

Whether it was Esdras, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, it seemeth he did set this Psalm first in maner of a Preface, to exhort all godly men to study & meditate the heauenly wisdome. For the effect hereof is, 1 That they bee blessed, which giue themselues wholy all their life to the holy Scriptures: 4 And that the wicked contemners of God though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

BLessed is the man that doeth not walke in the [a] counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seate of the scornefull.

2 But his delight is in the [b] Law of the Lord, and in his [b] Lawe doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he shall be like a [c] tree planted by the riuers of waters, that wil bring forth her fruit in due season: whose leafe shal not fade, so [c] whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.

4 [d] The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the wind driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the [e] iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord [f] knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

a When a man hath giuen once place to euill counsel, or to his owne concupiscence, he beginneth to forget himselfe in his sinne, and so falleth into contempt of God which contempt is called the seate of the scorners. Deut. 6. 6. iosh. 1. 8. prou. 6. 20.

b In the holy Scriptures. Ierem. 17. 8.

c Gods children are so moistened euer with his grace, that whatsoeuer commeth vnto them, tendeth to their saluation.

d Though the wicked seeme to beare the swinge in this world, yet the Lord driueth them downe that they shall not rise nor stand in the company of the righteous.

e But tremble when they feele Gods wrath.

f Doeth approue and prosper, like as not to know, is to reproue and reiect.

PSAL. II.

The Prophet Dauid reioiceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdome for euer, and aduance it euen to the end of the world, 10 and therfore exhorteth Kings & rulers, that they would humbly submit themselues vnder Gods yoke, to the end they be not found to resist God. Herein is figured Christs kingdome.

WHy doe the [a] heathen rage, and the people murmure in vaine?

2 The kings of the earth band themselues, & the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his [g] Christ.

3 [b] Let vs breake their bands, and cast their coards from vs.

4 [c] But he that dwelleth in the heauens shal laugh: the Lord shal haue them in derision.

5 [c] Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, & vexe them in his sore displeasure, saying,

6 Euen I haue set my King vpon Sion mine holy mountaine.

7 I will declare the [d] decree: that is, the Lord hath sayd vnto mee, [e] Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of mee, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the [f] ends of the earth for thy possession.

9 [g] Thou shalt crush them with a scepter of yron, and breake them in pieces like a potters vessell.

10 [h] Be wise now therefore, ye Kings: be learned ye Iudges of the earth.

11 Serue the Lord in feare, and reioice in trembling.

12 [i] Kisse the sonne, lest he be angry, & ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne: blessed are all that trust in him.

PSAL. III.

1 Dauid driuen forth of his kingdom, was greatly tormented in minde for his sinnes against God: 4 And therefore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bolde through his promises against the great raisings and terrors of his enemies, yea, against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally, hee reioyceth for the good successe that God gaue him, and all the Church.

A Psalme of Dauid, when he fled from his sonne Abſalom.

LOrd, how are mine aduersaries [a] increased? how many rise against me?

2 Many say to my soule, There is no help for him in God. [b] Selah.

3 But thou Lord art a buckler for mee: my glory, and the lifter vp of my head.

4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

5 I layd me downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord sustained me.

6 I will not be afraid for ten thousand of the people, that should beset me round about.

7 [c] Lord, arise: helpe me, my God: for thou hast smitten all mine enemies vpon the cheeke bone: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

8 [d] Saluation belongeth vnto the Lord, and thy blessing is vpon thy people. Selah.

a This was a token of his stable faith, that for all his trouble, he had his recourse to God.

b Selah here signifieth a lifting vp of the voyce, to cause vs to consider the sentence as a thing of great importance.

c When he considered the truth of Gods promise, and tryed the same, his faith increased marueilously.

d Be the dangers neuer so great or many, yet God hath euer means to deliuer his.

PSAL. IIII.

1 When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and therefore boldly reproueth his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion. 7 and finally, preferreth the fauour of God before all worldly treasures.

a Among them that were appointed to sing the Psalmes, and to play on the instruments, one was appointed chiefe to set the tune, and to begin: who had the charge because he was most excellent, and he beganne this Psalme on the instrument called Neginoth, or in a tune so called.
b Thou that art the defender of my iust cause.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare mee when I call, a O God of my righteousnesse: thou hast set me at liberte, when I was c in distresse: haue mercie vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.

2 O ye d sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, e louing vanitie, and seeking lies? Selah.

3 For be ye sure that the Lord hath chosen to himselfe f a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

4 g Tremble, and sinne not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be h still. Selah.

5 i Offer the sacrifices of righteousnesse, and trust in the Lord.

6 Many say, Who will shewe vs any k good? but Lorde, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had, when their wheate and their wine did abound.

8 I will lay mee downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou Lord, l only makest mee dwell in safetie.

PSAL. V.

1 Dauid oppressed with the cruelnie of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour. Shewing how repugnant it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After, being assured of prosperous successe, he conceiueth comfort, 12 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shall bee partakers of the same mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon a Nehiloth. A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare my wordes, O Lord: vnderstand my b meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct mee vnto thee, and I will c waite.

4 For thou art not a God that loueth d wickednesse: neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 e The foolish shall not stande in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.

7 But I f will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worshippe toward thine holy Temple.

8 Leade mee, O Lord, in thy righteousnesse, g because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancie is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their h throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: i let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And k let all them, that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and couer thou them: and let them that loue thy Name, reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt ‖ blesse the righteous, and with fauour l wilt compasse him, as with a shield.

PSAL VI.

1 When Dauid by his sinnes had prouoked Gods wrath, and now felt not only his hand against him, but also conceiued the horrours of death euerlasting, doe desireth forgiuenesse, 6 Bewailing that if God tooke him away in his indignatio, he should lacke occasion to praise him as hee was wont to do, whiles he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercie, he sharply rebuketh his enemies, which reioyced in his affliction.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, a rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord, for I am weake: O Lord heale me, for b my bones are vexed.

3 c My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord, how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.

5 For in d death there is no remembrance of thee: in the grane, who shall praise thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.

7 ‖ Mine eye is dimmed for despite, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

8 e Away from me all ye workers of iniquitie: for the Lord hath heard the voyce of my weeping.

PSAL VIII

1 The Prophet considering the excellent liberality and fatherly prouidence of God towards man, whom he made as it were a god ouer all his works, doth not onely giue great thanks, but is astonished with the admiration of the same, as one nothing able to compasse such great mercies.

4 What is [b] man, say I, that thou art mindfull of him? and the sonne of man, that thou visitest him?

5 For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship.

6 Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feet:

7 All [d] sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beasts of the field:

To him that excelleth vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of Dauid.

HElpe Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed from among the children of men.
2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, flattering with their lips, and speake with a double heart.
3 The Lord cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:

2 Day Euening

a Which dare defend truth, and shewe mercie to the oppressed.
b He meaneth flatterers of the court, which hurt him more with their tongues then with their weapons.

c They thinke themselues able to perswade whatsoeuer they take in hand.
d The Lord is moued with the complaints of his, & deliuereth in the end from all dangers.
e Because the Lords word and promise is true & vnchangeable, he wil performe it, tion. f That is, suppresse the godly,

4 Which haue said, e With our tongue will wee preuaile: our lips are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs?
5 d Now for the oppression of the needy, and for the sighs of the poore, I will vp, saith the Lord, and will e set at liberty him, whom the wicked hath snared.
6 The words of the Lord are pure words, as the siluer, tried in a fornace of earth, fined seuen fold.
7 Thou wilt keep f thē, O Lord: thou wilt preserue him from this generation for euer.
8 The wicked walke on euery side: when they are exalted, sir is a shame for the sonnes of men.

and preserue the poore from this wicked generation, though he were but one man. g For they

a He declareth that his afflictions lasted a long time, and that his faith fainted not.
b Changing my purpose as the sicke man doeth his place.
c Which might turn to Gods dishonour, if he did not defend his.
d The mercie of God is the cause of our saluation both by the benefits past, & by others to come.

HOw long wilt thou forget me, O Lorde, a for euer? howe long wilt thou hide thy face from me?
2 How long shall I take b counsell within my selfe, hauing wearinesse daily in mine heart? how long shall mine enemie be exalted aboue me?
3 Beholde, and heare mee, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death:
4 Lest mine enemy say, I haue c preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide.
5 But I trust in thy d mercie: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: I will sing to the Lorde, because hee hath e dealt louingly with me.

PSAL. XIIII.

1 He describeth the peruerse nature of men which were so growen to licentiousnes, that God was brought to vtter contempt. 7 For the which thing although he was greatly grieued, yet being perswaded that God would send some present remedie, he comforteth himselfe and others.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

Psal. 53.1.
a He sheweth that the cause of al wickednesse is to forget God.
b There is nothing but disorder and wickednesse among them.
c Dauid here maketh comparison betweene the faithful & the reprobate: but S Paul speaketh the same of all men naturally, Rom. 3.10.

THe e foole hath said in his heart, a There is no God: they haue b corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.
2 The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand and seeke God.
3 c All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doth good, no not one.
4 Doe not all the workers of iniquity knowe that they eate vp my people, as they eat bread? they call not vpon the Lord.

7 O giue saluation vnto f Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iakob shall reioyce, and Israel shalbe glad.

¶ Note that of this Psalme, the 5.6 & 7. verses, which are put into the common translation, & may seeme vnto some to bee left in this, are not in the same Psalme in the Hebrew text, but are rather put in more fully to expresse the maners of the wicked: and are gathered out of the 5.140, and 10. Psalmes, the 59. of the Prophet Isaiah, & the 36. Psalme, and are alleaged by S Paul, and placed together in the 3. to the Romanes.

e You mocke the that put their trust in God.
f He prayeth for the whole Church who he is assured God will deliuer for none but he onely can doe it.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Psalme teacheth on what condition God did chuse the Iewes for his peculiar people, and wherfore he placed his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by liuing vprightly & godly might witnesse that they were his special & holy people.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

LOrde, who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shall rest in thine holy mountaine?
2 He that a walketh vprightly and worketh righteousnesse, and speaketh the truth in his heart.
3 Hee that slandereth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiueth a false report against his neighbour.
4 b In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but he honoureth them that feare the Lord: he that sweareth to his owne hinderance and changeth not.
5 Or that c giueth not his money vnto vsurie, nor taketh reward against the innocent: he that doeth these things, d shall neuer be moued.

a First God requireth vprightnesse of life, next doing well to others, and chiefly trueth & simplicity in our words
b He that flattereth not the vngodly in their wickednesse.
c To the hinderance of his neighbour.
d That is, shall not be cast forth of the Church as hypocrites.

PSAL. XVI.

1 Dauid prayeth to God for succour, not for his workes, but for his faiths sake, 4 Protesting that he hateth all idolatry, taking God onely for his comfort and felicitie, 8 who suffereth his to lacke nothing.

¶ Michtam of Dauid.

4 The c sorrowes of them, that offer to another God, shall be multiplied: d their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make e mention of their names with my lips.

PSAL. XVII.

1 Here he complaineth to God of the cruel pride and arrogancy of Saul, and the rest of his enemies, who thus rage without any cause giuen on his part. 6 Therefore he desireth God to reuenge his innocencie, and to deliuer him.

¶ The prayer of Dauid.

HEare a the right, O Lord, consider my crie: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfained.
2 Let my b sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes behold equitie.
3 Thou hast c proued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed mee, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my d mouth should not offend.
4 Concerning the works of men, by the e words of thy lips I kept me from the paths of the cruell man.
5 Stay my steps in thy pathes, that my feete doe not slide.
6 I haue called vpon thee: f surely thou wilt heare me, O God: incline thine eare to me, and hearken vnto my words.
7 Shew thy marueilous mercies, thou that art the Sauiour of them that trust in thee, from such as g resist thy right hand.
8 Keepe me as the apple of the eye: hide me vnder the shadow of thy wings, 9 From the wicked that oppresse mee, frō mine enemies, which compasse me round about for h my soule.
10 They are inclosed in their owne i fat, and they haue spoken proudely with their mouth.
11 They haue compassed vs now in our steps: they haue set their eyes to bring down to the ground:

13 Vp Lord, k disappoint him: cast him downe: deliuer my soule from the wicked ‖ with thy sword, 14 From men by thine l hand, O Lord, from men ‖ of the worlde, who haue their m portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: their children haue enough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children.
15 But I will behold n thy face in righteousnesse, and when I o awake, I shalbe satisfied with thine image.

a My righteous cause.
b The vengeance that thou shalt shew against mine enemies.
c When thy spirit examined my conscience.
d I was innocent toward mine ennemie both in deed & thought.
e Though the wicked prouoked me to ire, euill for euill, yet thy word kept me backe.
f He was assured that God would not refuse his request.
g For all rebell against thee, which trouble thy Church.
h For their cruelty cannot be satisfied but with my death.

k Stoppe his rage.
‖ Or, which is thy sword.
l By thine heauenly power.
‖ Or, whose tyrannie hath too long endured.
m And feele not the smart that Gods children oft times doe.
n This is the full felicity, comforting against all assaults, to be opened vnto vs.
o And am deliuered out of my great troubles.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Psalme is the first beginning of his gratulation and thanke-giuing in the entring into his kingdome, wherein he extolleth and praiseth most highly the marueilous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preserued and defended him. 32 Also he setteth foorth the vnage of Christes kingdome, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquere and ouercome by the vnspeakeable power of his Father, though all the whole world should striue thereagainst.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, & from the hand of Saul) and sayd,

I Will loue thee dearely, O Lorde my strength.
2 a The Lord is my rocke, and my fortresse, and hee that deliuereth mee, my God and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the horne also of my saluation, and my refuge.
3 I will call vpon the Lorde, which is worthy to be b praysed: so shal I be safe from mine enemies.
4 The c sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednesse made mee afrayd.
5 The ‖ sorowes of the graue haue compassed mee about: the snares of death ouertooke me.
6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cried vnto my God: he heard my voice out of his Temple, & my cry did come before him, euen into his eares.
7 d Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines mooued and shooke, because he was angry.
8 Smoke went out at his nostrels, and a e consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat.
9 Hee bowed the heauens also and came downe, and f darkenesse was vnder his feete.
10 And hee rode vpon g Cherub and did flie, and hee came flying vpon the wings of the winde.
11 He made darkenesse his h secret place, & his pauilion round about him, euen darkenesse of waters, and cloudes of the ayre.
12 At the brightnesse of his presence his cloudes passed, hailestones and coales of fire.
13 The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue i his voice, hailestones and coales of fire.
14 Then hee sent out k his arrowes and scattered them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

2. Sam. 22. 2.
a He vseth this diuersitie of names to shew that as the wicked haue many meanes to hurt, so God hath many wayes to helpe.
b For none can obtaine their requests of God, that ioyne not his glory with their petition.
c He speaketh of the dangers and malice of his ennemies, from the which God had deliuered him.
‖ Or, cordes, or, cables.
d A description of the wrath of God against his enemies after he had heard his prayers.
e He sheweth how horrible Gods iudgements shall be to the wicked.
f Darkenesse signifieth the wrath of God, as the cleare light signifieth Gods fauour.

15 And

15 And the chanels of waters were seene, and the [t] foundations of the world were discouered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrels.

16 He hath sent downe from aboue, and taken me: hee hath drawen me out of many [m] waters.

17 He hath deliuered me from my [n] strong enemie, and from them which hate mee: for they were [o] too strong for me.

18 They preuented mee in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 Hee brought me forth also into a large place: [p] he deliuered me because he fauoured mee.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my [q] righteousnesse: according to the pureneſſe of mine hands he recompensed me:

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his lawes were before me, and I did not cast away his [r] commandements from me.

23 I was vpright also with him, & haue kept me from my [s] wickednesse.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousnes, & according to the pureneſſe of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the [t] godly thou wilt shew thy selfe godly: with the vpright man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpright.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt [u] cast downe the proud lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darkeneſſe.

29 For by thee I haue [x] broken through an host, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vncorrupt: the [y] word of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God beſides the Lord? and who is mighty saue our God?

32 God girdeth mee with strength, and maketh my [z] way vpright.

33 He maketh my feete like Hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine [a] high places.

34 Hee teacheth mine hands to fight: ſo that a bow of ‖ braſſe is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen me the [b] shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath staied mee, and thy [c] louing kindneſſe hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 [d] I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are falle vnder my feet.

39 For thou hast girded me with strength to battell: them, that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast [e] giuen mee the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They [f] cryed, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made mee the head of the [g] heathen: a people, whom I haue not [h] knowen, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey me: the stranger shall [i] be in subiection to me.

45 Strangers shall [k] shrinke away, and feare in their pinne chambers.

46 Let the Lord liue, and blessed bee my strength, and the God of my saluation bee exalted.

47 It is God that giueth me power to auenge me, & subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set mee vp from them, that rose against mee: thou hast deliuered mee from the [l] cruell man.

49 Therefore [m] I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto thy Name.

50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his king, and sheweth mercie to his anoynted, euen to Dauid, and to his [n] seede for euer.

m This prophecie appertaineth to the kingdome of Christ, and vocation of the Gentiles, as Rom. 15 9 n This did not properly appertaine to Salomon, but to Iesus Christ.

PSAL. XIX.

1 To the intent he might moue the faithfull to a deeper consideration of Gods glory, he setteth before their eyes the most exquisite workemanship of the heauens with their proportion and ornaments: 8 And afterward calleth them to the Law, wherin God hath reuealed himselfe more familiarly to his chose people. 13 They gape vpon me w their mouthes, as a ramping and roaring lion.
14 I am like h water powred out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is like wax: it is molten in the middes of my bowels.
15 My strength is dryed vp like a pot-sherd, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou i hast brought me into the dust of death.
16 For dogges haue compassed mee, and the assembly of the wicked haue inclosed mee: they k pierced mine handes and my feete.
17 I may tell all my bones: yet they behold, and looke vpon me.
18 They part my garments among them, and cast lots vpon my vesture.
19 But bee not thou farre off, O Lorde, my strength: haste to helpe me.
20 Deliuer my soule from the sword: my l deolate soule from the power of the dog.
21 m Saue me from the lions mouth, and answere me in sauing mee from the hornes of the vnicornes.
22 n I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the mids of the Congregation will I prayse thee, saying,
23 o Prayse the Lorde, yee that feare him: magnifie ye him, all the seede of Iaakob, and feare yee him, all the seede of Israel.
24 For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the p poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when hee called vnto him, he heard.
25 My prayse shall be of thee in the great congregation: my r vowes will I performe before them that feare him.
26 q The poore shal eate and be satisfied: they that seeke after the Lord, shall prayse him: your heart shall liue for euer.
27 All the endes of the world shall remember themselues, and turne to the Lord: and all the kinreds of the nations shall worship before thee.
28 For the kingdom is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations.
29 All they that be fat s in the earth, shall eate and worship: all they that goe downe into the dust, shall bow before him, t euen he that cannot quicken his owne soule.
30 u Their seede shal serue him: it shall be counted vnto the Lord for a generation.
31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousnesse vnto a people that shall bee borne, because he hath x done it.

c He meaneth the place of praysing, euen the Tabernacle: or els it is so called, because he gaue the people continually occasion to prayse him.
d And seeming most miserable of all creatures, which was meant of Christ. And herein appeareth the vnspeakeable loue of God toward man, that he would thus abase his Sonne for our sakes.

f For except Gods prouidence preserue the infants they should perish a thousand times in the mothers wombe.
g He meaneth, that his enemies were so fatte, proud and cruel, that they were rather beastes then men.
h Before hee spake of the cruelties of his enemies, and now he declareth the inward griefes of the minde, so that Christ was tormented, both in soule and body.
i Thou hast suffered me to be without all hope of life.
k Thus Dauid complaineth as though he were nailed by his enemies both hands and feete: but this was accomplished in Christ.

r Though the poore be first named, as verse 26. yet the wealthy are not separated from the grace of Christs kingdom

PSAL. XXIII.

1 Because the Prophet had proued the great mercies of God at diuers times, and in sundry maners, he gathereth a certaine assurance, fully perswading himselfe that God will continue the very same goodnesse toward him for euer.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

THe Lord is my a shepheard, b I shall not want.
2 He maketh me to rest in greene pasture, and leadeth me by the still waters.
3 He c restoreth my soule, and leadeth me in the d paths of righteousnes for his Names sake.
4 Yea, though I should walke through the valley of the e shadow of death, I will feare no euil: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staffe, they comfort me.
5 Thou doest prepare a f table before me in the sight of mine aduersaries: thou doest f anoynt mine head with oyle, and my cup runneth ouer.
6 Doubtlesse, kindnes & mercy shall follow me all the dayes of my life, g I shall remain a long season in the h house of the Lord.

Isa.40.11 iere. 23.3 ezek.34. 23.verse 10.11. 1.pet 2.25.
a He hath care ouer me, and ministreth vnto me all things.

d Though hee were in danger of death, as the sheepe that wandreth in the dark valley without his shepheard.

PSAL. XXIIII.

1 Albeit the Lord God hath made, and gouerneth all the world, yet toward his chosen people his gracious goodnesse doth most abundantly appeare, in that among thē he will haue his dwelling place. Which though it was appointed among the children of Abraham, yet onely they doe enter aright into this Sanctuary, which are the true worshippers of God, purged from the sinfull filth of this world. 7 Finally he magnifieth Gods grace for the building of the Temple, to the end he might stirre vp all the faithfull to the true seruice of God.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

THe earth a is the Lords, & all that therein is: the world & they that dwell therein.

Deut.10.14. iob 28.24. 1.cor.10.26.

2 For

a He noteth two things: the one that the earth to mans iudgement seemeth aboue the waters: and next, that God miraculously preserueth the earth, that it is not drowned with the waters which naturally are about it.
b Though circumcision separate the carnall seed of Iaakob from the Gentiles, yet he that seeketh God, is the true Iaakob and the very Israelite.
c Dauid desireth the building vp of the Temple, wherein the glory of God should appeare, and vnder the figure of this Temple he also prayeth for the spirituall Temple, which is eternall, because of the promise which was made to the Temple, as it is written, Psal. 132. 14.

2 For he hath founded it vpon the seas: and established it vpon the floods.
3 Who shall ascend into the mountaine of the Lord? and who shall stand in his holy place?
4 Euen he that hath innocent hands, and a pure heart: which hath not lift vp his mind vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully.
5 He shal receiue a blessing from the Lord, and righteousnesse from the God of his saluation.

8 Who is this King of glory? the Lord, strong and mighty, euen the Lord mighty in battell.
9 Lift vp your heads, yee gates, and lift vp your selues, yee euerlasting doores, and the King of glory shall come in.
10 Who is this King of glory? the Lord of hosts, he is the King of glory. Selah.

PSAL. XXV.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sinnes, and also troubled with the cruell malice of his enemies, 6 Prayeth to God most feruently to haue his sinnes forgiuen, 7 Especially such as he had committed in his youth. Hee beginneth euery verse according to the Ebrew letters, two or three except.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a I put not my trust in any worldly thing.
b That thou wilt take away mine enemies, which are thy rods. Isa. 29. 26. rom. 10. 11.
c Retaine me in the faith of thy promise, that I swarue not on any side.
d Constantly, and against all tentations.
e He confesseth that his manifold sinnes were the cause that his enemies did thus persecute him, desiring that the cause of the euill may be taken away, to the intent that the effect may cease.

VNto thee, O Lord lift I vp my soule.
2 My God, I [b] trust in thee: let mee not be confounded: let not mine enemies reioyce ouer me.
3 [d] So all that hope in thee, shall not bee ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgresse without cause.
4 [c] Shew me thy wayes, O Lord, and teach me thy pathes.
5 Lead me forth in thy trueth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my saluation: vnder thee doe I trust [d] all the day.
6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for euer.
7 Remember not the [e] sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou me, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.
8 Gracious and righteous is the Lorde: therefore will hee [f] teach sinners in the way.
9 Them that be meeke, will he [g] guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way.
10 All the pathes of the Lorde are mercy and trueth vnto such as keepe his couenant and his testimonies.

f That is, call them to repentance. g He will gouerne and comfort them that are truely humbled for their sinnes.

11 For thy [h] Names sake, O Lorde, bee mercifull vnto mine iniquitie, for it is great.
12 What [i] man is hee that feareth the Lord? him will he teach the way that he shall [k] chuse.
13 His soule shall dwell [l] at ease, and his seed shall inherit the land.
14 The [m] secret of the Lord is reuealed to them that feare him: & his couenant to giue them vnderstanding.
15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for he will bring my feet out of the net.
16 Turne thy face vnto me, & haue mercy vpon me: for I am desolate and poore.
17 The [n] sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.
18 Looke vpon mine affliction and my trauell, and forgiue all my sinnes.
19 Beholde mine [o] enemies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruell hatred.
20 Keepe my soule, and deliuer mee: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.
21 Let [p] mine vprightnes and equity preserue me: for mine hope is in thee.
22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

h And for none other respect.
i Meaning, the number is very small.
k He will direct such with his spirit to follow the right way.
l He shal prosper both in spirituall and corporall things.
m His counsell conteined in his word, whereby he declareth that hee is the protector of the faithfull.
n My griefe is increased because of mine enemies cruelty.
o The greater that his afflictions were, and the more that his enemies increased, the more neere felt hee Gods helpe.
p Forasmuch as I haue behaued my selfe vprightly toward mine enemies, let them knowe that thou art the defender of my iust cause.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 Dauid oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for ayde from God: and assured of his integritie toward Saul, desireth God to be his iudge, and to defend his innocencie. 6 Finally, he maketh mentiō of his sacrifice, which he will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the companie of the faithfull in the congregation of God, whence he was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open prayses and thanksgiuing.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a He fleeth to God to be the Iudge of his iust cause, seeing there is no equitie among men.
b My very affections and inward motions of the heart.
c He sheweth what stayed him, that hee did not recompense euill for euill.
d He declareth that they cannot walke in simplicitie before God, that delight in the company of the vngodly.
e I will serue thee with a pure affection, and with the godly that sacrifice vnto thee. f Destroy mee not in the ouerthrow of the wicked.

JUDge me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.
2 Proone me, O Lord, and trie me: examine my [b] reines, and mine heart.
3 For thy [c] louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy trueth.
4 I haue not [d] haunted with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.
5 I haue hated the assembly of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.
6 I will [e] wash mine hands in innocencie, O Lord, and compasse thine altar,
7 That I may declare with the voice of thanksgiuing, and tell forth all thy wonderous works.
8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.
9 [f] Gather not my soule with the sinners, nor my life with the bloody men:

10 In g Whose cruell hands do execute the malicious deuises of their hearts.

10 In whose hands is a wicked nesse, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But I wil walk in mine innocency: redeeme me therefore, & be mercifull vnto me.

12 My foote standeth in h vprightnesse: I will prayse thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

h I am preserued from mine enemies by the power of God, and therefore will prayse him openly.

PSAL. XXVII.

1 Dauid maketh this Psalme being deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayses and thanksgiuing annexed: 6 Wherein we may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies, 7 And also the end wherefore he desireth to liue and to bee deliuered, onely to worship God in his Congregation.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

THe Lord is my a light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lorde is the strength of my life, of whom shall I bee afraid?

a Because he was assured of good successe in all his dangers, and that his saluation was surely layd vp in God, he feared not the tyrannie of his enemies.

2 When the wicked, euen mine enemies and my foes came vpon mee to eate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoste pitched against me, mine heart should not bee afraide: though warre be raised against mee, I will trust in b this.

b That God will deliuer me, and giue my faith the victory.

4 c One thing haue I desired of the Lord, that I will require, euen that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to behold the beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.

c The losse of country, wife, and all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thing, that I may not prayse thy name in the mids of the congregation.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pauilion shall he hide mee, and set me vp vpon a rocke.

6 d And now shall hee lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about me: therefore wil I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and prayse the Lord.

d Dauid assured himselfe by the Spirit of prophesie, that he should ouercome his enemies, and serue God in his Tabernacle.

7 Hearken vnto my voice, O Lord, when I crie: haue mercy also vpon me and heare me.

8 When thou saydest, e Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

e He groundeth vpon Gods promise, and sheweth that he is most willing to obey his commandement.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure: thou hast beene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 f Though my father and my mother should forsake me, yet the Lord will gather me vp.

f He magnifieth Gods loue toward his, which farre passeth the most tender loue of parents towards their children.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue mee not vnto the g lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnesses risen vp against me, & such as speake cruelly.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had beleeued to see the h goodnes of the Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 i Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

g But either pacifie their wrath, or bridle their rage. h In this present life before I die, as Isa. 38 11. i Hee exhorteth himselfe to depend on the Lord, seeing he neuer failed in his promises.

PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare and heauines of heart to see God dishonoured by the wicked, he desireth to be rid of them, 4 And cryeth for vengeance against them: And at length assureth himselfe that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whose custom he commendeth all the faithfull.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

VNto thee O Lord, doe I cry: O my strength, be not deafe toward me, least, if thou answere me not, I be a like them that goe downe into the pit.

a He counteth himself as a dead mā, til God shew his fauor toward him, and grant him his petition.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp mine hands toward thine b holy Oracle.

b He vsed this outward meanes to helpe the weakeneſſe of his faith: for in that place was the Arke, & there God promised to shew the tokens of his fauour.

3 c Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

c Destroy not the good with the bad.

4 d Reward the according to their deeds, and according to the wickednesse of their inuentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

d He thus prayeth in respect of Gods glory, and not for his owne cause, being assured that God would punish the persecuters of his Church.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore e breake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 f Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength, & my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him.

8 The Lord is g their strength, & he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anointed.

9 Saue thy people, & blesse thine inheritance: feed them also, & exalt them for euer.

e Let them be vtterly destroyed, as Malac. 1. 4.

f Because he felt the assurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his prayses. g Meaning his souldiers, who were as meanes, by whom God declared his power.

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world, (which for the most part thinke there is no God) to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God threatneth sinners, yet is he alwayes mercifull to his, and mooueth them thereby to praise his Name.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

GIue vnto the Lord, ye a sons of the mighty: giue vnto the Lord glory & strength.

a He exhorteth the proud tyrants to humble themselues vnder Gods hand, and not to be inferior to brute beasts and dumbe creatures.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary.

3 The b voice of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

b The thunderclaps that are heard out of the cloudes ought to make the wicked to tremble for feare of Gods anger.

4 The voyce of the Lord is mighty: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

5 The c voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

c That is, the thunderbolt breaketh the most strong trees, and shall men thinke their power to be able to resist God?

6 He maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also & d Sirion like a yong Unicorne.

d Called also Hermon.

7 The voyce of the Lord diuideth the e flames of fire.

8 The voice of the Lord maketh the wildernesse to tremble: the Lord maketh the wildernesse of Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voyce of the Lord maketh the hindes to f calue, and h discouereth the forrest: therefore in his i Temple doeth euery man speake of his glorie.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the k flood, and the Lord doeth remaine king for euer.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall bleese his people with peace.

e It causeth the lightnings to shoote, and glide
f In places most desolate, where as seemeth there is no presence of God.
g For feare maketh them to cast their calues.
h Maketh the trees bare, or pierceth the most secret places. i Though the wicked are nothing moued with these sights, yet the faithfull praise God. k To moderate the rage of the tempest and waters, that they destroy not all.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When Dauid was deliuered from great danger, he rendred thankes to God, exhorting others to do the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather merciful then seuere & rigorous towards his children. 7 And also that the fall from prosperitie to aduersitie is sudden. 8 This done, he returneth to prayer, promising to praise God for euer.

¶ * A Psalme or song of the * dedication of the a house of Dauid

I Will magnifie thee, O Lord: b for thou hast exalted mee, and hast not made my foes to reioyce ouer mee.

2 O Lord my God, I cryed vnto thee, and thou hast c restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my d soule out of the graue: thou hast reuiued me from them that goe downe into the pit.

4 Sing prayses vnto the Lord, yee * his Saints, and giue thankes e before the remembrance of his Holinesse.

5 * For he endureth but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life: weeping may abide at euening, but ioy commeth in the morning.

6 And in my f prosperitie I said, I shall neuer be moued.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodnesse hadst made my g mountaine to stand strong: but thou diddest hide thy face, and I h was troubled.

8 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit? shall the dust k giue thankes vnto thee? or shall it declare thy trueth?

10 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon me: Lord, be thou mine helper.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my sacke and girded me with gladnesse.

12 Therefore shall my l tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thankes vnto thee for euer.

PSAL. XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger, first vttereth his meditation he had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemy being ready to take him. 15 Then he affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwayes ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally, he exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God, & to loue him, because he preserueth & strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

IN * thee, O Lord, I haue put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy a righteousnesse.

2 Bow downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer mee: bee vnto mee a strong rocke, and an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rock and my fortresse: therefore for thy names sake direct me and guide me.

4 Drawe mee out of the b net, that they haue layd priuily for mee: for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine c hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of trueth.

6 I haue hated them that giue them selues to deceitfull vanities: for I d trust in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast knowen my soule in aduersities,

8 And thou hast not shut me vp in y hand of the enemie, but hast set my feete at e large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine f eye, my soule and my belly are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed.

11 I was a a reproch among all mine enemies, but especially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, b who fled from me in the streete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten, as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessell.

13 For I haue heard the rayling of i great men: feare was on euery side, while they conspired together against me, and consulted to take my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, k Thou art my God.

15 My l times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruant, and saue me thorough thy mercie.

17 Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked bee put to confusion, & m to silence in the graue.

18 Let thy lying lippes bee made dumbe, which cruelly, proudly, and spitefully speake against the righteous

19 How great is thy goodnesse, which thou n hast layde vp for them that feare thee, and done to them that trust in thee, euen before the sonnes of men!

Psal. 71. 1.

24 All ye that trust in the Lord, be r strong, and he shall stablish your heart.

PSAL. XXXII.

1 Dauid punished with grieuous sicknesse for his sinnes, counteth them blessed, to whom God doth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that hee had confessed his sinnes, and obteined pardon, 6 Hee exhorteth the wicked men to liue godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid to giue a instruction.

a Concerning the free remission of sinnes, which is the chiefest point of our faith.
b To be iustified by faith, is to haue our sinnes freely remitted, & to be reputed iust, Rom. 4. 6.
c Betweene hope and despaire.
d Neither by silence nor crying found I ease: signifying, that before the sinner be reconciled to God he feeleth a perpetuall torment
e Hee sheweth the cause why as Gods mercie is the onely cause of forgiuenes of sinnes, so the meanes thereof are repentance and confession, which proceede of faith.
f When necessity causeth him to seeke to thee for helpe, Isa. 55. 6.
g To wit, the waters and great dangers.

BLessed is he whose wickednesse is b forgiuen, and whose sinne is couered.
2 Blessed is the man, vnto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, and in whose spirit there is no guile.

5 Then I e acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, neither hidde I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse vnto the Lord, and thou forgauest the punishment of my sinne. Selah.
6 Therfore shal euery one that is godly, make his prayer vnto thee in a f time when thou mayest be found: surely in the flood of great waters g they shal not come nere him.
7 Thou art my secret place: thou preseruest mee from trouble: thou compassest me about with ioyfull deliuerance. Selah.
8 I will h instruct thee, and teach thee in the way that thou shalt goe, and I will guide thee with mine eye.
9 Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule, which vnderstand not: whose mouthes thou doest binde with bit and bride, least they come neere thee.
10 Many sorrowes shall come to the wicked: but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercie shall compasse him.
11 Be glad ye righteous, and i reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye, that are vpright in heart.

h Dauid promiseth to make the rest of Gods children partakers of the benefites, which he felt, and that he will diligently looke and take care to direct them in the way of saluation i If men can rule brute beasts, thinke they that God will not bridle and tame their rage? k Hee sheweth, that peace and ioy of conscience in the holy Ghost is the fruit of faith.

PSALM. XXXIII.

1 He exhorteth good men to praise God, for that he hath not only created all things, & by his prouidence gouerneth the same, but also is faithful in his promises. 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, and scattereth the counsel of the wicked, 16 so that no man can bee preserued by any creature or mans strength: but they, that put their confidence in his mercie, shall be preserued from all aduersities.

a It is the duetie of the godly to set forth the praises of God for his mercie & power shewed toward them.
b To sing on instruments was a part of the ceremoniall seruice of the Temple, which doeth no more appertaine vnto vs then the sacrifices, censings and lights.
c That is, counsel or commandement in gouerning the world.
d That is, the effect & execution.
e Howsoeuer the world iudgeth of Gods workes, yet he doth all things according to iustice and mercie.
f By the creation of the heauens and beautifull ornament, with the gathering also of the waters, he setteth foorth the power of God, that all creatures might feare him.
‖ Or, was created.
g No counsell can preuaile against God, but he defeateth it, and it shall haue euill successe.
h He sheweth that all our felicitie standeth in this, that the Lord is our God.
i Hee prooueth that all things are gouerned by Gods prouidence, & not by fortune.
k Therefore he knoweth their wicked enterprises.
l If kings and the mightie of the world cannot bee saued by worldly meanes, but only by Gods prouidence, what haue others to trust in, that haue not like meanes?
m God sheweth that toward his of his mercie which man by no meanes is able to compasse.
n Thus hee speaketh in the name of the whole church, which onely depend on Gods prouidence.

RIoyce in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it becometh vpright men to bee thankful.
2 Praise the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with a viole, and b instrument of ten strings.
3 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cheerfully with a lowde voice.
4 For the word of the Lord is righteous, and all his c workes are faithfull.
5 He d loueth righteousnes & iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnes of the Lord.
6 By the word of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the hoste of them by the breath of his mouth.
7 Hee e gathereth the waters of the sea together as vpon an heape, and layeth vp the depths in his treasures.
8 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all them that dwell in the world, feare him.
9 For hee spake, and it was done: hee commanded, and it ‖ stood.
10 The Lord breaketh the f counsell of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the deuises of the people.
11 The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of his heart throughout all ages.
12 Blessed is that nation, whose g God is the Lord: euen the people, that he hath chosen for his inheritance.
13 The Lord h looketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the children of men.
14 From the habitation of his dwelling he beholdeth all them that dwel in the earth, 15 He i fashioneth their hearts euery one, and vnderstandeth all their workes.
16 The k king is not saued by the multitude of an hoste, neither is the mighty man deliuered by great strength.
17 A horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not deliuer any by his great strength.
18 Behold, l the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them, that trust in his mercie, 19 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserue them in famine.
20 m Our soule waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helpe and our shield.
21 Surely our heart shall reioyce in him, because we trust in his holy Name.
22 Let thy mercie, O Lord, bee vpon vs, as we trust in thee.

his example to trust in God, to feare and serue him: 14 Who defendeth the godly with his Angels, 15 And vtterly destroyeth the wicked in their sinnes.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid, when he changed his behauiour before Abimelech, who droue him away, and he departed.

I Will a alway giue thankes vnto the Lord: his praise shalbe in my mouth continually.

2 My soule shall glorie in the Lord: the b humble shall heare it, and be glad.

3 Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

4 I sought the Lord, and he heard mee: yea, he deliuered me out of all my c feare.

5 They d shall looke vnto him, and run to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed, saying,

6 This poore man cried, and the Lorde heard him, and saued him out of all his troubles.

7 The e Angell of the Lord pitcheth round about them, that feare him, and deliuereth them.

8 Taste ye & see, how gracious the Lord is: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

9 Feare the Lord, ye his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him.

10 The f lyons doe lacke, and suffer hunger, but they which seeke the Lord, shall g want nothing that is good.

11 Come children, hearken vnto mee: I will teach you the h feare of the Lord.

12 i What man is hee that desireth life, and loueth long dayes for to i see good?

13 Keepe thy tongue from euill, and thy lips, that they speake no guile.

14 Eschewe euill, and doe good: seeke peace, and follow after it.

15 The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their crie.

16 But the k face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth.

17 The righteous crie, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

18 The Lord is neere vnto them that are of a l contrite heart, and will saue such as be afflicted in spirit.

19 Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

20 m He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 But malice shall slay the n wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish.

22 The Lord o redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none that trust in him, shall perish.

When they seeme to bee swallowed vp with afflictions, then God is at hand to deliuer them. m And as Christ saith, all the haires of his head. n Their wicked enterprises shall turne to their owne destruction. o For when they seeme to bee ouercome with great dangers and death it selfe, then God sheweth himselfe their redeemer.

a He promiseth neuer to become vnmindfull of Gods greatbenefit for his deliuerance.

b They that are beaten downe with the experience of their owne euils.

c Which I conceiued for the dangers wherein I was.

d They shall be bold to flee to thee for succour, when they shall see thy mercies toward mee.

e Though Gods power be sufficient to gouerne vs, yet for mans infirmitie he appointeth his Angels to watch ouer vs.

f The godly by their patient obedience profit more then they, which rauine & spoyle.

g If they abide the last triall.

h That is, the true religion and worship of God.

i Seeing all men naturally desire felicitie, he wondereth why they cast themselues willingly into miserie.

k The anger of God doeth not onely destroy the wicked, but also aboliseth their name for euer.

PSAL. XXXV.

1 So long as Saul was enemie to Dauid, all that had any authoritie vnder him to flatter their king (as is the course of the world) did also most cruelly persecute Dauid against whom he prayeth God to pleade and to auenge his cause, 8 that they may be taken in their nets and snares, which they laid for him, that his innocencie may be declared, 27 and that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and praise the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuered his seruant. 28 And so hee promiseth to speake foorth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

PLeade thou my a cause, O Lord, with them that striue with mee: fight thou against them that fight against mee.

2 b Lay hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out also the speare, and stop the way against them that persecute me: say vnto my c soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them bee confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them be turned backe and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them be as chaffe before the wind, and let the Angel of the Lord d scatter them.

6 Let their way bee darke and slipperie: & let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For e without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon f him at vnwares, and let his net that hee hath laid priuely, take him: let him fall into g the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall bee ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation.

10 All my h bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him that is too strong for him! yea, the poore, and him that is in miserie, from him that spoyleth him!

11 i Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded mee euill for good, to k haue spoyled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting: and my l prayer was turned vpon my bosome.

14 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.

15 But in mine m aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered themselues together: the abiects assembled themselues against me, and I knew not: they tare n me and ceased not,

16 With the false scoffers at o bankets, gnashing their teeth against me.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold this? deliuer my soule from their tumult, euen my desolate soule from the lions.

18 So will I giue thee thankes in a great congregation: I will praise thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, a Hee desireth God to vndertake his cause against them that did persecute him and slander him.

b Albeit God can with his breath destroy all his enemies, yet the holy Ghost attributeth vnto him theie outward weapons, to assure vs of his present power.

c Assure me against theie tentations that thou art the author of my saluation.

d Smite them with the spirit of giddinesse that their enterprises may bee foolish, and they receiue iust reward.

e Shewing, that we may not call God to be a reuenger, but only for his glorie, & when our cause is iust.

f When he promiseth to himselfe peace.

g Which he prepared against the children of God.

h He attributeth his deliuerance onely to God, praysing him therefore both in soule and body.

i That would not suffer me to purge my selfe.

k To haue taken from mee all comfort, and brought mee into despaire. l I prayed for them with inward affection, as I would haue done for my selfe: or, I declared mine affection, with bowing downe mine head. m When they sawe me readie to slip, and as one that halted for infirmitie. n With their railing words. o The word signifieth cakes: meaning that the proud courtiers at their daintie feasts, scoffe, raile, and conspire his death.

t That is, at once, were they neuer so many or mightie.

u This prayer shal alwayes be verified against them that persecute y faithful. x That at least saueur my right, though they be not able to helpe me. y He exhorteth the Church to praise God for the deliuerance of his seruants, and for the destruction of his aduersaries.

PSAL. XXXVI.

z The Prophet grieuously vexed by the wicked, doth complaine of their malicious wickednesse. 6 Then he turneth to cõsider the vnspeakeable goodnes of God toward all creatures: 9 But specially towards his children, that by the faith thereof hee may be comforted & assured of his deliuerance by this ordinarie course of Gods worke, 13 who in the end destroyeth the wicked and saueth the iust.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord.

a I see euidently by his deedes, that sinne pusheth forward the reprobate from wickednesse to wickednesse, albeit he go about to couer his impietie.

b Though all other detest his vile sinne, yet he himselfe seeth it not.

c The reprobate mocke at wholesome doctrine, and put not difference betweene good and euill.

d By describing at large the nature of the reprobate, he admonisheth the godly to beware of these vices. e Though wickednesse seemeth to ouerflow all y world, yet by thine heauenly prouidence thou gouernest heauen and earth. ‡ Ebr the mountaines of God: for whatsoeuer is excellent, as thou called. f The depth of thy prouidence gouerneth all things, and disposeth them, albeit the wicked seeme to ouerwhelme the world.

g Onely Gods children haue enough of all things both concerning this life and the life to come.

h Hee sheweth who are Gods children, to wit, they that know him and leade their liues vprightly.

i Let not the proud aduance himselfe against mee, neither the power of the wicked driue me away. k That is, in their pride, wherein they flatter themselues.

PSAL. XXXVII.

l This Psalme conteineth exhortation and consolation of the weake, that are grieued at the prosperitie of the wicked, and the affliction of the godly. 7 For how prosperously soeuer the wicked doe liue for the time, he doth affirme their felicitie to be vaine & transitorie, because they are not in the fauour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserable that the righteous seemeth to liue in the world, yet his end is peace, and he is in the fauour of God, he is deliuered from the wicked, and preserued.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

1 FRet not m thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious to the euil doers.

2 For they shal soone be n cut downe like grasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.

3 o Trust thou in the Lord & do good: dwel in the land, and thou shalt be fed assuredly.

4 And delight thy selfe in the Lord, and he shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 p Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousnesse as the light, and thy q iudgement as the noone day.

7 Waite patiently vpon the Lord, r hope in him: s fret not thy selfe for him t which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

8 Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfe u also to doe euill.

9 For euil doers shalbe cut off, x they that wait vpon y Lord, they shal inherit the land.

10 z Therefore yet a little while, and the wicked shal not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.

11 But a meeke men shall possesse the earth, and shal haue their delight in the multitude of peace.

12 b The wicked practiseth against the iust, therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy wings.

8 They shalbe c satisfied with the fatnes of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinke out of the riuer of thy pleasures.

9 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall we see light.

10 Extend thy louing kindnes vnto them that d know thee, and thy righteousnesse vnto them that are vpright in heart.

14 The wicked haue drawen their sword, and haue bent their bow, to cast downe the poore and needy, and to slay such as be of vpright conuersation.
15 But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shalbe broken.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but y Lord vpholdeth the iust men.
18 The Lord l knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shal be perpetuall.
19 They shall not be confounded in the perilous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue m enough.
20 But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shal be consumed as the n fat of Lambes: euen with the smoke shall they consume away.
21 The wicked borroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull, and o giueth.
22 For such as be blessed of God, shall inherit the land, & they that be cursed of him, shall be cut off.
23 p The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.
24 Though he q fall, yet shall not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.
25 I haue been yong, and am old: yet I sawe neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his r seed begging bread.
26 But he is euer mercifull and lendeth, and his seed enioyeth the blessing.
27 Flee from euill and do good, and dwel for euer.
28 For the Lord loueth iudgement, and forsaketh not his saints: they shall be preserued for euermore: but the seede of the wicked shall be cut off.
29 The righteous men shall inherit the land, and dwel therein s for euer.
30 The t mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdome, and his tongue will talke of iudgement.
31 For the law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.
32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.
33 But the Lord will not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is u iudged.
34 Wait thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the land: when the wicked men shall perish, thou shalt see.
35 I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree.
36 Yet he x passed away, and lo, he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.
37 y Marke the vpright man, and behold the iust: for the end of that man is peace.
38 But the transgressors shall be destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shalbe cut off.
39 But the z saluation of the righteous man shall be of the Lord: he shall be their strength in the time of trouble.
40 For the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: he shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

k For they are daily fed as with Manna from heauen, and haue sufficiene, when the wicked haue neuer enough, but euer hunger.
l God knoweth what dangers hang ouer his, and by what meanes to deliuer them.
m For God will giue them contented minds, and that which shalbe necessary.
n They shall vanish away suddenly: for they are fed for the day of slaughter.
o God so furnisheth him with his blessing, that hee is able to helpe others.
p God prosperth the faithfull, because they walke in his wayes with an vpright conscience.
q When God doeth exercise his faith with diuers tentations.
r Though the iust man die, yet Gods blessings are extended to his posterity, and though God suffer some iust man to lacke temporall benefits, yet he recompenseth him with spirituall treasures.
s They shall continually be preserued vnder Gods wings, and haue at least inward rest.
t These three points are required of the faithfull, that their talke be godly, that Gods Law be in their heart, and that their life be vpright.
u For though it be sometime so expedient both for Gods glory and their saluation, yet he will approue their cause, and reuenge their wrong.
x So that the prosperitie of the wicked is but as a cloud, which vanisheth away in a moment.
y He exhorteth the faithfull to marke diligently the examples both of Gods mercies, and also of his iudgements.
z He sheweth that the patient hope of the godly is neuer in vaine, but in the end hath good successe, though for a time God prooue them by sundry tentations.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

1 David lying sicke of some grieuous disease, acknowledgeth himselfe to bee chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, and therefore prayeth God to turne away his wrath. 5 He vttereth the greatnes of his griefe by many words and circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euill intreated of his enemies. 22 But in the end with some confidence he commendeth his cause to God, and hopeth for speedy helpe at his hand.

A Psalme of Dauid for a remembrance.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine b anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.
2 For thine c arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lieth vpon me.
3 There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones, because of my d sinne.
4 For e mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weighty burden they are too heauie for me.
5 My wounds are putrified, and corrupt because of my f foolishnesse.
6 I am bowed, and crooked very sore: I goe ‖ mourning all the day.
7 For my reines are full of burning, and there is nothing sound in my flesh.
8 I am weakened and sore broken: I g roare for the very griefe of mine heart.
9 Lord, I powre my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.
10 Mine heart h panteth: my strength faileth me, and the light of mine eyes, euen i they are not mine owne.
11 My louers and my friends stand aloofe from my plague, and my k kinsmen stand a farre off.
12 They also, that seeke after my life, lay snares, and they that go about to do me euill, talke wicked things, & imagine deceit continually.
13 But I as l a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumbe man, which openeth not his mouth.
14 Thus am I as a man, that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reproofes.
15 For on thee, O Lord, do I wait: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.
16 For I said, Heare me, least they reioyce a To put himselfe and others in mind of Gods chastisement for sinne.

b He desireth not to be exempted from Gods rod, but that he would so moderate his hand that he might be able to beare it.
c Thy sicknesse wherewith thou hast visited me.
d Dauid acknowledgeth God to be iust in his punishments, because his sins had deserued much more.
e He confesseth his sinnes, Gods iustice, and maketh prayer his refuge.
f That rather giue place to mine owne lusts, then to the will of God.
g Or, blare, as one that is disfigured and consumed with sickenesse.
h This example warneth vs neuer to despaire, be the torment neuer so great: but alwayes to cry vnto God with sure trust for deliuerance. Her mouth about, or, is tossed to, & fro: meaning, that he was destitute of all helpe and counsell.
i My sight faileth me for very sorow.
k Partly for feare, and partly for pride they denied all duety and friendship.
l For I can haue no audience before men, and therefore patiently wait for the helpe of God.

l That is, if they see that thou succour me not in time, they will mocke and triumph, as though thou hadst forsaken me.

m I am without hope to recouer my strength.

n In my greatest misery they most reioyce.

o He had rather haue the hatred of all the world, then to faile in any part of his duetie to Godward.

p Which art the authour of my saluation: and this declareth that he prayed with sure hope of deliuerance.

ouer me: for l when my foote slippeth, they extoll themselues against me.

17 Surely I am ready to m halt, and my sorow is euer before me.

18 When I declare my paine, and am sorie for my sinne,

19 Then mine n enemies are aliue, and are mighty, and they that hate me wrongfully are many.

20 They also that reward euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I followe o goodnesse.

21 Forsake me not, O Lord, be not thou farre from me, my God.

22 Haste thee to helpe mee, O my Lord, my p saluation.

PSAL. XXXIX.

1 Dauid vttereth with what great griefe & bitternes of minde he was driuen to these outragious complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when hee had determined silence, hee brast forth yet into words that he would not, through the greatnesse of his griefe. 4 Then he rehearseth certaine requests which taste of the infirmitie of man, and mixeth them with many prayers: but all doe shewe a minde wonderfully troubled, that it may plainely appeare howe hee did striue mightily against death and desperation.

To the excellent musitian a Jeduthun. A Psalme of Dauid.

a This was one of the chiefe singers, 1. Chron. 16.41.

I Thought, b I will take heed to my wayes that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

b Albeit he had appointed with himselfe patiently to haue tarried Gods leisure, yet the vehemency of his paine causedhim to breake his purpose.

2 I was dumbe and spake nothing: I kept silence euen from good, c and my sorow was moze stirred.

c Though when the wickedruled, he thought to haue kept silence yet his zeale caused him to change his mind.

3 Mine heart was hote within mee, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and d I spake with my tongue, saying, d He confesseth that he grudged against God considering f greatnesse of his sorowes and the fauntnesse of his life.

4 Lord, let me know mine end, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee know how long I haue to liue.

e Yet Dauid offendeth in that that he reasoned with God, as though that he were too seuere toward his weake creature.

5 Beholde, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether e vanitie. Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadow, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer me fro all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the f foolish.

f Make me not a mocking stock to the wicked, nor wrap me not with the wicked, when they are put to shame.

9 I should haue been dumbe, and not haue opened my mouth, because g thou diddest it.

g Seeing my troubles came of thy prouidence, I ought to haue endured the patiently.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes dost chastise man for iniquitie, thou as a moth h makest his l beautie to consume: surely euery man is vanitie. Selah.

h Though thine open plagues light not euermore vpon them, yet thy secret curse continually fretteth them.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my cry: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recouer my strength, before I goe hence, and be not.

i The word signifieth all that he desireth, as health, force, strength, beautie, and in what soeuer he hath delight, so that the rod of God taketh away all that is desired in this world.

k For his sorow caused him to thinke that God would destroy him vtterly: whereby we see how hard it is for the very Saintes to keepe a measure in their words, when death and despaire assaile them.

PSAL. XL.

1 Dauid deliuered from great danger, doth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliuerance, and commendeth his prouidence towards all mankinde. 5 Then doeth hee promise to giue himselfe wholly to Gods seruice, and so declareth how God is truely worshipped. 14 Afterward he giueth thanks and praiseth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for ayde and succour.

To him k excellent. A Psalme of Dauid. l Waited m patiently for the Lord, and hee inclined vnto me, and heard my cry.

m Though God deferred his help, yet he patiently abode, till he was heard.

2 He brought me also out of the b horrible pit, out of the mirie clay, and set my feete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

b He deliuered me from most great dangers.

3 And he hath put in my mouth c a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

c That is, a speciall occasion to praise him: for Gods benefits are so many occasions for vs to praise his name.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, & regardeth d not the proude, nor such as turne aside to lies.

d To followe their example, which he must needs do that trusteth not only in the Lord.

5 e O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are moe then I am able to expresse.

e Dauid goeth from one kinde of Gods fauor, to the contemplation of his prouidence ouer all, & confesseth that his counsels towards vs are far aboue our capacities: we cannot so much as tell them in order.

v 6 Sacrifice & offring thou didst not desire: (for f mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offring & sin offring hast thou not required.

f Thou hast opened mine eares to vnderstand & spirituall meaning of the sacrifices: and here Dauid esteemeth the ceremonies of the lawe nothing in respect of the spirituall seruice.

7 g Then said I, Loe, I come: for in the roll of the booke it is written of me, g When thou hadst opened mine eares and heart, I was ready to obey thee, being assured that I was written in the book of thine elect for this end.

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Law is within mine heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousnesse in the great h Congregation: loe, I will not refraine my lips: O Lord, thou knowest.

h In the Church assembled in the Sanctuary.

10 I haue not hidde thy righteousnesse within mine heart, but I haue declared thy i trueth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy trueth from the great Congregation.

i Dauid here numbreth three degrees of our saluation: Gods mercie, whereby he vpholdeth vs: his righteousnes, which signifieth his continuall protection: and his trueth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour, so that hereof proceedeth our saluation.

11 Withdraw not thou thy tender mercie from mee, O Lord: let thy mercy and thy trueth alway preserue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are moe in number k As touching the iudgement of the flesh, I was vtterly destitute of all counsell: yet faith inwardly mooued mine heart to pray.

l He desireth that Gods mercie may contend for him against the rage of his enemies.

m Let the same shame and confusion light vpon them, which they intended to haue brought vpon me. n As the faithful alwayes praise God for his benefits: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

then the haires of mine head: therefore mine heart hath [k] failed me.

13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer me: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them bee [l] confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them bee driuen backward and put to rebuke that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them be [m] destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto mee, Aha, aha.

16 Let all them that seeke thee, reioyce, & bee glad in thee: and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway, [n] The Lord be praised.

17 Though I be poore & needie, the Lord thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make no tarying.

PSAL. XLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously afflicted, blesseth them, that pitie his case, 9 And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Iohn 13.18. After he feeling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 13 Giueth most heartie thanks to God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

a Not condemning him as accursed whom God doeth visite, knowing that there are diuers causes why God layeth his hand vpon vs: yea, and afterward he restoreth vs.

b When for sorow and griefe of minde he casteth himselfe vpon his bed.

c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed and sent him comfort.

d That is, curse me, and cannot haue their cruell hate quenched, but with my shameful death.

e For pretending to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, and braggeth thereof.

BLessed is hee that [a] iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and preserue him aliue: he shall be blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the [b] bed of sorow: thou hast turned all his bed in his sicknesse.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercy vpon mee: [c] heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies [d] speake euil of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to see mee, he speaketh lies, but his heart heapeth iniquitie within him, and when he commeth forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate mee, whisper together against mee: euen against mee doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 [e] A mischiefe is light vpon him, and he that lieth, shall no more rise.

9 Yea, my [f] familiar friend, whome I trusted, which did eate of my bread, [g] hath lifted vp the heele against me.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercie vpon me, and raise me vp: so I shal reward them.

11 By this I know that thou fauourest me, because mine enemie doeth not triumph against me.

12 And as for mee, thou vpholdest mee [h] in mine integritie, and doest set mee before thy face for euer.

13 Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel world without end. [k] So be it, euen so be it.

f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishments that God was become his mortall enemie. [†] Ebr. The man of my peace.

g As Dauid felt this falshood, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 13.18. so shal his members continually proue the same.

h Meaning, either in prosperitie of life, or in the true feare of God against all tentations.

k By this repetition he stirreth vp the faithfull to praise God.

PSAL. XLII.

1 The Prophet grieuously complaineth, that being letted by his persecutours, he could not be present in the congregation of Gods people, protesting that although he was separate in body from them, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all he sheweth that he was not so farre ouercome with these sorrowes and thoughts, 8 But that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, [a] committed to the sonnes of Korah.

AS the hart brayeth for the riuers of water, so [b] panteth my soule after thee, O God.

2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God?

3 [c] My teares haue beene my meate day and night, while they dayly say vnto mee, Where is thy God?

4 When I [d] remembred these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the house of God with the voyce of singing, and prayse, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and vnquiet within me? [e] waite on God: for I will yet giue him thankes for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within mee, [f] because I remember thee from the lande of Jorden, and Hermonim, and from the Mount Mizar.

7 One [g] deepe calleth another deepe by the noyse of thy water spoutes: all thy wawes and thy floods are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord [h] will graunt his louing kindnesse in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life.

9 I will say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? Why go I mourning, when the enemie oppresseth mee?

10 My [i] bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproch me, saying dayly vnto me, Where is thy God?

11 [k] Why art thou cast downe, my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thankes: hee is my present helpe, and my God.

a As a treasure to bee kept of them, which were of the number of the Leuites.

b By these similitudes of thirst and panting, he sheweth his feruent desire to serue God in his Temple.

c As others take pleasure in eating and drinking, so he was altogether giuen to weeping.

d That is, how I led the people to serue thee in thy Tabernacle, and now seeing my contrary estate I die for sorrow.

e Though he sustained grieuous assaults of the flesh to cast him to despaire, yet his faith grounded on Gods accustomed mercies, getteth the victorie.

f That is, when I remember thee in this land of my banishment among the mountaines.

g Afflictions came so thicke vpon me, that I felt my selfe as ouerwhelmed: whereby he sheweth there is no end of our miserie, till God be pacified, and send remedie.

h He assureth himselfe of Gods helpe in time to come.

i That is, I am most grieuously tormented.

k This repetition doeth declare that Dauid did not ouercome at once: to teach vs to bee constant, forasmuch as God will certainely deliuer his.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 He prayeth to be deliuered from them which conspire against him, that he might ioyfully praise God in his holy congregation.

a He desireth God to vndertake his cause against the enemies, but chiefely that he would restore him to the Tabernacle.
b That is, the cruell companie of mine enemies.
c To wit, thy fauour, which appeareth by the performance of thy promises.
d Hee promiseth to offer a solemne sacrifice of thankesgiuing in token of his great deliuerance.
e Whereby hee admoniſheth the faithfull not to relent, but constantly to wait on the Lord, though their troubles be long & great.

PSAL. XLIIII.

1 The faithfull remember the great mercy of God toward his people. 9 After they complaine, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they alledge the couenant made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they ſhew what grieuous things they ſuffered. 23 Finally they pray vnto God not to contemne their affliction, ſeeing the ſame redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Pſalme to giue inſtruction, committed to the ſonnes of Korah.

a This Pſalme ſeemeth to haue beene made by ſome excellent Prophet for the vſe of the people, when the Church was in extreme miſerie, either at their returne from Babylon, or vnder Antiochus, or in ſuch like affliction.
b That is, the Canaanites.
c To wit, our fathers.
d Of Canaan.
e That is, our fathers.
f Gods free mercie and loue is the onely fountaine and beginning of the Church, Deut. 4.37.
g Becauſe thou art our King, therefore deliuer thy people from their miſerie.
h Becauſe they and their forefathers made both one Church, they apply that to themſelues, which before they did attribute to their fathers.
i As they confeſſed before, that their ſtrength came of God, ſo now they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iuſt iudgement.

1 Iudge me, O God, and defend my cauſe againſt the vnmercifull people: deliuer me from the deceitfull and wicked man.
2 For thou art the God of my ſtrength: why haſt thou put mee away? why goe I ſo mourning, when the enemie oppreſſeth mee?
3 Send thy light and thy trueth: let them leade me: let them bring me vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles.
4 Then will I goe vnto the altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy and gladneſſe: and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God.
5 Why art thou caſt downe, my ſoule? and why art thou diſquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks, he is my preſent helpe, and my God.

a Sons of Korah.

1 We haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue told vs the workes that thou haſt done in their dayes, in the old time:
2 How thou haſt driuen out the heathen with thine hand, and planted them: how thou haſt deſtroyed the people, and cauſed them to grow.
3 For they inherited not the land by their owne ſword, neither did their owne arme ſaue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, becauſe thou diddeſt fauour them.
4 Thou art my King, O God: ſend helpe vnto Iaakob.
5 Through thee haue wee thruſt backe our aduerſaries: by thy Name haue wee troden downe them that roſe vp againſt vs.
6 For I doe not truſt in my bow, neither can my ſword ſaue me.
7 But thou haſt ſaued vs from our aduerſaries, and haſt put them to confuſion that hate vs.
8 Therefore will wee praiſe God continually, and will confeſſe thy Name for euer. Selah.
9 But now thou art farre off, and puttеſt vs to confuſion, and goeſt not forth with our armies.
10 Thou makeſt vs to turne backe from the aduerſarie, and they, which hate vs, ſpoile for themſelues.
11 Thou giueſt vs as ſheepe to bee eaten, and doeſt ſcatter vs among the nations.
12 Thou ſellеſt thy people without gaine, and doeſt not increaſe their price.
13 Thou makeſt vs a reproch to our neighbours, a teſt and a laughing ſtocke to them that are round about vs.
14 Thou makeſt vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head among the people.
15 My confuſion is daily before me, and the ſhame of my face hath couered me, 16 For the voyce of the ſlanderer and rebuker, for the enemie and auenger.
17 All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not forget thee, neither deale wee falſely concerning thy couenant.
18 Our heart is not turned backe: neither our ſteps gone out of thy pathes, 19 Albeit thou haſt ſmitten vs downe into the place of Dragons, and couered vs with the ſhadow of death.
20 If wee haue forgotten the Name of our God, and holden vp our handes to a ſtrange God, 21 Shall not God ſearch this out? for he knoweth the ſecrets of the heart.
22 Surely for thy ſake are we ſlaine continually, and are counted as ſheepe for the ſlaughter.
23 Vp, why ſleepeſt thou, O Lord? awake, be not farre off for euer.
24 Wherefore hideſt thou thy face? and forgetteſt our miſerie and our affliction?
25 For our ſoule is bowed downe vnto the duſt: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.
26 Riſe vp for our ſuccour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies ſake.

a This Pſalme ſeemeth to haue beene made vpon the mariage of Salomon with the daughter of Pharaoh, and to ſet forth the glorie of his kingdome, and the felicitie of his ſeede, which ſhould come of her.
b Of perfit loue that ought to be betweene the husband & the wife.
c Salomons beautie & eloquence to winne fauor with his people, and his power to ouercome his enemies, is here deſcribed.

9 Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mightie, to wit, thy worship and thy glory.
4 And prosper with thy glory: d ride vp-on the word of trueth and of meekenesse and of righteousnesse: & thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.
5 Thine arrowes are sharpe to pierce the heart of the kings enemies; therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.
6 Thy e throne, O God, is for euer and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a scepter of righteousnesse.
7 Thou louest righteousnesse, and hatest wickednes, because God, euen thy God hath f anointed thee with the oyle of gladnesse aboue thy fellowes.
8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and Cassia, when thou comest out of the yuory palaces, g where they haue made thee glad.
9 Kings daughters were among thine honourable wiues: vpon thy right hand did stand the h Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir.
10 i Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine own people and thy fathers house.
11 So shall the king haue pleasure in thy beautie: for hee is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him.
12 And the k daughter of ‖ Tyrus with the rich of the people shall do homage before thy face with presents.
13 The Kings daughter is all glorious l within: her clothing is of broidered gold.
14 She shal be brought vnto the King in raiment of needle worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto thee.
15 With ioy and gladnesse shall they bee brought, and shall enter into the Kings palace.
16 In stead of thy fathers shal thy m children bee: thou shalt make them princes n through all the earth.
17 I will make thy o Name to be remem-bred through all generations: therefore shal out end.

d He alludeth to them that ride in chariots in their triumphs, shewing that the quiet state of a kingdome standeth in trueth, meekenesse and iustice, not in worldly pompe and vanitie.
e Vnder this figure of this kingdom of iustice is set forth the euerlasting kingdom of Christ.
f Hath established thy kingdome as the figure of Christ, which is the peace and ioy of the Church.
g In the which palace the people made thee ioyfull to see them giue thanks & reioyce for thee.
h Though he had many kings daughters among his wiues, yet hee loued Pharaohs daughter best.
i Vnder y figure of Pharaohs daughter, he sheweth that the Church must cast off all carnall affections to obey Christ onely.
k He signifieth that diuers of them that be rich shalbe benefactors to the Church, albeit they giue not perfect obedience to the Gospel ‖ Or, Zor. l There is nothing fained nor hypocritical, but she is glorious both within & without: & howbeit the Church hath not at all times this outward glory, the fault is to be imputed only to their own ingratitude. m They shall haue greater graces then their fathers. n Hee signifieth the great compasse of Christs kingdom, which shal be sufficient to enrich al his members. o This must onely be referred to Christ, and not to Salomon.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thanksgiuing for the deliuerance of Ierusalem, after Senacherib with his army was driuen away, or some other like sudden & marueilous deliuerance by the mightie hand of God. 8 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefit, doeth exhort the faithful to giue themselues wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall bee safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his delight to assuage the rage of the wicked when they are most busie against the iust.

2 Therefore will not we c feare, though

3 Though the waters thereof d rage & be surges of the same, Selah:

4 Yet there is a e River, whose streames the earth.

9 Hee maketh warres to cease vnto the 10 Be h still and knowe that I am God:

‖ Or, protection.
b In all maner of troubles God sheweth his speedy mercie and power in defending his.
c That is we will not be ouercome with feare.
d Though the afflictions rage neuer so much, yet the riuers of Gods mercies bring sufficient comfort to his.

PSAL. XLVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all people to the worship of the true and euerliuing God, commending the mercie of God toward the posterity of Iaakob. 9 And after proph. sixth of the kingdome of Christ in the time of the Gospel.

6 Sing praises to God, sing praises:

7 For God is the king of all y earth: sing a Here is figured Christ, vnto whō all his should giue willing obedience, and who would shew himselfe terrible to the wicked.

b Hee hath made the Iewes, who were the keepers of the law and Prophets schole-masters to the Gentiles, y they should with gladnesse obey them. c God hath chosen vs aboue all other nations to enioy a most glorious inheritance. d Hee doeth allude vnto the trumpets that were blowen at solemne feastes: but he doeth further signifie the triumph of Christ & his glorious ascension into the heauens. e He requireth that vnderstanding be ioyned with syncerity, lest the Name of God be prophaned with vaine crying.

f He prayseth Gods mightes, for ỹ he toyneth the great Princes of ỹ world (whō he calleth shields) to the fellowship of his Church.

a Some put this difference betwene a song and Psalme, saying, that it is called a song, when there is no instrument, but the voice: & the Psalme, the contrary. The song of ỹ Psalme is when the instruments begin, and the voice followeth: ỹ Psalme of the song, the contrary.

b Albeit God shew his wonders through all the world, yet he will be chiefly praised in his Church.

c Because the word of saluation came thence to all them that should beleeue.

d Except God were the defence thereof, neither situation, nor munition could prouaile.

8 God reigneth ouer the heathen: God sitteth vpon his holy throne.

9 The princes of the people are gathered vnto the people of the God of Abraham: for the shields of the world belong to God: hee ỹ is greatly to be exalted.

PSAL. XLVIII.

1 A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hand of many Kings is mentioned, for the which thanks are giuen to God, & the state of that city is praised, that hath God so presently at all times ready to defend them. This Psalme seemeth to be made in the time of Ahaz, Iosaphat, Asa or Ezekiah: for in their times chiefly was the citie by forren Princes assaulted.

¶ [a] A song or Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

GReat is the Lord, and greatly to be praised in the [b] Citie of our God, euen vpon his holy mountaine.

2 Mount Zion, lying Northward, is faire in situation: it is the [c] ioy of the whole earth, and the citie of the great King.

3 In the palaces thereof God is knowen for a [d] refuge.

4 For loe, the kings were [e] gathered and went together.

5 When they saw it, they marueiled: they were astonied, and suddenly driuen backe.

6 Feare came there vpon them, and sorow, as vpon a woman in trauell.

7 As with an Eastwind thou breakest the ships [g] of Tarshish, so were they destroyed.

8 As we haue [h] heard, so haue we seene in the Citie of the Lord of hoastes, in the citie of our God: God will stablish it for euer. Selah.

9 We waite for thy louing kindnesse, O God, in the mids of thy Temple.

10 O God, according vnto thy Name, so is thy praise vnto the [i] worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousnesse.

11 Let [k] mount Zion reioyce, & the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements.

12 [l] Compasse about Zion, and go round about it, and tell the towres thereof.

13 Marke well the wall thereof: behold her towers, that ye may tell your posteritie.

14 For this God is our God for euer and euer: he shalbe our guide vnto the death.

f The enemies were afraide at the sight of the citie.

g That is, Cilicia, or the sea called Mediterraneum.

h To wit, of our fathers, so haue we proued: or, God hath performed his promise.

i In al places where thy Name shalbe heard of, men shal praise thee, when they heare of thy marueilous works.

k Let Ierusalem & the cities of Iudea reioyce for thy iust iudgments against thine enemies.

l For in this outward defence and strength, Gods blessings did also appeare: but the chiefe is to be referred to Gods fauour & secret defence, who neuer leaueth his.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life. 7 Shewing them not to be most blessed that are most wealthy, & therfore not to be feared: But contrariwise he lifteth vp our minds to consider how all things are ruled by Gods prouidence: 14 Who at he iudgeth these worldly misers to euerlasting torments, 15 So doeth he preserue his, and will reward them in the day of the resurrection, 2. 4 I will incline mine eare to a parable, and vtter my graue matter vpon the harpe.

5 ¶ Wherefore should [b] I feare in the euill dayes, when iniquitie shall compasse me about, as at mine heeles?

9 That he may liue still for euer, and not see the graue.

10 For hee seeth that wise men [f] die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for [g] others.

d That is, so rare or not to bee found, as prophesie was precious in the dayes of Eli, 1. Sam. 3. 1.

e Meaning, it is impossible to liue for euer: also that life & death are onely in Gods hands.

f In that that death maketh no difference betweene the persons.

g That is, not to their children, but to strangers. Yet the wicked profite not by these examples, but still dreame an immortalitie in earth.

‖ Or, labour that their name may be famous in earth.

a Who was either the author, or a chiefe singer, to whom it was committed.

THe God of gods, euen the Lord hath spoken and called the b earth from the rising vp of the Sunne vnto the going downe thereof.

2 Out of Zion, which is the c perfection of beautie, hath God shined.

3 Our God shal come and shal not keepe silence: d a fire shall deuoure before him, and a mighty tempest shall be mooued round about him.

4 He shal call the heauen aboue, and e the earth, to iudge his people.

5 Gather my f Saints together vnto me, those that make a couenant with mee with g sacrifice.

6 And the heauens shal declare his righteousnes: for God is iudge himselfe. Selah.

13 k Will I eat the flesh of bulls? or drinke the blood of goats?

14 Offer vnto God prayse, and l pay thy vowes vnto the most High.

15 And call vpon mee in the day of trouble: so will I deliuer thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.

16 But vnto m wicked said God, What hast thou to doe to declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldest take my couenant in thy mouth, 21 These things hast thou done, & I held my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reproue thee, and q set them in order before thee.

22 O consider this, yee that forget God, lest I teare you in pieces, and there bee none that can deliuer you.

23 He that offereth r praise, shal glorifie me: and to him that s prepareth his way aright, will I t shew the saluation of God.

1 When Dauid was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan for his great offences, he did not only acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquity, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posteritie. 7 Therefore first he desireth God to forgiue his sinnes, 10 And to renew in him his holy Spirit. 13 With promise that he will not be vnmindful of those great graces. 18 Finally, fearing lest God would punish the whole Church for his fault, hee requireth that he would rather increase his graces toward the same.

1 Dauid describeth the arrogant tyranny of his aduersary Doeg, who by false surmises caused Abimelech with the rest of the Priests to be slaine. 5 Dauid propheseith his destruction, 6 And encourageth the faithfull to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his aduersaries. 9 And finally he rendreth thanks to God for his deliuerance. In this Psalme is liuely set forth the kingdome of Antechrist.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid to giue instruction. When Doeg the Edomite came and shewed Saul, and sayd to him, Dauid is come to the house of Ahimelech.

WHy boastest thou thy selfe in thy wickednesse, O [a] man of power? the louing kindnesse of God endureth dayly.

2 Thy tongue imagineth [b] mischiefe, and is like a sharpe rasor that cutteth deceitfully.

5 So shal God [c] destroy thee for euer: he shall take thee and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, [d] and roote thee out of the land of the liuing. Selah.

6 The [e] righteous also shall see it, [f] and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying,

7 Beholde the man that tooke not God for his strength, but trusted vnto the multitude of his riches, & put his strength [‖] in his malice.

8 But I shall be like a greene oliue tree in the house of God: for I trusted in the mercy of God for euer and euer.

9 I will alway prayse thee, for that thou hast done it: & I will [g] hope in thy Name, because it is good before thy Saints.

a O Doeg, which hast credit with the tyrant Saul, and hast power to murder the Saints of God.

2 God looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand and [c] seeke God.

HEare [a] my prayer, O God, and hide not thy ſelfe from my ſupplication.

2 Hearken vnto me, and anſwere me: I mourne in my prayer, and make a noyſe,

3 For the [b] voyce of the enemie, and for the vexation of the wicked, becauſe [c] they haue brought iniquitie vpon mee, and furiouſly hate me.

4 Mine heart trembleth within me, and the terrors of death are fallen vpon me.

9 [g] As raw flesh before your pots feele the fire of thornes: so let him carry them away as with a whirlewind in his wrath.

10 The righteous shall [h] reioyce when he seeth the vengeance: he shall wash his feete in the [i] blood of the wicked.

11 And man shall say, [k] Verely there is fruit for the righteous: Doubtlesse there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

a Ye counsellers of Saul, who vnder pretence of consulting for the common wealth, conspire my death being an innocent.

b Ye are not ashamed to execute that crueltie publikely, which ye haue imagined in your hearts.

c That is, enemies to the people of God, euen from their birth.

d They passe in malice and subtiltie, the craftie serpent which could preserue himselfe by stopping his eare from the inchanter.

e Take away all occasions and meanes whereby they hurt.

f Considering Gods diuine power, he sheweth that God in a moment can destroy their force whereof they brag.

g As flesh is taken raw out of the pot before the water seethe: so he desireth God to destroy their enterprises before they bring them to passe.

h With a pure affection.

i Their punishment and slaughter shal be so great.

k Seeing God gouerneth all by his prouidence, hee must needes put difference betweene the godly and the wicked.

PSAL. LIX.

1 David being in great danger of Saul, who sent to slay him in his bed, prayeth vnto God, 3 Declareth his innocencie, and their furie, 5 Desiring God to destroy all those that sinne of malicious wickednes. 11 Whom though he keepe aliue, for a time to exercise his people, yet in the end hee will consume them in his wrath, 13 That he may bee knowen to bee the God of Iaakob to the end of the world. 16 For this he promiseth praises to God, assured of his mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme of Dauid on [a] Michtam. [*] When Saul sent and they did watch the house to kill him.

O My God, [b] deliuer me from mine enemies: defend me from them that rise vp against me.

2 Deliuer mee from the wicked doers, and saue me from the bloody men.

3 For loe, they haue layed waite for my soule: the mighty men are gathered against me, not for mine [c] offence, nor for my sinne, O Lord.

4 They runne and prepare themselues without a fault on my part: arise therefore to assist me, and behold.

5 Euen thou, O Lord God of hostes, O God of Israel, awake to visite all the heathen: and bee not [d] mercifull vnto all that transgresse maliciously. Selah.

6 They goe to and fro in the euening: they barke like [e] dogges, and goe about the citie.

a Reade Psal 16 1. Sam. 19. 11.

b Though his enemies were euen at hand to destroy him, yet he assured himselfe that God had wayes ynow in his hand to deliuer him.

c For I am innocent to themwards, and haue not offended them.

d Seeing it appertaineth to Gods iudgments to punish the wicked, he desireth God to execute his vengeance on the reprobate, who maliciously persecute his Church e He compareth their crueltie to hungry dogs, shewing that they are neuer wearie in doing euill.

7 Behold,

f They boast openly of their wicked deuises, and euery word is as a sword: for they neither feare God, nor are ashamed of men.

g Though Saul haue neuer so great power, yet I know that thou doest bridle him: therefore will I patiently hope on thee.

h He will not faile to succour me, when neede requireth.

i Altogether, but by litle and litle, that the people, seeing oftentime thy iudgements, may be mindfull of thee.

k That in their misery & shame they may be as glasses & examples of Gods vengeance.

l When thy time shall come, and when they haue sufficiently serued for an example of thy vengeance vnto other. m He mocketh at their vaine enterprises, being assured that they shall not bring their purpose to passe. n Which didst vse the policie of a weake woman to confound the enemies strength, as 1. Sam. 19. 12. o Confessing himselfe to be voide of all vertue & strength, he attributeth the whole to God.

7 Behold, they f bragge in their talke, and swordes are in their lips: for who, say they, doeth heare?

8 But thou, O Lord, shalt haue them in derision, and thou shalt laugh at all the heathen.

9 g He is strong: but I will waite vpon thee: for God is my defence.

10 My merciful God will h preuent me: God will let me see my desire vpon mine enemies.

11 Slay them i not, lest my people forget it: but scatter them abroad by thy power, and put them downe, O Lord our shield,

12 For the sinne of their mouth, and the words of their lips: and let them be k taken in their pride, euen for their periury and lies, that they speake.

13 l Consume them in thy wrath: consume them that they bee no more: and let them know that God ruleth in Iaakob, euen vnto the ends of the world. Selah.

14 And in the euening they m shall goe to and fro, and barke like dogges, and go about the citie.

15 They shall runne heere and there for meate: and surely they shall not bee satisfied, though they tary all night.

16 But I will sing of thy n power, and will praise thy mercie in the morning: for thou hast beene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble.

17 Vnto thee, O my o Strength, will I sing: for God is my defence, and my mercifull God.

PSAL. LX.

1 Dauid being now king ouer Iudah, & hauing had many victories, sheweth by eudent signes, that God elected him king, assuring the people that God will prosper them, if they approue the same. 11 After he prayeth vnto God to finish that, that he hath beganne.

a These were certaine songs after the note whereof this Psalme was sung.

2 Sam 8. 1. and 10. 1. 1. chron. 18. 3.

b Or, Syria, called Mesopotamia.

b Called also Sophene, which standeth by Euphrates.

c For when Saul was not able to resist the enemie, the people fled hither and thither for they could not be safe in their owne houses

To him that excelleth vpon a Shushan Eduth, or Michtam. A Psalme of Dauid to teach. When he fought against Aram Naharaim, and against Aram b Zobah, when Ioab returned and slewe twelue thousand Edomites in the salt valley.

O God, thou hast cast vs out, thou hast c scattered vs, thou hast bene angry, turne againe vnto vs.

2 Thou hast made the land to tremble, and hast made it to gape: heale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken.

3 Thou hast d shewed thy people heauy things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddinesse.

d As cleft with an earthquake. e Thou hast handled thy people sharply in taking from them sense and iudgement, in that they ayded Saul the wicked king, and pursued him, to whom God had giuen the iust title of y realme.

4 But now thou hast giuen a f banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy trueth. Selah.

5 That thy beloued may bee deliuered, helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

6 God hath spoken in his g holines: therefore I will deuyce: I shall diuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

7 Gilead shalbe mine, and Manasseh shal be mine: Ephraim also shalbe the h strength of mine head: i Iudah is my lawgiuer.

8 Moab shall be my k washpot: ouer Edom wil I cast out my shoe: l Palestina shew thy selfe ioyfull vnto me.

9 Who will leade mee into the m strong citie? who will bring me into Edom?

10 Wilt not thou, O God, which hadst cast vs off, and didst not goe forth, O God, with our armies?

11 Giue vs help against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

12 Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

f In making me king, thou hast performed thy promise, which seemed to haue lost the force.

g It is so certaine, as if it were spoken by an oracle, that I shall possesse these places which Saul had left to his children.

h For it was strong and well peopled.

i Dauid meaneth that in this tribe his kingdom shal be established, Gen. 49. 10.

k In most vile subiection.

l For thou wilt dissemble. and faine as though thou werest glad.

m He was assured that God would giue him the strong cities of his enemies, wherein they thought themselues sure.

PSAL. LXI.

1 Whether that he were in danger of the Ammonites, or being pursued of Absalom, here he crieth to be heard, & deliuered. 7 And confirmed in his kingdome. 8 He promiseth perpetuall praises.

To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare my cry, O God: giue eare vnto my prayer.

2 From a the endes of the earth will I cry vnto thee: when mine heart is oppressed, bring mee vpon the rocke that is b higher then I.

3 For thou hast beene my hope, and a strong tower against mine enemie.

4 I will dwell in thy Tabernacle for euer, and my trust shall be vnder the couering of thy wings. Selah.

5 For thou, O God, c hast heard my desires: thou hast giuen an heritage vnto those that feare thy Name.

6 Thou shalt giue the king a long life: his yeeres shall be as many ages.

7 Hee shall dwell before God for euer: prepare d mercie and faithfulnesse, that they may preserue him.

8 So will I alway sing prayse vnto thy Name in performing daily my vowes.

a From y place, where I was banished, being driuen out of the city and Temple by my sonne Absalom.

b Vnto y which without thy help I cannot attaine.

c There is nothing that doeth more strengthen our faith, then the remembrance of Gods succour in times past.

d This chiefly is referred to Christ who liueth eternally not onely in himselfe, but also in his members. e For the stabilitie of my kingdome standeth in thy mercy and trueth.

CHAP. LXII.

The Psalme partly containeth meditations, wherby Dauid incourageth himselfe to trust in God against the assaults of temptation. And because our mindes are easilie drawen from God by the allurements of the world, he sharply reproueth this vanitie to th intent he might cleaue fast to the Lord.

To the excellent musician e Iedithun. A Psalme of Dauid.

YEt f my soule keepeth silence vnto God: of him commeth my saluation.

f Though Satan tempted him to murmure against God, yet he bridled his affections, and resting vpon Gods promise, beareth his crosse patiently.

b It appeareth by the oft repetitio of this word, that the Prophet abode manifold tentations, but by resting on God, and by patience he ouercame them all.
c He meaneth himselfe, being the man whom God had appointed to the kingdome.
d Though yee seeme to be in honour, yet God will suddenly destroy you.
e Dauid was greatly mooued with these troubles: therefore hee stirreth vp himselfe to trust in God.
f These vehement and often repetitions were necessary to strengthen his faith against the horrible assaults of Satan. g He admonisheth vs of our wicked nature, which rather hide our sorrow, and bite on the bridle, then vtter our griefe to God to obtaine remedie. h Giue your selues wholly to God by putting away all things that are contrary to his Law. i He hath plainely borne witnesse of his power, so that none needeth to doubt thereof. k So that the wicked shall feele thy power, and the godly thy mercy.

2 [b] Yet he is my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not much be mooued.
3 How long will yee imagine mischiefe against a [c] man? ye shalbe all slaine: ye shal be as a bowed wall, or as a [d] wall shaken.
4 Yet they consult to cast him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their hearts. Selah.
5 [e] Yet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God: for mine hope is in him.
6 Yet is he my strength, and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not be mooued.
7 In God is my saluation and my glory, the rocke of my strength: in God is my trust.
8 Trust in him alway, ye people: powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah.
9 Yet the children of men are vanity, the chiefe men are lies: to lay them vpon a balance they are altogether lighter then vanitie.
10 Trust not in oppression nor in robberie: [h] be not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon.
11 God spake [i] once or twice, I haue heard it, that power belongeth vnto God, 12 And to thee, O Lord, mercy: for thou [k] rewardest euery one according to his worke.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 Dauid after hee had bene in great danger by Saul in the desert of Ziph, made this Psalme. 3 Wherin he giueth thanks to God for his wonderfull deliuerance, in whose mercies he trusted, euen in the midst of his miseries, 9 Prophesying the destruction of Gods enemies: 11 And contrariwise happinesse to all them that trust in the Lord.

A Psalme of Dauid. When he was in the [a] wildernesse of Iudah.

O God, thou art my God, early will I seeke thee: my soule [b] thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and dry land without water.
2 Thus I behold thee as in the Sanctuary, when I behold thy power and thy glory.
3 For thy louing kindnesse is better then life: therefore my lips shall praise thee.
4 Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hands in thy Name.
5 My soule shalbe satisfied, as with [d] marrow and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioyfull lips.
6 When I remember thee on my bed, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches.
7 Because thou hast beene my helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings will I reioyce.
8 My soule [e] cleaueth vnto thee: for thy right hand vpholdeth me.
9 Therefore they that seeke my soule to destroy it, they shall go into the lowest parts of the earth.
10 [f] They shall cast him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shall be a portion for foxes.
11 But the king shall reioyce in God, and all that sweare by him shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lies, shalbe stopped.

a To wit, of Ziph 1. Sam. 23. 14.
b Though he was both hungry and in great distresse, yet hee made God his sufficiency, and aboue all meat and drinke.
c In this misery I exercise my selfe in the contemplation of thy power and glory, as if I were in thy Sanctuary.
d The remembrance of thy fauour is more sweete vnto me then all the pleasures and dainties of the world.
e He assureth himselfe by the Spirit of God to haue the gift of constancie.
f He prophesieth of the destruction of Saul, & them that take his part, whose bodies shall not be buried, but be deuoured with wild beasts. g All that sweare by God aright, or professe him shall reioyce in this worthy King.

PSAL. LXIIII.

1 Dauid prayeth against the furie and false reports of his enemies. 7 He declareth their punishment and destruction, 10 To the comfort of the iust and glory of God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

Heare my [a] voyce, O God, in my prayer: preserue my life from feare of the enemie.
2 Hide mee from the [b] conspiracie of the wicked, and from the [c] rage of the workers of iniquitie.
3 Which haue whet their tongue like a sworde, and shot for their arrowes [d] bitter words:
4 To shoot at the vpright in secret: they shoote at him suddenly, and [e] feare not.
5 They [f] encourage themselues in a wicked purpose: they commune together to lay snares priuily, and say, Who shall see them?
6 They haue sought out iniquities, and haue accomplished that which they sought out, euen euery one [g] his secret thought, and the depth of his heart.
7 But God will shoote an arrow at them suddenly: their strokes shalbe at once.
8 They shall cause their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whosoeuer shall see them, shall [h] flee away.
9 And all men shal fee it, and declare the worke of God, and they shall vnderstand, what he hath wrought.
10 But the righteous [i] shall be glad in the Lord, and trust in him: and all that are vpright of heart, shall reioyce.

a In that he called to God with his voice, it is a signe that his prayer was vehement, and that his life was in danger.
b That is, from their secret malice.
c To wit, their outward violence.
d False reports and slanders.
e To be without feare of God, and reuerence of man, is a signe of reprobation.
f The more that the wicked see Gods children in miserie, the more bold and impudent are they in oppressing them.
g There is no inuented not for his destruction. h To see Gods heauie iudgements against them, and how he hath caught them in their owne snares. i When they shall consider that he will be fauourable to them, as hee was to his seruant Danid.

PSAL. LXV.

1 A prayse and thanksgiuing vnto God by the faithfull, who are signified by Zion, 4 For the chusing, preseruation and gouernance of them, 9 And for the plentifull blessings powred forth vpon all the earth, but specially toward his Church.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of Dauid.

O God, [a] prayse waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thee shall [b] vow be performed.
2 Because thou hearest the prayer, vnto thee shall [b] all flesh come.

a Thou giuest daily new occasion to thy Church to prayse thee.
b Not onely the Iewes, but also the Gentiles in the kingdome of Christ.

c He imputeth it so his sinnes, and to the sinnes of the people, that God who was accustomed to assist them, withdraweth his succour from them.
d Thou wilt declare thy selfe to be the preserver of thy Church, in destroying thine enemies, as thou didst in the red sea.
e As of all barbarous nations and farre off.
f Hee sheweth that there is no part nor creature in the world, which is not governed by Gods power and providence.
‡ Ebr. the going forth of the morning and of the evening.
g To wit, with raine.
h That is, Shiloah, or, the raine.
i Thou hast appointed the earth to bring foorth foode to mans vse.

3 (Wicked deedes haue preuailed against mee: but thou wilt bee mercifull vnto our transgressions.
4 Blessed is hee, whom thou chusest, and causest to come to thee: hee shall dwell in thy courtes, and wee shall bee satisfied with the pleasures of thine house, euen of thine holy Temple.
5 O God of our saluation, thou wilt d answere vs with fearefull signes in thy righteousnesse, O thou the hope of all the endes of the earth, and of them that are farre off in the e sea.
6 He establisheth the mountaines by his power: and is girded about with strength.
7 He appeaseth the f noyse of the seas, and the noyse of the waues thereof, and the tumults of the people.
8 They also, that dwell in the vttermost parts of the earth, shalbe afraid of thy signes: thou shalt make ‡ the East and the (West to reioyce.
9 Thou g visitest the earth, and watereth it: thou makest it very rich: the h River of God is full of water: thou preparest them corne: for so thou appointest it.
10 Thou i watereth abundantly the furrowes thereof: thou causest the raine to descend into the valleys therof: thou makest it soft with showres, & blessest the bud thereof.
11 Thou crownest the yeere with thy goodnesse, and thy steps drop fatnesse.
12 They drop vpon the pastures of the wildernesse: and the hilles shal be compassed with gladnesse.
13 The pastures are clad with sheepe: the valleis also shal be couered with corne: therefore they shout for ioy, k and sing.

k By this description he sheweth that all the order of nature is a testimonie of Gods loue toward vs, who causeth all creatures to serue our necessitie. l That is, the dumbe creatures shall not onely reioyce for a time for Gods benefit but shall continually sing.

PSAL. LXVI.

1 He prouoketh all men to praise the Lord & to consider his works. 6 He setteth forth the power of God to affray the rebels, 10 & sheweth how God hath deliuered Israel from great bondage and afflictions. 13 He promiseth to giue sacrifice, 16. and prouoketh all men to heare what God hath done for him, and to praise his Name.

(To him that excelleth. A song or Psalme.

a He prophesieth that all nations shall come to the knowledge of God, who then was only known in Iudea. b As the faithfull shall obey God willingly, so the infidels for feare shall dissemble themselues to be subiect.

REioyce in God, a all ye inhabitants of the earth.
2 Sing foorth the glorie of his Name, make his prayse glorious.
3 Say vnto God, How terrible art thou in thy workes! though the greatnesse of thy power shall thine enemies be b in subiection vnto thee.
4 All the world shall worship thee, & sing vnto thee, euen sing of thy Name. Selah.
5 c Come and behold the works of God: he is terrible in his doing toward d ỹ sonnes of men.

c He toucheth the sloothfull dulnesse of man, who is colde in the consideration of Gods workes. d His prouidence is wonderfull in maintaining their state.

6 He hath turned the sea into drie land: they passed through the riuer on foote: there did we reioyce in him.
7 Hee ruleth the world with his power: his eyes behold the nations: the rebellious shall not e exalt themselues. Selah.
8 Praise our God, yee people, and make the voice of his prayse to be heard.
9 (Which f holdeth our soules in life, and suffereth not our feete to slip.
10 For thou, O God, hast proued vs, thou hast tryed vs as siluer is tried.
11 Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and layd a strait chaine vpon our loynes.
12 Thou hast caused men to ride ouer our heads: we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a wealthy place.
13 I will go into thine h house with burnt offrings, and will pay thee my vowes, 14 (Which my lips haue promised, and my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction.
15 I will offer vnto thee the burnt offrings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullockes and goats. Selah.
16 i Come and hearken all yee that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule.
17 I called vnto him with my mouth, and he was exalted with my tongue.
18 k If I regard wickednesse in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me.
19 But God hath heard me, and considered the voyce of my prayer.
20 Praised bee God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercie from me.

e He prooueth that God wil extend his grace also to the Gentiles, because he punisheth among them such as will not obey his calling.
f He signifieth some speciall benefit, that God had shewed to his Church of the Iewes, in deliuering them from some great danger: whereof, or of the like hee promiseth that the Gentiles shall be partakers.
g The condition of the Church is here described, which is to be led by Gods prouidence into troubles, to be subiect vnto tyrants, and to enter into manifold dangers. h The duetie of the faithfull is here described, which are neuer vnmindfull to render God praise for his benefits. i It is not enough to haue received Gods benefits, and to be mindfull therof, but also wee are bound to make others to profit thereby, and praise God. k If I delight in wickednesse, God will not heare me: but if I confesse it, he will receiue me.

PSAL. LXVII.

1 A prayer of the Church to obtaine the fauour of God, and to be lightened with his countenance, 2 to the end that his way and iudgements may be knowen throughout the earth. 7 And finally is declared the kingdome of God, which should be vniuersally erected at the comming of Christ.

(To him that excelleth on Neginoth. a Psalme or song.

GOd bee mercifull vnto vs, and blesse vs, and a cause his face to shine among vs, (Selah.)
2 That b they may know thy way vpon earth, and thy sauing health among all nations.
3 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.
4 c Let the people bee glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah.
5 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.
6 Then shall d the earth bring foorth her a That is, moue our hearts with his holy Spirit, that wee may feele his fauour toward vs.

b That both Iewes and Gentiles may know Gods conenant made with them.
c By these often repetitions, he sheweth that the people can neuer reioyce sufficiently, and giue thankes for the great benefites that they shal receiue vnder the kingdome of Christ. d He sheweth that where God fauoureth, there shall be abundance of all other things.

increase,

e When they feele his great benefits both spirituall and corporall toward them.

increase, & God, euen our God shall blesse vs.
7 God shall blesse vs, and all the ends of the earth shall feare him.

PSAL. LXVIII.

1 In this Psalme Dauid setteth foorth as in a glasse the wonderfull mercies of God toward his people: 5 Who by all meanes and most strange sortes declared himselfe to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reason of his promises, graces and victories doeth excell without comparison all worldly things. 31 Hee exhorteth therefore all men to praise God for euer.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme or song of Dauid.

GOD a wil arise, and his enemies shal be scattered: they also that hate him, shall flee before him.
2 As the smoke vanisheth, so shalt thou driue them away: and as wax melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God.
3 b But the righteous shalbe glad, and reioyce before God: yea, they shal leape for ioy.
4 Sing vnto God, and sing praises vnto his name: exalt him, that rideth vpon the heauens, in his name c Iah, and reioyce before him.
5 Hee is a Father of the fatherlesse, and Iudge of the widowes, euen God in his holy habitation.
6 God d maketh the solitarie to dwell in families, and deliuereth them that were prisoners in stockes: but the rebellious shall dwell in a c drie land.
7 f O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest thorow the wildernesse, (Selah)
8 The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: euen Sinai was moued at the presence of God, euen the God of Israel.
9 Thou, O God, sentest a gracious raine vpon thine inheritance, & thou didst refresh it when it was wearie.
10 Thy congregation dwelled therein: for thou, O God, hast of thy g goodnesse prepared it for the poore.
11 The Lord gaue matter to the h women to tell of the great armie.
12 Kings of the armies did flee: they did flee, and i she that remained in the house, diuided the spoyle.
13 Though ye haue lien among k pots, yet shall yee be as the wings of a Doue that is couered with siluer, & whose feathers are like yellow golde.
14 When the Almightie scattered kings in it, it was white as the snow in Zalmon.
15 m The mountaine of God is like the mountaine of Bashan: it is an high mountaine, as mount Bashan.
16 n Why leape yee, ye high mountaines? as for this Mountaine, God delighteth to dwell in it: yea, the Lord will dwell in it for euer.
17 The Charets of GOD are twenty thousand thousand Angels, and the Lorde is among them, as in the Sanctuary of Sinai.
18 Thou art gone vp on high: thou hast o led captiuitie captiue, & receiued gifts for men: yea, euen the rebellious hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there.
19 Praised be the Lord, euen the God of our saluation, which ladeth vs daily with benefites. Selah.
20 This is our God, euen the God that saueth vs: and to the Lord God belong the issues of death.
21 Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and the hairie pate of him that walketh in his sinnes.
22 The Lord hath said, I will bring my people againe from p Bashan: I will bring them againe from the depths of the sea:
23 That thy foot may be dipped in blood, and the tongue of thy dogges in the blood of the enemies, euen in r it.
24 They haue seene, O God, thy f goings, the goings of my God, and my King, which art in the Sanctuary.
25 The s singers went before, the players of instruments after: in the middes were the maides playing with timbrels.
26 Praise ye God in the assemblies, & the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine t of Israel.
27 There was x little Beniamin with their y ruler, and the princes of Iudah with their assembly, the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.
28 Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that, which thou hast wrought in vs, 29 z Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: and kings shall bring presents vnto thee.
30 Destroy the company of the speare-men, and multitude of the mightie bulles with the calues of the people, that a tread vnder feete pieces of siluer: scatter the people that delight in warre.
31 Then shall the princes come out b of Egypt: Ethiopia shall haste to stretch her hands vnto God.
32 Sing vnto God, O yee kingdomes of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord, (Selah)
33 To him that rideth vpon the most hie heauens, which were from the beginning: behold, he wil send out by his c voyce a mighty sound.
34 Ascribe the power to God: for his mightie a The Prophet sheweth that albeit God suffreth the wicked tyrants to oppresse his Church for a time, yet at length he will be reuenged of them.

b Hee sheweth when God declareth his power against the wicked, that it is for the commoditie & saluation of his Church, which praise him therefore.
c Iah and Iehoua hare the names of God, which doe signifie his essence and maiestie incomprehensible, so that hereby is declared, that all idols are but vanitie, and that the God of Israel is y only true God.
d He giueth children to them that be childlesse, and increaseth their families.
e Which is barren of Gods blessings, which before they had abused.
f Hee teacheth that Gods fauour particularly belongeth to his Church, as appeareth by their wonderfull deliuerance out of Egypt.

PSAL. LXIX.

1 The complaints, prayers, feruent zeale and great anguish of Dauid set forth as a figure of Christ and all his members: 22 The malicious crueltie of the enemies, 23 and their punishments also, 26 where Iudas and such traitours are accursed. 30 He gathereth courage in his affliction, and offereth praises vnto God, 32 which are more acceptable then all sacrifice: whereof all the afflicted may take comfort. 35 Finally he doeth prouoke all creatures to prayse, prophecying of the kingdome of Christ, and the preseruation of the Church, where all the faithfull, 37 and their seed shall dwell for euer.

To him that excelleth vpon [a] Shoshannim. A Psalme of Dauid.

SAue me O God: for the [b] waters are entred euen to my soule.

2 I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no [c] stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.

3 I am wearie of crying: my throte is drie: mine [d] eyes faile, whiles I waite for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cause, are more then the haires of mine head: they that would destroy me, and are mine enemies [e] falsly, are mightie, so that I restored that which I [f] tooke not.

5 O God, thou knowest my [g] foolishnes, and my faults are not hid from thee.

6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, bee ashamed for [h] me: let not them that seeke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

7 For thy sake haue I suffered reproofe: shame hath couered my face.

8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.

9 [i] For the zeale of thine house hath eaten me, and the rebukes of them that reuiled thee, are fallen vpon me.

10 I [k] wept, and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe.

11 I put on a sackecloth: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.

12 They that [l] sate in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang of me.

13 But Lord, I make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercy: O God, heare me in the trueth of thy saluation.

14 Deliuer mee out of the myre, that I sinke not: let mee bee deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the [m] deepe waters.

15 Let not the water flood drowne mee, neither let the deepe swallow me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

16 Heare mee, O Lord, for thy louing kindnesse is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And [n] hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste and heare me.

18 Draw neere vnto my soule, & redeeme it: deliuer me, because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast knowen my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine [o] aduersaries are before thee.

20 Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heauinesse, and [p] I looked for some to haue pity on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none.

21 For they gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke.

22 Let their [q] table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine.

23 Let their eyes bee blinded, that they see not: and make their [r] loynes alway to tremble.

24 Powre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

25 [s] Let their [t] habitation be voyd, and let none dwell in their tents.

26 For they persecute him, whome thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorowe of them, whom thou hast wounded.

27 Lay [u] iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, & let them not come into thy righteousnesse.

28 Let them be put out of the [x] booke of life, neither let them bee written with the righteous.

29 [y] When I am poore, and in heauinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

30 I will prayse the name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thanksgiuing.

31 This also shall [z] please the Lord better then a young bullocke, that hath hornes and hoofes.

32 The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God, shall be glad, and your heart shall liue.

33 For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his [a] prisoners.

34 Let heauen and earth prayse him: the seas and all that moueth in them.

35 For God will saue Sion, and build the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there, and haue it in possession.

36 The [b] seede also of his seruaunts shall inherit it: and they that loue his Name, shal dwell therein.

a Of Shoshannim, reade Psal. 45.

b Dauid signifieth by the waters in what great dangers he was, out of the which God did deliuer him.

c No firmitie or stableuesse to settle my feete.

d Though his sences faile him, yet his faith was constant and incouraged him still to pray.

e Condemning me guiltlesse.

f They iudged me poore innocent as a theefe, and gaue my goods to others, as though I had stollen them.

g Though I be guiltie to thee-ward, yet am I innocent toward them.

h Let not mine euill intreatie of the enemies be an occasion, that the faithfull fall from thee.

i When I saw thine enemies pretend thy Name only in mouth, & in their life denie the same, thine holy spirit thrust me forward, to reproue them, and defend thy glorie.

k My zeale moued me to lament, and pray for my saluation.

l The more he sought to winne them to God, the more they were against him, both poore & rich.

m Knowing that albeit I suffer now trouble, yet thou hast a time, wherein thou hast appointed my deliuerance.

n He sheweth a liuely faith in that that he attireth himself that God is fauourable to him, when he seemeth to be angrie: and at hand, when he seemeth to be farre off.

o Not that hee feared that God would not heare him, but [f] care made him to thinke that God deferred long.

p Thou seest that I am beset as a sheepe among many wolues.

q He sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust in men in our great necessities, but that our comfort onely dependeth on God, for man rather increaseth our sorowes, then diminisheth the[m]. Iob. 19. 22.

r He desireth God to execute his iudgement against the reprobate, which cannot by any meanes be turned. Rom. 11. 9.

[f] Take both iudgement and power frō them. Actes. 1. 20.

t Punish not onely them, but their posteritie, which shalbe like vnto them.

u By their continuance and increasing in their sinnes, let it be knowen that they be of the reprobate.

x They which seemed by their profession to haue bene written in thy booke, yet by their fruits proue the contrarie, let them be knowe as reprobate.

y There is no sacrifice, which God more esteemeth then thankesgiuing for his benefits.

z For as hee deliuered his seruant Dauid, so will hee doe all that are in distresse, and call vpon him.

a Vnder the temporall promise of the land of Canaan, hee comprehendeth the promise of life euerlasting to the faithfull and their posterity.

PSAL. LXX.

1 He prayeth to be right speedily deliuered. 2 He desireth the shame of his enemies, 4 and the ioyfull comfort of all those that seeke the Lord.

a Which might put him in remembrance of his deliuerance. Psal. 40. 13.

b He teacheth vs to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to stay: for at his time hee will heare vs.

c He was assured that the more they raged, the neerer they were to destruction, and he the neerer to his deliuerance. d Hereby we are taught not to mocke at others in their miserie, lest the same fall on our owne neckes. e Because hee had felt Gods helpe before, hee grounded on experience, & boldly seeketh vnto him for succour.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, to put in a remembrance.

O God, b haste thee to deliuer mee: make haste to helpe me, O Lord.

2 Let them be c confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them be turned backward & put to rebuke, that delite mine hurt.

3 Let them be turned backe for a reward of their d shame, which said, Aha, aha.

4 But let all those that seeke thee, bee ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwayes, God be praised.

5 Now I am e poore and needy: O God, make haste to me: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: O Lord, make no tarying.

PSAL. LXXI.

f He prayeth in faith, established by the word of promise, 5 and confirmed by the worke of God from his youth. 10 Hee complaineth of the cruelties of his enemies, 17 and desireth God to continue his graces toward him; 22 promising to be mindfull and thankefull for the same.

In thee, O Lord, I trust: let mee neuer be ashamed.

2 Rescue me and deliuer me in thy a righteousnesse: encline thine eare vnto me, and saue me.

3 Be thou my strong rocke, whereunto I may alway resort: thou b hast giuen commandement to saue mee: for thou art my rocke, and my fortresse.

4 Deliuer mee, O my God, out of the hand c of the wicked: out of the hand of the euill and cruell man.

5 For thou art my hope, O Lord God, euen my d trust from my youth.

6 Vpon thee haue I beene staied from the wombe: thou art hee that tooke mee out of my mothers bowels: my praise shall be alwayes of thee.

7 I am become as it were f a monster vnto many: but thou art my sure trust.

8 Let my mouth be filled with thy praise, and with thy glorie euery day.

9 Cast me not off in the time of g age: forsake me not when my strength faileth.

10 For mine enemies speake of mee, and they that lay waite for my soule, take their counsell together, 11 Saying, h God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliuer him.

12 Goe not farre from me, O God: i my God, haste thee to helpe me.

13 Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them bee couered with reproofe and confusion, that seeke mine hurt.

14 But I will waite continually, and will praise thee more and more.

15 My mouth shall dayly rehearse thy righteousnesse, and thy saluation: k for I know not the number.

16 I will goe l forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousnesse, euen of thine onely.

17 O God, thou hast taught me from my youth, euen vntill now: therefore will I tell of thy wondrous workes.

18 m Yea, euen vnto mine olde age and gray head, O God: forsake mee not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto this generation, and thy power to all them n that shall come.

19 And thy o righteousnesse, O God, I will exalt on hie: for thou hast done great things: p O God, who is like vnto thee!

20 Which hast shewed me great troubles and q aduersities, but thou wilt returne and reuiue me, and wilt come againe, and take me vp from the depth of the earth.

21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me.

22 Therefore will I praise thee for thy r faithfulnesse, O God, vpon instrument and viole: vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O holy one of Israel.

23 My lips will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule which thou hast deliuered.

24 My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousnes dayly: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame, that seeke mine hurt.

Psal 31. 1.

a He prayeth to God with full assurance of faith, that he will deliuer him from his aduersaries.

b By declaring thy selfe true of promise.

c Thou hast infinite meanes, and all creatures are at thy commandement: therefore shew some signe whereby I shall be deliuered.

d That is, from Absalom, Ahithophel and that conspiracie.

e He strengtheneth his faith by the experience of Gods benefits, who did not only preserue him in his mothers belly, but tooke him thence, and euer since hath preserued him.

f All the world wondereth at me because of my miseries, as well they in authoritie, as the common people: yet being assured of thy fauour I remained stedfast. g Thou diddest helpe me in my youth, when I had more strength, helpe me now so much the more in mine old age & weakenesse. h Thus the wicked both blaspheme God, & triumph against his Saints, as though he had forsaken them, if hee suffer them to fall into their hands. i In calling him his God, he pretcth backe the false reports of the aduersaries, that said, God had forsaken him.

k Because thy benefits toward me are innumerable, I cannot but continually meditate and rehearse them.

l I will remaine stedfast, being vpholden with the power of God.

m Hee desireth that as he hath begun, he would so continue his benefits, that his liberalitie may haue perfect praise.

n Thy iust performance of thy promise.

o His faith breaketh thorow all tentations, and by this exclamation hee praiseth the power of God.

p As he confesseth that God is the only author of his deliuerance: so he acknowledgeth that their euils were sent vnto him by Gods prouidence.

q Hee confesseth that this long tarriance was wel recompensed, when God performed his promise. r For there is no true praising of God, except it come from the heart: and therefore he promiseth to delight in nothing, but wherein God may be glorified.

PSAL. LXXII.

1 He praieth for the prosperous estate of the kingdome of Salomon, who was the figure of Christ, 4 vnder who shalbe righteousnes, peace, & felicitie, 10 vnto whom all kings and nations shal doe homage, 17 whose name and power shall endure for euer, and in whom all nations shall be blessed.

A Psalme a of Salomon.

Giue thy b iudgements vnto the king, O God, and thy righteousnes to the kings c sonne.

2 Then shall he iudge thy people in righteousnesse, and thy poore with equitie.

3 The d mountaines and the hilles shall bring peace to the people by iustice.

4 He shall e iudge the poore of the people: he shall saue the children of the needie, and shall subdue the oppressour.

5 They shall f feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generation to generation.

a Composed by Dauid as touching the reigne of his sonne Salomon.

b Endue the king with the spirit of wisedome and iustice that hee reigne not as doe the worldly tyrants.

c To wit, to his posteritie.

d When iustice reigneth, euen the places most barren shall bee enriched with thy blessings. e He sheweth wherfore the sword is committed to kings: to wit, to defend the innocent, and suppresse the wicked. f The people shall imbrace thy true religion, when thou giuest a king that ruleth according to thy word.

g As this is true in all godly Kings, so it is chiefly verified in Christ, who with his heauenly dew maketh his Church euer to flourish.

h That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syriacum, and from Euphrates forward: meaning, that Christes kingdom should be large and vniuersall.

i Of Cilicia and of all other countreys beyond the sea, which he meaneth by the yles.

k That is, of Arabia that rich countrey, where of Sheba was a part bordering vpon Ethiopia.

l Though tyrannes passe not to shed blood, yet this godly King shall preserue his subiects from all kind of wrong.

m God will both prosper his life, and also make the people most willing to obey him.

n Vnder such a King shall bee most great plentie both of fruit & also of the increase of mankind.

o They shall pray to God for his continuance, and know that God doth prosper them for his sake.

p He confesseth that except God preserue the people, that neither the King nor the Kingdome can continue.

q Concerning his sonne Salomon.

6 Her shall come † downe like the raine vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showers that water the earth.

7 In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shall be so long as the moone endureth.

8 His dominion shall bee also from ‡ sea to sea, and from the riuer vnto the endes of the land.

9 They that dwel in the wildernes, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shal licke the dust.

10 The kings of ‖ Tarsish and of the yles shal bring presents: the kings ᵏ of Sheba and Seba shall bring gifts.

11 Yea, all kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him.

12 For he shall deliuer the poore when he crieth: the needy also and him that hath no helper.

13 He shall bee mercifull to the poore and needie, and shall preserue the soules of the poore.

14 He shall redeeme their soules from deceit and violence, and deare shal their blood be in his sight.

15 Yea, he shall liue, and vnto him shall they giue of the ᵐ gold of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and daily blesse him.

16 An handfull of corne shall bee sowen in the earth, euen in the tops of the Mountaines: and the ⁿ fruit thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall flourish out of the citie like the grasse of the earth.

17 His name shall be for euer: his name shall endure as long as the Sunne: all nations shall blesse ° him, and be blessed in him.

18 Blessed be the Lord God, euen the God of Israel, which onely doeth ᵖ wonderous things.

19 And blessed be his glorious Name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glory. So be it, euen so be it.

HERE END THE ᵠ prayers of Dauid the sonne of Iesai.

PSALME LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example that prayer the meditation of the godly, unable to discourage of Gods children: but rather laugheth to scorne vers. 3. to consider our Fathers providence, for to cause vs to vnderstand Gods iudgements, 19 For as much as the wicked vanisheth away, 24 And the godly continue for euer and euer, 28 In hope whereof he resteth himselfe vpon Gods hands.

ᵃ A Psalme commited to Asaph.

YET ᵇ God is good to Israel: euen to the pure in heart.

2 As for me, my feete were almost gone: my steps had welnere slipt.

3 For I ᶜ fretted at the foolish, when I saw the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 For there are ᵈ no bandes in their death, but they are liuste and strong.

5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.

6 ᵉ Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, and cruelitie couereth them as a garment.

7 Their eies stand out for fatnesse: they haue more then heart can wish.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously.

9 They ᶠ set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therefore his ᵍ people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wring out to them.

11 And they ʰ say, How doeth God know it? as if there knowledge were the most hie?

12 Loe, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.

13 Certainly ⁱ I haue cleansed my heart in vaine, and washed mine handes in innocencie.

14 For dayly haue I beene punished, and chastened euery morning.

15 If ᵏ I say, I will speake thus, beholde, the generation of thy children I haue transgressed.

16 Then thought ˡ I to know this, but it was too painefull for me, 17 Until I went into the ᵐ Sanctuarie of God: then vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slipperie places, & castest them down into destruction.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, perished and horribly consumed.

20 As a dreame when one awaketh: O Lord, when ⁿ thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

21 Certainely mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines:

22 So foolish was I and ignorant: I was a ° beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway ᵖ with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glory.

25 Whome haue I in ᵠ heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh faileth, and mine heart also: but God is the ʳ strength of mine heart, and my ˢ portion for euer.

27 For lo, they that withdraw themselues from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that ᵗ go a whoring from thee.

28 As a As it were betweene hope and despaire he breaketh forth into this affection, being assured that God would continue his fauour toward such as were godly indeede, and not hypocrites.

b The wicked in this life liue at pleasure, and are not drawen to death like prisoners: that is, by sickenesse, which is deaths messenger.

c They glory in their pride, as some do in their chaines: and in cruelte, as some doe in apparell.

‡ Ebr. they passe the desires of the heart.

d They blaspheme God and iudge not his power, and raile vpon men, because they esteeme themselues aboue all others.

e Not onely the reprobate, but also the people of God oftentimes fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with sorrowes, thinking that God considereth not aright the state of the godly.

f Thus the flesh moueth euen the godly to dispute with God touching their poore estate, and the prosperitie of the wicked.

g I I giue place to this wicked thought, I offend against thy prouidence, seeing thou disposest all things most wisely: and preseruest thy children in their greatest dangers.

h Vntil I entred into thy schoole, and learned by thy word and holy spirit, that thou ordereſt all things most wisely & iustly.

i By thy fearefull iudgement.

k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicitie, wee contemne all their vaine pompe.

l For the more that man goeth about by his owne reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth hee declare himselfe a beast.

m By faith I was assured that thy prouidence did watch alwaies ouer me to preserue me.

n He sought neither helpe nor comfort of any saue of God onely.

o Hee teacheth vs to denie our selues, to haue God our whole sufficiencie, and onely contentment.

p That is, forsake thee to seeke others.

q Though all the world shrinke from God, yet hee promiseth to trust in him, and to magnifie his workes.

28 As for me, it is good for me q to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy workes.

PSALME LXXVII.

1 The faithfull complaine of the destruction of the Church and true religion, 11 Vnder the name of Zion, & the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might and free mercies of God, 30 By his counsell, 21 They require helpe and succour for the glorie of Gods holy Name, for the saluation of his poore afflicted seruants, 23 And the confusion of his proud enemies.

1 ¶ A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to Asaph.

O God, r why hast thou put vs at this so long time? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possessed of old, and on the s rod of thine inheritance which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy ‖ strokes, that thou mayest for euer destroy euery enemie that doeth euil in the Sanctuary.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the midst of thy Congregation, and t set vp their banners for signes.

5 He was u knowen as one that lifted vp axes vpon the thicke trees, was renowmed, as one that brought all thing to perfection.

6 But now they breake downe the carued worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuarie into the fire, and x defiled it to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their y hearts, Let vs destroy them all together: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth z how long.

10 O God, how long shall the aduersarie reproch thee? shall the enemie blaspheme thy Name for euer?

11 Why withdrawest thou thy hande, euen thy right hande? draw it out of thy bosome, and a consume them.

12 Euen God is my king of old, working b saluation in the mids of the earth.

13 Thou diddest diuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakest the head of c Leuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to be meate to the people in wildernesse.

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine, and riuer: thou driedst vp mightie riuers.

16 The d day is thine: and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light e & the sun.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made Summer and Winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemie hath reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy f turtle done vnto the wicked: and forget not the Congregations of the poore for euer.

20 Consider thy couenant: for the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell.

21 Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needy prayse thy Name.

22 Arise, O God, maintaine thine g own cause: remember thy daily reproch by the foolish man.

23 Forget not the voice of thine enemies: for the tumult of them that rise against thee, ‖ ascendeth continually.

PSALME LXXV.

1 The faithfull do praise the Name of the Lord, 2 which shall come to iudge at the time appointed, 3 When the wicked shall be put to confusion, and drinke of the cuppe of his wrath. 10 Their pride shalbe abated, and the righteous shalbe exalted as is meete.

¶ To him that excelleth. Destroy not.

A Psalme or song committed to Asaph.

WE will prayse thee, O God, we will prayse thee: for thy Name is neere: therefore h they will declare thy wonderous workes.

2 When I shall take a conuenient time, I will iudge righteously.

3 The earth and all the inhabitants thereof are dissolued: but I will establish the pillars of it. Selah.

4 I saide vnto the i foolish, Be not so foolish, and vnto the wicked, Lift not vp the horne.

5 Lift not vp your k horne on hie, neither speake with a stiffe neck.

6 For promotion commeth l neither from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South.

7 But God is the Iudge: he maketh low and he maketh hie.

8 For in the hand of the Lord is a m cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, and he powreth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall wring out and drinke the dregs thereof.

9 But I will declare for euer, and sing prayses vnto the God of Iaakob.

10 All the hornes of the wicked also will I breake: but the hornes of the n righteous shalbe exalted.

e They encouraged one another to crueltie, that not onely Gods people might be destroyed, but also his religion vtterly in all places suppressed.

f They lament that they haue no Prophet among them to shew them how long their miseries should endure.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 Hee sheweth how God of his mercie chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 reproching the stubburne rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not only vnderstand, 11 that God of his free mercy made his couenant with their ancestours, 17 but also seeing them so malicious and peruerse, might be ashamed, and returne wholy to God. In this Psalme the holy Ghost hath comprehended as it were the summe of all Gods benefites, to the intent the ignorant and grosse people might see in few words the effect of the whole histories of the Bible.

¶ A Psalme to giue a instruction, commited to Asaph.

a Reade Psal. 32.

the 15 Day Euening

d By the testimonie and law, he meaneth the law written, which they were commanded to teach their children, Deut 6.7.

e Hee sheweth wherein the children should be like their fathers, that is, in maintaining Gods pure religion.

f He sheweth wherein the vse of this doctrine standeth in faith, in the meditation of Gods benefits, and in obedience.

g Though these fathers were the seede of Abraham and the chosen people, yet he sheweth by their rebellion, prouocation, falshood and hypocrisie, that the children ought not to follow their examples.

h By Ephraim he meaneth also the rest of the tribes, because they were most in number: whose punishment declareth that they were vnfaithfull to God, and by their multitude and authoritie had corrupt all others.

i He prooueth that not onely the posteritie, but also their forefathers were wicked & rebellious to God. Exod.14.21. Exod.14.24. Exod.17.6. numb 20.11.

5 How hee established a [d] testimonie in Iaakob, & ordeined a Law in Israel, which he commanded our fathers, that they should teach their children:

6 That the [e] posteritie might know it, & the children which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children:

7 That they might [f] set their hope on God, and not forget the workes of God, but keepe his commandements:

8 And not to be as their [g] fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.

9 The children of [h] Ephraim being armed, and shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battell.

10 They kept not the couenant of God, but [i] refused to walke in his law, 11 And forgate his actes, and his wonderfull works that he had shewed them.

12 He did maruellous things in the sight of their [k] fathers in the land of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan.

13 * He diuided the sea, and led them thorow: hee made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 * In the day time also hee ledde them with a cloude, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 * He claue the rocks in the wildernes, & gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 * He brought floods also out of the stonie rocke, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers.

17 Yet they [l] sinned still against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wildernesse, 18 And tempted God in their hearts in [m] requiring meate for their lust.

19 * They spake against God also, saying, Can God [n] prepare a table in the wildernesse?

20 * Beholde, hee smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames ouerflowed: can hee giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angry, and the * fire was kindled in Jacob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, 22 Because they beleeued not in God, and * trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet he had commanded the [o] cloudes aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rained downe MANNA vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.

25 * Man did eate the bread of Angels: he sent them meate enough.

26 Hee caused the [p] East winde to passe in the heauen, and through his power hee brought in the South winde.

27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea.

28 And hee made it fall in the middes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.

29 So they did eate, and were wel filled: for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned from their [q] lust, but the meat was yet in their mouthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slew [r] the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this, they [s] sinned still, and beleeued not his wonderous works.

33 Therefore their dayes did he consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily.

34 And when hee [t] slewe them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God early.

35 And they remembred that God was their strength, and the most high God their redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their * heart was not vpright with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant.

38 Yet he being mercifull [u] forgaue their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oftimes called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For hee remembred that they were flesh: yea, a winde that passeth and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wildernesse? and grieue him in the desert?

41 Yea, they [x] returned, and tempted God, and [y] limited the holy One of Israel.

42 They [z] remembred not his hand, nor the day when hee deliuered them from the enemie,

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods, that they could not drinke.

45 Hee sent [a] a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and froggs which destroyed them.

46 Hee [b] gaue also their fruites vnto the caterpiller, and their labour vnto the grashopper.

47 Hee destroyed their vines with haile, and their wilde figtrees with the hailestone.

48 He gaue their cattell also to the haile, and their flocks to the thunderbolts.

49 Hee cast vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of [c] euill angels.

50 He made a way to his anger: he spared p God vsed the meanes of the winde to teach them, that all elements were at his commandement, and that no distance of place could let his working.

q Such is the nature of concupiscence, that the more it hath, the more it lusteth.

r Though other were not spared, yet chiefly they suffered, which trusted in their strength against God.

s Thus sinne by continuance, maketh men insensible, so that by no plagues they can be amended.

t Such was their hypocrisie, that they sought vnto God for feare of punishment, though in their heart they loued him not.

u Whatsoeuer commeth not from the pure fountaine of the heart, is hypocrisie.

x Because hee would euer haue some remnant of a Church to praise his Name in earth, he suffered not their sinnes to ouercome his mercy.

y That is, they tempted him oftimes.

z As they all doe that measure the power of God by their capacitie.

a The forgetfulnesse of Gods benefites is the root of rebellion and all vice.

b This word signifieth a confused mixture of flies and venemous worms. Some take it for all sorts of Serpents: some for all wilde beasts.

c Hee repeateth not here all the miracles that God did in Egypt, but certain which might bee sufficient to conuince the people of malice and ingratitude.

d So called, either of the effect, that is, of punishing the wicked, or else because they were wicked spirits, whom God permitted to vexe men.

psalm.105.41. 1.cor.10.4. wisd.11.4. k Their wicked malice could bee ouercome by no benefites, which were great and many. l Then to require more then is necessary, and to separate Gods power from his will, is to tempt God. Numb.11.1. m Thus when we giue place to sinne, we are moued to doubt of Gods power, except he will alwayes be ready to serue our lust. *Exod.17.16. numb. 20.11. psal.105.41. 1.cor.10.4. not their soule from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, 51 And smote all the first borne in Egypt, euen the e beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of f Ham.

52 But he made his people to goe out like sheepe, and led them in the wildernesse like a flocke, 53 Yea, he caried them out safely, and they g feared not, and the Sea couered their enemies.

54 And hee brought them vnto the borders of his h Sanctuary: euen to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased.

55 i Hee cast out the heathen also before them, and caused them to fall to the lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

56 Yet they tempted, and prouoked the most high God, & kept not his testimonies, 57 But turned backe and dealt l falsely like their fathers: they turned like a deceitfull bow.

58 And they k prouoked him to anger with their high places, and moued him to wrath with their grauen images.

59 God heard this and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel,

60 So that hee l forsooke the habitation of Shilo, euen the Tabernacle where hee dwelt among men, 61 And deliuered his m power into captiuitie, and his beauty into the enemies hand.

62 And hee gaue vp his people to the sword, and was angry with his inheritance.

63 The fire n deuoured their chosen men, and their maids were not o praised.

64 Their Priests fell by the sword, and their p widowes lamented not.

65 But the Lorde awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that after his q wine crieth out, 66 And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame.

67 Yet he refused the tabernacle of r Joseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

68 But chose the tribe of Judah, and mount Zion which he loued.

69 And hee s built his Sanctuary as an hie place like the earth, which he established for euer.

70 Hee chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the sheepefolds.

71 Euen from behinde the Ewes with yong brought hee him to feede his people in Jaakob, and his inheritance in Israel.

72 So t he fedde them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

e The first borne are so called, as Gene 49.3.

f That is, Egypt: for it was called Mizraim or Egypt of Mizraim, that was the sonne of Ham.

g That is, they had none occasion to feare, for asmuch as God destroyed their enemies, and deliuered them safely.

h Meaning, Canaan, which God had consecrate to himselfe, and appointed to his people. Iosh. 11.16. and 13.6.

i Nothing more displeaseth God in the children, then when they continue in that wickednesse, which their fathers had begun.

k By seruing God otherwise then he had appointed.

l For their ingratitude he suffered the Philistims to take the Arke, which was the signe of his presence, from among them.

m The Arke is called his power and beautie, because thereby he defended his people, & beautifully appeared vnto them.

n They were suddenly destroyed, 1 Sam. 4.10.

o They had no mariage songs: that is, they were not maried.

p Either they were slaine before, or taken prisoners of their enemies, & so were forbidden.

q Because they were drunken in their sinnes, they iudged Gods patience to be a slumbring, as though he were drunken: therfore he answering their beastly iudgment, saith, he will awake and take sudden vengeance.

r Shewing that he spared not altogether the Israelites, though he punished their enemies.

s By building the Temple and establishing the kingdome, he declareth that the signes of his fauour were among them.

t Hee sheweth wherein a Kings charge standeth: to wit, to prouide faithfully for his people, to guide them by counsell, and defend them by power.

PSAL. LXXIX.

1 The Israelites complaine to God for the great calamitie & oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 8 and confessing their sinnes, flee to Gods mercies with full hope of deliuerance, 10 because their calamities were ioyned with the contempt of his Name, 13 for the which they promise to bee thankefull.

A Psalme committed to Asaph.

O God, a the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Jerusalem heapes of stones.

2 The b dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to be meate vnto foules of the heauen: and the flesh of thy Saints vnto the beasts of the earth.

3 Their blood haue they shed like waters round about Jerusalem, and there was none to c bury them.

4 Wee are a reproch to our d neighbours, euen a scorne and derision vnto them that are round about vs.

5 Lord, how long wilt thou be angry, for euer? shall thy iealousie e burne like fire?

6 f Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen that haue not knowen thee, and vpon the kingdoms that haue not called vpon thy Name.

7 For they haue deuoured Jaakob, and made his dwelling place desolate.

8 Remember not against vs the g former iniquities, but s make haste, and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie.

9 Helpe vs, O God of our h saluation, for the glory of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our sinnes for thy Names sake.

10 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let them be knowen among the heathen in our sight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed.

11 Let the sighing of the i prisoners come before thee: according to thy mighty arme preserue k the children of death, 12 And render to our neighbours seuen fold into their bosome their reproch, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord.

13 So wee thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation l we will set forth thy praise.

a The people cry vnto God against the barbarous tyranny of the Babylonians, who spoiled Gods inheritance, polluted his Temple, destroyed his religion, and murthered his people.

d The faithfull feare Gods anger, when they perceiue that their prayers are not forthwith heard.
e Our neighbors haue continuall strife and warre against vs.

11 But my people would not heare my voyce, and Israel would none of me.
12 So I gaue them vp vnto the hardnes of their heart, and they haue walked in their owne counsels.
13 h Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, and Israel had walked in my wayes!

PSAL. LXXXII.

1 The Prophet declaring God to be present among the Iudges & Magistrates, 2 reproueth their partialitie, 3 And exhorteth them to do iustice, 5 But seeing none amendment, 8 he desireth God to vndertake the matter, and execute iustice himselfe.

¶ A Psalme committed to Asaph.

GOd standeth in the assembly of a gods: he iudgeth among gods.
2 Howe long will ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persons of the b wicked? Selah.
3 Doe right to the poore and fatherlesse: doe iustice to the poore and needy.
4 Deliuer the poore and c needy: saue them from the hand of the wicked.
5 They know not & vnderstand nothing:

a The Prophet sheweth that if Princes & Iudges do not their duty, God, whose authority is aboue thē, wil take vengeance on them.
b For theeues & murderers find fauor in iudgmēs.
c Not onely when they cry for helpe, but when their cause requireth when the cause of the godly cannot be heard.

d That is, all things are out of order either by their tyranny or careleſſe negligence.
e No title of honour ſhal excuſe you, but you ſhal be ſubiect to Gods iudgement, and render account as well as other men. f Therefore no tyrant ſhall plucke thy right and authoritie from thee.

8 O God, ariſe, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou ſhalt f inherite all nations.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

1 The people of Iſrael pray vnto the Lord to deliuer them from their enemies both at home and farre off, which imagined nothing but their deſtruction. 9 And they deſire that all ſuch wicked people may, according as God was accuſtomed, be ſtricken with the ſtormie tempeſt of Gods wrath, 18 that they may know that the Lord is moſt high vpon the earth.

A ſong or Pſalme committed to Aſaph.

a This Pſalme ſeemeth to haue bene compoſed, as a forme of prayer againſt the dangers that the Church was in, in the dayes of Iehoſhaphat.
b Hee calleth them Gods enemies, which are enemies to his Church.
c The elect of God are his ſecret ones: for he hideth thē in the ſecret of his tabernacle, and preſerueth them frō all dangers.
d They were not content to take the Church as priſoner, but fought vtterly to deſtroy it.

PSAL. LXXXIIII.

1 Dauid driuen forth of his countrey, 2 Deſireth moſt ardently to come again to the Tabernacle of the Lord & the aſſembly of the Saints to praiſe God, 4 Pronouncing them bleſſed that may ſo doe. 6 Then he prayeth the courage of the people, that paſſe thorow the wildernes to aſſemble themſelues in Zion. 10 Finally with praiſe of this matter and confidence of Gods goodnes, he endeth the Pſalme.

To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Pſalme committed to the ſonnes of Korah.

O Lord of hoſtes, how amiable are thy Tabernacles!
2 My ſoule longeth, yea, and fainteth for the b courts of the Lord: for mine heart and my fleſh reioyce in the liuing God.
3 Yea, the ſparrow hath found her an houſe, and the ſwallow a neſt for her, where ſhee may lay her young: euen by thine c altars, O Lord of hoſtes, my King and my God.
4 Bleſſed are they that dwell in thine houſe: they will euer praiſe thee. Selah.
5 Bleſſed is the man, whoſe d ſtrength is in thee, and in whoſe heart are thy wayes.
6 They going through the vale of e Baca, make welles therein: the raine alſo couereth the pooles.
7 They goe from f ſtrength to ſtrength, till euery one appeare before God in Zion.
8 O Lord God of hoſtes, heare my prayer: hearken, O God of Iaakob. Selah.
9 Behold, O God, our ſhield, and looke vpon the face of thine g Anointed.
10 For h a day in thy courtes is better then a thouſand otherwhere: I had rather bee a dooze keeper in the houſe of my God, then to dwel in the Tabernacles of wickednes.
11 For the Lord God is the Sunne and ſhield vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no i good thing will he withhold from them that walke vprightly.
12 O Lord of hoſtes, bleſſed is the man that truſteth in thee.

a Dauid complaineth that he cannot haue acceſſe to the Church of God to make profeſſion of his faith and to profite in religion.
b For none but the Prieſts could enter into the Sanctuary, and the reſt of the people into the courts.
c So that the poore birds haue more libertie then I.
d Who truſteth nothing in himſelfe, but in thee onely, and learneth of thee to rule his life.
e That is, of mulberie trees which was a barren place, ſo that they which paſſed through, muſt digge pits for water: ſignifying that no lets can hinder them that are fully bent to come to Chriſts Church, neither yet that God will euer faile them.
f They are neuer weary, but increaſe in ſtrength and courage till they come to Gods houſe.
g That is, for Chriſts ſake, whoſe figure I repreſent.
h He would wiſh to liue but one day rather in Gods Church then a thouſand among the worldlings.
i But will from time to time increaſe his bleſſings toward his more and more.

PSAL. LXXXV.

1 Becauſe God withdrew not his rods from his Church after their returne from Babylon, firſt they put him in mind of their deliuerance, to the intent that he ſhould not leaue the worke of his grace vnperfit. 5 Next they complaine of their long afflictions.

fliction: 8 And thirdly they reioyce in hope of full saluation promised. 9 For their deliuerance was a figure of Christs kingdome, vnder the which should be perfect felicitie.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalme committed to the sonnes of Korah.

a They confesse that Gods free mercie was the cause of their deliuerance, because he loued the land which he had chosen.

LORD, thou hast bene a fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iaakob.

2 Thou hast forgiuen the iniquity of thy people, and b couered all their sinnes. Selah.

3 Thou hast withdrawen all thine anger, and hast turned backe from the c fiercenesse of thy wrath.

b Thou hast buried them that they shall not come into iudgement.

4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger towards vs.

c Not onely in withdrawing thy rod, but in forgiuing our sinnes, and in touching our hearts to confesse them.

5 Wilt thou be angry with vs d for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

6 Wilt thou not turne againe and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee?

7 Shew vs thy mercy, O Lorde, and graunt vs thy e saluation.

d As in times past they had felt Gods mercies: so now being oppressed by the long cõtinuance of euils, they pray vnto God, that according to his nature he would be merciful vnto them.

8 I will hearken what the Lorde God will say: for he will speake f peace vnto his people, and to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folly.

9 Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him, that glory may dwell in our land.

e He confesseth that our saluation commeth onely of Gods mercy.

10 Mercy and trueth shall meete: righteousnes and peace shall kisse one another.

11 g Trueth shall budde out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall looke downe from heauen.

12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase.

13 h Righteousnesse shall goe before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

f He will send all prosperity to his Church, when hee hath sufficiently corrected them. Also by his punishments the faithful shal learne to beware that they returne not to like offences.

g Though for a time God thus exercise them with his rods, yet vnder the kingdome of Christ they should haue peace and ioy.

h Iustice shall then flourish and haue free course and passage in euery place.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

1 Dauid sore afflicted and forsaken of all, prayeth feruently for deliuerãce: 5 sometime rehearsing his miseries, 5 Sometimes the mercies receiued, 11 Desiring also to be instructed of the Lord, that he may feare him and glorifie his Name. 14 He complaineth also of his aduersaries, and requireth to be deliuered from them.

¶ A prayer of Dauid.

a Dauid persecuted of Saul, thus prayed, leauing the same to the Church as a monument, how to seeke redresse against their miseries.

INcline a thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needie.

2 Preserue thou my soule, for I am b mercifull: my God, saue thou thy seruant, that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I c cry vnto thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou Lord, art good d and mercifull, b I am not enemie to them, but pitie them, though they be cruell toward me

c Which was a sure token that he beleeued that God would deliuer him.

d He doeth confesse that God is good to all, but only merciful to poore sinners, and of great kindenesse vnto all them, that call vpon thee.

6 Giue eare, Lord, vnto my prayer, and e hearken to the voyce of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there f is none that can doe like thy works.

9 All nations, whom thou hast made, shall come, and g worshippe before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great, and doest wonderous things: thou art God alone.

11 h Teach me thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy trueth: knit mine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for euer.

13 For great is thy mercy toward mee, and thou hast deliuered my soule from i the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proud are risen against me, and the assemblies of violent men haue k sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a pitifull God and mercifull, slow to anger, and great in kindnesse and trueth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and saue the l sonne of thy handmayd.

17 Shew a token of thy goodnesse toward me, that they which hate me, may see it, and be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me and comforted me.

e By crying and calling continually, hee sheweth how wee may not bee weary, though God graunt not forthwith our request, but that we must earnestly and often call vpon him.

f He condemneth all idols, forasmuch as they can doe no workes to declare that they are gods.

g This prooueth that Dauid prayed in the Name of Christ the Messias, of whose kingdome he doeth here prophesie.

h He confesseth himselfe ignorant til God hath taught him, and his heart variable and separate from God, till God ioyne it to him, and confirme it in his obedience.

i That is, from most great danger of death: out of the which none, but onely the mighty hand of God, could deliuer him.

k He sheweth that there can be no moderation nor equitie, where proud tyrants reigne, and that the lacke of Gods feare is as a priuiledge to all vice and cruelty.

l He boasteth not of his owne vertues, but confesseth that God of his free goodnesse hath euer bene merciful vnto him, and giuen him power against his enemies, as to one of his owne household.

PSAL. LXXXVII.

1 The holy Ghost promiseth that the condition of the Church, which was in miserie after the captiuitie of Babylon, should bee restored to great excellency, 4 so that there should bee nothing more comfortable, then to be numbred among the members thereof.

¶ A Psalme or song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

a God did chuse that place among the hilles to stablish Ierusalem and his Temple.

GOd laid his a foundations among the holy mountaines.

2 The Lord loueth the gates of Zion aboue all the habitations of Iaakob.

3 b Glorious things are spoken of thee, O citie of God. Selah.

b Though thy glorious estate doe not yet appeare, yet waite with patience, and God wil accomplish his promise

4 I will make mention of c Rahab and Babel among them that know mee: behold Palestina & Tyrus with Ethiopia, d There is he borne.

c That is, Egypt, and these other countreys shall come to the knowledge of God.

d It shall be said of him, that is regenerate and come to the Church, that he is as one that was borne in the Church.

5 And e Out of all quarters they shall come into the Church, and be counted as citizens.

f When he calleth by his word them into the Church, whom hee had elected and written in his booke.

5 And of Zion it shalbe said, Many are borne in her: and he, euen the most High shal stablish her.

6 The Lord shal count, when he writeth the people, he was borne there. Selah.

7 As well the singers as the players on instruments shall praise thee: all my springs are in thee.

g The Prophet setteth his whole affections and comfort in the Church.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

1 A grieuous complaint of the faithfull for afflicted by sickenesse, persecutions, and aduersitie, 7 Being as it were left of God without any consolation: 13 Yet hee calleth on God by faith, and striueth against desperation, 18 complaining himselfe to be forsaken of all earthly helpe.

A song or Psalme of * Heman the Ezrahite, to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah for him that excelleth vpon Mahalath * Leannoth.

1. King. 4. 31. psal. 53.

a That is, to humble. It was the beginning of a song, by the tune whereof this Psalme was sung.

O Lord God of my saluation, I crie day and night a before thee.

2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: encline thine eare vnto my cry.

3 For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue.

b Though many crie in their sorowes, yet they cry not earnestly to God for remedie as he did: whom he confessed to be the authour of his saluation.

4 I am counted among them that goe downe into the pit, and am as a man without strength:

5 * Free among the dead, like the slaine lying in the graue, whom thou remembrest no more, and they are cut off from thine a hand.

c For he that is dead, is free from all cares and businesse of this life: and thus he saith, because he was vnprofitable for all matters concerning mans life, and as it were cut off from this world.

6 Thou hast layd mee in the lowest pit, in darkenesse, and in the deepe.

7 Thine indignation lieth vpon me, and thou hast vexed mee with all thy * waues. Selah.

d That is, from thy prouidence and care, which is meant according to y iudgement of the flesh.

8 Thou hast put away mine b acquaintance farre from me, and made me to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get foorth.

e The stormes of thy wrath haue ouerwhelmed me.

9 c Mine eye is sorowfull through mine affliction: Lord, I call dayly vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.

f He attributeth the losse and displeasure of his friends to Gods prouidence, whereby hee partly punisheth and partly trieth him.

10 Wilt thou shewe d a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise and praise thee? Selah.

11 Shall thy louing kindnesse bee declared in the graue? or thy faithfulnesse in destruction?

12 Shall thy wonderous workes bee knowen in the darke? and thy righteousnesse in the land e of oblition?

13 But vnto thee haue I cryed, O Lord, and earely shall my prayer come before thee.

14 Lord, why doest thou reiect my soule, and hidest thy face from mee?

15 I am afflicted, and at the point of death: f from my youth I suffer thy terrors, doubting of my life.

g I see none ende of my sorowes. h Mine eyes and face declare my sorowes. i Hee sheweth that the time is more conuenient for God to helpe, when men call vnto him in their dangers, then to tary till they be dead, and then raise them vp againe. k That is, in the graue, where onely the bodie lieth without all sence and remembrance. l I am euer in great dangers and sorowes, as though my life should vtterly be cut off euery moment.

16 Thine indignations goe ouer me, and thy feare hath cut me off.

17 They came round about me dayly like water, and compassed me together.

18 My louers and friends hast thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance † hid themselues.

† Ebr. were in darkenesse.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 With many wordes doeth the Prophet praise the goodnesse of God, 23 for his testament and couenant that he had made betweene him and his elect by Iesus Christ the sonne of Dauid: 38 Then doeth he complaine of the great ruine, and desolation of the kingdome of Dauid, so that to the outward appearance the promise was broken. 46 Finally hee prayeth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnesse of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promises.

A Psalme to giue instruction, of Ethan the Ezrahite.

I Will * sing the mercies of the Lorde for euer: with my mouth will I declare thy truth from generation to generation.

a Though the horrible confusion of things might cause them to despaire of Gods fauour: yet the manifolde examples of his mercies cause them to trust in God, though to mans iudgement they saw none occasion.

2 For I a said, Mercy shalbe set vp for euer: thy truth shalt thou * stablish in the very heauens.

3 b I haue made a conenant with my chosen: I haue sworne to Dauid my seruant,

4 Thy seede will I stablish for euer, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

b As hee that surely beleeued in heart.

5 O Lord, euen the * heauens shall praise thy wonderous worke: yea, thy truth in the c Congregation of the Saints.

c As thine inuisible heauen is not subiect to any alteration and change: so shall the truth of thy promise be vnchangeable.

6 For who is equall to the Lorde in the heauen? and who is like the Lord among the sonnes of the gods?

7 God is very terrible in the assembly of the d Saints, and to be reuerenced aboue all that are about him.

d The Prophet sheweth what was the promise of God, whereon he grounded his faith.

8 O Lord God of hostes, who is like vnto thee, which are a mightie Lorde, and thy truth is about thee?

9 e Thou rulest the raging of y sea: when the waues thereof arise, thou stillest them.

e The Angels shall praise thy power and faithfulnesse in deliuering thy Church.

10 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mighty arme.

11 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

12 Thou hast created the North and the South: f Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

f That is, in the heauens.

13 Thou hast a mighty arme: strong is thine hand, and high is thy right hand.

14 g Righteousnes and equity are the stablishment

g Meaning, the Angels. h If the Angels tremble before Gods maiestie and infinite iustice, what earthly creature by oppressing the Church, dare set himselfe against God? i For as he deliuered the Church by the red Sea, and by destroying Rahab, that is, the Egyptians: so will hee eftsoones deliuer it, when the dangers bee great. k Tabor is a mountaine Westward from Ierusalem, and Hermon Eastward: to the Prophet signifieth that all partes and places of the world shall obey Gods power for the deliuerance of his Church. l For hereby he iudgeth the world, and sheweth himselfe a merciful Father and faithfull protectour vnto his.

1 Day Morning Wednesday 89. 119. 132 Noon

blishment of thy throne, mercie and trueth go before thy face.

15 Blessed is the people, that can m reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy n countenance, O Lord.

16 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousnesse shall they exalt themselues.

17 For thou art o glory of their strength, and by thy fauour our horne shalbe exalted.

18 For our p shield appertaineth to y Lord, and our king to the Holy one of Israel.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto q thine Holy one, and saydest, I haue layde helpe vpon one that is r mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anointed him.

21 Therefore mine hand shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.

22 The enemie shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him.

23 But I will s destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 My trueth also and my t mercy shalbe with him, and in my Name shall his u horne be exalted.

25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the x floods.

26 He shall crie vnto mee, Thou art my y Father, my God, and the rocke of my saluation.

27 Also I will make him my first borne, higher then the kings of the earth.

28 My mercie will I keepe for him for euermore, and my couenant shall stand fast with him.

29 His seede also will I make to endure z for euer, & his throne as the daies of heauen.

30 But if his children forsake my Lawe, and walke not in my iudgements:

31 a If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandements:

32 Then will I visit their transgression with the rod, & their iniquitie with strokes.

33 b Yet my louing kindnes will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my trueth.

34 My couenant will I not breake, nor c alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.

35 I haue sworne once by mine holinesse, d that I will not faile Dauid, saying, 36 His seed shall endure for euer, and his throne shalbe as the sunne before me.

37 He shall be established for euermore as the moone, and as a faithfull e witnesse in the heauen. Selah.

38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast bene angrie with thine Anointed.

39 Thou hast f broken the couenant of thy seruant, and prophaned his g crowne, casting it on the ground.

40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast laid his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that goe by the way, spoile him: he is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

44 Thou hast caused his dignitie to decay, and cast his throne to the ground.

45 The dayes of his youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah.

46 h Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy selfe, for euer? shal thy wrath burne like fire?

47 Remember i of what time I am: wherefore shouldest thou create in vaine all the children of men?

48 What man liueth, and shall not see death? shall hee deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.

49 Lorde, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy trueth?

50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my k bosome of all the mighty people.

51 For l thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord, because they haue reproched the footsteps of thine Anointed.

52 Blessed be the Lord for euermore. So be it, euen so be it.

m Feeling in their conscience that God is their Father.

n They shall be preserued by thy fatherly prouidence.

o In that they are preserued and continue, they ought to giue the prayse and glory onely to thee.

p In that that our king hath power to defend vs, it is the gift of God.

q To Samuel and to others, to assure that Dauid was thy chosen one.

r Whom I haue both chosen and giuen him strength to execute his office, as verse 21.

s Though there shall be euermore enemies against Gods kingdome, yet he promiseth to ouercome them.

t I wil mercifully performe my promises to him, notwithstanding his infirmities and offences.

u His power, glory & estate.

x He shall enioy the land round about.

y His excellent dignitie shall appeare herein, that he shalbe named the sonne of God, and the first borne, wherin he is a figure of Christ.

z Though for the sinne of the people the state of this kingdome decayed: yet God reserued still a root, till he had accomplished this promise in Christ 2 Sam. 7. 14. a Though the faithful answer not in all points to their profession, yet God wil not breake his couenant with them. b For God in promising hath respect to his mercy, and not to mans power in performing. Ebr. If I lie vnto Dauid: which is a maner of othe. c As long as the Sunne and the Moone endure, they shalbe witnesses to me of this promise. d Because of the horrible confusion of things, the Prophet complaineth to God as though hee saw not the performance of his promise. And thus discharging his cares on God, he resisteth doubt and impatience.

e By this he meaneth the horrible dissipation and renting of the kingdome, which was vnder Ieroboam: or els by the spirit of prophesie, Ethan speaketh of those great miseries, which came soone afterward to passe at the captiuitie of Babylon.

f He sheweth that the kingdome fell before it came to perfection, or was ripe.

g The Prophet in ioyning prayer with his complaint, sheweth that his faith neuer failed.

h Seeing mans life is short, and thou hast created man to bestow thy benefits vpon him, except thou haste to helpe, death will preuent thee.

i He meaneth, that Gods enemies did not only slander him behind his backe, but also mocked him to his face, and as it were cast their iniurie in his bosome. k So hee calleth them that persecute the Church. l They laugh at vs, which patiently waite for the coming of thy Christ.

PSAL. XC.

1 Moses in his prayer setteth before vs the eternall fauour of God toward his. 3 who are neither admonished by the breuity of their life, 7 nor by his plagues to be thankefull, 12 therefore Moses prayeth God to turne their hearts & continue his mercies toward them, and their posteritie for euer.

A prayer of Moses the a man of God.

LOrd, thou hast bene our b habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the c mountaines were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, euen from euerlasting to euerlasting thou art our God.

3 Thou d turnest man to destruction: againe thou sayest, Returne, ye sonnes of Adam.

4 e For a thousand yeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast f ouerflowed them: they are as a sleepe: in the morning he groweth like the grasse:

a Thus the Scripture vseth to call the Prophets

b Thou hast bin as an house and defence vnto vs in all our troubles and trauels now this foure hundred yeeres.

c Thou hast chosen vs to be thy people before the foundations of the world were laid.

d Moses by lamenting the frailty and shortnesse of mans life, moueth God to pity.

e Though man thinke his life long, which is in deede most short, yea, though it were a thousand yeeres: yet in Gods sight it is as nothing, and as the watch that lasteth but three houres.

f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.

6 In the morning it flourisheth & groweth, but in the euening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret sinnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: wee haue spent our yeeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is threescore yeeres and tenne, and if they be of strength, fourescore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorow: for it is cut off quickly, and wee flie away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger.

12 Teach vs so to number our dayes, that wee may apply our hearts vnto wisedome.

13 Returne, (O Lord, how long?) and be pacified toward thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercy in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad in our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill.

16 Let thy worke bee seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their children.

17 And let the beauty of the Lorde our God be vpon vs, & direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

g Thou calleſt vs by thy rods to consider the shortneſſe of our life, and for our ſinnes thou abridgeſt our dayes.

h Our dayes are not onely short, but miſerable, forasmuch as our ſinnes daily prouoke thy wrath.

i Meaning, according to the common ſtate of life.

k If mans life for the breuitie be miſerable, much more if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they which feare thee, onely know.

l Which is by conſidering the shortneſſe of our life, & by meditating the heauenly ioyes.

m Meaning, vntil thou be angry?

n Or take comfort in thy ſeruants.

o Euen thy mercy, which is thy chiefeſt worke.

p As Gods promiſes appertained alwell to their poſteritie as to them, ſo Moſes prayeth for the poſteritie.

q Meaning, vntil it was obſcured when Chriſt ceaſed to doe good to his Church.

r For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterpriſes can haue no good ſucceſſe.

Here is deſcribed the aſſurance hee hath that putteth his whole truſt in God, and committeth himſelfe wholly to his protection in all tentations. 14 A promiſe of God to thoſe that loue him, know him, and truſt in him, to deliuer them and giue them immortall glory.

WHo so dwelleth in the ſecret of the most high, shall abide in the shadow of the Almightie.

2 I will say vnto the Lorde, O mine hope, and my fortreſſe: he is my God, in him will I truſt.

3 Surely hee will deliuer thee from the ſnare of the hunter, and from the noysome peſtilence.

4 Hee will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his truth shall be thy sheild and buckler.

5 Thou shalt not be afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arrowe that flieth by day:

6 Nor of the peſtilence that walketh in the darkeneſſe: nor of the plague that deſtroyeth at noone day.

7 A thousand shall fal at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.

8 Doubteleſſe with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

9 For thou hast (o Lord) The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most High for thy refuge.

10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle.

11 For hee shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee, to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

12 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lyon and aſpe: the yong lyon and the dragon shalt thou treade vnder feete.

14 Because he hath loued mee, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because he hath knowen my Name.

15 He shall call vpon mee, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.

16 With long life will I satisfie him, and shew him my ſaluation.

a He that maketh God his defence and truſt shall perceiue his protection to be a most sure ſafegard.

b Being aſſured of this protection, he prayeth vnto the Lord.

c That is, Gods helpe is most ready for vs whether Satan aſſaile vs secretly, which he calleth a snare: or openly, which is here meant by the peſtilence.

d That is, his faithfull keeping of promiſe to helpe thee in thy neceſſitie.

e The care that God hath ouer his, is most ſufficient to defend them from all dangers.

f The godly shall haue some experience of Gods iudgements against wicked men in this life, but fully they shall see it at that day, when all things shall be reueiled.

g God hath not appointed euery man one Angel, but many to be miniſters of his prouidence to keepe his and defend them in their vocation, which is the way to walke in without tempting God.

h Thou shalt not only be preſerued from all euill.

i To assure the faithfull of Gods protection, hee bringeth in God to confirme the same.

k For he is contented with that life that God giueth for by death the shortneſſe of this life is recompenſed with immortalitie.

PSAL. XCII.

The Pſalme was made to be ſung on the Sabbath, to stirre vp the people to acknowledge God, and to praiſe him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth therein. 6 But the wicked are not able to conſider that the vngodly, when he is most flourishing, shall soddenly periſh. 12 In the end is deſcribed the felicitie of the iuſt planted in the house of God to praiſe the Lord.

A Pſalme or song for the Sabbath day.

IT is a good thing to praiſe the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most high,

2 To declare thy louing kindneſſe in the morning, and thy truth in the night,

3 Vpon an instrument of ten strings, and vpon the viole, with the song vpon the harpe.

4 For thou, Lord, hast made me glad by thy workes, and I will reioice in the works of thine handes.

5 O Lord, how glorious are thy works! and thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An vnwiſe man knoweth it not, and a foole pooth not vnderstand this,

7 (Whē the wicked grow as the graſſe, and all the workers of wickednesse do flourish) that they shall be deſtroyed for euer.

8 But thou, O Lord, art most high for euermore.

9 For lo, thine enemies, O Lord, for lo, thine enemies shall periſh: all the workers of iniquitie shall be deſtroyed.

a Which reacheth that the vſe of the Sabbath standeth in praying God, and not onely in ceaſing from worke.

b For Gods mercy & fidelitie in his promiſes toward him, binde them to praiſe him continually, both day and night.

c Theſe inſtruments were then permitted, but at Chriſts coming abolished.

d He ſheweth what is the vſe of the Sabbath day: to wit, to meditate Gods works.

e That is, the wicked conſider not Gods workes, nor his iudgements against them, and therefore most iuſtly periſh.

f Thy iudgements are most constant against the wicked, and paſſe our reach.

10 But

h Thou wilt streng then them with all power, and bylle them with all felicitie.

i The children of God shal haue a power aboue nature, and their age shall bring foorth most fresh fruites.

10 But thou shalt exalt mine horne, like the Vnicornes, and I shall be anoynted with free oyle.

11 Mine eye also shal see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my wish against the wicked, that rise vp against me.

12 The righteous shall h flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a Cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as bee planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courts of our God.

14 They shall still bring foorth fruite in their i age: they shalbe fat and flourishing, 15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquitie is in him.

PSAL. XCIII.

1 He praiseth the power of God in the creation of the world, and beateth downe all people which lift them vp against his Maiestie, 5 And pronoūceth to consider his promises.

THe Lord a reigneth, and is clothed with maiestie: the Lord is clothed, and girded with power: the world also shall bee established, that it cannot be mooued.

2 Thy b throne is established of olde: thou art from euerlasting.

3 c The floods haue lifted vp, O Lord: the floods haue lifted vp their voyce: the floods lift vp their waues.

4 The waues of the sea are marueilous through the noyse of many waters, yet the Lord on high is more mightie.

5 Thy d testimonies are very sure: holines becommeth thine house, O Lord, for euer.

a As God by his power and wisedome hath made and gouerneth the world: so must the same be our defence against al enemies and dangers.

b Wherein thou sittest and gouernest the world.

c Gods power appeareth in ruling the furious waters.

d Besides Gods power and wisedome in creating, and gouerning, his great mercy also appeareth in that hee hath giuen his people his word and couenant.

PSAL. XCIIII.

1 He prayeth vnto God against the violence and arrogancie of tyrants, 10 Warning them of Gods iudgements. 14 Then doth he comfort the afflicted by the good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in himselfe, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked. 23 Whom the Lord will destroy.

O Lord God a the auenger, O God, the auenger, shew thy selfe b clearely.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O iudge of the world, and render a reward to the proud.

3 Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked c triumph?

4 They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquitie braue themselues.

5 They d smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widowe and the stranger, and murther the fatherlesse.

7 e Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iaakob regard it.

8 Vnderstand ye vnwise among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise?

9 He that f planted the eare, shall he not heare? or he that formed the eye, shall he not see?

10 Or hee that chastiseth the g nations, shall he not correct? hee that teacheth man knowledge, shall he not know?

11 The Lorde knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanitie.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou h chastisest, O Lord, and teachest him in thy Law.

13 That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, whiles the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For i iudgement shall returne to iustise, and all the vpright in heart shall follow after it.

16 Who will rise vp with me against the wicked, or who will take my part against the workers of iniquitie?

17 If the Lord had not k holpen mee, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I said, l My foote slideth, thy mercy, O Lord, stayed me.

19 In the multitude of my m thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquitie fellowship with thee, which frameth wrong for a law?

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous, and condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lorde is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope.

23 And hee will recompence them their wickednes, and n destroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

a Whose office it is to take vengeance on the wicked.

b Shew by effect that thou art iudge of the world to punish the wicked.

c That is, bragge of their cruelty and oppression: or, esteeme themselues about all others.

d Seeing the Church was then so sore oppressed, it ought not to seeme strange to vs, if we see it so now, and therefore we must call to God to take our cause in hand.

e He sheweth that they are desperate in malice, forasmuch as they feared not God, but gaue themselues wholly to doe wickedly.

f He sheweth that it is impossible but God should heare, see and vnderstand their wickednes.

g If God punish whole nations for their sinnes, it is meere folly for any one man, or elle a fewe to thinke that God will spare them.

h God hath care ouer his, and chastiseth them for their wealth, that they should not perish for euer with the wicked.

i God wil restore the state and gouernement of things to their right vse, and then the godly shall follow him cheerefully.

k He complaineth of them, which would not helpe him to resist the enemies: yea was assured that Gods helpe would not faile.

l When I thought there was no way but death.

m In my trouble and difficulty thy present helpe.

n Though the wicked iudges oppressing the Church, yet they haue not that authoritie of God.

o It is a great token of Gods iudgement, when the purpose of the wicked is broken, but most, when they are destroyed in their owne malice.

PSAL. XCV.

1 An earnest exhortation to praise God, 4 for the gouernment of the world, & the election of his Church. 8 An admonition not to follow the rebellion of the old fathers, that tempted God in the wildernesse: 11 For the which they might not enter into the land of promise.

COme, let vs reioyce vnto the Lord: let vs sing a aloud vnto the rocke of our saluation.

2 Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing loud vnto him with Psalmes.

3 For the Lorde is a great God, and a great king aboue all b gods.

4 In whose hand are the deepe places of the earth, and the heights of the mountaines are his:

5 To whom the Sea belongeth: for hee made it, and his hands formed the dry land.

6 Come, let vs c worship and fall downe, a He sheweth that Gods seruice standeth not in dead ceremonies, but chiefly in the sacrifice of praise and thankesgiuing.

b Euen the Angels (who in respect of men are thought as gods) are nothing in his sight: much lesse the idoles, which mans braine inuenteth.

c All things are gouerned by his prouidence.

d By these three words he signifieth one thing, meaning, that they must wholly giue themselues to serue God,

and

and kneele before the Lord our maker.

7 For he is our God, and we are the people of his pasture, and the sheepe of his hand: to day, if yee will heare his voice,

8 ‖ Harden not your heart, as in Meribah, and as in the day of ‖ Massah in the wildernesse, 9 Where your fathers tempted me, proued me, though they had seene my worke.

10 Fourtie yeeres long was I contended with this generation, and said, They are a people that erre in heart, for they haue not knowen my wayes.

11 Wherefore I sware in my wrath, saying, Surely they shal not enter into my rest.

PSAL. XCVI.

1 An exhortatio both to the Iewes & Gentiles to prayse God for his mercie. And this specially ought to be referred to the kingdome of Christ.

SIng vnto the Lord a new song: sing vnto the Lord, all the earth.

2 Sing vnto the Lord, and prayse his Name: declare his saluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glorie among all nations, and his wonders among all people.

4 For the Lord is great and much to be praised: he is to be feared aboue all gods.

5 For all the gods of the people are ‖ idols: but the Lord made the heauens.

6 Strength and glorie are before him: power and beautie are in his Sanctuarie.

7 Giue vnto the Lord, yee families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glorie and power.

8 Giue vnto the Lord the glorie of his Name: bring an offering, and enter into his courts.

9 Worship the Lord in the glorious sanctuarie: tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the world shall be stable, and not moone, and he shall iudge the people in righteousnesse.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.

12 Let the field be ioyfull, and all that is in it: let all the trees of the wood then reioyce

13 Before the Lord: for hee commeth, for he commeth to iudge the earth: he will iudge the world with righteousnesse, and the people in his truth.

PSAL. XCVII.

THe Lord reigneth: let the earth reioyce: let the multitude of the yles be glad.

2 Cloudes and darkenesse are round about him: righteousnesse and iudgement are the foundation of his throne.

3 There shall goe a fire before him, and burne vp his enemies round about.

4 His lightenings gaue light vnto the world: the earth saw it, and was afraide.

5 The mountaines melted like waxe at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the Lord of the whole earth.

6 The heauens declare his righteousnesse, and all the people see his glorie.

7 Confounded bee all they that serue grauen images, & that glorie in idoles: worship him all yee gods.

8 Zion heard of it, and was glad: and the daughters of Iudah reioyced, because of thy iudgements, O Lord.

9 For thou Lord art most high aboue all the earth: thou art much exalted aboue all gods.

10 Ye that loue the Lord, hate euill: he preserueth the soules of his Saints: hee will deliuer them from the hand of the wicked.

11 Light is sowen for the righteous, and ioy for the vpright in heart.

12 Reioyce ye righteous in the Lord, and giue thankes for his holy remembrance.

i If the insensible creatures shall haue cause to reioyce, when God appeareth, much more wee, from whom hee hath taken malediction and sinne.

a He sheweth that where God reigned, there is all felicitie and spirituall ioy.

b For the Gospel shall not be onely preached in Iudea, but thorow all yles and countries.

c He is thus described to keepe his enemies in feare, which commonly contemne Gods power.

d This feare bringeth not the wicked to true obedience, but maketh them to run away from God.

e He signifieth that Gods iudgements are in a readinesse to destroy the idolaters.

f Let all ‖ which is esteemed in the world, fall downe before him.

g The Iewes shall haue occasion to reioyce, that the Gentiles are made partakers with them of Gods fauour.

h He requireth two things of his children: the one, that they detest vice, the other, that they put their trust in God for their deliuerance.

i Though Gods deliuerance appeare not suddenly, and laide vp in store for them.

A Psalme.

SIng vnto the Lord a new song: for hee hath done marueilous things: his right hand, and his holy arme haue gotten him the victorie.

2 The Lord declared his saluation: his righteousnes hath he reueiled in the sight of the nations.

3 Hee hath remembred his mercie and his truetth toward the house of Israel: all the ends of the earth haue seene the saluation of our God.

4 All the earth, sing yee lowde vnto the Lord: crie out and reioyce, and sing praises.

5 Sing praise to the Lord vpon the harpe, euen vpon the harpe with a singing voyce.

6 With ‖ trumpets and sound of trumpets sing lowde before the Lord the king.

1 He commendeth the power, equitie and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, 5 and prouoketh them to magnifie the same, and to serue the Lord, 6 Following the example of the ancient fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

THe Lord reigneth, let the [a] people tremble: he sitteth betweene the [b] Cherubims, let the earth be moued.

2 The Lord is great in Zion, and hee is hie aboue all the people.

3 They shal [c] praise thy great and fearefull Name (for it is holy,)

4 And the kings power that loueth iudgment: for thou hast prepared equitie: thou hast executed iudgement and iustice in Iaakob.

5 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his [d] footstoole: for he is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron were among his Priestes, [e] and Samuel among such as call vpon his Name: these called vpon the Lord, and he heard them.

7 He spake vnto them in the cloudie pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Law that he gaue them.

8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou didst take vengeance for [f] their inuentions.

9 Exalt the Lord our God, and fall downe before his holy Mountaine: for the Lord our God is holy.

a When God deliuereth his Church, all the enemies shall haue cause to tremble. Exod. 25. 22.

b Though the wicked rage against God, yet the godly shall praise his Name and mightie power.

c That is, before his Temple or Arke, where hee promised to heare when they worshipped him, as now he promiseth his spirituall presence, whereseuer his Church is assembled.

2 Serue the Lord with gladnesse: come before him with ioyfulnesse.

3 Know yee that euen the Lord is God: he hath [b] made vs, and not we our selues: we are his people, and the sheepe of his pasture.

4 [c] Enter into his gates with prayse, and into his courts with reioycing: prayse him, and blesse his Name.

5 For the Lord is good: his mercie is [d] euerlasting, and his trueth is from generation to generation.

a He prophesieth that Gods benefit in calling the Gentiles, shall be so great that they shall haue wonderfull occasion to praise his mercie and reioyce.

b Hee chiefly meaneth, touching the spirituall regeneration, whereby we are his sheepe and people.

1 Dauid describeth what gouernment hee will obserue in his house and kingdome. 5 He will punish and correct by rooting forth the wicked, 6 and cherishing the godly persons.

A Psalme of Dauid.

I Will [a] sing mercie and iudgement: vnto thee, O Lord, will I sing.

a Dauid considereth what maner of king he would bee when God should place him in the throne, promising openly, that he would be mercifull and iust.

2 I will doe wisely in the perfect way [b] till thou comme vnto mee: I will walke in the vprightnesse of mine heart in the midst of mine house.

3 I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes: I hate [c] the worke of them that fall away: it shall not cleaue vnto me.

4 A froward heart shal depart from me: I will know none euill.

5 Him that priuily [d] slandereth his neighbour, will I destroy: him that hath a proude looke and hie heart, I cannot suffer.

6 Mine eyes shalbe vnto the [e] faithfull of the land, [f] they may dwel with me: he that walketh in a perfect way, he shall serue me.

7 There shall no deceitfull person dwell within mine house: he that telleth lies, shall not remaine in my sight.

8 [g] Betimes will I destroy all the wicked of the land, that I may cut off all the workers of iniquitie from the city of the Lord.

b Though yet thou desirest to place me in the kingly dignitie, yet will I giue my selfe to wisedom and vprightnesse being a priuate man.

c He sheweth that magistrates doe not their dueties, except they be enemies to all vice.

d In promising to punish these vices, which are most pernitious in them that are about kings, he declareth that he will punish all.

e He sheweth what is the true vse of the sword: to punish the wicked, and to maintaine the good.

f Magistrates must immediatly punish vice, lest it grow to further inconueniences: and if heathen Magistrates are bound to doe this, how much more they that haue the charge of the Church of God?

17 And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer.

18 This shall be written for the generation to come: and the people wich shall bee [n] created, shall praise the Lord.

19 For hee hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuary: out of the heauen did the Lord behold the earth,

20 That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children [o] of death:

21 That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, & his praise in Ierusalem, 22 When the people shalbe gathered [p] together, & the kingdomes to serue the Lord.

23 Hee [q] abated my strength in the way, and shortened my dayes.

24 And I sayde, O my God, take mee not away in the mids of my dayes: thy yeeres endure from generation to generation.

25 Thou hast afore time layd the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands.

26 [r] They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall ware olde as doeth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shalbe changed.

27 But thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not fatle.

28 The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seede shall stand [s] fast in thy sight.

k That is, the seuentie yeeres, which by the Prophet Ieremie thou diddest appoint, Ier. 29. 12

l The more that the Church is in misery and desolation, the more ought the faithfull to loue and pitie it.

m That is, when he shal haue drawen his Church out of the darkenes of death.

n The deliuerance of the Church is a most excellent benefit, and therefore he compareth it to a new creation: for in their banishment the body of the Church seemed to haue bene dead, which by deliuerance was as it were created anew.

o Who now in their banishment could looke for nothing but death.

p Hee sheweth that Gods Name is neuer more praised then when religion flourisheth, & the Church increaseth: which thing is chiefly accomplished vnder the kingdome of Christ.

q The Church lament that they see not the time of Christ, which was promised, but haue but fewe yeeres and short dayes.

r If heauen and earth perish, much more man shall perish: but the Church by reason of Gods promise endureth for euer.

s Seeing thou hast chosen the Church out of the world, and ioyned it to thee, it cannot but continue for euer: for thou art euerlasting.

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh al to praise the Lord, which hath pardoned his sinnes, deliuered him frō destruction, & giuen him sufficient of al good things. 10 Then hee addeth the tender mercies of God, which hee sheweth like a most tender father towards his children. 14 The frailtie of mans life. 20 An exhortation to men and Angels to praise the Lord.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

MY soule, [a] prayse thou the Lord, and all that is within me, praise his holy Name.

2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, & forget not all his benefits.

3 Which [b] forgiueth all thine iniquitie, and healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redeemeth thy life from the [c] graue, and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy [d] youth is renued like the eagles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousnes and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his wayes knowen vnto [e] Moses, & his workes vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion & mercie, slow to anger and of great kindnesse.

9 He will not alway [f] chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

10 He hath not [g] dealt with vs after our sinnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as high as the heauen is aboue the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as [h] the East is from the West: so farre hath he removed our sinnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lorde compassion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembreth that we are but dust.

15 The dayes of man are as grasse: as a flowre of the field, so flourisheth he.

16 For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall know it no more.

17 But the louing kindnesse of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his [k] righteousnesse vpon children children, 18 Vnto them that keepe his [l] couenant, and thinke vpon his commandements to do them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise ye the Lord, ye [m] his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandement in obeying the voice of his word.

21 Praise the Lord, all ye his hosts, ye his seruants that doe his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord, all ye his workes, in all places of his dominion: my soule, praise thou the Lord.

a He wakeneth his dulnesse to praise God, shewing that both vnderstanding and affections, minde and heart are too little to set foorth his praise

b This is the beginning and chiefest of all benefits: remission of sinne.

c For before that we haue remission of our sinnes, we are as dead men in the graue.

d As the eagle, when her beake ouergroweth, sucketh blood, and so is renued in strength, euen so God miraculously giueth strength to his Church aboue all mans expectation.

e As to his chiefe minister, and next to his people.

f He sheweth first his seuere iudgement, but so soone as the sinner is humbled, he receiueth him to mercy.

g We haue proued by continuall experience, that his mercie hath euer preuailed against our offences.

h As great as the world is, so full is it of signes of Gods mercies toward his faithfull, when he hath remooued their sinnes.

i He declareth that man hath nothing in himselfe to moue God to mercie, but onely the confession of his infirmitie & miserie.

k His iust and faithfull keeping of his promise.

l To whom hee giueth grace to feare him, and to obey his word

m In that that we, which naturally are slow to praise God, exhort the Angels which willingly do it, we stirre vp our selues to consider our duety, and awake out of our sluggishnesse.

PSAL. CIIII.

1 An excellent Psalme to praise God for the creation of the world, and the gouernance of the same by his marueilous prouidence, 35 wherin the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminisheth his blessings.

MY soule, praise thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art [a] clothed with glory and honour.

2 Which couereth himselfe with light as with a garment, and spreadeth the heauens like a curtaine.

a The Prophet sheweth that we need not to enter into the heauens to seeke God, forasmuch as all the order of nature, with the propriety and placing of the elements, are most liuely mirrours to see his maiesty in.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the cloudes his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the winde.

4 Which [b] maketh the spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 He set the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredst it with the [c] deepe, as with a garment: the [d] waters would stand aboue the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee: at the voice of thy thunder they haste away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleyes descend to ỹ place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast set them a bound, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to couer the earth.

10 Hee sendeth the springs into the valleys, which run betweene the mountaines.

11 They shal giue drink to all the [e] beasts of the field, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these [f] springs shal the foules of the heauen dwel, and sing among the branches.

13 Hee watereth the mountaines from his [g] chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruit of thy works.

14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattell, and herbe for the vse of [h] man, that hee may bring forth bread out of the earth,

15 And wine that maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, and bread that strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The high trees are satisfied, euen the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted, 17 That the birds may make their nests there: the storke dwelleth in the firre trees.

18 The high mountaines are for the ‖ goats: the rocks are a refuge for the conies.

19 He appointeth the moone for certaine seasons: [k] the sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darkenesse, and it is night, wherein all the beastes of the forrest creepe forth.

21 The lyons roare after their pray, and seeke their meat [l] at God.

22 When the sunne riseth, they retire, and couch in their dennes.

23 [m] Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour till the euening.

24 O Lord, how [n] manifolde are thy workes! in wisedome hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is the sea great and wide: for therein are things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.

26 There goe the ships: yea that ‖ Leuiathan, whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 [o] All these waite vpon thee, that thou mayest giue them food in due season.

28 Thou giuest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou [p] hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die, and returne to their dust.

30 Againe, if thou [q] send forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renuest the face of the earth.

31 Glorie bee to the Lord for euer: let the Lord reioyce in his works.

32 Hee looketh on the earth and it trembleth: hee toucheth the mountaines, and they [r] smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord all my life: I will praise my God, while I line.

34 Let my wordes bee acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners bee [s] consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there bee no more: O my soule, praise thou the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CV.

1 Hee praiseth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himself: & hauing chosen them, neuer ceaseth to do the good, euē for his promise sake

PRaise the Lord, and call vpon his Name: [a] declare his works among the people.

2 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his wondrous works.

3 Reioyce in his holy name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

4 Seeke the Lord and his [b] strength: seeke his face continually.

5 Remember his [c] marueilous workes, that hee hath done, his wonders and the [d] iudgements of his mouth,

6 Yee seede of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Iaakob, which are his elect.

7 Hee is the Lord our God: his iudgement are through all the earth.

12 Albeit they were fewe in number, yea, very fewe, and strangers in the land,

13 And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people, b As the Prophet here sheweth that all visible powers are ready to serue God: so the Apostle to the Heb. 1.7. beholdeth in this glasse, how the very Angels also are obedient to his commandement.

c Thou makest the sea be an ornament vnto the earth.

d If by thy power thou diddest not bridle the rage of ỹ waters, it were not possible but ỹ whole world should be destroyed.

e If God prouide for ỹ very beasts, much more will hee extend his prouident care to man.

f There is no part of the world so barren where most euident signes of Gods blessings appeare not.

g From ỹ clouds.

h He describeth Gods prouident care ouer man, who doeth not onely prouide necessary things for him, as herbs and other meat: but also things to reioyce, and comfort him, as wine and oyle, or ointments.

‖ Or, does, roes, & such like.

i As to separate the night from the day, and to note dayes, moneths and yeeres.

l That is, they onely finde meat according to Gods prouidence who careth euen for the bruite beasts.

m To wit, when the day springeth: for the light is as it were a shield to defend man against the tyrannie and fiercenesse of beasts n Hee confesseth that no tongue is able to expresse Gods workes, nor minde to comprehend them.

o God is a most nourishing Father, who prouideth for all creatures their dayly food.

p As by thy presence all things haue life: so, if thou withdraw thy blessings, they all perish.

q As the death of creatures sheweth that we are nothing of our selues: so their generation declareth that we receiue all things of our Creator.

21 Day Morne

a Forasmuch as the Israelites were exempted from the common condemnation of the world, and were elected to bee Gods people, the Prophet willeth them to shew themselues mindfull by thanksgiuing.

b By the strength and face, he meaneth the Arke where God declared his power and his presence.

c Which hee hath wrought in the deliuerance of his people.

d Because his power was thereby as liuely declared, as if hee should haue declared it by mouth.

e The promise which God made to Abraham to be his God, & the God of his seede after him, he renued and repeated it againe to his seede after him.

f He sheweth that they should not enioy the land of Canaan by any other meanes, but by reason of his couenāt made with their fathers.

g That is, the King of Egypt and the King of Gerar, Gen. 12.17. and 20.3.

k Either by sending scracitie, or by taking away the strength and nourishment thereof.

l So long he suffered aduersitie, as God had appointed, and till he had tried sufficiently his patience.

m That the very princes of the countrey should be at Iosephs commandement and learne wisedome at him.

n So it is in God, either to moue the hearts of the wicked to loue or to hate Gods children.

o Meaning, Moses and Aaron. Exod.7 20. Exod.8.6.

p So that this vermine came not by fortune, but as God had appointed, and his Prophet Moses spake.

q It was strange to see raine in Egypt, much more it was fearefull to see hayle.

r Hee sheweth that all creatures are armed against man, whē God is his enemie: as at his commandement the grashoppers destroyed the land. Exod.12.29.

s When their enemies felt Gods plagues, his children by his prouidence were exempted.

t For Gods plagues caused them rather to depart with the Israelites then with their liues.

u Not for necessitie, but for satisfying of their lust.

x Which he confirmeth to the posteritie, in whom after a sort the dead liue and inioy the promises.

my i Prophets no harme.

16 Moreouer he called a famine vpon the land, and vtterly brake the k staffe of bread.

17 But he sent a man before them: Ioseph was sold for a slaue.

18 They hurt his feete in the stockes, and he was layd in yrons, 19 Until l his appointed time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tried him.

20 The king sent and loosed him: euen the ruler of the people deliuered him.

21 Hee made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance, 22 That hee should binde his m Princes vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wisedome.

23 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Iaakob was a stranger in the land of Ham.

24 And hee increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressours.

25 n Hee turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants.

26 Then sent hee Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom he had chosen.

27 They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham

28 He sent darkenes and made it darke: and they were not o disobedient vnto his commission.

29 *He turned their waters into blood, and slew their fish.

30 * Their land brought forth frogs, euen in their kings chambers.

31 Hee p spake, and there came swarmes of flies, and lice in all their quarters.

32 Hee gaue them q haile for raine, and flames of fire in their land.

33 Hee smote their vines also and their figge trees, & brake downe the trees in their coastes.

34 *He spake, and the grashoppers came, and caterpillers innumerable,

35 And did eate vp all the grasse in their lande, and deuoured the fruit of their ground.

36 *Hee smote also all the first borne in their lande, euen the beginning of all their strength.

37 He brought them forth also with siluer and golde, and there was r none feeble among their tribes.

38 Egypt was s glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen vpon them.

39 He spred a cloud to be a couering, and fire to giue light in the night.

40 They t asked, and he brought quailes, and he filled them with the bread of heauen.

41 He opened the rocke, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the drie places like a riuer.

42 For he remembred his x holy promise to Abraham his seruant.

43 And he brought forth his people with ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse,

44 And gaue them the lands of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession, 45 That they might y keepe his statutes, and obserue his lawes. Praise ye the Lord.

y When the Egyptians lamented and were destroyed.

z This is the end, why God preserueth his Church, because they should worship, & cal vpon him in this world.

PSAL. CVI.

1 The people dispersed vnder Antiochus doe magnifie the goodnesse of God among the iust and repentant: 4 Desiring to be brought againe into the land by Gods merciful visitation. 8 And after the manifold marualls of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the people rehearsed, 47 they do pray and desire to be gathered from among the heathen, to the intent they may praise the name of the God of Israel.

Praise ye the Lord.

PRaise a ye the Lord, because hee is good, for his mercie endureth for euer.

2 Who can expresse the noble acts of the Lord, or shew forth all his prayse?

3 Blessed are they that b keepe iudgment, and doe righteousnesse at all times.

4 Remember me, O Lord, with the c fauour of thy people: visit mee with thy saluation,

5 That I may see the felicity of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glory with thine inheritance.

6 We haue d sinned with our fathers: we haue committed iniquity, & done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderstood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembred they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red Sea.

8 Neuertheles, he e saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowen.

9 And he rebuked the red sea, and it was dried vp, and he led them in the deepe, as in the wildernes.

10 And he saued them from the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the enemie.

11 *And the waters couered their oppressours: not one of them was left.

12 Then f beleeued they his words, and sang prayse vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his counsell, 14 But lusted with concupiscence in the wildernesse, and tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent h leannesse into their soule.

16 They enuied Moses also in the tents, and Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened and i swallowed vp Dathan, and couered the company of Abiram.

a The Prophet exhorteth the people to praise God for his benefits past, that thereby their mindes may be strengthened against all present trobles and despaire.

b He sheweth, that it is not enough to praise God with mouth except the whole heart agree thereunto, and all our life be thereunto framed.

c Let the good will that thou beareſt to thy people, extend vnto mee, that thereby I may be receiued into the number of thine.

d By earnest confession, aswell of their owne, as of their fathers sinnes, they shew that they had hope that God according to his promise would pitie them.

e The inestimable goodnesse of God appeareth in this, that he would change the order of nature rather then his people should not be deliuered, although they were wicked. Exod.14.29.

f The wonderful works of God caused them to beleeue for a time, and to praise him.

g They would preuent his wisedome and prouidence.

h The abundance that God gaue them profited not, but made them pine away, because God cursed it.

i By the greatnesse of the punishment the haynous offence may be considered: for they that rise against Gods ministers, rebell against him.

21 Day Evening

18 And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.
19 They made a calfe in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image.
20 Thus they turned their [k] glory into the similitude of a bullocke, that eateth grasse.
21 They forgate God their Sauiour, which had done great things in Egypt, 22 Wonderous workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red sea.
23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had [l] not Moses his chosen stoode in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, least he should destroy them.
24 Also they contemned that [m] pleasant land, and beleeued not his word, 25 But murmured in their tentes, and hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.
26 Therefore [n] he lifted vp his hand against them, to destroy them in the wildernesse, 27 And to destroy their seede among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countreys.
28 They ioyned themselues also vnto [o] Baal-peor, and did eate the offerings of the [p] dead.
29 Thus they [q] prouoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.
30 But [r] Phinehas stood vp, and executed iudgement, and the plague was stayed.
31 *And it was [s] imputed vnto him for righteousnesse from generation to generation for euer.
32 They angered him also at the waters of [*] Meribah, so that [t] Moses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnaduisedly with his lips.
34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them, 35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.
37 Yea, they offered their [u] sonnes, and their daughters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, euē the blood of their sonnes, & of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the land was defiled with blood.
39 Thus were they stained with their owne workes, and went a [x] whoring with their owne inuentions.
40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he abhorred his owne inheritance.
41 And hee gaue them into the hand of the heathen: and they that hated them, were lords ouer them.
42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.
43 Many [y] a time did he deliuer them, but they prouoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.
44 Yet he saw when they were in affliction, and he heard their cry.
45 And he remembred his couenant toward them, and [z] repented according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.
47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and [a] gather vs from among the heathen, that wee may praise thine holy Name, and glory in thy praise.
48 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel for euer and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

k He sheweth that all idolaters renounce God to be their glory, when in stead of him they worship any creature, much more wood, stone, metall, or calues.
l If Moses by his intercession had not obtained Gods fauour against their rebellions.
m That is, Canaan, which was as it were an earnest peny of the heauenly inheritance.
n That is, hee sware. Sometime also it meaneth, to punish.
o Which was the idole of the Moabites.
p Sacrifices offered to the dead idoles.
q Signifying, that whatsoeuer man inuenteth of himselfe to serue God by, is detestable and prouoketh his anger.
r When al other neglected Gods glory, he in his zeale killed the adulerers, and preuented Gods wrath.
Num. 25. 13.
s This acte declared his liuely faith, and for his faiths sake, was accepted.
Numb. 20. 13. Psal. 95. 80.
t If so notable a Prophet of God escape not punishment, though others prouoked him to sinne, how much more shall they be subiect to Gods iudgement, which cause, Gods children to sinne?
u Hee sheweth how monstrous a thing idolatrie is, which can win vs to things abhorring to nature, whereas Gods word cannot obtaine most small things.
x Then true chastitie is to cleaue wholy and onely vnto God.
y. The Prophet sheweth that neither by menaces nor promises we can come to God, except we be altogether newly reformed, and that his mercy ouercome & hide our malice.
z Not that God is changeable in himselfe, but that then he seemeth to vs to repent, when he altereth his punishment, and forgiueth vs.
a Gather thy Church, which is disperſed, and giue vs constancie vnder the crosse, that with one consent we my all praise thee.

PSAL. CVII.

1 The Prophet exhorteth all those that are redeemed by the Lord, and gathered vnto him, to giue thankes. 9 for thu mercifull prouidence of God, gouerning all things at his good pleasure, 20 sending good and euill, prosperitie and aduersitie to bring men vnto him. 42 Therefore as the righteous thereat reioyce, so shall the wicked haue their mouthes stopped.

22 Day Morne

PRaise [a] the Lord, because he is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.
2 Let them [b] which haue been redeemed of the Lord, shew how hee hath deliuered them from the hand of the oppressour,
3 And gathered them out of the landes, from the East and from the West, from the North and from the [||] South.
4 When they wandered in the desert and wildernesse out of the way, and found no city to dwell in,
5 [c] Both hungry and thirstie, their soule fainted in them.
6 Then they cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse,
7 And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation.
8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.
9 For he satisfied the thirstie soule, and filled the hungry soule with goodnesse.
10 They that dwell in darknesse and in the shadow of death, being bound in misery and yron, 11 Because they [d] rebelled against the words of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most High.
12 When hee humbled their heart with heauinesse, then they fell downe, and there was no helper.
13 Then they [e] cried vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

a This notable sentence was in the beginning vsed as the foote or tenour of the song, which was oftentimes repeated.
b As this was true in the Iewes, so is there none of Gods elect, that feele not his helpe in their necessitie ||Or, from the sea: meaning the red sea, which is on the South part of the land.
c He sheweth that there is none affliction so grieuous out of the which God wil not deliuer his, and also exhorteth them, that are deliuered, to be mindfull of so great a benefit.
d Then the true way to obey God is to follow his expresse commandement: also hereby all are exhorted to descend into themselues, forasmuch as none are punished, but for their sinnes.
e He sheweth that the cause why God doeth punish vs extremely, is because we can be brought vnto him by none other meanes.

h By healing them he declareth his good will toward them.

i Meaning, their diseases, which had almost brought them to the graue and corruption.

k Praise & confession of Gods benefits are the true sacrifices of the godly.

l He sheweth by the sea, what care God hath ouer man, for in that that he deliuereth them from the great dangers of the sea, he deliuereth them, as it were from a thousand deaths.

m Their feare and danger is so great.

n When their arte and meanes faile them, they are compelled to confesse that only Gods prouidence doth preserue them.

o Though before euery drop seemed to fight one against another, yet at his commandement they are as still, as though they were frosen.

p This great benefit ought not onely to be considered particularly, but magnified in all places, and assemblies. ‖ Or, saltnesse.

q For the loue that he beareth to his Church, he changeth the order of nature for their commoditie.

r Continuall increase and yeerely.

s As God by his prouidence doth exalt men, so doth he also humble them by afflictions to know themselues.

14 He brought them out of darkenesse, and out of the shadow of death, and brake their bands asunder.

15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull works before the sonnes of men.

16 For he hath broken the gates of braſſe, and hewn the barres of yron asunder.

17 s Fooles by reason of their transgression, & because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their soule abhorreth all meate, and they are brought to deaths doore.

19 Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuereth them from their distresse.

20 t He sendeth his word and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their graues.

21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull works before the sonnes of men, 22 And let them offer sacrifices of u praise, and declare his works with reioycing.

23 They that goe downe to the x sea in ships, and occupie by the great waters, 24 They see the workes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For he commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waues thereof.

26 They mount vp to the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule y melteth for trouble.

27 They are tossed to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their z cunning is gone.

28 Then they crie vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 He turneth the storme to calme, so that the waues thereof are still.

30 When they are a quieted, they are glad, and he bringeth them vnto the hauen where they would be.

31 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull works before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the b Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders.

33 He turneth the floods into a wildernes, and the springs of waters into drinesse, 34 And a fruitful land into ‖ barrennesse, for the wickednes of them that dwell therein.

35 Againe he c turneth the wildernesse into pooles of water, and the drie land into water springs.

36 And there he placeth the hungrie, and they build a citie to dwell in,

37 And sow the fields, & plant vineyards, which bring forth fruitfull d increase.

38 For he blesseth them, and they multiplie exceedingly, and bee diminished not their cattell.

39 e Againe men are diminished, and brought low by oppression, euill, and sorrow.

40 He powreth f contempt vpon princes, and causeth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet hee raiseth vp the poore out of miserie, and maketh him families like a flocke of sheepe.

42 The g righteous shall see it, & reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise, that hee may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

PSAL. CVIII.

This Psalme is composed of two other Psalmes before, the seuen and fiftieth and the sixtieth. The matter here contained is, 1 That Dauid giueth himselfe with heart and voyce to praise the Lord, 7 And assureth himselfe of the promise of God concerning his kingdom ouer Israel, and his power against other nations: 11 Whe though he seeme to forsake vs for a time, yet he alone will in the end cast downe our enemies.

A song or Psalme of Dauid.

O God, mine heart is h prepared, so is my tongue: I will sing and giue praise.

2 Awake viole and harpe: I will awake early.

3 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the i people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercy is great aboue the heauens, and thy truth vnto the clouds.

5 k Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauens, and let thy glory bee vpon all the earth.

6 That thy beloued may bee deliuered: l helpe with thy right hand and heare mee.

7 God hath spoken in his holines: therefore I will reioyce, I shall diuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead shall be mine, & Manasseh shall be mine: Ephraim also shall be the strength of mine head: Iudah is my law-giuer.

9 m Moab shall be my washpot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina will I triumph.

10 Who will leade me into the strong citie? who will bring me into Edom?

11 n Wilt not thou, O God, which hadst forsaken vs, and diddest not goe forth, O God, with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we shall doe valiantly: for he shall tread downe our enemies.

t For their wickednes & tyranny he causeth the people & subiects to contemne them.

u They, whose faith is lightened by Gods Spirit, shal reioice to see Gods iudgements against the wicked & vngodly.

PSAL. CIX.

1 Dauid being falsly accused by flatterers vnto Saul, prayeth God to helpe him, and to destroy his enemies. 8 And vnder them he speaketh of Iudas the traitour vnto Iesus Christ, and of all the like enemies of the children of God: 27 And desireth so to be deliuered, that his enemies may knowe the worke to be of God. 30 Then doth hee promise to giue prayses vnto God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

HOlde not thy tongue, O God of my praise.

2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit are opened vpon mee: they haue spoken to mee with a lying tongue.

3 They compassed mee about also with words of hatred, and fought against mee without a cause.

4 For my friendship they were mine aduersaries, but I gaue my selfe to prayer.

5 And they haue rewarded mee euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersarie stand at his right hand.

7 When hee shall be iudged, let him bee condemned, and let his prayer bee turned into sinne.

8 Let his dayes bee few, and let another take his charge.

9 Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children bee vagabonds and beg and seeke bread, comming out of their places destroyed.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that hee hath, and let the stranger spoyle his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him, neither let there be any to shew mercie vpon his fatherlesse children.

13 Let his posteritie bee destroyed, and in the generation following let their name bee put out.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers bee had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother bee done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memorial from the earth.

16 Because hee remembred not to shew mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull hearted, to slay him.

17 As hee loued cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as he loued not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.

18 As hee clothed himselfe with cursing like a raiment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it bee vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle, wherewith hee shall be alway girded.

20 Let this be the reward of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them, that speake euill against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with mee according to thy Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercy is good.)

22 Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the grashopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnesse.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon mee, shooke their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: O saue me according to thy mercie.

27 And they shal know, that this is thine hand, and that thou, Lord, hast done it.

28 Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse: they shall arise and bee confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries bee clothed with shame, and let them couer themselues with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I will giue thankes vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For he will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would condemne his soule.

PSAL. CX.

1 Dauid prophesieth of the power and euerlasting kingdome giuen to Christ. 4 And of his Priesthood, which should passe vnto the Priesthood of Leui.

A Psalme of Dauid.

THe Lord said vnto my Lord, Sit thou at my right hand, vntill I make thine enemies thy footstoole.

2 The Lord shall send the rodde of thy power out of Sion: bee thou ruler in the middest of thine enemies.

3 Thy people shall come willingly at the time of assembling thine armie in holy beautie: the youth of thy wombe shall bee as the morning dewe.

4 The Lord sware, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer after the order of Melchi-zedek.

5 The Lord that is at thy right hand, shall wound kings in the day of his wrath.

6 He shall be iudge among the heathen: he shall fil all with dead bodies, and smite the head ouer great countreys.

7 He shall drinke of the brooke in the way: therefore shall he lift vp his head.

a Though all the world condemne me, yet thou wilt approue mine innocencie, and that is a sufficient prayse to me.

b To declare that I had none other refuge, but in thee in whom my conscience was at rest.

c Whether it were Doeg or Saul, or some familiar friend, that had betrayed him, he prayeth not of priuate affection, but moued by Gods Spirit that God would take vengeance vpon him.

d As to the elect all things turne to their profit: so to the reprobate, euen those things that are good, turne to their damnation.

e This was chiefly accomplished in Iudas, Actes 1.20.

f He declareth that the curse of God lieth vpon the extortioners: who thinking to enrich their children by their vnlawfull gotten goods, are by Gods iust iudgement depriued of all.

g Thus punisheth the Lord to the third and fourth generation the wickednesse of the parents in their wicked children.

h He sheweth that God accustometh to plague them after a strange sort, that shew themselues cruell toward other.

i Thus giueth the Lord to euery man the thing wherein hee delighteth, that the reprobate cannot accuse God of wrong, when they are giuen vp to their lustes and reprobate mindes.

k For being destitute of mans helpe, hee fully trusted in the Lord, that hee would deliuer him.

l As thou art named merciful, gracious and long suffering, so shew thy selfe in effect.

m Meaning, that he hath no stay nor assurance in this world.

n For hunger, that came of sorrow, hee was leane, and his naturall moisture failed him.

o The more grieuous that Satan assailed him, the more earnest and instant was he in prayer.

p They shall gaine nothing by cursing me.

q Not onely in confessing it secretly in my selfe: but also in declaring it before all: he had not to doe with the Congregation.

r Hereby he sheweth that the iudges and princes of the world.

a Iesus Christ in the two and twentie of Mat. verse 44. giueth the interpretation hereof, and sheweth that this cannot properly be applied vnto Dauid, but to himselfe.

b And thence it shall stretch through all the world: and this power chiefly standeth in the preaching of his word.

c By thy word thy people shall be assembled into thy Church, whose increase shall be so abundant and wonderfull as the drops of the dewe.

d As Melchi-zedek the figure of Christ was both King and Priest: so the effect cannot bee accomplished in any King, saue only in Christ. Hebr. 7. 26.

e No power shall be able to resist him.

f Vnder this similitude of a captaine, that is so greedie to destroy his enemies, that he will not scarce drinke by the way, he sheweth how God will destroy his enemies.

PSAL. CXI.

1 He giueth thanks to the Lord for his wonderfull workes towarde his Church, 10 And declareth wherein true wisedome and right knowledge consisteth.

Dpraise.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

I Will a praise the Lorde with my whole heart in the assembly and Congregation of the iust.

2 The works of the Lord are b great, and ought to be sought out of all them that loue them.

3 His worke is beautifull and glorious, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.

4 He hath made his wonderful works to be had in remembrance: the Lord is mercifull and full of compassion.

5 Hee hath giuen a || portion vnto them that feare him: he will euer be mindful of his couenant.

6 He hath shewed to his people the power of his workes in giuing vnto them the heritage of the heathen.

7 The c workes of his hands are trueth and iudgement: all his statutes are true,

8 They are stablished for euer and euer, and are done in trueth and equitie.

9 Hee sent redemption vnto his people: hee hath commanded his couenant for euer: holy and fearefull is his Name.

10 d The beginning of wisdome is the feare of the Lord: al they that obserue them haue good vnderstanding: his praise endureth for euer.

a The Prophet declareth that he will praise God both priuately and openly, and that from the heart, as he that consecrateth himselfe wholly and onely vnto God.

b He sheweth that Gods works are a sufficient cause wherefore we should praise him, but chiefly his benefits toward his Church.

c God hath giuen to his people all that was necessary for them, and will do still euen for his couenants sake: and in this sense the Hebrew word is taken, Prou. 30 8 and 31.15. ||Or, pray and feede.

d As God promised to take the care of his Church: so in effect doeth he declare himselfe iust & true ig the gouernment of the same.

e They onely are wise that feare God, and none haue vnderstanding, but they that obey his word.

f To wit, his commandements, as verse 7.

PSAL. CXII.

1 Hee praiseth the felicitie of them that feare God, 10 And condemneth the cursed state of the contemners of God.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

BLessed is the man that a feareth the Lord and delighteth greatly in his commandements.

2 His seed shalbe mighty vpon earth, the generation of the righteous shalbe blessed.

3 b Riches & treasures shalbe in his house, and his righteousnesse endureth for euer.

4 Vnto the c righteous ariseth light in darkenesse: he is mercifull and full of compassion and righteous.

5 A good man is mercifull and d lendeth, & will measure his affaires by iudgement.

6 Surely he shall neuer bee moued: but the righteous shall be had in euerlasting remembrance.

7 He will not be afraid of euill tydings: for his heart is fixed, and beleeueth in the Lord.

8 His heart is stablished: therefore he will not feare, vntill he see his desire vpon his enemies.

9 He hath e distributed and giuen to the poore: his righteousnes remaineth for euer: his f horne shalbe exalted with glory.

10 The wicked shall see it and bee angry: he shal gnash with his teeth, and g consume away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

a Hee meaneth that reuerent feare which is in the children of God, which causeth them to delight only in the word of God.

b The godly shal haue abundance & contentment, because their heart is satisfied in God onely.

c The faithful in all their aduersities know that al shal go wel with them: for God will be mercifull and iust.

d He sheweth what is the fruit of mercie: to lend freely & not forgaine, and so to measure his doings, that he may be able to helpe where need requireth and not to bestow all on himselfe.

e The godly pinch not nigardly, but distribute liberally, as the necessitie of the poore requireth, and as his power is able.

f His power and prosperous estate should not earnestly extoll his name?

e By preferring the poore to high honour, and giuing the barren children, he sheweth that God worketh not onely in his Church by ordinarie meanes, but also by miracles.

g The blessings of God vpon his children shall cause the wicked to die for enuy.

PSAL. CXIII.

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord for his prouidence, 7 In that that contrary to the course of nature he worketh in his Church.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

PRaise, O ye seruants of the Lord, a praise the Name of the Lord.

2 Blessed be the Name of the Lord, from henceforth and for euer.

3 The Lords name is praised from the rising of the sunne, vnto the going downe of the same.

4 The Lord is high aboue all b nations, and his glory aboue the heauens.

5 Who is like vnto the Lorde our God, that hath his dwelling on high!

6 Who abaseth himselfe to behold things in the heauen and in the earth!

7 He raiseth the needy out of the dust, and lifteth vp the c poore out of the dung,

8 That he may set him with the princes, euen with the princes of his people.

9 He maketh a barren woman to dwell with a family, and a ioyfull mother of children. Praise ye the Lord.

a By this often repetition, hee stirreth vp our cold dulnesse to praise God seeing his works are so wonderfull, and that we are created for the same cause.

b If Gods glory shine through all the world, and therefore of all ought to be praised, what great condemnation were it to his people, among whom chiefly it shineth, if they 24 This is the i day, which the Lord hath made: let vs reioyce and be glad in it.

25 m O Lord, I pray thee, saue now: O Lord I pray thee, now giue prosperity.
26 Blessed bee hee, that commeth in the Name of the Lord: n wee haue blessed you out of the house of the Lord.
27 The Lord is mighty, and hath giuen vs o light: binde the sacrifice with cordes vnto the hornes of the altar.
28 Thou art my God, and I will praise thee, euen my God: therefore I will exalt thee.
29 Praise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his mercy endureth for euer.

c Being exalted to this estate, he assured himselfe to haue man ener to be his enemy: yet he doubted not, but God would maintaine him, because he had placed him.
d He sheweth that he had trusted in vaine, if he had put his confidence in man, to haue bene preferred to the kingdome, and therfore he put his trust in God, and obteined.
e He noteth Saul his chiefe enemie.
f In that he was deliuered, it came not of himselfe, nor of the power of man, but onely of Gods fauour: therefore he will praise him.
g He promiseth both to render graces himselfe, and to cause others to doe the same, because that in his person the Church was restored.
h So that all that are both farre & neere, may see his mighty power.
i He willeth the doores of the Tabernacle to be opened, that he may declare his thankfull minde. Isa. 28. 16 matt. 21. 42. acts 4. 11. rom. 9. 33. 1. pet. 2. 6, 7.
k Though Saul and the chiefe powers refused me to be king, yet God hath preferred me aboue them all. l Wherein God hath shewed chiefly his mercy in appointing mee king, and deliuering his Church. m The people pray for the prosperitie of Dauids kingdome, who was the figure of Christ. n Which are the Priests, and haue the charge thereof, as Numb. 6. 23. o Because he hath restored vs from darknesse to light, we will offer sacrifices and prayses vnto him.

PSAL. CXIX.

a The Prophet exhorteth the children of God to frame their liues according to his holy word. 129 Also he sheweth wherein the true seruice of God standeth: that is, when we serue him according to his word, and not after our owne fantasies.

ALEPH.

BLessed are b those that are vpright in their way, and walke in the law of the Lord.
2 Blessed are they that keepe his testimonies, and seeke him with their whole heart.
3 Surely they worke c none iniquity, but walke in his wayes.
4 Thou hast commaunded to keepe thy precepts diligently.
5 d Oh that my wayes were directed to keepe thy statutes!
6 Then should I not bee confounded, when I haue respect vnto all thy commandements.
7 I will prayse thee with an vpright e heart, when I shall learne the f iudgements of thy righteousnesse.
8 I will keepe thy statutes: forsake me not f ouerlong.

a Here they are not called blessed which thinke themselues wise in their owne iudgement, nor which imagine to themselues a certain holinesse, but they whose conuersation is without hypocrisie.
b For they are ruled by Gods spirit, and imbrace no doctrine but his.
c Dauid acknowledgeth his imperfection, desiring God to reforme it, that his life may be conformable to Gods word. d For true religion standeth in serueing God without hypocrisie. e That is, thy precepts, which conteine perfect righteousnes. f He refuseth not to be tried by tentations, but he feareth to faint, if God succour not his infirmity in time.

BETH.

9 Wherewith shall a g yong man reduse his way? in taking heed thereto according to thy word.
10 With my whole heart haue I sought thee: let me not wander from thy commandements.
11 I haue h hid thy promise in mine heart, that I might not sinne against thee.
12 Blessed art thou, O Lord: teach mee thy statutes.
13 With my lippes haue I declared all the iudgements of thy mouth.
14 I haue had as great i delight in the way of thy testimonies, as in all riches.
15 I will meditate in thy precepts, and consider thy wayes.
16 I will delight in thy statutes, and I will not forget thy word.

g Because youth is most giuen to licentiousnesse, he chiefly warneth them to frame their liues betime to Gods word.
h If Gods word be graue in our hearts, we shall be more able to resist the assaults of Satan: and therefore the Prophet desireth God to instruct him dayly more and more therein. c The Prophet doeth not boast of his vertues, but setteth forth an example for others to follow Gods word and leaue worldly vanities.

GIMEL.

17 Be beneficiall vnto thy seruant, that I may k liue and keepe thy word.
18 Open mine eyes, that I may see the wonders of thy Law.
19 I am a l stranger vpon earth: hide not thy commandements from me.
20 My heart breaketh for the desire to thy iudgements alway.
21 Thou m hast destroyed the proude: cursed are they that doe erre from thy commandements.

i He sheweth that we ought not to desire to liue, but to serue God, and that we cannot serue him aright, except he open our eyes and mindes.
b Seeing mans life in this world is but a passage, what should become of him, if thy word were not his guide? c In all ages thou hast plagued all such, which disobediently and contemptuously depart from thy truth.

22 Remoue

22 Remoue from me shame & contempt: for I haue kept thy testimonies.

d When the powers of the world gaue false sentence against me, thy worde was a guide and counseller to teach me what to doe, and to comfort me.

23 d Princes also did sit, & speake against me: but thy seruant did meditate in thy statutes.

24 Also thy testimonies are my delight, and my counsellers.

DALETH.

a That is, it is almost brought to the graue, and without thy word I cannot liue.

25 My soule cleaueth to the a dust: quicken me according to thy word.

b I haue confessed mine offences, and now depend wholly on thee.

26 I haue b declared my wayes, and thou heardest me: teach me thy statutes.

c If God did not maintaine vs by his word, our life would drop away like water.

27 Make mee to vnderstand the way of thy precepts, and I will meditate in thy wonderous works.

28 My soule melteth for heauinesse: raise me vp according vnto thy c word.

d Instruct me in thy word, whereby my mind may be purged from vanity, and taught to obey thy will.

29 Take from me the d way of lying, and grant me graciously thy Law.

30 I haue chosen the way of trueth, and thy iudgements haue I layd before me.

e By this he sheweth that we can neither chuse good, cleaue to Gods word, nor run forward in his way, except he make our hearts large to receiue his grace, and willing to obey.

31 I haue cleaued to thy testimonies, O Lord: confound me not.

32 I will runne the way of thy commandements, when thou e shalt inlarge mine heart.

Mon. 26 Day

HE.

a He sheweth that he cannot follow on to the end, except God teach him oft times, and leade him forward.

33 Teach a me, O Lord, the way of thy statutes, and I will keepe it vnto the end.

b Not onely in outward conuersation, but also with inward affection

34 Giue me vnderstanding, and I will keepe thy Law: yea, I will keepe it with my whole b heart.

c Hereby meaning all other vices, because that couetousnes is the roote of all euill.

35 Direct me in the path of thy commandements: for therein is my delight.

36 Incline mine heart vnto thy testimonies, and not to c couetousnes.

37 Turne away mine d eyes from regarding vanity, and quicken me in thy way.

d Meaning all his senses. e Let me not fall to thy dishonour, but let mine heart stil delight in thy gracious word. f Giue me strength to continue in thy word euen to the end.

38 Stablish thy promise to thy seruant, because he feareth thee.

39 Take away e my rebuke that I feare: for thy iudgements are good.

40 Beholde, I desire thy commaundements: f quicken me in thy righteousnesse, VAV.

a He sheweth that Gods mercie and loue is the first cause of our saluation.

41 And let thy a louing kindnesse come vnto me, O Lord, & thy saluation according to thy promise.

b By trusting in Gods word, he assureth himselfe to be able to confute the slanders of his aduersaries.

42 So shall I b make answere vnto my blasphemers: for I trust in thy word.

43 And take not the word of trueth vterly out of my mouth: for I waite for thy iudgements.

c They that simply walke after Gods word haue no lets to entangle them, whereas they that doe contrary, are euer in nets & snares.

44 So shall I alway keepe thy law for euer and euer.

45 And I will c walke at libertie: for I seeke thy precepts.

46 I will speake also of thy testimonies before a kings, and will not be ashamed.

47 And my delight shall be in thy commandements, which I haue loued.

48 Mine hands also will I lift vp vnto thy commandements, which I haue loued, and I will meditate in thy statutes.

ZAIN.

49 Remember a the promise made to thy seruant, wherein thou hast caused mee to trust.

a Though hee feele Gods hand still to lie vpon him, yet he resteth on his promise and comforteth himselfe therein.

50 It is my comfort in my trouble: for thy promise hath quickened me.

51 The b proud haue had me exceedingly in derision: yet haue I not declined from thy Law.

b Meaning the wicked, which contemne Gods word, and tread his religion vnder foote.

52 I remembred thy c iudgements of old, O Lord, and haue bene comforted.

c That is, the examples, whereby thou declarest thy selfe to be iudge of ſ world.

53 d Feare is come vpon me for the wicked, that forsake thy Law.

54 Thy statutes haue bene my songs in the house of my e pilgrimage.

e That is, a vehement zeale to thy glory, and indignation against the wicked. e In the course of this life and sorrowfull exile.

55 I haue remembred thy Name, O Lord, in the f night, and haue kept thy Law.

f Euen when other sleepe. g That is, all these benefits.

56 g This I had because I kept thy precepts.

CHETH.

57 O Lord, that art my a portion, I haue determined to keepe thy words.

a I am perswaded that to keepe thy law is an heritage and great gaine for me.

58 I made my supplication in thy presence with my whole heart: be merciful vnto me according to thy promise.

59 I haue considered my b wayes, & turned my feete into thy testimonies.

b He sheweth that none can embrace the word of God, except he consider his owne imperfections and wayes.

60 I made haste, & delayed not to keepe thy commandements.

61 The bands of the wicked haue c robbed me: but I haue not forgotten thy Law.

c They haue gone about to draw mee into their company.

62 At midnight will I rise to giue thanks vnto thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

63 I am d companion of all them that feare thee, and keepe thy precepts.

d Not onely in mutuall consent,

64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: e teach me thy statutes.

but also with ayde and succour. e For the knowledge of Gods word is a singular token of his fauour.

TETH.

65 O Lorde, thou hast dealt a graciously with thy seruant according vnto thy word.

a Hauing proued by experience that God was true in his promise, he desireth that he would increase in him knowledge and iudgement.

66 Teach me good iudgement & knowledge: for I haue beleeued thy commandements.

67 Before I was b afflicted, I went astray: but now I keepe thy word.

b So Ieremie saith that before the Lord touched him, hee was like a calfe vntamed: so that the vse of Gods rods is to call vs home to God.

68 Thou art good and gracious: teach me thy statutes.

69 The proude haue imagined a lie against mee: but I will keepe thy precepts with my whole heart.

c Their heart is indurate and hardened, puffed vp with prosperitie and vaine estimation of themselues.
d He confesseth that before that he was chastened, he was rebellious, as man by nature is.

70 c Their heart is fat as grease: but my delight is in thy Law.
71 It is d good for mee that I haue bene afflicted, that I may learne thy statutes.
72 The Law of thy mouth is better vnto me, then thousands of gold and siluer.

25 day IOD. Evening

a Because God leaueth not his worke, that hee hath begun, he desireth a new grace, that is, that he would continue his mercies.
b When God sheweth his grace toward any, he testifieth to others, that he faileth not them that trust in him.
‡ Ebr. in trueth.
c He declareth that when hee felt not Gods mercies, hee was as dead.
d That is, be comforted my mine example.

73 Thine hands haue a made mee, and fashioned me: giue me vnderstanding therefore, that I may learne thy commaundements.
74 So they that b feare thee, seeing mee, shall reioyce, because I haue trusted in thy word.
75 I know, O Lord, that thy iudgements are right, and that thou hast afflicted mee ‡ iustly.
76 I pray thee that thy mercie may comfort mee according to thy promise vnto thy seruant.
77 Let thy tender mercies come vnto mee, that I may c liue: for thy Lawe is my delight.
78 Let the proud bee ashamed: for they haue dealt wickedly, and falsely with me: but I meditate in thy precepts.
79 Let such as feare thee, d turne vnto me, and they that e know thy testimonies.
80 Let mine heart bee vpright in thy statutes, that I be not ashamed.

e Hee sheweth that there can bee no true feare of God without the knowledge of his word.

CAPH.

a Though my strength faile me, yet my soule groneth and sigheth, resting stil in thy word.
b Like a skin-bottle or bladder that is parched in the smoke.
c How long wilt thou afflict thy seruant?
d They haue not onely oppressed me violently, but also craftily conspired against me.

81 My soule a fainteth for thy saluation: yet I wait for thy word.
82 Mine eyes faile for thy promise, saying, When wilt thou comfort me?
83 For I am like a b bottell in the [illegible]: yet doe I not forget thy statutes.
84 How many are the c dayes of thy seruant? c When wilt thou execute iudgement on them that persecute me?
85 The proud haue d digged pits for me, which is not after thy Law.
86 All thy commandements are true: they persecute me falsly: e helpe me.
87 They had almost consumed f me vpon the earth: but I forsooke not thy precepts.
88 Quicken mee according to thy louing kindnesse: so shall I keepe the testimonie of thy mouth.

e, f Hee assureth himselfe that God will deliuer him, and destroy such as vniustly persecute them. f Finding no helpe in earth, he lifteth vp his eyes to heauen.

LAMED.

a Because none should esteeme Gods word, according to the changes of things in this world, he sheweth that it abideth in heauen, and therefore is immutable.

89 O Lord, thy word endureth for euer in a heauen.
90 Thy truetly is from generation to generation: thou hast laide the foundation of the earth, and it abideth.
91 They b continue euen to this day by thine Ordinances: for all are thy seruants.
92 Except thy Law had bene my delight, I should now haue perished in mine affliction.
93 I will neuer forget thy precepts: for by them thou hast quickened me.
94 I am c thine, saue me: for I haue sought thy precepts.
95 The wicked haue waited for mee to destroy me: but I will consider thy testimonies.
96 I haue d seene an end of all perfection: but thy commandement is exceeding large.

b Seeing the earth and all creatures remaine in that state, wherein thou hast created them, much more thy truth remaineth constant and vnchangeable.

c He proueth by effect, that he is Gods childe, because he seeketh to vnderstand his word.
d There is nothing so perfect in earth, but it hath an ende: onely Gods word lasteth for euer.

MEM.

a He sheweth that we cannot loue Gods word, except we exercise our selues therein and practise it.
b Whosoeuer doeth submit himselfe onely to Gods word, shall not onely be safe against the practises of his enemies, but also learne more wisedome, then they that professe it, and are men of experience.

97 Oh how loue I thy Law! a it is my meditation continually.
98 By thy commaundements thou hast made me wiser then mine enemies: for they are euer with me.
99 I haue had more b vnderstanding then all my teachers: for thy testimonies are my meditation.
100 I vnderstood more then the ancient, because I kept thy precepts.
101 I haue refrained my feet from euery euill way, that I might keepe thy word.
102 I haue not declined from thy iudgements: for c thou didst teach me.
103 How sweete are thy promises vnto my mouth? yea, more then honie vnto my mouth.
104 By thy precepts I haue gotten vnderstanding: therefore I hate all the wayes of falshood.

e So then of our selues we can doe nothing, but when God doth inwardly instruct vs with his Spirit, we feele his graces sweeter then honie.

2 day NVN. Noone

a Of our selues we are but darknesse, and cannot see, except we be lightened with Gods word.
b So al the faithful ought to bind themselues to God by a solemne othe and promise to stirre vp their zeale to imbrace Gods word.
c That is my praiers & thanksgiuing, which sacrifice Hosea calleth the calues of the lips, Chap 14. verse 3. d That is, I am in continuall danger of my life. e I esteemed no worldly things, but made thy word mine inheritance.

105 Thy word is a a lanterne vnto my feete, and a light vnto my path.
106 I haue b sworne and will performe it, that I will keepe thy righteous iudgements.
107 I am very sore afflicted: O Lord, quicken me, according to thy word.
108 O Lord, I beseech thee, accept the c free offerings of my mouth, and teach me thy iudgements.
109 My d soule is continually in mine hand: yet doe I not forget thy Law.
110 The wicked haue layde a snare for me: but I swarued not from thy precepts.
111 Thy testimonies haue I taken as an e heritage for euer: for they are the ioy of mine heart.
112 I haue applied mine heart to fulfill thy statutes alway, euen vnto the end.

SAMECH.

a Whosoeuer will imbrace Gods worde aright, must abhorre all fantasies and imaginations both of himself & the Law of the Lord.

113 I hate a vaine inuentions: but thy Law doe I loue.
114 Thou art my refuge and shield, and I trust in thy word.
115 b Away from me, yee wicked: for I will keepe the commandements of my God.

b And hinder me not to keepe the Law of the Lord and of others.

116 Stablish

Thist 16 Aug 1603

T. A. B. Friday 1599

C C. B Dd Jan 7 1756

c He desireth Gods continuall assistance, lest he should faine in this race, which he had begun.
d The craftie practises of them that contemne thy law, shall be brought to nought.
e Which infected thy people, as drosse doth the mettall, not onely teach me obedience, but cause mee to feare, considering mine owne weaknesse, which feare causeth repentance.

116 Stablish mee according to thy promise, that I may liue, and disappoint me not of mine hope.
117 c Stay thou mee, and I shall be safe, & I will delight continually in thy statutes.
118 Thou hast troden downe all them that depart from thy statutes: for their d deceit is vaine.
119 Thou hast taken away all the wicked of the earth like e drosse: therefore I loue thy testimonies.
120 My flesh f trembleth for feare of thee, and I am afraid of thy iudgements.

AIN.

a Put thy selfe betweene mine enemies and me, as if thou were my pledge.
b He boasteth not that he is Gods seruant, but hereby putteth God in mind, that as he made him his by his grace, so he would continue his fauour toward him.
c The Prophet sheweth that when the wicked haue brought all things to confusion, and Gods word to vtter contempt, then it is Gods time to helpe, & send remedie. d That is, whatsoeuer disenteth from the purtie of thy word.

121 I haue executed iudgement and iustice: leaue me not to mine oppressours.
122 a Answere for thy seruaunt in that which is good, and let not the proud oppresse mee.
123 Mine eyes haue failed in waiting for thy saluation, and for thy iust promise.
124 Deale with thy b seruaunt according to thy mercie, and teach me thy statutes.
125 I am thy seruant: graunt mee therefore vnderstanding, that I may knowe thy testimonies.
126 It is c time for thee, Lord, to worke: for they haue destroyed thy Law.
127 Therefore loue I thy commandements aboue gold, yea, aboue most fine gold.
128 Therefore I esteeme all thy precepts most iust, and hate all false d wayes.

PE.

a Conteining high and secret mysteries, so that I am moued with admiration and reuerence.
b The simple idiots that submit themselues to God, haue their eyes opened, and their mindes illuminated so soone as they beginne to read Gods word.
c My zeale toward thy word was so great.
d He sheweth what ought to be the zeale of Gods children, when they see his word contemned.

129 Thy testimonies are a wonderfull: therefore doth my soule keepe them.
130 The entrance into thy b words sheweth light, and giueth vnderstanding to the simple.
131 I opened my mouth and c panted, because I loued thy commandements.
132 Looke vpon me and be merciful vnto me, as thou vsest to doe vnto those that loue thy Name.
133 Direct my steps in thy word, and let none iniquitie haue dominion ouer me.
134 Deliuer mee from the oppression of men, and I will keepe thy precepts.
135 Shewe the light of thy countenance vpon thy seruant, and teach me thy statutes.
136 Mine eyes gush d out with riuers of water, because they keepe not thy Law.

TSADDI.

a We cannot confesse God to be righteous, except we liue vprightly and truely as he hath commanded. Psal. 69. 9. 1 Iohn 2. 17.
b Gold hath need to be fined, but thy word is perfection it selfe.

137 Righteous art thou, O Lord, and iust are thy iudgements.
138 Thou hast commanded a iustice by thy testimonies and truth especially.
139 *My zeale hath euen consumed me, because mine enemies haue forgotte thy words 140 Thy word is proued b most pure, and thy seruant loueth it.

c This is the true tryall, to praise God in aduersity.
d So that the life of man without the knowledge of God is death.

141 I am c small and despised: yet doe I not forget thy precepts.
142 Thy righteousnesse is an euerlasting righteousnesse, and thy Law is truth.
143 Trouble and anguish are come vpon mee: yet are thy commandements my delight.
144 The righteousnesse of thy testimonies is euerlasting: graunt me vnderstanding, and I shall d liue.

Evening

KOPH.

a He sheweth that all his affections and whole heart were bent to Godward for to haue helpe in his dangers.
b He was more earnest in the studie of Gods word, then they that kept the watch, were in their charge.
Or, customes.
c He sheweth the nature of the wicked to be to persecute against their conscience.

145 I haue a cried with my whole heart: heare me, O Lord, and I will keepe thy statutes.
146 I called vpon thee: saue mee, and I will keepe thy testimonies.
147 I preuented the morning light, and cryed: for I waited on thy word.
148 Mine eyes b preuent the night watches to meditate in thy word.
149 Heare my voyce according to thy louing kindnesse: O Lord, quicken me according to thy iudgement.
150 They draw neere, that follow after c malice, and are farre from thy Law.
151 Thou art neere, O Lord: for all thy commandements are true.
152 I haue knowen long since d by thy testimonies, that thou hast established them for euer.

d His faith is grounded vpon Gods word, that he would euer be at hand when his children be oppressed.

RESH.

a For without Gods promise there is no hope of deliuerance.
b According to thy promise made in the law, which because the wicked lack, they can haue no hope of saluation.
c My zeale consumed me when I saw their malice & contempt of thy glory.
d It is a sure signe of our adoption, when wee loue the law of God.
e Since thou first promisedst, euen to the end all thy sayings are true.

153 Behold mine affliction, and deliuer me: for I haue not forgotten thy Law.
154 Pleade my cause, and deliuer mee: quicken me according to thy a word.
155 [illegible]saluation is farre from the wicked, because they seeke not thy statutes.
156 [illegible]reat are thy tender mercies, O Lord: quicken me according to thy b iudgements.
157 My persecuters and mine oppressours are many, yet doe I not swarue from thy testimonies.
158 I saw the transgressours and was c grieued, because they kept not thy word.
159 Consider, O Lord, how I d loue thy precepts: quicken mee according to thy louing kindnesse.
160 The e beginning of thy worde is trueth, and all the iudgements of thy righteousnesse endure for euer.

SCHIN.

a The threatnings & persecutions of princes could not cause me to shrinke to confesse thee, whom I more feare then men.
b That is, often & sundry times.

161 Princes haue a persecuted me without cause, but mine heart stood in awe of thy words.
162 I reioyced at thy word, as one that findeth a great spoyle.
163 I hate falshood and abhorre it, but thy Law doe I loue.
164 b Seuen times a day doe I praise thee, because of thy righteous iudgements.

165 They,

c For their conscience assureth them, that they please thee, wheras they that loue not thee, haue the contrary.
d He sheweth that we must first haue faith, before we can worke and please God.
e I had no respect of men, but set thee alwayes before mine eyes, as the iudge of my doings.

165 They, c that loue thy Law, shall haue great prosperitie, and they shall haue none hurt.
166 Lord, I haue d trusted in thy saluation, and haue done thy commandements.
167 My soule hath kept thy testimonies: for I loue them exceedingly.
168 I haue kept thy precepts & thy testimonies: e for all my wayes are before thee.

TAV.

a As thou hast promised to be the schoolmaster vnto all them that depend vpon thee.
b The word signifieth to powre foorth continually.
c All his prayer and desire is, to profite in the word of God.
d That is, thy prouident care ouer mee, and wherewith thou wilt iudge mine enemies.
e Being chased to and fro by mine enemies, and hauing no place to rest in.

169 Let my complaint come before thee, O Lord, & giue me vnderstanding, a according vnto thy word.
170 Let my supplication come before thee, and deliuer mee according to thy promise.
171 My lips shall b speake prayse, when thou hast c taught me thy statutes.
172 My tongue shall intreate of thy word: for all thy commandements are righteous.
173 Let thine hand helpe me: for I haue chosen thy precepts.
174 I haue longed for thy saluation, O Lord, and thy Law is my delite.
175 Let my soule liue, and it shall praise thee, and thy d iudgements shall helpe me.
176 I haue e gone astray like a lost sheep: seeke thy seruant, for I doe not forget thy commandements.

27 day PSAL. CXX. Morn

1 The prayer of Dauid being vexed by the false reports of Sauls flatterers. 5 And therefore lamenteth his long abode among those [illegible], 7 Who were giuen to all kinde of wickednesse and contention.

a That is, of lifting vp the tune and rising in singing.
b Albeit the children of God ought to reioyce when they suffer for righteousnes sake, yet it is a great griefe to the flesh to heare euill for well doing.
c Hee assured himself that God would turne their craft to their owne destruction. d He sheweth that there is nothing so sharpe to pearce, nor so hot to set on fire as a slaunderous tongue. e These were people of Arabia, which came of Iaphar, Gen. 10 2. f That is, of the Ishmaelites. g He declareth what he meaneth by Meshech, and Kedar: to wit, the Israelites which had degenerate from their godly fathers, and hated and contended against the faithfull.

A song of a degrees.

1 Called vnto the Lord in my b trouble, and he heard me.
2 Deliuer my soule, O Lord, from lying lips, and from a deceitfull tongue.
3 What doth thy c deceitful tongue bring vnto thee? or what doth it auaile thee?
4 It is as the d sharpe arrowes of a mighty man, and as the coles of iuniper.
5 Woe is to me that I remaine in e Meshech, and dwell in the tents of f Kedar.
6 My soule hath too long dwelt with him that hateth peace.
7 I seeke g peace, and when I speake thereof, they are bent to warre.

PSAL. CXXI.

1 This Psalme teacheth that the faithfull must be onely to looke for helpe at God, 7 Who onely doth maintaine, preserue and prosper his Church.

A song of degrees.

1 I will lift vp mine eyes || vnto the mountaines, from whence mine helpe shall come.
2 Mine helpe commeth from the Lord, which hath made the a heauen and the earth.
3 He will not suffer thy foote to slip: for he that keepeth thee, will not b slumber.
4 Beholde, he that keepeth Israel, will neither slumber nor sleepe.
5 The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shadow at thy right hand.
6 The Sunne shall not c smite thee by day, nor the Moone by night.
7 The Lord shall preserue thee from all euill: he shall keepe thy soule.
8 The Lord shall preserue thy d going out, and thy comming in from henceforth and for euer.

|| Or, about the mountaines: meaning, that there is nothing so high in the world, wherein he can trust, but onely in God.
a He accuseth mans ingratitude, which cannot depend on Gods power.
b He sheweth that Gods prouidence not onely watcheth ouer his Church in general, but also ouer euery member thereof. c Neither heate nor cold, nor any incommodity shalbe able to destroy Gods Church: albeit for a time they may molest it. d Whatsoeuer thou doest enterprise, shal haue good successe.

PSAL. CXXII.

1 Dauid reioyceth in the name of the faithfull that God hath accomplished his promise, & placed his Arke in Zion. 5 For the which hee giueth thanks, 8 And prayeth for the prosperitie of the Church.

A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

1 a Reioyced, when they said to me, Wee will goe into the house of the Lord.
2 Our b feete shall stand in thy gates, O Ierusalem.
3 Ierusalem is builded as a citie, that is c compact together in it selfe:
4 Whereunto the d Tribes, euen the Tribes of the Lord goe vp, according to the testimonie to Israel, to praise the Name of the Lord.
5 For there are thrones set for iudgment, euen the thrones of the house of e Dauid.
6 Pray for the peace of Ierusalem: let them prosper that loue thee.
7 Peace be within thy f walles, and prosperitie within thy palaces.
8 For my g brethren and neighbours sakes I will wish thee now prosperitie.
9 Because of the house of the Lord our God, I will procure thy wealth.

1. Chron. 23. 9.
a He reioyceth that God had appointed a place, where the Arke should still remaine.
b Which were wont to wander to and fro as the Arke remoued.
c By the artificiall ioyning and beauty of the houses, he meaneth the concord & loue that was betweene the citizens.
d All the tribes according to Gods couenant shall come and pray there. e In whose house God placed his throne of Iustice, & made it a figure of Christs kingdome.
f The fauour of God prosper thee both within and without.
g Not onely for mine owne sake, but for all the faithfull.

PSAL. CXXIII.

1 A prayer of the faithfull, which were afflicted either in Babylon, or vnder Antiochus by the wicked worldlings and contemners of God.

A song of degrees.

1 Lift vp mine eyes to thee, that dwellest in the heauens.
2 Behold, as the eyes of a seruants looke vnto the hand of their masters, and as the eyes of a maiden vnto the hand of her mistresse: so our eyes waite vpon the Lord our God, vntill he haue mercie vpon vs.

a He compareth the condition of the godly to seruants that are destitute of all helpe, assuring that when all other helps faile, God is euer at hand & like himself.

3 Haue

b He declareth that when the faithfull are so full, that they can no more endure the oppressions, and scornings of the wicked, there is alway helpe aboue, if with hungry desires they call for it.

3 Haue mercy vpon vs, O Lorde, haue mercy vpon vs: for we haue [b] suffered too much contempt.

4 Our soule is filled too full of the mocking of the wealthy, and of the despitefulnesse of the proud.

PSAL. CXXIIII.

1 The people of God escaping a great perill, doe acknowledge themselues to be deliuered, not by their owne force, but by the power of God. 4 They declare the greatnesse of the perill, 6 And praise the Name of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

a He sheweth that God was ready to helpe at neede, and that there was none other way to be saued, but by his onely meanes.

IF the Lord had not [a] bene on our side (may Israel now say)

2 If the Lord had not beene on our side, when men rose vp against vs,

3 They had then [b] swalowed vs vp [c] quick, when their wrath was kindled against vs.

4 Then the [c] waters had drowned vs, and the streame had gone ouer our soule:

5 Then had the swelling waters gone ouer our soule.

b So vnable were we to resist.

c He vseth most proper similitudes to expresse the great danger, that the Church was in, & out of the which God miraculously deliuered them.

6 Praised be the Lorde, which hath not giuen vs as a pray vnto their teeth.

7 Our soule is escaped, euen as a bird out of the [d] snare of the fowlers: the snare is broken, and we are deliuered.

d For the wicked did not only furiously rage against the faithfull, but craftily imagined to destroy them.

8 Our helpe is in the Name of the Lord, which hath made heauen and earth.

PSAL. CXXV.

1 He describeth the assurance of the faithfull in their afflictions, 4 And desireth their wealth, 5 And the destruction of the wicked.

¶ A song of degrees.

a Though the world be subiect to mutations, yet the people of God shall stand sure, and be defended by Gods prouidence.

THey that trust in the Lord, shall bee as mount Zion, which cannot be [a] remoued, but remaineth for euer.

2 As the mountaines are about Jerusalem: so is the Lorde about his people from henceforth, and for euer.

3 For the [b] rod of the wicked shall not rest on the lot of the righteous, lest the righteous put forth their hand vnto wickednes.

4 Doe well, O Lord, vnto those that be good and true in their hearts.

b Though God suffer his to be vnder the crosse, lest they should imbrace wickednesse, yet this crosse shall not so rest vpon them, that it should driue them from hope and such as haue no zeale of the trueth.

5 [c] But these that turne aside by their crooked wayes, them shal the Lord lead with the workers of iniquitie: but peace shalbe vpon Israel.

c He desireth God to purge his Church from hypocrites

PSAL. CXXVI.

The 27 Day Evening

1 This Psalme was made after the returne of the people from Babylon, and sheweth that the meane of their deliuerance was wonderfull after the seuenty yeeres of captiuitie foretolde by Jeremie, Chap. 25. 12 and 29 10.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

a Their deliuerance was as a thing incredible, & therefore tooke away all excuse of ingratitude.

WHen the Lorde brought againe the captiuitie of Zion, we were like them that [a] dreame.

2 Then was our mouth [b] filled with laughter, and our tongue with toy: then sayd they among the [c] heathen, The Lorde hath done great things for them.

3 The Lord hath done great things for vs, whereof we reioyce.

4 O Lorde, bring againe our captiuitie, as the [d] riuers in the South.

5 They that sowe in teares, shall reape in ioy.

6 They went weeping and carried [e] precious seede: but they shall returne with ioy and bring their sheaues.

b He sheweth how the godly ought to reioice, whe God gathereth his Church or deliuereth it.

c If the infidels confesse Gods wonderfull worke, the faithfull can neuer shew themselues sufficiently thankefull.

d It is no more impossible to God to deliuer his people, then to cause the riuers to runne in the wildernes & barren places. e That is, seed which was scarce and deare: meaning, that they which trusted in Gods promise to returne, had their desire.

PSAL. CXXVII.

1 He sheweth that the whole estate of the world, both domesticall and politicall standeth by Gods meere prouidence and blessing, 3 And that to haue children well nurtured, is a speciall grace and gift of God.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme. of Salomon.

a That is, gouerne, and dispose all things pertaining to the family.

EXcept the Lorde [a] builde the house, they labour in vaine that builde it: except the Lord keepe the [b] citie, the keeper watcheth in vaine.

2 It is in vaine for you to rise early, and to lie downe late, and eate the bread [c] of sorowe: but he will surely giue [c] rest to his beloued.

b The publique estate of the common wealth.

c Which watch and ward, and are also Magistrates, and rulers of the citie.

3 Beholde, children are the inheritance of the Lorde, and the fruite of the wombe his reward.

4 As are the arrowes in the hand of the strong man: so are the [f] children of youth.

d Either that which is gotten by hard labour, or eaten with 5 Blessed is the man, that hath his quiuer full of them: for they [g] shall not be asha[illegible] when they speake with their enemies in the gate.

griefe of mind. e Not exempting them from labour, but making their labours comfortable, and as it were a rest. f That is, indued with strength and vertues from God: for these are signes of Gods blessings, & not the number. g Such children shalbe able to stop their aduersaries mouthes, when their godly life is maliciously accused before Iudges.

PSAL. CXXVIII.

1 He sheweth that blessednesse appertaineth not to all vniuersally, but to them onely that feare the Lord, and walke in his wayes.

¶ A song of degrees.

a God approueth not our life, except it be reformed according to his word

BLessed is euery one that feareth the Lord, and walketh in his [a] wayes.

2 When thou carest the labours of thine [b] handes, thou shalt be blessed, and it shall be well with thee.

b The world esteemeth them happy, which liue in wealth and idlenes: but the holy Ghost approueth them best, that liue of the meane profite of their labours.

3 Thy wife shall be as the fruitfull vine on the sides of thine house, and thy [c] children like the olive plants round about thy table.

4 Loe, surely thus shall the man be blessed that feareth the Lord.

5 The Lord out of Zion shal [d] bless thee, c Because Gods fauour appeareth in none outward thing more then in increase of children, he promiseth to enrich the faithful with this

d Because of the spirituall blessing which God hath made to his Church, these temporall things shalbe graunted.

and e For except God blessed his Church publickly, this priuate blessing were nothing.

and thou shalt see the wealthy[e] Ierusalem all the dayes of thy life.

6 Yea, thou shalt see thy childrens children, and peace vpon Israel.

PSAL. CXXIX.

1 He admonisheth the Church to reioyce though it be afflicted. 4 For by the righteous Lord it shall be deliuered, 6 and the enemies for all their glorious shew, shall suddenly be destroyed.

¶ A song of degrees.

THey haue oftentimes afflicted me from my youth (may[a] Israel now say)

2 They haue often times afflicted mee from my youth: but they could not preuaile against mee.

3 The plowers plowed vpon my backe, and made long furrowes.

4 But the[b] righteous Lord hath cut the cordes of the wicked.

5 They that hate Zion, shall bee all ashamed and turned backward.

6 [c] They shall bee as the grasse on the house tops, which withereth afore it commeth forth.

7 Whereof the mower filleth not his hand, neither the gleaner his lap:

8 [d] Neither they which go by, say, The blessing of the Lorde be vpon you, or, Wee blesse you in the name of the Lord.

a The Church now afflicted ought to remember, how her condition hath euer bene such from the beginning to be molested most grieuously by the wicked: yet in time it hath euer bene deliuered. b Because God is righteous, he cannot but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his as oxen out of the plow. c The enemies that lift themselues most hie, and as it were, approch neere to the sunne, are consumed with the heat of Gods wrath, because they are not grounded in godly humilitie. d That is, the wicked shall perish and none shall passe for them.

PSAL. CXXX.

1 The people of God from their bottomlesse miseries doe cry vnto God, and are heard. 3 They confesse their sinnes and flee vnto Gods mercie.

¶ A song of degrees.

OVt of the[a] deepe places haue I called vnto thee, O Lord.

2 Lord, heare my voyce: let thine eares attend to the voyce of my prayers.

3 If thou, O Lord, straitly marketh iniquities, O Lord, [b] who shall stand?

4 But mercie is with thee, that thou [c] mayest be feared.

5 I haue waited on the Lord: my soule hath waited, & I haue trusted in his word.

6 My soule waiteth on the Lorde more then the morning watch watcheth for the morning.

7 Let Israel wait on the Lord: for with the Lord is [d] mercy, and with him is great redemption.

8 And he shall redeeme Israel from all his iniquities.

PSAL. CXXXI.

1 Dauid charged with ambition & greedy desire to reigne, protesteth his humilitie & modestie before God, & teacheth all men what they should do.

¶ A song of degrees, or Psalme of Dauid.

LOrd, [a] mine heart is not hautie, neither are mine eyes lofty, neither haue I walked in great [b] matters and hid from me.

2 Surely I haue behaued my self like one weaned from his mother, and kept silence: I am in my selfe as one that is [c] weaned.

a Being in great distres & sorrow. b Hee declareth y we cannot be iust before God, but by forgiuenesse of sinnes. c Because of nature thou art mercifull: therefore the faithfull reuerence thee. d He sheweth to whom the mercy of God doth appertaine: to Israel, that is, to the Church, and not to the reprobate.

a The humilitie he setteth forth his great humilitie, as an example to all rulers and gouernours. b Which passe the measure & limits of his vocation. c He was void of ambition & wicked desires.

3 Let Israel waite on the Lorde from henceforth and for euer.

PSAL. CXXXII.

1 The faithfull grounding on Gods promise made vnto Dauid, desire that hee would establish the same, both as touching his posteritie and the building of the Temple, to pray there as was foretolde, Deut. 12.5.

¶ A song of degrees.

LOrd, remember Dauid with all his [a] affliction.

2 Who sware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mightie God of Iaakob, saying,

3 I [b] will not enter into the Tabernacle of mine house, nor come vpon my palet, or bed,

4 Nor suffer mine eyes to sleep, nor mine eye lids to slumber,

5 Until I find out a place for the Lorde, an habitation for the mighty God of Iaakob.

6 Loe, we heard of it in [c] Ephrathah, & found it in the fields of the forest.

7 We will enter into his Tabernacles, and worship before his footstoole.

8 Arise, O Lord, to come into thy [c] rest, thou, and the arke of thy strength.

9 Let thy Priests be clothed with [d] righteousnesse, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy [e] seruant Dauids sake refuse not the face of thine Anoynted.

11 The Lord hath sworne in trueth vnto Dauid, and hee will not shrinke from it, saying, Of the fruit of thy body will I set vpon thy throne.

12 If thy sonnes keepe my couenant, and my testimonies, that I shall teach them, their sonnes also shall sit vpon thy throne for [f] euer.

13 For the Lord hath chosen Zion, and loued to dwell in it, saying, 14 This is my rest for euer: here will I dwell, for I haue a [g] delight therein.

15 I will surely blesse her vitailes, and will satisfie her poore with bread, 16 And will clothe her priests with [h] saluation, and her Saints shall shout for ioy.

17 There will I make the [i] horne of Dauid to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anoynted.

18 His enemies will I clothe with shame, but on him his crowne shall flourish.

a That is, with how great difficultie he came to the kingdom, and with how great zeale and care he went about to build thy Temple. b Because the chiefe charge of the king was to set forth Gods glory, he sheweth, that he could take no rest, neither would go about any worldly thing, were it neuer so necessarie, before he had executed his office. c That is, the Arke, which was a signe of Gods presence. d The common bruite was that the Arke should remaine in Ephrathah: that is, in Bethlehem a plentifull place: but after, we perceiued that thou wouldest place it in Ierusalem, which was barre as a forest, and compassed about onely with hils. e That is, Ierusalem, because that afterward his Arke should remoue to none other place. f Let the effect of thy grace both appeare in the Priestes and in the people. g As thou first madest promise to Dauid, so continue it to his posteritie, that whatsoeuer they shall aske for their people, it may bee granted. h Because this cannot bee accomplished but in Christ, it followeth that the promise was spirituall. i Meaning, for his owne sake, and not for the plentifulnesse of the place: for he promiseth to blesse it, declaring before, that it was barren. k That is, with my protection, whereby they shalbe safe. l Though his force for a time seemed to be broken, yet he promiseth to restore it.

PSAL. CXXXIII.

1 This Psalme containeth the commendation of brotherly amitie among the seruants of God.

¶ A song of degrees or Psalme of Dauid.

BEholde, howe good and howe comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euen [a] together.

together.

2 It is like to the precious b ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, euen vnto Aarons beard, which went downe on the border of his garments:

3 And as the dewe of c Hermon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for d there the Lord appointed the blessing, and life for euer.

a Because the greatest part were against Dauid, though some fauored him, yet when he was established king, at length they ioyned all together like brethren: & therefore he sheweth by these similitudes the commoditie of brotherly loue. b The ointment was a figure of the graces, which come from Christ the head vnto his Church. c By Hermon and Zion he meaneth the plentifull countrey about Ierusalem. d Where there is such concord.

PSAL. CXXXIIII.

1 He exhorteth the Leuites, watching in the Temple, to prayse the Lord.

¶ A song of degrees.

BEholde, prayse yee the Lord, all yee a seruants of the Lord, ye that by night stand in the house of the Lord.

2 Lift vp your b hands to the Sanctuarie, and prayse the Lord.

3 The Lorde that hath c made heauen and earth, blesse thee out of Zion.

a Ye that are Leuites, and chiefly appointed to this office.

b For their charge was not onely to keepe the Temple, but to pray there and to giue God thankes. c And therefore hath all power, blesse thee with his fatherly loue declared in Zion. Thus the Leuites vsed to praise the Lord, and blesse the people.

PSAL. CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithfull, of what estate soeuer they be, to praise God for his marueilous works, 13 & especially for his graces toward his people, wherein he hath declared his maiestie. 15 to the confusion of all idolaters, and their idoles.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

PRaise the Name of the Lorde: yee seruants of the Lord, praise him.

2 Ye that stande in the a house of the Lord, and in the b courts of the house of our God,

3 Prayse yee the Lord: for the Lord is good: sing prayses vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing.

4 For the Lord hath c chosen Iaakob to himselfe, and Israel for his chiefe treasure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is aboue all gods.

6 Whatsoeuer pleased the Lord, that d did he in heauen and in earth, in the sea, and in all the depths.

7 Hee bringeth vp the cloudes from the endes of the earth, and maketh the * lightnings with the same: he draweth foorth the wind out of his treasures.

8 * Hee smote the first borne of Egypt both of man and beast.

9 Hee hath sent tokens & wonders into the mids of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh, and vpon all his seruants.

10 * He smote many nations, and slewe mighty Kings:

11 As Sihon king of the Amorites, and Og king of Bashan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:

12 And e gaue their lande for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Israel his people.

13 Thy name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

14 For the Lord will f iudge his people, and be pacified towards his seruants.

15 The g idoles of the heathen are siluer and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

16 They haue a mouth, and speake not: they haue eyes and see not.

17 They haue eares and heare not, neither is there any breath in their mouth.

18 They that make them, are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

19 Prayse the Lord, yee house of Israel: prayse the Lord, ye house of Aaron.

20 Prayse the Lord, ye house of Leui: ye that feare the Lord, prayse the Lord.

21 Praysed be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ierusalem. Prayse ye the Lord.

a Ye Leuites that are in his Sanctuary.

b Meaning, the people: for the people and Leuites had their courtes, which were places of the Temple separate.

c That is, hath freely loued the posteritie of Abraham.

d He ioyneth Gods power with his will, to the intent that we should not separate them: and hereby he willeth Gods people to depend on his power, which he confirmeth by examples.

Iere. 10. 13. Exod. 12. 29. Num. 21. 24, 33.

e He sheweth what fruite the godly conceiue of Gods power, whereby they see how he destroyeth his enemies, & deliuereth his people.

f That is, gouern and defend his people.

g By shewing what punishmẽt God appointeth for the heathen idolaters he warneth his people to beware ỹ like offence, seeing that idols haue neither power nor life, and that their deliuerance came not by idoles, but by the mighty power of God, read Psal. 115. verse 4.

PSAL. CXXXVI.

1 A most earnest exhortatio to giue thanks vnto God for the creation and gouernance of all things, which standeth in confessing that he giueth vs all of his meere liberalitie.

PRaise ye the Lord, because he is good: for his a mercie endureth for euer.

2 Praise ye the God of gods: for his mercie endureth for euer.

3 Praise yee the Lord of lordes: for his mercie endureth for euer.

4 Which only doth great wonders: for his mercy endureth for euer:

5 Which by his wisedome made the heauens: for his mercy endureth for euer.

6 Which hath stretched out the earth vpon the waters: for his b mercy endureth for euer.

7 Which made great lights: for his mercie endureth for euer:

8 As the sunne to rule the day: for his mercy endureth for euer:

9 The moone and the starres to gouern the night: for his mercie endureth for euer:

10 Which smote Egypt with their first borne: (for his mercy endureth for euer)

11 And c brought out Israel from among them: (for his mercy endureth for euer)

12 With a mighty hand and d stretched out arme: (for his mercie endureth for euer)

13 Which diuided the red Sea in two parts: for his mercie endureth for euer:

14 And made Israel to passe thorow the middes of it: for his mercie endureth for euer:

15 And ouerthrewe Pharaoh and his hoste in the red Sea: for his mercie endureth for euer:

16 Which led his people thorow the wildernesse: for his mercie endureth for euer:

17 Which smote great Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:

18 And slewe e mightie Kings: for his mercie endureth for euer:

a By this repetition he sheweth that the least of Gods benefites bind vs to thankesgiuing: but chiefly his mercie, which is principally declared towards his Church.

b This was a common kinde of thanksgiuing, which the whole people vsed, when they had receiued any benefit of God, as 2 Chron. 7. 6. and 20. 21 meaning, that God was not onely mercifull to their fathers but also continued the same to their posteritie.

c Gods mercifull prouidence toward man appeareth in all his creatures, but chiefly in that that he deliuered his Church from the thraldome of their enemies.

d In doing such other could doe, infinite and most strange wonders. e Where for the space of forty yeeres he shewed a worke as was neuer done before, nor that any f Declaring thereby that no power, nor authoritie, was so deare vnto him, as the loue of his Church.

19 As Sehon king of the Amorites: for his mercy endureth for euer:
20 And Og the king of Bashan: for his mercy endureth for euer.
21 And gaue their land for an heritage: for his mercy endureth for euer.
22 Euen an heritage vnto Israel his seruant: for his mercy endureth for euer.
23 Which remembred vs in our a base estate: for his mercy endureth for euer:
24 And hath rescued vs from our oppressours: for his mercy endureth for euer:
25 Which giueth food to all b flesh: for his mercy endureth for euer.
26 c Praise ye the God of heauen: for his mercy endureth for euer.

g In our greatest affliction & slauerie, when wee looked for nothing lesse then to haue had any succour.
h Seeing g God prouideth, euen for h beasts: much more hath hee care ouer his.
i Seeing that all ages haue had most plaine testimonies of Gods benefits.

PSAL. CXXXVII.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, liued in great anguish & sorow of heart: the which grieued the Chaldeans did so little pitie, 3 that they rather encreased the same dayly with taunts, reproches & blasphemies against God. 7 Wherfore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians against them, 8 and moued by the spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

BY the riuers of Babel we sate, and there we wept, when we remembred Zion.
2 We hanged our harpes vpon the willowes in the midst thereof.
3 Then they that led vs captiues, a required of vs songs and mirth, when we had hanged vp our harpes, saying, Sing vs one of the songs of Zion.
4 How shall wee sing, said wee, a song of the Lord in a strange land?
5 b If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.
6 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roofe of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my c chiefe ioy.
7 Remember the children of d Edom, O Lord, in the e day of Ierusalem, which said, Raise it, raise it, to the foundation thereof.
8 O daughter of Babel, worthie to bee destroyed, blessed shall he be that rewardeth thee as thou hast serued vs.
9 f Blessed shall hee bee that taketh and daßheth thy children against the stones.

a That is, we abode a long time & albeit that the countrey was pleasant, yet could it not stay our teares, nor turne vs from the true seruice of our God.
b To wit, of that countrey.
c The Babylonians spake thus in mocking vs, as though by our silence we should signifie that we hoped no more in God.
d Albeit the faithfull are touched with their particular griefes yet the common sorrow of the Church is most grieuous vnto them, & is such as they cannot but remember and lament. e The decay of Gods religion in their countrey was so grieuous, that no ioy could make them glad, except it were restored.
f According as Ezekiel 25.13. & Ier. 49.7. verse prophesied: & Obadiah verse 10 sheweth that the Edomites, which came of Esau, conspired with the Babylonians against their brethren & kinsfolke.
g When thou didst visit Ierusalem.
h He alludeth to Esaies prophesie, chap. 13. and 14. verse, promising good successe to Cyrus & Darius, whom ambition moued to fight against Babylon: but God vsed them as his rods to punish his enemies.

PSAL. CXXXVIII.

1 Dauid with great courage praiseth the goodnesse of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 that it is knowen to forraine princes, who shall praise the Lord together with him. 6 And hee is assured to haue the comfort of God in the time following, as he hath had heretofore.

A Psalme of Dauid.

I Will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the a gods will I praise thee.
2 I will worshippe toward thine holy b Temple, and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindnesse and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word.
3 When I called, then thou heardest me, and hast c encreased strength in my soule.
4 All the d kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the words of my mouth.
5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glorie of the Lord is great.
6 For the Lord is hie: yet he beholdeth the lowly, but the proude hee knoweth e afarre off.
7 Though I walke in the middes of trouble, yet wilt thou reuiue mee: thou wilt stretch foorth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall saue mee.

b Both g Temple and ceremoniall seruice at Christs cõming were abolished: so that now God will be worshipped only in spirit & trueth Iohn 4.23.
c Thou hast strengthened me against mine outward & inward enemies.
d All the world shal confesse that thou hast wonderfully preserued me, and performed thy promise.
e Distance of place cannot hinder God to shew mercie to his, and to iudge the wicked though they thinke that he is farre off.
f Though mine enemies rage neuer so much, yet the Lord which hath begun this worke in me, will continue his grace to the end.

PSAL. CXXXIX.

1 Dauid by cleansing his heart from all hypocrisie, sheweth that there is nothing so hid, which God seeth not. 13 Which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring the zeale and feare of God, hee protesteth to bee enemie to all them that contemne God.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, thou hast tried me, & knowen me.
2 Thou knowest my a sitting and my rising: thou vnderstandest my thought afarre off.
3 Thou b compassest my pathes, and my lying downe, and art acquainted with all my wayes.
4 For there is not a word in my c tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholy, O Lord.
5 Thou holdest me strait behind and before, and layest thine d hand vpon mee.
6 Thy knowledge is too wunderfull for me: it is so hie that I cannot attaine vnto it.
7 Whither shall I goe from thy e Spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence?
8 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I lie downe in hell, thou art there.
9 Let me take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the vttermost part of the sea:
10 Yet thither shall thine f hand lead me, and thy right hand hold me.
11 If I say, Yet the darknesse shall hide me, euen the night shalbe a light about me.
12 Yea, the darknesse hideth not from thee: but the night shineth as the day: the darknesse and light are both alike.

a He confesseth that neither our actiõs, thoughts or any part of our life can be hid from God, though he seeme to be farre off.
b So g they are euidently knowen to thee.
c Thou knowest my meaning before I speake.
d Thou so guidest mee with thine hand, that I can turne no way but where thou appointest mee.
e From thy power & knowledge?
f Thy power doth so fast hold me, that I can escape by no meanes from thee.
g Though darknesse be an hinderance to mans sight, yet it serueth thine eyes as well as the light.

h Thou hast made me in all parts, and therefore must needes know mee.

i Considering thy wonderfull worke in forming me, I can not but praise thee, and feare thy mightie power.

k That is, in my mothers wombe: which he compareth to the inward parts of the earth.

l Seeing that thou diddest know me before I was composed of either flesh or bone, much more now must thou know me when thou hast fashioned mee.

m How ought we to esteeme the excellent declaration of thy wisedome in the creation of man!

13 For thou hast h possessed my reines: thou hast couered mee in my mothers wombe.

14 I will praise thee, for I am i fearefully and wonderfully made: marueilous are thy workes, and my soule knoweth it well.

15 My bones are not hidde from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and fashioned k beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see mee, when I was without forme: l for in thy booke were all things written, which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.

17 How m deare therefore are thy thoughts vnto me, O God! how great is the summe of them!

18 If I should count them, they are more then the sand: when I wake, n I am still with thee.

19 Oh that thou wouldest slay, O God, the wicked and bloodie men, to whom I say, Depart ye from me:

20 Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaine.

21 Doe not I o hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and doe not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate them with an vnfeined hatred, as they were mine vtter enemies.

23 Trie mee, O God, and knowe mine heart: proouе me and knowe my thoughts, 24 And consider if there be any p way of wickednesse in me, and lead me in the q way for euer.

n I continually see new occasions to meditate in thy wisedome & to praise thee. o He teacheth vs boldly to contemne all the hatred of the wicked, and friendship of the world, when they would let vs to serue God sincerely. p Or any heinous way or rebellious: meaning, that though he were subiect to sinne, yet was he not giuen to wickednesse, and to prouoke God by rebellion. q That is, continue thy fauour towards me to the end.

PSAL. CXL.

1 Dauid complaineth of the crueltie, falshood, and enuries of his enemies. 8 Against the which he prayeth vnto the Lord, & assureth himselfe of his helpe and succour. 12 Wherefore he prouoketh the iust to praise the Lord, & to assure themselues of his tuition.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid.

DEliuer me, O Lord, from the euill man: preserue me from the a cruell man:

2 Which imagine euill things in their b heart, and make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpned their tongues like a serpent: c adders poyson is vnder their lips. Selah.

4 Keepe d me, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preserue me from the cruell man, which purposeth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proude haue layde a snare for me, and spread a net with cords in my pathway, and set grennes for me. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord; Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voice of my prayers.

7 O Lord God the strength of my saluation, thou e hast couered mine head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: f performe not his wicked thought, lest they be proud. Selah.

9 As for g the chiefe of them, that compasse mee about, let the mischiefe of their owne lips come vpon them.

10 Let coales fall vpon them: let h him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits that they rise not.

11 For the backbiter shall not bee established vpon the earth: euill shall i hunt the cruell man to destruction.

12 I know that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the poore.

13 Surely the righteous shall praise thy Name, & the iust shall k dwel in thy presence.

a Which persecuteth mee of malice and without cause.

b That is, by their false cauillations and lies they kindle the hatred of the wicked against mee.

c Hee sheweth what weapons the wicked vse, when power and force faile them.

d He declareth what is the remedie of the godly, when they are oppressed by the worldlings.

e Hee calleth to God with liuely faith, being assured of his mercies because he had beforetime prooued, that God helped him euer in his dangers.

f For it is in Gods hand to ouerthrow the counsels and enterprises of the wicked.

g It seemeth that he alludeth to Saul.

h To wit, God: for Dauid sawe that they were reprobate, and that there was no hope of repentance in them. i Gods plague shall light vpon him in such sort, that he shall not escape. k That is, shall bee defended and preserued by thy fatherly prouidence and care.

PSAL. CXLI.

1 Dauid being grieuously persecuted vnder Saul, onely flieth vnto God to haue succour, 3 desiring him to bridle his affections, that hee may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

A Psalme of Dauid.

O Lord, I a call vpon thee, haste thee vnto me: heare my voyce, when I crie vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer bee directed in thy sight as incense, & the b lifting vp of mine hands as an euening sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the c doore of my lips.

4 Encline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked works with men that worke iniquitie: and let me not eate of their d delicates.

5 Let the righteous smite me: for that is a benefite: and let e him reprooue mee, and it shall be a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen f pray in their miseries.

6 When their iudges shalbe cast downe in stonie places, they shall g heare my words, for they are sweete.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the h graues mouth, as hee that heweth wood or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe mee from the snare, which they haue layde for mee, and from the grennes of the workers of iniquitie.

10 Let the wicked fall into i his nets k together, whiles I escape.

a Hee sheweth that there is none other refuge in our necessities, but onely to flee vnto God for comfort of soule.

b Hee meaneth his earnest zeale and gesture, which he vsed in prayer, alluding to the sacrifices, which were by Gods commandement offered in the olde law.

c Hee desireth God to keepe his thoughts and wayes either from thinking or executing vengeance.

d Let not their prosperitie allure me to be wicked as they are.

e He could abide all corrections, that came of a louing heart.

f By patience I shall see the wicked so sharply handled, that I shall for pitie pray for them. g The people which followed their wicked rulers in persecuting the Prophet, shal repent and turne to God, when they see their wicked rulers punished. h Here appeareth that Dauid was miraculously deliuered out of many deaths, as 2 Cor. 1. 9, 10. i Into Gods nets, whereby he catcheth the wicked in their owne malice. k So that none of them escape.

PSAL.

29 Day Evening

PSAL. CXLII.

1 The Prophet neither astonied with feare, nor carried away with anger, nor forced by desperatio, would kill Saul: but with a quiet mind directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserue him.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid to giue instruction, and a prayer when he was in the caue.

I Cryed vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I a prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

3 Though my spirit was in perplexitie in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily laide a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would knowe me: all refuge failed me, and none cared for my soule.

5 Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and sayd, Thou art mine b hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my cry, for I am brought very low: deliuer mee from my persecuters, for they are too strong for me.

7 Bring my soule out of c prison, that I may prayse thy Name: then shall the righteous d come about me, when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

a Dauids patience and instant prayer to God condemneth their wicked rage, whiche in their troubles either despaire and murmure against God, or else seeke to others then to God to haue redresse in their miseries.

‡ Ebr. was filled: or wrapped in me, meaning, as a thing that could haue none issue.

‖ Or, sought for my soule.

b Though all meanes failed him, yet he knew that God would neuer forsake him.

c For he was on all sides beset with his enemies, as though he had bene in a most strait prison. d Either to reioyce at my wonderfull deliuerance, or to set a crowne vpon my head.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 A earnest prayer for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruelly persecute him by Gods iust iudgements. 8 He desireth to be restored to grace, 10 To be gouerned by his holy Spirit that he may spend the remnant of his life in the true feare and seruice of God.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

HEare my prayer, O Lorde, and hearken vnto my supplication: answere me in thy a trueth and in thy b righteousnesse.

2 (And enter not into iudgement with thy seruant: for in thy c sight shall none that liueth be iustified.)

3 For the enemie hath persecuted my soule, he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: he hath laide me in the darkenes, as they that haue bene dead d long agoe:

4 And my Spirit was in perplexitie in me, and mine e heart within me was amased.

5 Yet do I remember the time f past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine handes.

6 I stretch forth mine handes vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee, as the thirstie land, Selah.

7 Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit faileth: hide not thy face from mee, els I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let mee heare thy louing kindnesse in the g morning, for in thee is my trust: h shew me the way that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for i I hid me with thee.

10 k Teach me to l doe thy will: for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade mee vnto the land of righteousnesse.

11 Quicken me, O Lord, for thy Names sake, and for thy righteousnesse bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie m slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppresse my soule: for I am thy n seruant.

a That is, as thou hast promised to be faithful in thy promise to all that trust in thee.

b That is, according to thy free goodnes, whereby thou defendest thine.

c He knew that his afflictions were Gods messengers to call him to repentance for his sinnes, though toward his enemies he was innocent, and that in Gods sight all men are sinners. d Hee acknowledgeth that God is the onely and true physition to heale him: and that he is able to raise him to life, though he were dead long ago, & turned to ashes e So that onely by faith, and by the grace of Gods spirit he was vpholden. f To wit, thy great benefits of olde, and the manifold examples of thy fauour toward thine.

g That is, speedily, and in due season.

h Let thine holy spirit counsell me how to come foorth of these great cares and troubles.

i I hid my selfe vnder thy shadow of thy wings, that I might be defended by thy power.

k He confesseth that both the knowledge and obedience of God will commeth by the spirit of God, who teacheth vs by his word, giueth vnderstanding by his spirit, and frameth our hearts by his grace to obey him.

l That is, iustly and aright: for so soone as we decline from Gods will, we fall into error. m Which shall be a signe of thy fatherly kindnesse toward me. n Resigning my selfe wholy vnto thee, and trusting in thy protection.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

1 He praiseth the Lord with great affection and humulity for his kingdom restored, & for his victories obtained, 5 demanding help & the destruction of the wicked, 9 promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praises, 15 and declareth wherein the felicitie of any people consisteth.

¶ A Psalme of Dauid.

30 Day Morning

BLessed be the Lord my strength, which a teacheth my hands to fight, and my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodnes and my fortresse, my tower, and + my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my b people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man that thou c regardest him! or the sonne of man that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanitie: his dayes are like a shadow that vanisheth.

5 d Bowe thine heauens, O Lord, and come downe: touch the mountaines, and they shall smoke.

6 e Cast forth the lightning and scatter them: shoote out thine arrowes, and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer mee, and take me out of the great f waters, and from the hand of strangers,

8 (Whose mouth talketh vanitie: & their right hand is a right hand g of falshood.

9 I will sing a h new song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of ten strings.

10 It is hee that giueth deliuerance vnto a Who of a poore shepheard hath made me a valiant warriour and mighty conquerour.

‡ Ebr. my deliuerer vnto me: for the Prophet cannot satisfie himselfe with any words.

b He confesseth that neither by his owne authoritie, power, nor policie, his kingdome was quiet, but by the secret grace of God.

c To giue vnto God iust praise, is to confesse our selues to be vnworthy of so excellent benefits, and that he bestoweth them vpon vs of his free mercie. d He desireth God to continue his graces, and to send helpe for the present necessitie. e By these maner of speaches hee sheweth that all the lets in the world cannot hinder Gods power, which he apprehendeth by faith. f That is, deliuer me from the tumult of them that should be my people, but are corrupt in their iudgement & enterprises, as though they were strangers. g For though they shake handes, yet they keepe not promise. h That is, a rare and excellent song, as thy great benefits deserue.

i Though wicked kings bee called Gods seruants, as Cyrus, Isai. 45. 1. forasmuch as he vseth them to execute his iudgements: yet Dauid because of Gods promise, and they that rule godly, are properly so called, because they serue not their owne affections, but set foorth Gods glory.

k He desireth God to continue his benefits toward his people, counting the procreation of children and their good education among the chiefest of Gods benefits.

l That the very corners of our houses may bee full of store for the great abundance of thy blessings. m He attributeth not onely the great commodities, but euen the least also to Gods fauour. n And if God giue not to all his children all these blessings, yet he recompenseth them with better things.

Kings, and redeemeth Dauid his seruant from the hurtfull sword.

11 Redeme me, and deliuer mee from the hand of strangers, whose mouth talketh vanitie, and their right hand is a right hand of falshood:

12 That our [i] sonnes may be as the plants growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, grauen after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our [l] corners may be full, and abounding with diuers sortes, and that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and tenne thousand in our streetes:

14 That our [m] oxen may be strong to labour: that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streetes.

15 Blessed are the people, that be [n] so, yea, blessed are [p] people, whose God is the Lord.

PSAL. CXLV.

This Psalme was composed, when the kingdom of Dauid flourished. 1 Wherein hee describeth the wonderfull prouidence of God aswel in gouerning men, as in preseruing all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praiseth God for his iustice and mercie, 18 But specially for his louing kindnesse toward those that call vpon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which hee promiseth to praise him for euer.

A Psalme of Dauid of prayse.

O My God, and King, [a] I will extoll thee, and will blesse thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will blesse thee daily, and prayse thy Name for euer and euer.

3 [b] Great is the Lord, and most worthy to be praised, and his greatnesse is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shall praise thy works vnto [c] generation, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beauty of thy glorious maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes.

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy [d] fearefull actes, and I will declare thy greatnesse.

7 They shal breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloude of thy righteousnesse.

8 [e] The Lord is gracious and [e] merciful, slow to anger, and of great mercy.

9 The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his workes.

10 All thy workes praise thee, O Lorde, and thy Saints blesse thee.

11 [f] They shew the glory of thy kingdome, and speake of thy power, 12 To cause his [g] power to be knowen to the sonnes of men, and the glorious renowne of his kingdome.

13 Thy [h] kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages.

14 The Lord vpholdeth all [k] that fal, and liftеth vp all that are readie to fall.

15 The eyes of [i] all waite vpon thee, and thou giuest them their meate in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hand and fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.

17 The Lorde is [k] righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes.

18 The Lorde is neere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in [l] truth.

19 He will fulfill the [m] desire of them that feare him: he also will heare their crie, and will saue them.

20 The Lorde preserueth all them that loue him: but he will destroy all the wicked.

21 My mouth shall speake the prayse of the Lorde, and all [n] flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

f The prayse of thy glory appeareth in all thy creatures: and though the wicked would obscure the same by their silence, yet the faithfull are euer mindfull of the same.

g Hee sheweth that all things are out of order, but onely where God reigneth. Dan. 7. 14. Luke 1. 33.

h Who being in miserie and affliction, would faint and fall away, if God did not vphold thē, and therefore they ought to reuerence him, that reigneth in heauen, and suffer themselues to bee gouerned by him.

i To wit, aswell of man as of beast. k He praiseth God, not only for that he is beneficiall to all his creatures, but also in that that he iustly punisheth the wicked, and mercifully examineth his by the crosse, giuing them strength and deliuering them. l Which only appertaineth to the faithful: & this vertue is cōtrary to infidelity, doubting, impatience, and murmuring. m For they will aske or wish for nothing, but according to his will, 1. Iohn 5. 14. n That is, all men shall be bound to prayse him.

PSAL. CXLVI.

1 Dauid declareth his great zeale that he hath to prayse God, 3 and teacheth not to trust in mans but onely in God almightie, 7 which deliuereth the afflicted. 9 defendeth the strangers, comforteth the fatherlesse, and the widower, 10 and reigneth for euer.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

PRayse thou the Lord, O my [a] soule.

2 I will prayse the Lorde during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.

3 Put not your trust in [b] princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him.

4 His breath departeth, and he returneth to his earth: then his [c] thoughts perish.

5 Blessed is he, that hath the God of Iaakob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God.

6 Which made [d] heauen and earth, the sea, and all that therein is: which keepeth his fidelitie for euer:

7 Which executeth iustice, [e] for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord looseth the prisoners.

8 The Lorde giueth sight to the blinde: the Lord raiseth vp the crooked: the Lorde a He stirreth vp himselfe and all his affections to prayse God.

b That God may haue the whole prayse: wherein he forbiddeth all vaine cōfidence, shewing that of nature we are more inclined to put our trust in creatures, then in God the Creator.

c As their vaine opinions, whereby they flattered themselues, and so imagined wicked enterprises.

d Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked. Exod. 34. 6. e He describeth after what sort God sheweth himselfe to all his creatures, though our sinnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, mercifull, not only in pardoning the sinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, albeit they cannot feele the sweet comfort of the same.

a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant and acceptable vnto God: euen praise and thanksgiuing, and seeing that God still continueth his benefits towards vs, we ought neuer to be weary in praysing him for the same.

b Hereby he declareth that all power is subiect vnto God, and that no worldly promotiō ought to obscure Gods glory.

c Forasmuch as the end of mans creation, and of his preseruation in this life, is to prayse God, therefore he requireth that not onely we our selues doe this, but cause all other to doe the same. d Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked. Exod. 34. 6. e He describeth after what sort God sheweth himselfe to all his creatures, though our sinnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, mercifull, not only in pardoning the sinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, albeit they cannot feele the sweet comfort of the same.

PSAL. CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praiseth the bountie, wisedome, power, iustice, and prouidence of God vpon all his creatures. 2 But specially vpon his Church, which hee gathereth together after their dispersion. 19 Declaring his word and iudgement so vnto them, as he hath done to none other people.

30 day Euen

PRayse yee the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a a pleasant thing, and prayse is comely.

2 The Lord doth build vp b Ierusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel.

3 Hee healeth those that are c broken in heart, and bindeth vp their sores.

4 He d counteth the number of the starres, and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisedome is infinite.

6 The Lord relieueth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the e ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with prayse: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God,

8 Which f coureth the heauen with clouds, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grasse to growe vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beasts their food, and to the yong rauens that g crie.

10 He hath not pleasure in the h strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man.

11 But the Lord delighteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercie.

12 Prayse the Lord, O Ierusalem: prayse thy God, O Zion.

13 For hee hath made the barres of thy gates i strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the k floure of wheate.

15 He sendeth forth his l commandement vpon earth, and his worde runneth very l swiftly.

16 He giueth snow like wooll, and scatereth the hoare frost like ashes.

17 He casteth forth his yce like morsels: who can abide the cold thereof?

18 Hee sendeth his word and melteth them: he causeth his winde to blow, and the waters flow.

19 Hee sheweth his m word vnto Iaakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with euery nation, neither haue they n knowen his iudgements. Prayse ye the Lord.

a He sheweth wherin we ought to exercise our selues cõtinually, and to take our pastime: to wit, in praysing God. b Because the Lord is the founder of the Church, it can not be destroyed, though the members thereof be dispersed, and seeme as it were for a time to be cut off. c With affliction, or sorrow for sinne. d Though it seeme to man incredible that God should assemble his Church, being so dispersed: yet nothing can be too hard to him, that can number and name all the starres. e For the more high that y wicked climbe, the greater is their fall in the end. f He sheweth by the examples of Gods mightie power, goodnesse and wisedome, that we can neuer want most iust occasion to prayse God. g For their crying is as it were a confession of their neede, which cannot be relieued but by God onely: then if God shew himselfe mindful of the most contemptible foules, can he suffer them to die with famine, whō he hath assured of life euerlasting? h Though to vse lawful meanes is both profitable and pleaseth God, yet to put our trust in them, is to defraud God of his honour. i He doth not only furnish his Church with all things necessary, but preserueth also the same, & maketh it strong against all outward force. ‡ Eb. fur. k His secret working in all creatures is as a commaundement to keepe them in order, and to giue them mouing and force. l For immediatly and without resisting, all things obey him.

m As before he called Gods secret working in all his creatures his word: so he meaneth here, by his word, the doctrine of life euerlasting, which he hath left to his Church, as a most precious treasure. n The cause of this difference, is Gods free mercie, which hath elected his in his Sonne Christ Iesus to saluation: and his iust iudgement, whereby he hath appointed the reprobate to eternall damnation.

PSAL. CXLVIII.

1 He prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauen and earth, and all places, 14 Specially his Church, for the power that he hath giuen to the same after that hee had chosen them and soyned them vnto him.

¶ Prayse yee the Lord.

PRayse yee the Lord from the heauen: prayse ye him in the high places.

2 Prayse yee him, all yee a his Angels: prayse him all his armie.

3 Prayse yee him, b sunne and moone: prayse yee him all bright starres.

4 Prayse yee him, c heauens of heauens, and d waters, that be aboue the heauens.

5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for he commanded, and they were created.

6 And he hath established them for euer and euer: he hath made an ordinance, which shall not passe.

7 Prayse ye the Lord from the earth, yee e dragons and all depths:

8 f Fire and haile, snowe and vapours, stormie wind, which execute his word:

9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruitfull trees and all cedars:

10 Beasts and all cattel, creeping things and feathered foules:

11 g Kings of the earth and all people, princes and all iudges of the world:

12 Yong men and maidens, also old men and children:

13 Let them prayse the name of the Lord: for his name onely is to bee exalted, and his prayse aboue the earth and the heauens.

14 For hee hath exalted the h horne of his people, which is a prayse for all his Saints, euen for the i children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Prayse yee the Lord.

a Because they are members of the same body, he setteth them before our eyes, which are most willing hereunto, and by their prompt obedience teach vs to doe our duetie. b In that Gods glory shineth in these insensible creatures, this their beautie is as a continual praysing of God. c Not that there are diuers heauens: but because of the spheres & of the situation of the fixed starres and planets, he comprehendeth by this word the whole heauen. d That is, the raine which is in the middle region of the aire, which he here comprehendeth vnder the name of the heauens. e Meaning, the great & monstrous fishes, as whales and such like. f Which come not by chance or fortune, but by Gods appointed ordinance. g For the greater giftes that any hath receiued, and the more high that one is preferred, the more bound is he to praise God for the same: but neither hie nor low condition or degree can be exempted from this duetie. h That is, the dignitie, power and glory of his Church. i By reason of his couenant made with Abraham.

PSAL. CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to prayse the Lord for his victorie and conquest, that hee giueth his Saints against all mans power.

¶ Prayse ye the Lord.

SIng yee vnto the Lord a new song: let his prayse bee heard in the Congregation of Saints.

a For his rare and manifold benefits bestowed on his Church.

PSAL. CL.

1 An exhortation to prayse the Lord without cease by all maner of wayes, for all his mighty and wonderfull works.

¶ Prayse yee the Lord.

PRayse ye God in his [a] Sanctuary: prayse ye him in the [b] firmament of his power.

2 Prayse yee him in his mightie Actes: prayse yee him according to his excellent greatnesse.

3 Prayse yee him in the sound of the [c] trumpet: prayse ye him vpon the viole and the harpe

4 Prayse ye him with timbrel and flute: prayse yee him with virginals and organs.

5 Prayse yee him with sounding cymbals: prayse yee him with high sounding cymbals.

6 Let euery thing that hath [d] breath, prayse the Lord. Prayse yee the Lord.

a That is, in the heauen.
b For his wonderful power appeareth in the firmament, which in Ebrew is called a stretching out, or spreading abroad, wherein the mighty work of God shineth.
c Exhorting the people onely to reioyce in prayssing God, he maketh mention of those instruments, which by Gods commandement were appointed in the old Law, but vnder Christ the vse thereof is abolished in the Church. d Hee sheweth that all the order of nature is bound to this duetie, and much more Gods children, who ought neuer to cease to prayse him, till they bee gathered into that kingdome, which hee hath prepared for his, where they shall sing euerlasting prayse.

b In that that they were preferred before all other nations, it was as a new creation, and therefore Psal. 95.7 they were called the sheepe of Gods hands.
c For God as he is the Creator of the soule and body, so will he that both two serue him, and that his people be continually subiect vnto him as to their most lawfull King.
d He alludeth to that continuall rest and quietnesse, which they should haue, if they would suffer God to rule them. e This is chiefly accomplished in the kingdome of Christ, when Gods people for iust causes execute Gods iudgements against his enemies: and it giueth no libertie to any to reuenge their priuate iniuries. f Not onely the people, but the kings that were their enemies, should bee destroyed. g Hereby God bindeth the hands and minds of all his to enterprise no further then he appointeth.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that [b] made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their [c] King.

3 Let them prayse his Name with the flute: let them sing prayses vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.

4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliuerance.

5 Let the Saints bee ioyfull with glory: let them sing lowde vpon their [e] beds.

6 [f] Let the high actes of God bee in their mouth, and a two edged sworde in their hands,

7 [g] To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people:

8 To binde [f] their kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron, 9 That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is [g] written: this honour shalbe to all his Saints. Praise ye the Lord.

The* Prouerbes of Salomon.

*This word Prouerbe, or parable, signifieth a graue and notable sentence, worthy to be kept in memorie: and is sometime taken in the euill part for a mocke, or scoffe.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe wonderfull loue of God toward his Church, is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly containe doctrine, and partly maners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewell to the Church of those three thousand parables mentioned, 1. King 4 32. and were gathered & committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God & knowledge of his word. 10 We may not consent to the intising of sinners. 20 Wisdome complaineth that shee is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

THe Parables of Salomon the sonne of Dauid King of Israel,

2 To know wisedom, and instruction, to vnderstand the words [b] of knowledge,

3 To receiue [c] instruction to doe wisely, by [d] iustice and iudgement and equitie,

4 To giue vnto the [e] simple sharpenesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning, and a man of [f] vnderstanding shal attaine vnto wise counsels,

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the words of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 ¶ * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisedome and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy [g] fathers instruction, and forsake not thy [h] mothers teaching.

9 For they shall bee [i] a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 ¶ My sonne, if [k] sinners do intise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, wee will lay waite for [l] blood, and lie priuily for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallow them vp aliue like a [m] graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 We shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle:

Psal. 111. 10. Eccles. 1. 16.

a That is, what wee ought to know & follow, and what wee ought to refuse.
b Meaning the word of God, wherein is [h] only true knowledge.
c To learne to submit our selues to the correction of those that are wise. d By liuing iustly, and rendring to every man that which appertaineth vnto him. e To such as haue not discretion to rule themselues f As hee sheweth that these parables, containing the effect of religion as touching maners and doctrine, do appertaine to the simple people: so doth hee declare, that the same are also necessary for them that are wise and learned.

g He speaketh this in the Name of God, which is the vniuersall Father of all creatures, or in the name of the pastour of the Church, who is as a father.
h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seed of Gods word.

†Ebr. Increase of grace.

i To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God. k Hee speaketh not onely of the shedding of blood with hand, but of all craftie practises which tend to the detriment of our neighbour. l As the graue is neuer satiate, to the auarice of the wicked and their cruelties haue none end.

14 Cast

UMI

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one [m] purse:
15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their [n] path.
16 For their feete run to euill, and make haste to shed blood.
17 Certainly as without cause the net is spred before the eyes of all that haue wings:
18 So they lay wait for blood, and lie priuily for [o] their liues.
19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gaine: he would take away the [p] life of the owners thereof.
20 ¶ [q] Wisedome crieth without: she vttereth her voice in the [r] streetes.
21 She calleth in the hie streete, among the preasse in the entrings of the gates, and vttereth her words in the city, saying,
22 How [s] foolish, how long will yee loue foolishnes? and the scorneful take their pleasure in scorning? and the fooles hate knowledge?
23 Turne you at my correction: loe, I will powre out my mind vnto you, and make you vnderstand my words.
24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard:
25 But ye haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction:
26 I will also [t] laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare commeth:
27 When [u] your feare commeth like sudden desolation, & your destruction shal come, like a whirlewind: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you.
28 Then shall they call vpon mee, but I will not answere: they shall seeke me earely, but they shall not [x] find me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, & did not chuse the feare of the Lord:
30 They would none of my counsell, but [y] despised all my correction.
31 Therefore shall they eate of the [z] frut of their owne way, and bee filled with their owne deuises.
32 For [a] ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperity of fooles destroyeth them.
33 But hee that obeyeth mee, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

m He sheweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euery one part of the spoile of the innocent.
n That is, haue nothing at all to do with them.
o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue the wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice & cruelty.
p Whereby he concludeth that the couetous man is a murtherer.
q This wisdome is the eternall word of God.
r So that none can pretend ignorance.
s Wisedome reproueth three kinds of men: the foolish or simple, which erre of ignorance, and the mockers, that cannot suffer to be taught, & the fooles which are drowned in worldly lusts & hate the knowledge of godlinesse.
t This is spoken according to our capacitie, signifying that the wicked which mocke & iest at Gods word, shal haue the iust reward of thir mocking.
u That is, your destruction, which thing you feared.
x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne griefe.
y Shewing that without faith and obedience we can not call vpon God aright.
z They shal feele what commodity their wicked life shall giue them.
a That is, the prosperitie and sensuality wherein they delight.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisdome exhorteth to obey her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God. 10 She preserueth from wickednesse.

MY sonne, if thou wilt receiue my words and [a] hide my commandements within thee,
2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisedome, and encline [b] thine heart to vnderstanding.
3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, [c] and criest for vnderstanding:
4 If thou seekest her as siluer, & searchest for her as for [d] treasures,
5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, & finde the [e] knowledge of God.
6 For the Lord giueth wisedome, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding.
7 He preserueth [f] the state of the righteous, he is a shield to them that walke vprightly,
8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and hee preserueth the way of his saints.)
9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, and iudgement, and equitie, and euery good path.
10 ¶ When wisedome entreth into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy soule, 11 Then shall [g] counsell preserue thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee, 12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, & from the man that speaketh froward things.
13 And from them that leaue the [h] wayes of righteousnesse, to walke in the wayes of darkenesse:
14 Which reioyce in doing euill, and delite [i] in the frowardnesse of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are crooked, and they are lewd in their paths.
16 And it shal deliuer thee frō the strange [k] woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her words, 17 Which forsaketh the [l] guide of her youth, & forgetteth the couenant of her God.
18 Surely her [m] house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto [n] the dead.
19 All they that goe vnto her, returne not againe, neither take they hold of the wayes of life.
20 Therefore walke thou in [o] the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.
21 For the iust shal dwel in the [p] land, and the vpright men shall remaine in it.
22 But the wicked shalbe cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it.

a Long life is the blessing of God which he giueth to his so farre foorth as it is expedient for them.
b By mercy and trueth he meaneth the commandements of the first and second Table: or else the mercy & faithfulnesse that we ought to vse towarde our neighbours.
c Keepe them as a most precious iewel.
d And haue them euer in remembrance.
e Meaning that we must seeke the knowledge of God with care and diligence.
d Shewing that no labour must be spared.
e This (saith he) is the true wisedome to know and feare God.
‖ Or, hideth the saluation.
f The word of God shall teach thee and counsel thee how to gouerne thy selfe.
g That is, the word of God, which is the only light, to follow their owne fantasies which are darkenesse.
h When they see any giuen to euil as they are.
i Meaning, that wisedom, which is the word of God, shall preserue vs from all vices: naming this vice of whoredome whereunto man is most prone.
k That is, her husband, which is her head and guide to gouerne her, from whom shee ought not to depart, but remaine in his subiection.
l Which is the promise made in marriage.
m Her acquaintance with her familiars, & them that haunt her.
n To them that are dead in body and soule.
o They shall enioy the temporall and spirituall promises of God, as the wicked shalbe void of them.

CHAP. III.

1 The word of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction. 22 To them that follow the word of God, all things shall succeed well.

MY sonne, forget not thou my lawe, but let thine heart [a] keepe my commandements.
2 For they shal increase the length of thy [a] daies and the yeeres of life, and thy prosperitie.
3 Let not [b] mercie and truth forsake thee: bind them about thy [c] necke, and write them vpon the table of thine [d] heart.

4 So shalt thou find fauour & good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 ¶ Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisedome.

6 In al thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 ¶ Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord and depart from euill.

8 So healthy shall be vnto thy [q] nauill, and marrow vnto thy bones.

9 [r] Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first fruites of al thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall [s] burst with new wine.

11 ¶ My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieued with his correction.

12 * For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as the father doeth the childe in whom he delighteth.

13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisedome, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the merchandise thereof is better then the merchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and al things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes is in her right hand, [h] and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.

18 She is a tree [i] of life to them that lay hold on her, and blessed is he that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisedome hath laid the [k] foundation of the earth, & hath established the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, & the clouds drop downe the deaw.

21 My sonne, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisedome and counsell.

22 So they shall bee life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy ‖ necke.

23 Then shalt thou walke safely by thy way: and thy foot shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not bee afraid, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shal be sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the [l] destruction of the wicked, when it commeth.

26 For the Lord shalbe for thine assurance, and shall preserue thy foote from taking.

27 ¶ Withhold not the good from [m] the owners thereof, though there bee power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Go and come againe, and to morow wil I giue thee, if thou now haue it.

29 ¶ Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, seeing hee dwelleth [n] without feare by thee.

30 ¶ Striue not with a man causeles, when he hath done thee no harme.

31 ¶ Bee not * enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his [p] secret is with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesseth the habitation of the righteous.

34 Surely the scornefull [q] he scorneth, but he giueth grace vnto the humble.

35 The wise shal inherit glory: but fooles dishonour, though they be exalted.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Wisedome and her fruits ought to be searched. 14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God, the heart, eyes, and course of life, must be guided.

HEare, O yee children, the instruction of a [a] father, and giue care to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and [b] deare in the sight of my mother.

4 When [c] he taught me, & said vnto me, Let thine heart hold fast my words: keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisedome, get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, & she shall keepe thee: loue her, and she shall preserue thee.

7 [d] Wisdome is the beginning: get wisedome therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, & she shal exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou imbrace her.

9 She shal giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, she shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

10 ¶ Heare, my sonne, and receiue my words, & the yeeres of thy life shall be many.

11 I * haue taught thee in the way of wisdome, and led thee in the paths of righteousnesse.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be [t] straite, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, & leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 ¶ Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euillmen.

15 Auoid it, and go not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot [u] sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause some to fall.

17 For they eat the bread of [k] wickednes, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that [l] shineth more and more vnto the perfect day.

q By this part he comprehendeth the whole body, as by health he meaneth all the benefits promised in the Law both corporall and spirituall.

r As was commanded in the Law, Exod. 23. 19 Deut. 26. 2. and by this they acknowledged that God was the giuer of all things, and that they were ready to bestow all at his commandement.

s For to the faithful distributer, God giueth in greater abundance. Hebr. 12. 5. Reuel. 3. 19.

h Meaning, that he that seeketh wisdome, that is, suffereth himselfe to be gouerned by the word of God, shall haue all prosperitie both corporall and spirituall.

i Which bringeth forth such fruite that they that eate thereof, haue life: and he alludeth to the tree of life in Paradise.

k Hereby hee sheweth that this wisdome, whereof he speaketh, is euerlasting, because it was before al creatures, & that al things, euen the whole world were made by it. ‖ Or, throat, read Chap. 1. 9.

l For when God destroyeth the wicked he will saue his as he did Lot in Sodome.

o Desire not to be like vnto him.

p That is, his couenant & fatherly affection which is hid and secret from the world.

q He will shew by his plagues that their scornes shal turn to their own destruction, as Chap. 1. 26.

a He speaketh this in the person of a preacher and minister which is as a father vnto the people, read Chap. 1. 8.

b In Hebrew, it is Onely: for though he had three others, as 1. Chron. 3. 5 yet, so tenderly she loued Salomon, that he was vnto her as her onely sonne.

c Meaning, Dauid his father.

d He sheweth that we must first begin at Gods word, if so be we will that other things prosper with vs, contrary to the iudgement of the world, which make it their last studie, or els care not for him at all.

e Salomon declareth what care his father had to bring him vp in the true feare of God: for this was Dauids protestation

f Thou shalt walke at liberty without offence. g Meaning, that to doe euill is more proper and naturall to the wicked, then to sleepe, eate or drinke. h Gotten by wicked meanes and cruel oppression. i Signifying, that the godly increase daily in knowledge and perfection, till they come to full perfection, which is, when they shall be ioyned to their head in the heauens.

19 The way of the wicked is as the darkneſſe: they know not wherein they ſhall fall.

20 ¶ My ſonne, hearken vnto my words, incline thine eare vnto my ſayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the mids of thine heart.

22 For they are life vnto thoſe that finde them, and health vnto all their [k] fleſh.

23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for therout commeth [l] life.

24 Put away frō thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye lids direct thy way before thee.

26 [m] Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy wayes be ordred aright.

CHAP. V.

3 Whoredome forbidden, 9 And prodigalitie. 15 He willeth a man to liue on his labours, and to helpe others. 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednesse.

MY ſonne, hearken vnto my wiſedome, and incline thine eare vnto my ‖ knowledge.

2 That thou mayeſt regard counſel, and thy lips obſerue knowledge.

3 For the lips [a] of a ſtrange woman drop as an honie combe, and her mouth is more ſoft then [b] oyle.

4 But the end of her is bitter as wormewood, and ſharpe as a two edged ſword.

5 Her [c] feete goe downe to death, and her ſteps take hold on hell.

6 She weigheth not the way of life: her paths are [d] moueable: thou canſt not know them.

7 Heare yee me now therefore, O children, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, & come not neere the doore of her houſe,

9 Leſt thou giue thine [e] honour vnto others, and thy yeeres to the cruell:

10 Leſt the ſtranger ſhould be filled with thy ſtrength, & thy [f] labours be in the houſe of a ſtranger,

11 And thou mourne at thine end, (when thou haſt conſumed thy fleſh and thy body)

12 And ſay, How haue I hated inſtruction, and mine heart deſpiſed correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voice of them that taught me, nor inclined mine eare to them that inſtructed me!

14 I was almoſt brought into all euill in the mids of the Congregation & aſſembly.

15 ¶ Drinke the water of [h] thy ciſterne, and of the riuers out of the middes of thine owne well.

16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the ſtreetes.

17 But let them be thine owne [i] thine onely, and not the ſtrangers with thee.

18 Let thy [k] fountaine be bleſſed, and reioyce with the wife of thy [l] youth:

19 Let her be as the louing hinde and pleaſant roe: let her breaſtes ſatisfie thee at all times, and delight in her loue continually.

20 For why ſhouldeſt thou ‖ delight, my ſonne, in a ſtrange woman, or imbrace the boſome of a ſtranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the [m] eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his paths.

22 His owne iniquities ſhal take the wicked himſelfe, and he ſhall be holden with the cords of his owne ſinne.

23 He ſhall [n] die for want of inſtruction, and ſhall goe aſtray through his great folly.

[a] That is, an harlot which giueth her ſelfe to another then to her husband.
[b] By oyle and honie he meaneth flattering and craftie inticements.
[c] All her doings leade to deſtruction.
[d] She hath euer new meanes to allure to wickednesſe.
[e] That is, thy ſtrength and goods to her that will haue no pitie vpon thee: as is read of Samſon, and the prodigall ſonne.
[f] The goods gotten by thy trauell.
[g] Although I was faithfully inſtructed in the trueth, yet had I almoſt fallen to vtter ſhame and deſtruction, notwithſtanding my good bringing vp in the aſſembly of the godly.
[h] He teacheth vs ſobriety, exhorting vs to liue of our owne labours, and to be beneficial to the godly that want.
[i] Diſtribute them not to the wicked and infidels, but reſerue them for thy ſelfe, thy familie, and them that are of the houſhold of faith.
[k] Thy children which ſhal come of thee in great abundance, ſhewing that God bleſſeth mariage, and curſeth whoredome.
[l] Which thou didſt marrie in thy youth.
‖ Or, goe aſtray with a ſtranger.
[m] He declareth that except man doe ioyne to his wife both in heart and in outward converſation, that hee ſhall not eſcape the iudgements of God.
[n] Becauſe hee will not heare word and be admoniſhed.

CHAP. VI.

1 Inſtruction for ſuretiſe. 6 The ſlothfull & ſluggiſh is ſtirred to work. 12 He deſcribeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obſerue the word of God. 24 To flee adultery.

MY ſonne, if thou be ſurety for thy neighbour, and haſt ſtricken hands with the ſtranger,

2 Thou art [a] ſnared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.

3 Doe this now, my ſonne, and deliuer thy ſelfe: ſeeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe and humble thy ſelfe, and ſolicite thy friends.

4 Giue no ſleepe to thine eyes, nor ſlumber to thine eye lids.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisedome and to the word of God, 5 Which wil preserue vs from the harlot, 6 Whose maners are described.

MY sonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my a commandements with thee.

2 Keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue, and mine instruction as the a apple of thine eyes.

3 Binde them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto wisedome, Thou art my sister: ‡ call vnderstanding thy kinswoman,

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smoothe in her words.

6 ¶ b As I was in the window of mine house, I looked through my window,

7 And I saw among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding,

8 Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house,

9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be c blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman, with an harlots ‖ behauiour, and ‖ subtill in heart.

11 (She d is babbling and lowd: whose feete cannot abide in her house.

12 Now she is without, now in the streets, and lieth in watte at euery corner)

13 So she caught him and kissed him, and ‡ with an impudent face sayd vnto him, 14 I haue e peace offerings: this f day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meete thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, ‖ carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntil the morning: let vs take our pleasure in dalliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a iourney farre off, 20 He hath taken with him ‡ a bag of siluer, & will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeelde, and with her flattering lips she entised him.

22 And he followed her straightwayes, as an g oxe that goeth to the slaughter, and h as a foole to the stockes for correction,

23 Till a dart strike thorow his liuer, as a bird hasteth to the snare, not knowing that ‡ he is in danger.

24 ¶ Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the words of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her paths.

26 For she hath caused many to fall down wounded, and the i strong men are all slaine by her.

27 Her house is the way * vnto the graue, which goeth downe vnto the chambers of death.

b Salomon vseth this parable to declare their folly that suffer themselues to be abused by harlots.

7 For my mouth ſhall ſpeake the trueth, and my lips abhorre wickednesse.

8 All the words of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdneſſe, nor frowardneſſe in them.

9 They are all [c] plaine to him that will vnderſtand, & ſtreight to them that would find knowledge.

10 Receiue mine inſtruction and not ſiluer, and knowledge rather then fine gold.

11 For wiſedome is better then precious ſtones: and all pleaſures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wiſedome dwell with [d] prudence, and I finde forth knowledge and counſels.

13 The feare of the Lord is to hate [e] euill, as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that ſpeaketh lewde things, I doe hate.

14 I haue counſell and wiſedome: I am vnderſtanding, and I haue ſtrength.

15 By me kings [f] reigne, and princes decree iuſtice.

16 By mee princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue mee: and they that ſeeke me [g] early, ſhall finde me.

18 Riches and honour are with mee: [h] euen durable riches and righteouſneſſe.

19 My fruite is better then golde, euen then fine golde, and my reuenues better then fine ſiluer.

20 I cauſe to walke in the way of righteouſneſſe, and in the middes of the pathes of [i] iudgement, 21 That I may cauſe them that loue me, to inherite ſubſtance, and I will fill their treaſures.

22 The Lord hath poſſeſſed me in the beginning of his way: I was [k] before his works of olde.

23 I was ſet vp from euerlaſting, from the beginning, and before the earth.

24 When there were no depthes, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were ſetled: and before the hils, was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the duſt in the world.

27 When hee prepared the heauens, I was [l] there, when hee ſet the compaſſe vpon the deepe,

28 When hee eſtabliſhed the cloudes aboue, when hee confirmed the fountaines of the deepe,

29 When hee gaue his decree to the ſea, that the waters ſhould not paſſe his commandement, when he appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him as [m] a nourisher, and I was dayly his delight reioycing alway before him, 31 And tooke my [n] ſolace in the compaſſe of [o] his earth: and my delight is with the children of men.

32 Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto mee: for bleſſed are they that keepe my wayes.

33 Heare inſtruction, and be ye wiſe, and refuſe it not: bleſſed is the man that heareth me, watching dayly at my gates, and gaining attendance at the poſtes of my doores.

34 For hee that findeth me, findeth life, and ſhall obteine fauour of the Lord.

35 But he that ſinneth againſt me, hurteth his owne ſoule: & all that hate me, loue death.

o By earth he meaneth man, which is the worke of God in whom Wiſedome tooke pleaſure: in ſo much as for mans ſake the Diuine Wiſedome tooke mans nature, and dwelt among vs, and filled vs with vnſpeakeable treaſures, and this is that ſolace and paſtime whereof is here ſpoken.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

A Wise ᵃ sonne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.

2 The treasures of ᵃ wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousnesse deliuereth from death.

3 The Lord wil ᵇ not famish the soule of the righteous: but hee casteth away the substance of the wicked.

4 A ‖ slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 Hee that gathereth in summer, is the sonne of wisedome: but hee that sleepeth in harueſt, is the sonne of confusion.

6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of ᶜ the wicked.

7 The memorial of the iust shalbe blessed: but the name of the wicked shall ᵈ rot.

8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in ǂ talke shall be beaten.

9 Hee that walketh vprightly, walketh ‖ boldly: but hee that peruerteth his wayes, shall be knowen.

10 Hee that ᵉ winketh with the eye, worketh sorrow, and he that is ᶠ foolish in talke, shall be beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: ᵍ but loue couereth all trespasses.

13 In the lippes of him that hath vnderstanding, wisedome is found, and ᵍ a rod shall be for the backe of him that is destitute of wisedome.

14 Wise men lay vp knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.

15 The rich mans goods are his ʰ strong citie, but the feare of the needy is their pouerty.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenues of the wicked to sinne.

17 Hee that regarded instruction, is in the way of life: but he that refuseth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 He that dissembleth hatred with lying lips, & he that inuenteth slander, is a foole.

19 In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refraineth his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined siluer: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lips of the righteous doe [i] feede many: but fooles shall die for want of wisedome.

22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doth adde [k] no sorowes with it.

23 It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisedome is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will grant the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirlewind passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an euerlasting foundation.

26 As vineger is to the teeth, & as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthfull to them that [l] send him.

27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked ᵐ shalbe diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous shalbe gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall ⁿ neuer bee remooued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shal be fruitfull in wisedome: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

FAlse ᵃ balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfite ǂ weight pleaseth him.

2 When pride commeth, then commeth ᵇ shame: but with the lowly is wisedome.

3 The vprightnesse of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressors shall destroy them.

4 ᵃ Riches auaile not in the day of wrath: but righteousnesse deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousnesse of the vpright shal direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednesse.

6 The righteousnesse of the iust shal deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednesse.

7 ᵃ When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his ᶜ stead.

9 An ᵈ hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shalbe deliuered by knowledge.

THE ARGVMENT.

SAlomon, as a Preacher and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceiueable vanities of this world, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the Sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heauenly life: therefore he confuteth their opinions, which set their felicitie either in knowledge, or in pleasures, or in dignitie and riches, shewing that mans true felicitie consisteth in that that he is vnited with God, and shal enioy his presence: so that all other things must be reiected, saue in as much as they further vs to attaine to this heauenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other saue in God alone.

3 What remaineth vnto man in all his [c] trauel, which he sustaineth vnder the sunne?

4 One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for [d] euer.

5 The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe and draweth to his place, where hee riseth.

6 The [e] wind goeth toward the South, and compasseth towarde the North: the winde goeth round about, and returneth by his circuits.

7 *All the riuers goe into the sea, yet the sea is not full: for the riuers goe vnto the place [f] whence they returne and goe.

10 Is there any thing, whereof one may a Salomon is here called a Preacher, or one that assembleth the people, because he teacheth the true knowledge of God, and how men ought to passe their life in this transitory world.

b Hee condemneth the opinions of all men that set felicity in any thing, but in God alone, seeing that in this world all things are as vanity & nothing.

c Salomon doth not condemne mans labour or diligence, but sheweth that there is no full contentation in any thing vnder the heauen, nor in any creature, forasmuch as all things are transitory.

d One man dieth after another, & the earth remaineth longest, euen to the last day, which yet is subiect to corruption.

e By the sunne, wind and riuers, he sheweth that the greateft labour and longeft hath an ende, and therefore there can be no felicitie in this world. Eccles. 40.11.

f The sea which compasseth all the earth, filleth the veines thereof, the which powre out speaketh of riuers that they haue beene in springs and riuers into the Sea againe.

g Hee speaketh of times and seasons, and things done in them, which as they haue beene in times past, so come they to passe againe.

h He proueth that if any could haue attained to felicitie in this world by labour and studie, he chiefly should haue obtained it, because he had gifts and aydes of God thereunto aboue all other.

i Man of nature hath a desire to know, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge, which is the punishment of sin, to humble man, and to teach him to depend onely vpon God.

k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe otherwise then they doe: neither can he number the faultes that are committed, much lesse remedie them.

say, Behold this, it is new? It hath bene already in the olde time that was before vs.

11 There is no memorie of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shalbe, with them that shall come after.

12 ¶ h I the Preacher haue bene king ouer Israel in Ierusalem:

13 And I haue giuen my heart to search and find out wisedome by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauell hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, i to humble them therby)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit.

15 That which is k crooked, can none make streight: and that which lacketh, can not be numbred.

16 I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisedome all them that haue bene before mee in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisedome and knowledge.

17 And I gaue mine heart to know wisedome and knowledge, l madnes and foolishnesse: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisedome is much m griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorow.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanity. 15 The wise and the foole haue both one end, touching the bodily death.

I Said in mine heart, Goe to now, I will proone a thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

3 I sought in mine heart ‡ to giue my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in b wisedome, and to take holde of follie, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they ♯ enioy vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built mee houses: I haue planted mee vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens ¶ ‡ orchards, and planted in them trees of all fruite.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maydes, and had children borne in the c house: also I had great possession of beeues and sheepe aboue all that were before mee in Ierusalem.

8 I haue gathered vnto mee also siluer, and gold, and the chiefe treasures of Kings and Prouinces: I haue prouided mee men singers and women singers, and the d delights of the sonnes of men: as a woman e taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

9 And I was great and increased aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem: also my wisedome f remained with me.

10 And whatsoeuer mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for mine heart reioyced in all my labour: and this was my g portion of all my trauell.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that mine handes had wrought, and on the trauaile that I had laboured to doe: and beholde, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne.

12 ¶ And I turned to behold h wisedom, and madnesse, and folly: (for who is the man that i will come after the King in things, which men now haue done?

13 Then I saw that there is profite in wisedome, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenesse.

14 * For the wise mans i eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darknesse: yet I know also that the same k condition falleth to them all.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto mee, as it befalleth to the foole: why therefore doe I then labour to bee more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole l for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And m how dieth the wise man, as doeth the foole.

17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grieuous vnto me: for all is vanity, and vexation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had trauelled vnder the sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shall be after mee.

19 And who knoweth whether hee shall bee wise or foolish? yet shall hee haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue trauelled, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the sunne. This is also vanitie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart n abhorre all the labour, wherein I had trauelled vnder the sunne.

21 For there is a man whose trauell is in wisedome, and in knowledge and in equitie; yet to a man that hath not trauelled therein, shall he o giue his portion: this also is vanitie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his trauell and griefe of his heart, wherein he hath trauelled vnder the sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and his paine graue: yea, his heart taketh no rest in the night. This is also vanitie.

a Salomon maketh this discourse with himselfe, as though he would try whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures.

‡ Ebr. draw my flesh to wine.

b Albeit I gaue my selfe to pleasures, yet I thought to keepe wisdome and the feare of God in mine heart, and gouerne mine affaires by the same.

c Meaning, of the seruants, or slaues, which he had bought: so the children borne in their seruitude, were ♯ masters.

d That is, whatsoeuer men take pleasure in.

e Which were the most beautifull of them that were taken in warre, as Iudg. 5. 30. Some vnderstand by these words, no women, but instruments of musicke.

f For all this God did not take his gift of wisedome from me.

g This was the fruite of all my labour, a certaine pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanity in the next verse.

h I bethought with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisedome, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which he calleth madnesse.

§ Or, compare with the king.

Prou 17.24.

i He foreseeth things, which the foole cannot for lacke of wisedome.

k For both die and are forgotten, as verse 16. or they both alike haue prosperitie or aduersitie.

l Meaning, in this world.

m He wondereth that men forget a wise man being dead, assoone as they doe a foole.

n That I might seeke the true felicitie which is in God.

o Among other griefes this was not the least, to leaue that which he had gotten by great trauell, to one that had taken no paine therefore, and whom hee knew not whether he were a wise man or a foole.

his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profite to man, but that hee eate and drinke, and p delight his soule with the profite of his labour: I sawe also this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who could eate, and who could haste to outward things more then I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisedom, and knowledge, and ioy: but to the sinner he giueth paine to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

p When man hath all laboured, he can get no more then food and refreshing, yet he confesseth also that this commeth of Gods blessing, as Chap 3.13.

q Meaning, to pleasures.

CHAP. III.

1 All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfite, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust and vniust.

TO all things there is an a appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to daunce.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rende, and a time to sewe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profite hath he that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men b to humble them thereby.

11 Hee hath made euery thing beautifull in his time: also hee hath set the c world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.

12 I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce: and to doe good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commoditie of all his labour: this is the d gift of God.

14 I knowe that whatsoeuer God shall doe, it shall be for e euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

15 What is that that hath beene? that is nowe: and that that shall bee, hath nowe beene: for God f requireth that which is past.

16 And moreouer I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice where was iniquitie.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God had g purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselues as beastes.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euen as one h condition vnto them. As the one dieth, so dyeth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man aboue the beast: for all is vanity.

20 All goe to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who k knoweth whether the spirite of man ascende vpward, and the spirite of the beast descende downeward to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should l reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

a Hee speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes: first to declare that there is nothing in this world perpetuall: next to teach vs not to be grieued if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither enioy them so long as we would wish.

b Reade Chap. 1.13.

c God hath giuen man a delire and affection to seeke out the things of this world, and to labour therein.

d Reade Chap. 2.24. and these places declare that we should do al things with sobrietie, and in the feare of God, forasmuch as he giueth not his gifts to the intent that they should be abused.

e That is, man shall neuer bee able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined, so it shall come to passe.

f God onely causeth that which is past to returne.

g Meaning, with God, howsoeuer man neglect his duety.

h And made them pure in their first creation.

i Man is not able by his reason and iudgement to put difference betweene man and beast, as touching those things whereunto both are subiect: for the eye cannot iudge any otherwise of a man being dead, then of a beast, which is dead: yet by the word of God and faith we easily know the diuersitie, as verse 21.

k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleeueth herein.

l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 2.24. & 3.12,22. and 5.17. and 8.15. hee declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further is a speciall gift of God reuealed by his spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocent are oppressed. 4 Mens labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 4 Mans societie is necessary. 13 A yong man poore, and wise, is to be preferred to an old king, that is a foole.

SO I turned, and considered all the oppressions that are wrought vnder the sun, and behold, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and loe, the strength is of the hand of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I praysed the a dead which now are dead, about the liuing which are yet aliue.

3 And I counte him b better then them both, which hath not yet bene: for hee hath not seene the euil works which are wrought vnder the sunne.

4 Also I beheld all trauaile, and al c perfection of workes, that this is the enuie of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.

5 The foole folded his hands, and d eateth vp his owne flesh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnesse, then two handfuls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Againe I returned, and saw vanitie vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a seconde, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none ende of all his trauaile, neither can his eye bee satisfied with riches: neither doeth hee thinke, For whome doe I trauaile, and defraude my soule a Hee maketh here another discourse with himselfe concerning the tyrannie of them that oppressed the poore.

b Because they are no more subiect to these oppressions.

c He speaketh according to the iudgement of the flesh, which cannot abide to seele or see troubles.

d The more perfit that the worke is, the more is it enuied of the wicked.

e For idlenesse he is compelled to destroy himselfe.

soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile.

9 [a] Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for hee falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heate: but to one how should there be heate?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefold [c] coard is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an old and foolish King, which will no more be admonished.

14 For out of the [d] prison hee commeth forth to reigne: when as he that is [i] borne in his kingdome is made poore.

15 I beholde all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, [k] with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place.

16 There is none [l] ende of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie and veration of spirit.

17 Take heede to thy [m] foote when thou enterest into the house of God, and bee more neere to heare, then to giue the sacrifice of [n] fooles: for they knowe not that they doe euill.

a Forasmuch as when man is alone, he can neither helpe himselfe nor others: he sheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall societie, to the intent they may be profitable one to another, and that their things may increase.

g By this prouerbe he declareth how necessarie it is, that men should liue in societie.

h That is, from a poore and base estate, or out of trouble, and prison, as Ioseph did, Gen. 41. 14.

i Meaning, that is borne a king.

k Which follow and flatter the kings sonne, or him that shall succeed: to enter into credit with them in hope of gaine.

l They neuer cease by all meanes to creepe into fauour: but when they obtaine not their greedy desires, they thinke themselues abused, as other haue bene in time past, and so care no more for him.

m That is, with what affection thou commest to heare the worde of God.

n Meaning, of the wicked, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 9 The couetous can neuer haue enough. 11 The labourers sleepe is sweet. 14 Man when he dieth, taketh nothing with him. 18 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented mind, is the gift of God.

BEe not [a] rash with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be haiste to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy words be [b] few.

2 For as a dreame commeth by the multitude of businesse: so the voyce of a foole is in the multitude of words.

3 [c] When thou hast vowed a vowe to God, deferre not to pay it: for he delighteth not in fooles: pay therefore that thou hast [c] vowed.

4 It is better that thou shouldest not vowe, then that thou shouldest vowe and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy [d] flesh to sinne: neither say before the [e] Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore shall God bee angrie by thy voyce, and destroy a Rash in vowing or in praying: meaning, that we should vse all reuerence to God ward.

b He heareth thee not for thy many words sake or often repetitions, but considereth thy faith and feruent minde. Deut. 23. 21.

c He speaketh of vowes, which are approued by Gods word, and serue to his glory.

d Cause not thy selfe to sinne by vowing rashly: as they do which make a vowe to liue vnmarried, and such like.

e That is, before Gods messenger, when hee shall examine thy doing: as though thy ignorance should be a iust excuse.

the worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities, are also many words: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou seest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, bee not astonied at the matter: for hee that is [f] higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the [g] abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King [h] also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer, shall not be satisfied with siluer, and hee that loueth riches, shall be without the fruite thereof: this also is vanity.

10 [i] When goods increase, they are increased that eate them: and what good commeth to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The sleepe of him that trauelleth, is sweete, whether he eate little or much: but the [j] saciety of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sicknesse that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches [k] reserued to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perish by euil trauaile, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his [l] hand is nothing.

14 [m] As hee came foorth of his mothers belly, hee shall returne naked to goe as he came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour, which he hath caused to passe by his hand.

15 And this also is an euill sicknesse, that in all points as he came, so shall he goe, and what profite hath hee that he hath trauailed for the [n] winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in [o] darkenesse with much griefe, and in his sorow and anger.

17 Behold then what I haue seene good, that it is comely [p] to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein hee trauaileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his [q] life, because God answereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

THere is an euill, which I saw vnder the sunne, and it is much among men.

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour, and hee wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but [a] GOD giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it vp: this is vanitie, and this

f Meaning, that God will redresse these things, and therefore we must depend vpon him.

g The reuenues of the earth are to be preferred aboue all things, which appertaine to this life.

h Kings & princes cannot maintein their estate without tillage, which thing commendeth the excellencie of tillage.

i That is, his great abundance of riches, or the surfeting which commeth by his great feeding.

k When couetous men heape vp riches, which turne to their destruction.

l He doeth not enioy his fathers riches. Iob 1. 21. wisd. 7. 6. 1. Tim. 6. 7.

m Meaning, in vaine, and without profite.

n In affliction and griefe of minde.

o Reade Chap. 3. 22.

p He will take no great thought for the pains that he hath endured in time past.

a He sheweth that it is the plague of God when the rich man hath not a liberall heart to vse his riches.

this is an euill sickenesse.

3 If a man beget an hundreth children, and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeres be multiplied, and his soule be not [b] satisfied with good things, and he be not [c] buried, I say that an vntimely fruite is better then he.

4 For [d] hee commeth to vanitie, and goeth into darkenes: and his name shall be couered with darkenesse.

5 Also he hath not seene the Sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousand yeeres twise tolde, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the [e] soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole? what hath the poore that [f] knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The [g] sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lustes: this also is vanitie, and veration of spirit.

10 What is that that hath beene? the name thereof is now named: it is knowen that it is man: and he cannot striue with him that is [h] stronger then he.

b If hee can neuer haue enough.
c As we see oftentimes, that the couetous maneither falleth into crimes that deserue death, or is murthered, or drowned, or hangeth himself, or such like, and so lacketh the honor of buriall, which is the last office of humanitie.
d Meaning the vntimely fruit whose life did neither profite nor hurt any.
e His desire and affection.
f That knoweth to vse his goods well in the iudgement of men.
g To be content with that which God hath giuen, is better then to follow the desires that neuer can be satisfied.
h Meaning God, who will make him to feele that he is mortall.

CHAP. VII.

Diuers precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoyd the contrary.

a There is no state wherein man can liue to haue perfect quietnesse in this life. Iob. 14.2. Psal. 144.4. Prou. 22 1.

SUrely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auaileth it a man?

2 For who knoweth what is [a] good for man in the life and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a [a] shadow? For who can shew vnto man, what shall be after him vnder the Sunne?

b He speaketh thus after the iudgement of the flesh, which thinketh death to be the end of all euils: or else, because that thus corporall death is the entring into life euerlasting.

3 [b] A good name is better then a good ointment, and the day of [b] death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to go to the house of [c] mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the end of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

c Where wee may see the hand of God, & learne to examine our liues.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noyse of the [d] thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

d Which crakle for a while and profit nothing.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man [e] madde: and the rewarde destroyeth the heart.

e A man that is esteemed wise, when he falleth to oppression, becommeth like a beast which enterprise a thing, and suddenly leaue off againe.

10 The [f] end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proud in spirit.

f He noteth their lightnes

11 Be not thou of an hastie spirit to bee angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wisedome is good with an [g] inheritance, and excellent to them that see the Sunne.

14 For man shal rest in the shadow of wisedome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisdome giueth life to the possessors thereof.

15 Beholde the worke of God: for who can make [h] straight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction [i] consider: God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should find [k] nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his [l] iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Bee not thou iust [m] ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouer wise: wherefore shouldest thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked [n] ouermuch, neither bee thou foolish: wherefore shouldest thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay holde on [o] this: but yet withdrawe not thine hande from [p] that: for hee that feareth God, shall come forth of them all.

21 Wisedome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 [q] Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine [q] heart also to all the wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast [r] cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wisedome: I thought, I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to knowe and to enquire and to search wisedome, and reason, and to knowe the wickednes of folly, and the foolishnes of madnesse,

28 And I finde more bitter then death, the woman whose heart is as nets & snares, and her hands, as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

29 Beholde, saith the preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to [s] finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I find it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

31 Onely

g Murmure not against God when he sendeth aduersities for mans sinnes.
h He answereth to them that esteeme not wisedome, except riches be ioyned therewith, shewing that both are the gifts of God, but that wisedome is farre more excellent, & may be without riches. Chap. 1.15.
i Consider wherefore God doeth send it, and what may comfort thee.
k That man should be able to controll nothing in his workes.
l Meaning, that cruell tyrants put the godly to death and let the wicked go free.
m Boast not too much of thine owne iustice and wisedome.
n Tary not long when thou art admonished to come out of the way of wickednesse.
o To wit, on these admonitions that goe before.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To obey Princes and Magistrates. 17 The works of God passe mans knowledge.

WHo is as the wise man? & who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisedome of a man doeth make his a face to shine: and the b strength of his face shall be changed.

2 I aduertise thee to take heede to the c mouth of the king, and to the word of the othe of God.

3 d Haste not to goe from of his sight: stande not in an euill thing: for he will doe whatsoeuer pleaseth him.

4 Where the worde of the king is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 He that keepeth the commandement, shall knowe none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall know the e time and iudgement.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the f misery of man is great vpon him.

7 For hee knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not lord g ouer the spirit to retaine the spirit: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessours thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke which is wrought vnto the Sunne, and I saw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne h hurt.

10 And likewise I sawe the wicked buried, and i they returned, and they that came from the holy k place, were yet forgotten in the citie where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill work is not l executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner do euill an hundreth times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shalbe well with the that feare the Lord, and doe reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shal he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadow, because hee feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie which is done vpon the earth, that there bee righteous men to whome it commeth according to the m worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it commeth according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praysed ioy: for there is no goodnes to man vnder the Sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the Sunne.

16 When I applied mine heart to know wisedome, and to behold the businesse that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe,

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne: for the which man trauaileth to seeke it, and cannot find it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to know it, he cannot find it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man know whom God loueth or hateth. 11 No man knoweth his ende. 16 Wisedome excelleth strength.

I Haue surely giuen mine heart to all this, and to declare al this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or a hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth, as he that feareth an othe.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the Sunne, that there is one b condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euil, and madnesse is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whosoeuer is ioyned to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a c liuing dogge, then to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing know that they shal die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their loue, and their hatred, and their emule is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the Sunne.

7 Go, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God now d accepteth thy workes.

8 At al times let thy garments be e white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 f Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the Sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauell wherein thou labourest vnder the Sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisedome in the graue whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saw vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding: neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and g chance commeth to them all.

a That is, doeth get him fauour and prosperitie.
b Whereas before hee was proud and arrogant, he shall become humble and meeke.
c That is, that thou obey the king, and keepe the othe that thou hast made for the same cause. d Withdraw not thy selfe lightly from the obedience of thy prince.
e That is, when time is to obey, and how farre he should obey.
f Man of himselfe is miserable, and therefore ought to do nothing to increase the same, but to worke all things by wisdome and counsell.
g Man hath no power to saue his owne life, and therefore must not rashly cast himselfe into danger.
h As commeth oft times to tyrants and wicked rulers.
i That is, others as wickedas they k They that feared God, and worshipped him according as he had appointed.
l Where iustice is decayed, there sinne reigneth.
m Which are punished as though they were wicked, as Chap. 7. 17.
n Reade Chap. 3. 22.

a Meaning, what things he ought to chuse or refuse: or man knoweth not by these outward things, that is, by prosperitie or aduersitie, whom God doth fauour or hate: for he sendeth them as well to the wicked as to the godly.
b In outward things, as riches, and pouerty, sicknesse and health, there is no difference betweene the godly and the wicked: but the difference is that the godly are assured by faith of Gods fauour & assistance.
c He noteth the Epicures & carnall men, which made their belly their God, and had no pleasure but in this life, wishing rather to be an abiect, and vile person in this life then a man of authoritie, & so to die, which is meant by the dogge and lyon.
d They flatter themselues to be in Gods fauour, because they haue all things in abundance.
e Reioyce, be merry, and spare for no cost: thus speake the wicked belly gods. f Eccl. regard the life. Chap. 5 18. f Thus the worldlings say to proue that all things are lawfull for them, and attribute that to chance & fortune, which is done by the prouidence of God.

12 For neither doth man know his a time, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euil time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisedome vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me:

14 A little citie and fewe men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the citie by his wisedome: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisedome then strength: yet the wisedome of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wise are more heard in quietnesse, then the crie of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisedome then weapons of war: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnesse and wisedome. 11 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot bee charmed. 16 Of foolish kings, & drunken princes. 17 And of good kings and princes.

DEad flies cause to stink, and putrifie the ointment of the Apothecary: so doth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisedome, and for glory.

2 The heart of a a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and hee b telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the c spirit of him that ruleth, rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentlenesse pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill that I haue seene vnder the sunne, as an d errour that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folly is set in great excellencie, and the e rich set in low place.

7 I haue seene seruants on horses, & princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 * He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, and hee that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 Hee that remoueth stones, shall hurt himselfe therewith, and hee that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, hee must then put to more f strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisedome.

11 If the serpent bite, when hee is not charmed: no better is a babbler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lips of a foole deuoure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the wordes of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madnesse.

14 For the foole multiplieth wordes, saying, Man knoweth not what shall bee: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the g citty.

16 Woe to thee, O land, when thy king is a h child, and thy princes i eate in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne k of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

18 By slouthfulnes the roofe of the house goeth to decay: and by the idlenesse of the hands, the house dropperth thorow.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the liuing, but siluer answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the l foule of the heauen shall carie the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP XI.

1 To bee liberall to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods prouidence. 8 All worldly prosperity is but vanitie. 9 God will iudge all CAst thy bread vpon the a waters: for after many dayes thou shalt finde it.

2 Giue a portion to seuen, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the b clouds be full, they will powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the c tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shall be.

4 He that obserueth the d wind, shal not sowe, and he that regardeth the clouds, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe growe in the wombe of her that is with child: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sowe thy seede, and in the euening let not thine hand e rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or f that, or whether both shal be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all he reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of g darknesse, because they are many, all that commeth is vanity.

9 h Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth: and walke in thy waies of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away i griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill k to depart from thy flesh: for childhoode and youth are vanitie.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth, and not to deferre till age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 12 Wisedome is the gift of God, and consisteth in feeling him and keeping his commandements.

‡ Ebr a song of songs: so called because it is the chiefest of those 1005. which Salomon made, as is mentioned, 1. King. 4. 32.

An ‡excellent song which was Salomons.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this song Salomon by most sweet and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfect loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon and king of peace, & the faithfull soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified & appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, & without reprehension. So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefites wherewith he doth inrich her of his pure bounty and grace without any of her deseruings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to bee more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

1 The familiar talke and mystical communication of the spirituall loue betweene Iesus Christ & his Church. 5 The domesticall enemies that persecute the Church.

LEt [a] him kisse mee with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the [b] sauour of thy good ointments, thy name is as an ointment powred out: Therefore the [c] virgins loue thee.

3 [d] Draw me: we will runne after thee: the king hath brought mee into his [e] chambers: we will reioyce and be glad in thee: we will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous doe loue thee.

4 I am [f] blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem, but comely, as the tents of [g] Kedar, and as the [h] curtaines of Salomon.

5 Regard ye me not because I am [i] black: for the [k] sunne hath looked vpon mee. The [l] sonnes of my mother were angry against mee: they made me the keeper of the vines: but I [m] kept not mine owne vine.

6 Shew mee, [n] O thou, whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at none: for why should I bee as shee that turneth aside to the flockes of [o] thy companions?

a This is spoken in the person of the Church, or of the faithfull soule inflamed with the desire of Christ, whom she loueth.
b The feeling of thy great benefits
c They that are pure in heart and conuersation.
d The faithfull confesse that they cannot come to Christ, except they be drawne.
e Meaning the secret ioy that is not knowen to the world.
f The Church confesseth her spots and sinne, but hath confidence in the fauour of Christ.
g Kedar was Ismaels sonne, of whom came the Arabians that dwelt in tents.
h Which within were all set with precious stones and iewels.
i Consider not the Church by the outward appearance.
k The corruption of nature, through sinne, and afflictions.
l Mine owne brethren, which should haue most fauoured mee.
m Shee confesseth her owne negligence.
n The spouse feeling her fault fleeth to her husband onely for succour.
o Whom thou hast called to the dignitie of pastours, and they set foorth their owne dreames in stead of thy doctrine.

p Christ speaketh to his Church, bidding them that are ignorant, to goe to the Pastours to learne.
q For thy spirituall beautie and excellencie, there was no worldly treasure to bee compared vnto thee.
r The Church reioyceth that she is admitted to the companie of Christ.
s He shalbe most deare vnto me.
t Christ accepteth his Church, and commendeth her beautie.
u That is, the heart of the faithfull wherein Christ dwelleth by his spirit.

7 p If thou know not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee footh by the steps of the flocke, and feede thy kids by the tents of the shepheardes.
8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the q charets of Pharaoh.
9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaines.
10 We will make thee borders of golde with studs of siluer.
11 r While the king was at his repast, my spikenard gaue the smell thereof.
12 My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: he shall lie betweene my s breasts.
13 My welbeloued is as a cluster of Camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.
14 My loue, behold, thou art t faire: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues.
15 My welbeloued, behold, thou art faire and pleasant: also our u bed is greene:
16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

CHAP. II.

1 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadow of Christ. 8 She heareth his voyce. 14 She is compared to the doue, 15 And the enemies to the foxes.

1 I Am the rose of the field, and the lilie of the a valleys.
2 Like a lilie among the thornes, so is my b loue among the daughters.
3 b Like the apple tree among the trees of the forrest, so is my welbeloued among the sonnes of men: vnder his shadow had I desire and sate downe: and his fruit was sweete vnto my mouth.
4 He brought mee into the wine seller, and loue was his banner ouer me.
5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort me with apples: for I am sicke of loue.
6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doth imbrace me.
7 c I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the fielde, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please.
8 d It is the voyce of my welbeloued: behold, hee commeth leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hils.
9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a young hart: loe, hee e standeth behinde our wall, looking foorth of the windowes, shewing himselfe through the f grates.
10 My welbeloued spake and sayd vnto me, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.
11 For behold, g winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.
12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.
13 The figge tree hath brought forth her yong figges: and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a sauour: arise my loue, my faire one, and come away.
14 My doue thou art in the h holes of the rocke, in the secret places of the staires, shew me thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweete, and thy sight comely.
15 Take vs the foxes, the little i fores, which destroy the vines: for our vines haue small grapes.
16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lilies.
17 Vntill the day breake, and the shadowes flee away: returne my welbeloued, and bee like a k roe, or, a yong hart vpon the mountaines of Bether.

a Thou that art ashamed of thy sinnes, come and shew thy selfe vnto me.
b Shewing that although we be not heard at the first, yet we must still continue in prayer till we feele comfort.
c Which declareth that wee must seeke vnto all, of whome we hope to haue any succour.

CHAP. III.

1 The Church desireth to be ioyned inseparably to Christ her husband. 16 Her deliuerance out of the wildernesse.

1 IN my bed by night I sought him that my soule loued: I sought him, but I found him not.
2 I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the citie, by the streetes and by the open places, and will a seeke him that my soule loueth: I sought him, but I found him not.
3 The b watchmen that went about the citie, found mee: to whome I sayd, Haue you seene him whom my soule loueth?
4 When I had past a little from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: I tooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house, into the chamber of her that conceiued me.
5 c I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the hindes of the field, that yee stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill shee please.
6 d Who is shee that commeth vp out of the e wildernesse like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the f spices of the merchant?
7 Behold his g bed which is Salomons: threescore strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.
8 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, euery one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare h by night.
9 King Salomon made himselfe a i palace of the trees of Lebanon.
10 He made the pillars thereof of siluer, and the pauement thereof of golde, the hangings thereof of purple, whose middes was paued with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.
11 Come foorth, ye k daughters of Sion, and beholde the king Salomon with the l crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

a The Church by night, that is, in troubles, seeketh to Christ, but is not incontinently heard.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The praises of the Church. 7 She is without blemish in his sight. 9 The loue of Christ toward her.

BEhold, thou art a faire, my loue: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doues: among thy locks b thine haire is like b Chap. 6. 4.

f So that we can not haue full knowledge of him in this life.
g That is, sinne & errour is driuen back by the comming of Christ, which is here described by spring time, when all things flourish.

like the [a] flocke of goats, which looke downe from the mountaine of Gilead.

2 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing: which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

3 Thy lips are like a threed of skarlet, & thy talke is comely: thy temples are within thy lockes, as a piece of a pomegranate.

4 Thy necke is as the towre of Dauid built for defence: a thousand shieldes hang therein, and all the targets of the strong men.

5 Thy two [c] breastes are as two yong roes that are twinnes, feeding among the lilies.

6 Untill the day breake, & the shadowes flee away, I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe and to the mountaine of incense.

7 Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

8 [d] Come with mee from Lebanon, my spouse, euen with mee from Lebanon, and looke from the toppe of Amanah, from the top of Shenir & Hermon, from the dennes of the lions and from the mountaines of the leopards.

9 My [e] sister my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart: thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine [f] eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

10 My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue? how much better is thy loue then wine, and the sauour of thine ointments then all spices?

11 Thy [g] lippes, my spouse, drop as honie combes: honie and milke are vnder thy tongue, & the sauour of thy garments is as the sauour of Lebanon.

12 My sister my spouse is as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fountaine sealed vp.

13 Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweete fruites, as camphire, spikenard, 14 Euen spikenard, and saffron, calamus, and cinamom, with all the trees of incense, myrrhe and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

15 [h] O fountaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

16 Arise, O [i] North, and come O South, and blow on my garden that the spices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eate his pleasant fruit.

CHAP. V.

1 Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2 Shee heareth his voyce. 3 Shee confesseth her nakednesse. 10 Shee praiseth Christ her husband.

I Am come into my [a] garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine honie combe with mine honie: I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merie, O welbeloued.

2 [b] I sleepe, but mine heart waketh, it is the voyce of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto mee, my sister, my loue, my doue, my vndefiled: for mine head is full of dewe, and my lockes with the drops of the [c] night.

3 I haue put off my [d] coate, howe shall I put it on? I haue washed my feete, howe shall I defile them?

4 My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and mine heart was affectioned toward him.

5 I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop down myrrhe, and my [e] fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre.

6 I opened to my welbeloued: but my welbeloued was gone and past: mine heart was gone when hee did speake: I sought him, but I could not find him: I called him, but hee answered me not.

7 The [f] watchmen that went about the citie, found me: they smote me and wounded me: the watchmen of the walles tooke away my vaile from me.

8 I charge you, [g] O daughters of Ierusalem, if yee find my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9 [h] O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then other welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou doest so charge vs?

10 My welbeloued is white and ruddie, the chiefest of ten thousand.

11 His [i] head is as fine gold, his locks curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12 His eyes are like doues vpon the riuers of waters, which are washed with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13 His cheekes are as a bed of spices, and as sweete flowres, and his lippes like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe.

14 His hands as rings of golde set with the [k] chrysolite, his belly like white yuorie couered with Saphirs.

15 His legges are as pillars of marble set vpon sockets of fine golde: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16 His mouth is as sweet things, and hee is wholy delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, O daughters of Ierusalem.

17 [l] O the fairest among women, whither is thy welbeloued gone? whither is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seeke him with thee?

CHAP. VI.

1 The Church asswreth her selfe of the loue of Christ. 3 The prayses of the Church. 9 Shee is but one and vndefiled.

MY welbeloued is gone downe into his [a] garden to the beds of spices, to feed in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

2 I am my welbeloueds, and my welbeloued is mine, who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautifull, my loue, as [b] Tirzah, comely as Ierusalem, terrible as an armie with banners.

4 [c] Turne away thine eyes from me: for they ouercome mee: [*] thine haire is like a flocke of goates, which looke downe from Gilead.

5 Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp from the washing, which euery one bring out twinnes, and none is barren among them.

6 Thy temples are within thy locks as a piece of a pomegranate.

7 There are [4] threescore Queenes and fourescore concubines, and of the damsels without number.

8 But my doue is alone, and my vndefiled, she is the onely daughter of her mother, and she is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue seene her and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praysed her.

9 [e] Who is she that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners?

10 I went downe to the [f] garden of nuts, to see the fruits of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished.

11 [g] I knew nothing, my soule set me [h] as the charets of my noble people.

12 Returne, returne, O [i] Shulamite, returne: returne that wee may beholde thee. What shall you see in the Shulamite, but as the companie of an armie?

13 The mandrakes haue giuen a smell, and in our gates are all sweete things, new and olde: my welbeloued, I haue kept them for thee.

d Meaning, that the gifts are infinite which Christ giueth to his Church. or that his faithfull are many in number.
e He sheweth the beginning of the Church was small, but that it grew vp to a great multitude.
f He went down into the Synagogue to see what fruits came of the Law and the Prophets.
g I found nothing but rebellion.

2 I will leade thee, & bring thee into my mothers house: there thou shalt teach me, and I will cause thee to drinke spiced wine, and new wine of the pomegranate.

3 [b] His left hand shalbe vnder mine head, and his right hand shall imbrace me.

4 [c] I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, that you stirre not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill she please.

5 (Who is this that commeth vp out of the wildernesse, leaning vpon her welbeloued?) I raised thee vp vnder an apple tree: there thy mother conceiued thee: there shee conceiued that bare thee.

6 [d] Set me as a seale on thine heart, & as a signet vpon thine arme: for loue is strong as death: iealousie is cruell as the graue: the coles therof are fierie coles, and a vehement flame.

7 Much water cannot quench loue, neither can the floodes drowne it: If a man should giue all the substance of his house for loue, they would greatly contemne it.

8 [e] We haue a little sister, and she hath no breasts: what shall we do for our sister when she shalbe spoken for?

9 [f] If thee be a wall, we will build vpon her a siluer palace: and if she be a doore, wee will keepe her in with boords of Cedar.

10 I am a wall, and my breastes are as towers: then was I in his eyes as one that findeth peace.

11 [g] Salomon had a vine in Baal-hamon: hee gaue the vineyard vnto keepers: euerie one bringeth for the fruit therof a thousand pieces of siluer.

12 But my vineyard which is mine, is before me: to thee, O Salomon, appertaineth a thousand pieces of siluer, and two hundreth to them that keepe the fruit thereof.

13 O thou that dwellest in the [h] gardens, the companions hearken vnto thy voyce: cause me to heare it.

Isaiah.

THE ARGVMENT.

GOd, according to his promise, Deut. 18.15. that he would neuer leaue his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interpret and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the vtilitie and profit of thoſe, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and as the time & ſtate of things required. And priucipally in the declaration of the Law they had reſpect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: Firſt to the doctrine contained briefly in the two tables: ſecondly, to the promiſes and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the couenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Sauiour Ieſus Chriſt, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added not diminiſhed, but faithfully expounded the ſenſe and meaning therof. And according as God gaue them vnderſtanding of things, they applied the promiſes particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and alſo denounced the menaces againſt the enemies of the ſame: not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to aſſure the Church of their ſafegard by the deſtruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearely intreated it then Moſes, & ſet forth more liuely Ieſus Chriſt, in whom this couenant of reconciliation was made. In all theſe things Iſaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was moſt diligent to ſet out the ſame, with moſt vehement admonitions, reprehenſions, and conſolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he ſaw that ỹ diſeaſe of the people required. He declareth alſo many notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promiſe of the Meſſiah, his office and his kingdome. Alſo of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vnion with the Iewes. Which are as moſt principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his Sermons that he preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had ſtood vpon the Temple doore (for the maner of the Prophets was to ſet vp the ſumme of their doctrine for certaine dayes, that the people might the better marke it, as Iſa. 8. 1. and Habbak. 2. 2.) the Prieſts tooke it downe and reſerued it among the regiſters: and ſo by Gods prouidence theſe bookes were preſerued as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his perſon and time, he was of the kings ſtocke (for Amos his father was brother to Azariah King of Iudah, as the beſt writers agree) and prophecied more then 64. yeeres, from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manaſſeh, whoſe father in law he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among other is to be obſerued, that they ſpeake of things to come, as though they were now paſt, becauſe of the certainty thereof, and that they could not but come to paſſe, becauſe God had ordained them in his ſecret counſell, and ſo reuealed them to his Prophets.

2 Iſaiah reproueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and ſtubbornes, that neither for benefits nor puniſhment would amend. 11 He ſheweth why their ſacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true ſeruice ſtandeth. 24 He propheſieth of the deſtruction of Ieruſalem, 25 and of the reſtitution thereof.

a That is, a reuelation, or propheſie, which was one of the two meanes, whereby God declared himſelfe to his ſeruants in olde time, as Numb. 12. 6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1. Sam. 9. 9.

4 Ah, ſinfull nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a g ſeede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forſaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the h holy one of Iſrael to anger: they are gone backward.

5 Wherefore ſhould yee be i ſmitten any more? for yee fall away more and more: the whole k head is ſicke, and the whole heart is heauie.

6 From the l ſole of the foot vnto ỹ head, there is nothing whole therein, but wounds and ſwelling, and ſores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, m nor bound vp nor mollified with oyle.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your ſacrifices, ſaith the Lord? I am full of the burnt offrings of rams, and of the fat of fed beaſts: and I t deſire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goats.

12 When ye come to appeare before mee, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts?

13 Bring no more oblations: u in vaine: incenſe is an abomination vnto me: I cannot ſuffer your new moones, nor Sabbaths, nor ſolemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor ſolemne aſſemblies.

3 And many people shall go, r say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the d mountaine of the Lorde, to the house of the God of Iaakob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: s for the e Lawe shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from f Ierusalem.

s Meaning, as soone as God shal begin to execute his iudgements.

t By high trees and mountaines are meant them that are proud, and lofty, and thinke themselues most strong in this world.

u He condemneth their vaine confidence, which they had in strong holdes, and in their rich merchandise, which brought in vaine pleasures, wherewith mens mindes became effeminate. Hose. 10. 8 Luke 23. 30. reuel 6. 16 and 9. 6.

x They shal cast them into most vile and filthy places, when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them.

y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped, he is dead, and consider that ye haue to do with God.

CHAP. III.

1 For the sin of the people God will take away the wise men & giue them foolish princes. 14 The couetousnesse of the gouernours. 16 The pride of the women.

FOr loe, the Lorde God of hostes will take away from Jerusalem and from Judah the stay a and the strength: euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water,

2 The strong man, and the man of warre, the iudge and the Prophet, the prudent and the aged,

3 The captaine of fifte, and the honourable, and the counseller, and the cunning artificer, and b the eloquent man.

4 And I will appoynt c children to be their princes, and babes shall rule ouer them.

5 The people shall bee c oppressed one of another, and euery one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.

6 When euery one shal take hold of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothing: thou shalt bee our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand:

7 In that day he shall sweare, saying, I cannot be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

8 For Jerusalem is fallen, & Judah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lorde, to prouoke the eyes of his glory.

9 The d triall of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodome, they hide them not. Woe be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselues.

10 e Say ye, Surely it shall bee well with the iust: for they shall eate the fruite of their workes.

11 Woe be to the wicked, it shall bee euill with him: for the reward of his handes shall be giuen him.

12 f Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths.

13 The Lorde standeth vp to pleade, yea, he standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the g ancients of his people and the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyarde: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses.

15 What haue ye to doe, that ye beate my people to pieces, h and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes?

16 The Lord also sayeth, i Because the daughters of Zion are hautie, and walke with k stretched out neckes, and with l wandering eyes, walking and m minsing as they go, and making a n tinkling with their feete, 17 Therefore shall the Lorde make the heads of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discouer their secret parts.

18 In that day shall the Lorde take away the ornament of the slippers, and the calles, and the round tiers,

19 The sweete balles, and the bracelets, and the bonnets,

20 The tyres of the head, and the slops, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earerings,

21 The rings, and the nunskers,

22 The costly apparell and the vailes, and the wimples and the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasses, and the fine linnen, a Because they trusted in their abundance and prosperity, he sheweth that they should be taken from them.

b The temporall gouernour and the minister.

c By these he meaneth that God would take away euery thing that was in any estimation, & wherein they had any occasion to vaine themselues.

d Not onely in age, but in witte, maners, knowledge and strength.

e For lacke of good regiment and order.

f He sheweth that this plague shalbe so horrible, that contrarie to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shall be found able or willing to be their gouernour.

g Feare shall rather cause him to forsweare himselfe, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him.

h When God shall examine their deedes, whereupon they now set an impudent face, he shall find the marke of their impiety in their forehead.

i Be ye that are godly assured that God will defend you in the middes of these troubles.

k Because the wicked people were more addict to their princes, then to the commandements of God, he sheweth that he would giue them such princes, by whom they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate.

l Meaning, that the rulers and gouernours had destroyed his Church, and not preserued it according to their duety.

m That is, yet shew all crueley against them.

n He menaceth the people, because of the arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue themselues to all wantonnesse and dissolution.

o Which declared their pride.

p As a signe, that they were not chaste.

q Which shewed their wantonnesse.

r They delited then in slippers that did creake, or had little plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

and

f In rehearsing all these things particularly, he sheweth the lightnesse and vanitie of such as cannot be content with comely apparell according to their degree.

and the hoods, and the f launes.

24 And in stead of sweete sauour there shal be stinke, and in stead of a girdle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the haire, baldnes, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, and burning in stead of beautie.

25 Thy men shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she being desolate shal sit vpon the ground.

t Meaning, that God will not onely punish the women, but their husbands, which haue suffered this dissolutenesse, and also the common wealth, which hath not remedied it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

a When God shall execute this vengeance, there shall not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they, contrary to womanly shamefastnesse, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselues to any condition.

AND in that day shall a seuen women take holde of one man, saying, Wee will eate our owne bread, and wee will weare our owne garments: onely b let vs bee called by thy name, and take away our c reproch.

b Be thou our husband, and let vs be called thy wiues.

c For so they thought it, to be without an head and husband.

2 In that day shall the d bud of the Lord be beautifull and glorious, and the fruite of the earth shall bee excellent and pleasant for them that are escaped of Israel.

d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should be as plentifull to ward the faithful, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Chap. 45. 8. Some by the bud of the Lord, meane Christ.

3 Then he that shalbe left in Zion, and he that shal remaine in Ierusalem, shall be called holy, and euery one shall be e written among the liuing in Ierusalem, e He alludeth to the booke of life, whereof reade Exod. 32. 32. meaning Gods secret counsell, wherein his elect are predestinate to life euerlasting.

4 When the Lord shall wash the filthines of the daughters of Zion, and purge the f blood of Ierusalem out of the mids thereof by the spirit of s iudgement, and by the spirit of burning.

f That is, the cruelty, extortion, auarice, and all wickednesse.

5 And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, & vpon the assemblies thereof, h a cloud and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the glory shall be a defence.

g When things shall be redressed that were amisse.

6 And a couering shal be for a shadow in the day for the heate, & a place of refuge, and a couert for the storme k and for the raine.

h He alludeth to the pillar of the cloud, Exod. 13. 21. meaning, that Gods sauour and protection should appeare in euery place.

i The faithful are called the glory of God, because his image, and tokens of his grace shine in them.

k God promiseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

CHAP. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine, hee describeth the state of the people. 8 Of their auarice, 11 Their drunkennesse. 13 Of their captiuitie.

NOw will a I sing to my beloued a song of my beloued touching his vineyard. b My beloued had a c vineyard in a very fruitfull hill, a The Prophet by this song doeth set before the peoples eyes their ingratitude, and Gods mercy.

b That is, to God. Iere. 2. 21. matth. 21. 33.

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and planted it with the best plants, d and built a tower in the mids thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then he looked that it should bring foorth grapes, but it brought e foorth wilde grapes.

c Meaning, that he had planted his Church in a place most plentifull and abundant.

d He spared no diligence nor cost.

e In the seuenth verse he declareth what they were.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem, and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, f betweene me and my vineyard.

f Hee maketh them iudges in their owne cause, forasmuch as it was euident that they were the cause of their owne ruine.

4 What could I haue done any more to my vineyarde, that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring foorth grapes, and it bringeth foorth wilde grapes?

g I will take no more care for it: meaning that he would take from them his word and ministers, and all other comforts, and send them contrary plagues.

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I g will take away the hedge thereof, and it shalbe eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shal be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shal not bee cut, nor digged, but briers, and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hostes is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for h iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde i a crying.

h Iudgement & righteousnesse are true fruits of the feare of God, and therefore in the stead oppressors there is no religion.

i Of them that are oppressed.

8 Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay fielde to fielde, till there bee no k place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

k To wit, for the poore to dwell in.

9 This is in mine l eares, saith the Lord of hostes. Surely many houses shall bee desolate, euen great, and faire without inhabitant.

l I haue heard the complaint and cry of the poore.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeelde one m bath, and the seede of an n homer shal yeeld an o ephah.

m Which containeth about ten pottels: so that euery acre should but yeeld one pottell.

n Which containeth an hundreth pottels.

o An ephah containeth ten pottels, and is in drie things as much as Bath is in licours.

11 Woe vnto them that p rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill q night, till the wine doe inflame them.

p That spare no paine nor diligence to follow their lusts.

12 And the harpe, and viole, timbrell, and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the r worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

q Which are neuer wearie of their rioting and excessiue pleasures: but vse all meanes to prouoke to the same.

13 Therefore my people s is gone into captiuitie, because they had t no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

r They regard not the prouident care of God ouer them, nor for what end hee hath created them.

14 Therefore u hell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, & their multitude, and their pompe, and hee that reioyceth among them, shall descend into it.

s That is, shall certainely goe: for so the Prophets vse to speake, as though the thing which shall come to passe, were done already.

t Because they would not obey the word of God.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shall bee humbled, euen the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

u Meaning, the graue shall swallow vp them that shall die for hunger and thirst, and yet for all this great destruction, it shall neuer be satiate.

16 And the Lord of hostes shall be exalted in iudgement, & the holy God shall be sanctified in iustice.

x God comforteth the poore lambes of his Church which had bene strangers in other countreys, promising that they should dwell in those places againe, whereof they had bene deprived by the fat and cruell tyrants.

17 Then shall x the lambes feed after their maner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them that draw iniquity with y cordes of vanity, and sinne, as with cart ropes:

19 Which say, z Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke that we may see it: and let the counsell of the holy One of Israel draw neere and come, that wee may knowe it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darkenesse for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweete, and sweet for sowre.

21 Woe vnto them that are a wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Woe vnto them that are b mighty to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnesse of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their c roote shall be as rottennesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the holy One of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lorde kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his d hand vpon them, e hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkeises were torne in the mids of the streetes, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hande was stretched out still.

26 And hee will lift vp a signe f vnto the nations afarre, g will hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None shall h faint nor fal among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes bee loosed, nor i the latchet of his shooes be broken:

28 Whose arrowes shalbe sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooues shall bee thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewind.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and he shal roare like lions whelps: they shall k roare and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if k they looke vnto the earth, behold darkenesse, and sorow, and the light shal be darkened in their l skie.

a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiestie, but according as mans capacitie is able to coprehend him, that is, by visible signes, as Iohn Baptist saw the holy Ghost in the forme of a doue.

b As a iudge ready to giue sentence.

c Of his garment, or of his throne.

d They were Angels, so called, because they were of the fierie color, to signifie that they burnt in the loue of God, or were light as fire to execute his will.

e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightnesse of Gods glory.

f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightnesse of God in them.

g Which thing declareth the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.

h This often repetition signifieth, that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselues in praysing God, to teach vs that in all our liues wee should giue our selues to the continuall prayse of God.

i His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to prayse him.

k Which things were to confirme the Prophet that it was not the voice of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindnesse that should come vpon the Iewes.

l Hee speaketh this for two causes: the one, because he that was a mortal creature, and therefore had more need to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other, because the more neerer that man approcheth to God, the more doth hee know his owne sinne and corruption.

m Of the burnt offerings, where the fire neuer went out.

n This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, til he hath purged vs.

o Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God will not immediatly take away his word, but he will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they will not learne thereby to obey his will, and be saued: hereby he exhorteth the ministers to do their duety, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened, Matth. 13. 14. Acts 28. 26. Rom. 11. 8.

p As he was moued with the zeale of Gods glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

begin to feele them.

f He will make the Babylonians to come against them at his becke, and to fight vnder his standerd.

g They shall be prompt, and lusty to execute Gods vengeance.

h The enemie shall haue none impediment.

i Whereby is declared the cruelty of the enemy.

k The Iewes shall finde no succour.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiesty. 9 How sheweth the obstinacy of the people. 11 The destruction of the lande. 13 The remnant reserued.

IN the yeere of the death of king Vzziah, a I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an b high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower c partes thereof filled the Temple.

2 The d Seraphims stood vpon it: euery one had sixe wings: with twaine he couered his e face, and with twaine hee couered his e feet, and with twaine he did e flie.

3 And one cryed to another, and sayde, h Holy, holy, holy is the Lorde of hostes: the whole i world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes k mooued at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, l Woe is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the mids of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lord of hostes.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hot cole in his hande, which hee had taken from the m altar with the tongs:

7 And hee touched my mouth, and sayd, Loe, this hath toucheth thy lips, and thine iniquity shall be taken away, and thy n sinne shall be purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lorde, saying, ¶Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send mee.

9 And he sayd, Go, and say vnto this people, o Ye shall heare in deede, but ye shall not vnderstand: ye shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauy, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, & vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, p how long? And hee answered, Vntill the cities bee wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate, 12 And the Lorde haue removed men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

13 But

13 But yet in it shalbe q a tenth, and shall returne, and shall be eaten vp as an elme r or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaues: so the holy seede shall be the substance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jerusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised. 18 Ephraim is punished.

AND in the dayes of s Ahaz, the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudah, Rezin the King of ‖ Aram t came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he could not ouercome it.

2 And it was told the house of u Dauid, saying, Aram is ioyned with x Ephraim: therefore his heart was y mooued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are mooued by the winde.

3 ¶ Then said the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz (thou and z Sheariashub thy sonne) at the ende of the conduite of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

4 And say vnto him, Take heede, and be still: feare not, neither bee faint hearted for the two tailes of these smoking a firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a king in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of b Tabeal.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: & within fiue and c threescore yeere Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleeue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske d a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath, or in the height aboue.

12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will I e tempt the Lord.

13 Then hee said, Heare you now, O house of Dauid, Is it a small thing for you to grieue f men, that yee will also grieue my God?

14 Therefore the Lorde g himselfe will giue you a signe. Behold, the virgine shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name ‖ Immanu-el.

15 h Butter and hony shall he eate, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, & to chuse the good.

16 For afore the i child shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, & to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shal be forsaken of both her kings.

17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that k Ephraim departed from Iudah) euen the king of l Ashur.

18 And in that day shall the Lord hisse for the m flie that is at the vttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the bee which is in the land of Ashur,

19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thorny places, and vpon all bushie n places.

20 In that day shall the Lord shaue with a rasor that is hired, euen by them beyond the riuer, by the king of Ashur, the head and the haire of the o feete, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man p nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe.

22 And for the q abundance of milke that they shall giue, he shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eate, which is left within the land.

23 And at r same day euery place, wherein shalbe a thousand vines, shall be at a thousand piece of siluer: it shalbe for the briers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with s bowe shall one come thither: because all the land shall be briers and thornes.

25 But on t all u mountaines which shal be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briers and thornes: but they shall bee for the sending out of bullockes, and for the treading of sheepe.

q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was reueiled to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophesie, that ten kings should come before their captiuity, as were from Vzziah to Zedekiah. r For the fewnesse they shall seeme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after florish as a tree, which in winter looseth his leaues, and seemeth to bee dead, yet in summer is fresh and greene.

s 2 King. 16. 5.
‖ Or, Syria.
a To wit, the second time: for in the first battell Ahaz was ouercome.
b Meaning the Kings house.
c That is, Israel, because that tribe was the greatest, Gen. 48. 19.
d For feare.
e That is to say, the rest shall returne: which name Isaiah gaue his sonne, to signifie, that the rest of the people should returne out of their captiuitie.
f Which haue but a litle smoke, and shall quickly be quenched.
g Which was an Israelite, and as seemeth, enemie to the house of Dauid.
h Counting from the fiue & twentieth yeere of the reigne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophesied this thing, and now Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should be led into perpetual captiuitie, which thing came to passe within twenty yeere after that Isaiah did this message.
i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemie shall be destroyed, and thou preserued.
k Not to beleeue Gods worde without signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the ayde and helpe of our infirmitie, is to rebel against him.
l You thinke you haue to doe with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God, against whom you bend your selues.
m Forasmuch as thou art vnworthy, the Lord for his owne promise sake will giue a signe, which shal be, that Christ the Sauiour of his Church and the effect of all signes and miracles, shall be reueiled.
Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none, but to him, that is both God and man.
n Meaning, that Christ is not only God but man also, because he shall be nourished as other men, vntill the age of discretion.
o Not meaning Christ, but any childe: for before a child can come to the yeeres of discretion, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shall be destroyed.
p Since the time that the twelue tribes rebelled vnder Roboam.
q In whom thou hast put thy trust.
r Meaning the Egyptians: for by reason the countrey is hot and moyst, it is full of Flies, as Assyria is full of Bees.
s Signifying, that no place shal be free from them.
t That is, that which is from the belly downward: meaning that he would destroy both great and small.
u Hee that before had a great number of cattel, shalbe content with one kow and two sheepe.
x The number of men shall be so small, that a few beasts shalbe able to nourish all abundantly.
y As they that goe to seeke wilde beasts among the bushes.
z The mountaines contrary to their woont, shall be tilled by such as shall flee to them for succour.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be inquired at.

MOreouer, the Lord said vnto me, Take thee a a great roll, and write in it b with a mans pen, Make speed to the spoile: haste to the praye.

a That thou mayest write in great letters, to the intent it may be more easily read.
b Meaning, after the common fashion: because all men might reade it.

2 Then I tooke vnto me [c] faithfull witnesses to record, Uriah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Jeberechiah.

3 After, I came vnto the [d] Prophetesse, which conceiued, and bare a sonne. Then sayd the Lord to me, Call his name, ‖ Maher-shalalhash-baz.

4 For before [e] the child shall haue knowledge to cry, My father and my mother, [f] he shall take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria, before the king of Ashur.

5 ¶ And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying.

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of [g] Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Now therefore beholde, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of [h] the River mightie and great, euen the king of Ashur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their bankes,

8 And shall breake into Judah, and shall ouerflow and passe through, and shall come vp to the [i] necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O [k] Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heapes, O yee [l] people, and yee shall bee broken in pieces, and hearken all yee of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsel together, yet it shall bee brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to mee in taking [m] of mine hand, and taught mee, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say yee not, A [n] confederacie to all them, to whom this people saieth a confederacie, neither feare you [o] their feare, nor bee afraid of them.

13 [p] Sanctifie the Lord of hosts, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread,

14 And he shalbe as a [q] Sanctuarie: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare, and as a net to the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and fall, and shall be broken, and shall be snared, and shalbe taken.

16 [r] Binde vp the testimonie: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will wait vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iaakob, and I will looke for him.

18 Behold, I and the [s] children whom the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes [t] as wonders in Israel, [u] by the Lord of hosts, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shal say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirite of diuination, [x] at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmure, [y] Should not a people enquire at their God? from the [z] liuing to the dead?

20 To the [a] Law, and to the testimonie, if they speake not according to this word: it is because there is no [b] light in them.

21 Then hee that is afflicted and famished, shall go to and fro in [c] it: and when he shall be hungry, hee shall euen fret himselfe, [d] and curse his king and his gods, and shall looke vpward.

22 And when he shall looke to the earth, behold trouble, and [e] darknesse, deration and anguish, and he is driuen to darknesse.

YET [a] the darkenes shall not bee according to the affliction, [b] that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, and afterward when hee was more grieuous by the way of the sea beyond Jorden in Galile of [c] the Gentiles.

2 The people that [d] walked in darkenes, haue seene a great [e] light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hath the light shined.

3 Thou hast [f] multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in haruest, and as men reioyce when they diuide a spoyle.

h That is, the Assyrians, which dwel beyond Euphrates.

i It shall be ready to drowne them.

k He speaketh this to Messiah or Christ, in whom the faithfull were comforted, and who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed vtterly.

l To wit, ye that are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians, &c.

m To encourage me that I should not shrinke for the infidelitie of this people, and so neglect mine office.

n Consent not ye that are godly, to the league and friendship that this people seeke with strangers & idolaters.

o Meaning, that they should not feare the thing that they feared, which haue no hope in God.

p In putting your trust onely in him, in calling vpon him in aduersitie, patiently looking for his helpe, and fearing to do any thing contrary to his will.

q Hee will defend you which are his elect, and reiect all the rest, which is meant of Christ, against whom the Iewes should stumble and fall, Luke 2. 34. Rom. 9. 33. 1. Pet. 2. 7. 8.

r Though all forsake me, yet ye that are mine, keepe my word sure sealed in your hearts.

s Meaning them that were willing to heare & obey the word of God, whom the world hated, as though they were monsters and not worthy to liue.

t This was a consolation in their troubles, knowing that nothing could come vnto them, but by the will of the Lord.

u Answere the wicked thus, Should not Gods people seeke succour only at him?

x That is, Will they refuse to bee taught of the mouth of God, & seeke helpe at the dead, which is the illusion of Satan?

y Seeke remedy in the word of God where his will is declared.

d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of that thing, which should come to passe three score yeeres after, as though it were now done.

e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance.

f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerance by Christ through the preaching of the Gospel, Matth. 4. 15, 16.

g Their number was greater when they went into captiuitie, then when they returned, but their ioy was greater at their returne, Hag. 2. 10.

h Thou giuest them perfite ioy, by deliuering them, and by destroying the tyrants that had kept them in cruell bondage, as thou didst deliuer them by Gideon from the Midianites, Iudg. 7. 22.

m This is another prophesie against them of Samaria, which were mockers, & contemners of Gods promises and menaces.

n We were but weake, when the enemie ouercame vs, but we will make our selues so strong, that we will neither care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatnings.

o Rezin king of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death, Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assisted by the Philistims.

with noyse, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be with burning and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a childe is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and hee shall call his Name ¶Counsellour, Counseller, The mightie God, The euerlasting [k] Father, The prince of peace.

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none ende: he shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & vpon his kingdome, to order it, & to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice from henceforth, euen for euer: [l] the zeale of the Lorde of hostes will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iaakob, and it hath lighted vpon [m] Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The [n] bricks are fallen, but we will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but we will change them into cedars.

11 Neuertheless, the Lorde will rayse vp the aduersaries of [o] Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before, and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hande is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore wil the Lord cut off frō Israel head & taile, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them, are deuoured.

17 Therefore shal the Lord haue no pleasure in their young men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for euery one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse [p] burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briers and the thornes, and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hosts shal the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall [q] spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and he shall eate on the left hand, and shall not bee satisfied: euery one shall eate the [r] flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shalbe against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

1 Of wicked law makers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shalbe saued.

WOe vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and [a] write grieuous things,

2 To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may bee their prayse, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

3 ¶What wil ye doe now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from [b] farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where will ye leaue your [c] glory?

4 [d] Without mee euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall downe among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 ¶O [e] Ashur, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send [f] him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the prayse, and to tread them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno as [g] Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboue Ierusalem, and aboue Samaria:

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

12 ¶But when the Lorde hath accomplished [h] all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visite the fruite of the proude heart [i] of the king of Ashur, and his glorious and proude lookes, 13 Because hee sayde, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisedome, because I am wise: therefore I haue removed the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall goe into captiuitie, and the rest shall be slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to be the executioners of his vengeance.

f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites: and in this first and seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God, and of the wicked in one very thing and act: for Gods intention is to chastise them for their amendment, and the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselues: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of their owne malice, it is the worke of the deuill.

g Seeing that I haue ouercome as well one citie as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine hands?

him that heweth therewith? or shall the saw exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rodde should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hosts send among his fatmen, leanesse, and vnder his glory he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall bee as a fire, and the holy One thereof, as a flame, and it shall burne and deuoure his thornes and his briers in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitful fields both soule and flesh: and hee shall bee as the fainting of a standerd bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may tell them.

20 ¶ And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, & such as are escaped of the house of Iaakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon the Lorde, the holy One of Israel in truth.

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iaakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, bee as the sande of the Sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption decreed shall ouerflow with righteousnesse.

23 For the Lord God of hosts shall make the consumption, euen determined, in the mids of all the land.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, O my people, that dwellest in Zion, be not afrayd of Asshur: hee shall smite thee with a rodde, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the maner of Egypt:

25 But yet a very little time, & the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hostes shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he will lift it vp after the maner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shall his burden bee taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anoynting.

28 He is come to Aiath, he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shal he lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the foord: they lodged in the lodging of Geba: Ramah is afraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remooued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselues together.

32 Yet there is a time that he will stay at Nob: hee shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter of Zion, the hill of Jerusalem.

33 Beholde, the Lord God of hostes shall cut off the bough with feare, and they of hie stature shall be cut off, and the hie shall bee humbled.

34 And he shall cut away the thicke places of the forrest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mighty fall.

BVt there shall come a rod foorth of the stocke of Ishai, and a graffe shall grow out of his roots.

2 And the Spirit of the Lorde shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisdome and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reproue by the hearing of his eares:

4 But with righteousnesse shal he iudge the poore, and with equity shall he reproue for the meeke of the earth: and hee shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall bee the girdle of his loynes, and faithfulnesse the girdle of his reines.

6 The wolfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kidde, and the calfe and the lion, and the fatte beast together, and a little childe shall leade them.

7 And the cow and the beare shall feede: their yong ones shall lie together: and the lyon shall eate straw like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking childe shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the weaned childe shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountaine of mine holinesse: for the earth shall bee full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea.

10 And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious.

11 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand againe: the second time to possesse the remnant of his people (which shall be left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Cushi, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.

z Feare and destruction shal come vpon Iudah: for the princes and the people shal all be led away captiues.

a Because the captiuity of Babylon was a figure of the spirituall captiuity vnder sinne, he sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ: for as Dauid came out of Ishai a mã without dignity: so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house, as out of a dead stocke, Chap. 53.2.

b All these properties can agree to none but onely vnto Christ: for it is he that toucheth the hearts of the faithfull, & mortifieth their concupiscences: and to the wicked he is the sauour of death, and to them that shall perish: so that all the world shall be smitten with this rod, which is his word.

18 All the kings of the nations, euen they all sleepe in glory, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art [m] cast out of the graue like an abominable branch: like the rayment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorow with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete.

20 Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowmed for euer.

21 [n] Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquitie of their fathers: let them not rise vp, nor possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 ¶ For I will rise vp against them (saith the Lord of hosts), & I will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne, and the nephew, saith the Lord.

23 And I will make it a possession to the ‖ hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hosts.

24 The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand:

25 [o] That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from [p] them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations, 27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disanull it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 ¶ In the yeere that King Ahaz died, was this [q] burden.

29 Reioyce not (thou whole [r] Palestina) because the rod of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents root shal come forth a cocatrice, and the fruit thereof shalbe a fierie flying serpent.

30 For the [s] first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needy shall lie downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and [t] it shall slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, cry, O city: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the [u] North a smoke, & none shall be [x] alone at his time appointed.

32 What a He sheweth why God will haste to destroy his enemies: to wit, because he will deliuer his Church.

b Meaning, that the Gentiles shal be ioyned with the Church, and worship God.

c Signifying, that the Iewes should be superiours to the Gentiles, and that they should be brought vnder the seruice of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby al are brought to the subiection of Christ, 2. Cor. 10. 5.

d That is, he suffred all violence and iniuries to be done.

e Meaning, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnesse, and also how detestable a thing tyrannie is, seeing the insensible creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

f As though they feared, lest thou shouldest trouble the dead, as thou didst the liuing: and here he derideth the proud tyrannie of the wicked which know not that all creatures wish their destruction that they may reioice.

g In stead of thy costly carpets and couerings.

h Thou y thoughtest thy selfe most glorious, and as it were placed in the heauen: for the morning starre that goeth before the sunne is called Lucifer, to whom Nebuchad nezzar is compared.

i Meaning Ierusalem, whereof the Temple was on the North side, as Psal. 48. 2. whereby he meaneth that tyrants fight against God, when they persecute his Church, and would set themselues in his place.

k In marueiling at thee.

l To set them at libertie: noting his crueltie.

m Thou wast not buried in the sepulchre of thy fathers, thy tyranny was so abhorred.

n He calleth to the Medes and Persians, and all those that should execute Gods vengeance.

‖ Or turtle.

o As I haue begun to destroy the Assyrians in Sancherib, so wil I continue & destroy them wholly, when I shall deliuer you from Babylon.

p From the Iewes.

q Read Chap. 13. 1.

r He willeth the Philistims not to reioyce because the Iewes are diminished in their power: for their strength shall be greater then euer it was.

s The Israelites which were brought to most extreme misery.

t To wit, my people.

u That is, from the Iewes or Assyrians: for they both were North from Palestina.

x But they shalbe all ready and ioyned together.

y Which shall come to enquire of the state of the Church.

32 What shall then one answere y messengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath established Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

z They shall answere, that the Lord doeth defend his Church, and them that ioyne themselues thereunto.

CHAP. XV.

A prophesie against Moab.

THE a burden of Moab. Surely b Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 c He shall goe vp to the temple, and to Dibon to the hie places to weepe: for d Nebo and for Medeba shal Moab howle: vpon all e their heads shall be baldnesse, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they bee girded with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall crie, and Elealeh: their voyce shall be heard vnto Jahaz: therefore the warriers of Moab shal shout: the soule of euery one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine f heart shall crie for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar, g an heifer of three yeere olde: for they shall goe vp with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith, and by the way of Horonaim they h shal raise vp a crie of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shall bee dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the hearbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the i brooke of the willowes.

8 For the crie went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the shriking thereof vnto Beer Elim.

9 Because the waters of Dimon shalbe full k of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euen lions l vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherfore the Moabites are destroyed.

SEnd a ye a lambe to the ruler of the worl from the rocke of the wildernesse, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shalbe as a bird that b flieth, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shal be at the foordes of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsell, execute iudgement: c make thy shadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray not him that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwel with thee: Moab bee thou their couert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner d shall end: the destroyer shalbe consumed, and the oppressor shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercie shal the throne be prepared, and e he shall sit vpon it in stedfastnesse, in the Tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hasting iustice.

6 (We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) euen his pride and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his f lyes shall not be so.

7 Therefore shal Moab howle vnto Moab: euery one shall howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shal ye mourne, yet they shall be g stricken.

8 For the vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, & the vine of Sibmah: h the Lords of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto i Jaazer: they wandred in the wildernesse: her goodly branches stretched out themselues, and went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore wil k I weepe with the weeping of Jaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy summer fruites, and vpon thy haruest l a shouting is fallen.

10 And gladnesse is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull fielde: and in the vineyardes shall bee no singing nor shouting for ioy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease.

11 Wherefore, my m bowels shall sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareth.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be weary of his hie places, then shall he come to his n temple to pray, but hee shall not prevaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, o In three yeeres, as the yeeres of an p hireling, and the glory of Moab shall bee contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophesie of the destruction of Damascus and Ephraim. 7 Calamitie moueth to repentance.

THE a burden of b Damascus. Beholde, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of c Aroer shalbe forsaken: they shall be for the flockes: for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraid.

3 The munition also shall cease from d Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall bee as the e glorie of the children of Israel, a Reade Chap. 13.1.

b The chiefe citie, whereby the whole countrey was meant.
c The Moabites shall flee to their idoles for succour, but it shall bee too late.
d Which were cities of Moab.
e For as in the West parts the people vsed to let their haire grow long, when they mourned, so in the East parts they cut it off.
f The Prophet speaketh this in the person of the Moabites, or as one that felt the great iudgement of God, that should come vpon them.
g Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleasure, and neuer felt sorrow.
h He describeth the miserable dissipation and flight of the Moabites.
i To hide themselues, and their gods there.
k Of them that are slaine.
l So that by no meanes they should escape the hand of God: thus will God punish the enemies of his Church.

a That is, offer a sacrifice: whereby hee derideth their long delay, which would not repent when the Lord called them, shewing them that this is now too late seeing the vengeance of God is vpon them.
b There is no remedie but you must flee.
c Hee sheweth what Moab should haue done, when Israel their neighbor was in affliction, to whom because they would giue no shadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortles.
d The Assyrians shall oppresse the Israelites, but for a while,

e Meaning, Christ.
f Their vaine confidence and proud brags shal deceiue them, as Iere. 48.2.
g For all your mourning, yet the city shall bee destroyed, euen vnto the foundations.
h That is, the Assyrians, and other enemies.
i Meaning, that the countrey of Moab was now destroyed, and all the precious things thereof were caried into the borders, yea into other countreyes, and ouer the sea.
k He sheweth that their plague was so great, that it would haue mooued any man to lament with them, as Psal. 141.5.
l The enemies are come vpon thee, and shout for ioy, when they carry thy commodities from thee, as Iere. 48.33.
m For very sorrow and compassion.
n They shall vse all meanes to seeke helpe of their idoles and all in vaine: for Chemos their great god shall not bee able to helpe them.
o Hee appointed a certaine time to punish the enemies in.
p Who will obserue iustly the time, for the which hee is hired, and serue no longer, but will euer long for it.

a Reade Chap. 13.1.
b The chiefe citie of Syria.
c It was a countrey of Syria by the river Arnon.
d It seemeth that the Prophet would comfort the Church in e The ten tribes gloried in their multitude & alliance with other nations: therefore he saith that they shallbe brought downe, and the Syrians also.

saith the Lord of hostes.

4 And in that day the glorie of Iaakob shall be impouerished, and the fatnesse of his flesh shall be made leane.

5 And it shalbe as when the harueſt man gathereth the e corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and bee shall bee as hee that gathereth the eares in the valley of f Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olme tree, two or three berries are in the toppe of the vtmoſt boughes, and foure or fiue in the high branches of the fruit thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his k maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall hee looke to those things, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength bee as the forsaking of boughs and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall bee desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembred the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange vine branches.

11 In the day shalt thou make the plant to grow, & in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish: but the harueſt shall be gone in the day of poſſeſſion, and there shall be desperate sorrow.

12 ¶ Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noyse of the sea: for the noyse of the people shall make a sounde like the noyse of mightie waters.

13 The people shal make a sound like the noyse of many waters, but God shal i rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shal be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the wind, and as a rowling thing before the whirlewind.

14 And loe, in the euening there is q trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoyle vs, and the lot of them that robbe vs.

f Meaning, of the ten tribes, which boasted themselues of their nobilitie, prosperitie, strength & multitude.
g As the abundance of corne doth not feare the harueſt men that should cut it downe: no more shall the multitude of Israel make the enemies to shrink, whom God shall appoint to destroy them.
h Which valley was plentifull & fertile.
i Because God would haue his couenant stable, he promiseth to reserue some of this people, and to bring them to repentance.
k Hee sheweth that Gods corrections euer bring forth some fruit, and cause his to turne from their sinnes, and to humble themselues to him.
l As the Canaanites left their cities, when God did place the Israelites there, so the cites of Israel shal no more be able to defend their inhabitãts, then bushes, whē God shall send the enemie to plague them. m Which are excellent, and brought out of other countreyes. n As the Lord threateth the wicked in his law, Leuit. 26. 16. o The Prophet lamenteth, considering the horrible plague that was prepared against Israel by the Assyrians, which were infinite in number and gathered of many nations. p Hee addeth this for the consolation of the faithfull which were in Israel. q Hee compareth the enemies the Assyrians to a tempeſt which riseth ouer night, and in the morning is gone.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Of the enemies of the Church, 7 and of the vocation of the Gentiles.

Oh, the a land shadowing with winges which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia
2 Sending ambaſſadours by the sea, euen in vessels of b reedes vpon the waters, saying, c Goe ye swift messengers, to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, vnto a terrible d people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose land the e floods haue spoiled.

3 All ye the inhabitants of the world and dwellers in the earth, ſ all see when he lifteth vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he blowerth the trumpe, yee ſ all heare.

4 For so the Lord said vnto mee, I will ſ rest and behold in my tabernacle, as h the heate drying vp the raine, and as a cloud of drawe in the heate of harueſt.

5 For afore the harueſt when the flowre is finished, and the fruite is riping in the flowre, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes.

6 They shall bee left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beasts of the earth: for the foule ſ all summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shal a k present be brought vnto the Lord of hostes, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose land the riuers haue spoiled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

b Which in those countreys were great: in so much as they made ſhips of this for ſwiftneſſe.
c This may be taken that they ſent other to cõfort the Iewes, & to promiſe them helpe against their enemies, and ſo the Lord did threaten to take away their ſtrength, that the Iewes ſhould not truſt therein: or that they did ſolicite the Egyptians, and promiſed them ayde to goe against Iudah.
d To wit, the Iewes, who became of Gods plagues made all other nations afraid of the like, as God threatned Deut. 28. 37.
e Meaning, the Aſſyrians as Chap. 8. 7. f When the Lord prepareth to fight against the Ethiopians. g I wil ſtay a while from punishing the wicked, h Which two ſeaſons are moſt profitable for the riping of fruites: whereby hee meaneth, that hee will ſeeme to fauour them, and giue them abundance for a time, but he will ſuddenly cut them off. i Not onely men ſhall contemne them, but the bruite beasts. k Meaning, that God will pitie his Church, and receiue that little remnant as an offering vnto himſelfe.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The deſtruction of the Egyptians by the Aſſyrians. 18 Of their conuerſion to the Lord.

The a burden of Egypt. Beholde, the Lord b rideth vpon a ſwift cloud, and ſhall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt ſhall bee moued at his preſence, and the heart of Egypt ſhall melt in the middes of her.

2 And I will ſet the Egyptians against the Egyptians: ſo euery one ſhall c fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the d ſpirit of Egypt ſhall faile in the middeſt of her, and I will deſtroy their counſell, and they ſhall ſeeke at the idoles, and at the ſoothſayers, and at them that haue ſpirits of diuination, and at the ſoothſayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lords, and a mighty King ſhall rule ouer them, ſayeth the Lord God of hoſtes.

a Reade Chap. 13. 1.
b Because the Egyptians truſted in the defence of their countrey, in the multitude of their idoles, and in the vaileantes of their men, the Lord ſheweth that he will come ouer all their munitions in a ſwift cloud, and that their idoles ſhall tremble at his comming, and that mens hearts ſ all faint. c As hee cauſed the Ammonites, Moabites, and Idumeans to kill one another, when they came to deſtroy the Church of God, 2. Chron. 20. 22. and Chap 49. 26. d Meaning, their policie, and wiſedome.

5 Then

e He sheweth ỹ the sea and Nilus their great riuer, whereby they thought themselues most sure, should not bee able to defend them from his anger, but that he would send the Assyrians among them, that should keepe them vnder as slaues

f For Nilus ran into the sea by seauen streames, as though they were so many riuers.

g The Ebrew word is mouth, whereby they meane the spring, out of the which the water gusheth as out of a mouth.

h The Scriptures vse to describe the destruction of a countrey by taking away of the commodities thereof, as by vines, flesh, fish, and such other things, whereby countreyes are enriched.

i Called also Tanes a famous citie vpon Nilus.

k He noteth the flatterers of Pharaoh: who perswaded the King that hee was wise, and noble, and that his house was most ancient,

5 Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the riuer shalbe dried vp, and wasted.

6 And the riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shall bee emptied and dried vp: the reedes and flagges shall be cut downe.

7 The grasse in ỹ riuer, and at the s head of the riuers, and al that groweth by the riuer, shall wither, and be driuen away, and be no more.

8 The fishers also shall l mourne, and all they that cast angle into the riuer, shall lament, and they that spread their net vpon the waters, shalbe weakned.

9 Moreouer, they that worke in flaxe of diuers sortes, shalbe confounded, and they that weaue nets.

10 For their nets shall bee broken, and all they that make ponds, shall bee heauie in heart.

11 Surely the princes of t Zoan are fooles: the counsell of the wise counsellers of Pharaoh is become foolish: how say yee vnto Pharaoh, I k am the sonne of the wise: I am the sonne of the ancient kings?

12 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

13 The Princes of Zoan are become fooles: the princes of u Noph are deceiued, they haue deceiued Egypt, euen the x corners of the tribes thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit y of errours: and they haue caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomite.

15 Neither shall there bee any worke in Egypt, which the head may z doe, nor the taile, the branch nor the rush.

16 In that day shall Egypt bee like vnto women: for it shall bee afraid and feare because of the mooning of the hand of ỹ Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it.

17 And the land of Iudah shall be a feare ỹ vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it, shalbe afraide thereat, because of the counsell of the Lord of hostes, which hee hath determined vpon it.

18 In that day shall fiue cities in the lande of Egypt a speake the language of Canaan, and shall b sweare by the Lorde of hostes: one shall be called the citie of c destruction.

19 In that day shall the altar of the Lord bee in the middes of the land of Egypt, and so hee flattered himselfe, saying. I am wise. l Or Memphis others Alexandria, and now called the great Caira. m The principall vpholders thereof, are the chiefest cause of their destruction. n For the spirite of wisedome, hee hath made them drunke and giddie with the spirit of errour. o Neither the great nor the small, the strong nor the weake. p Considering that through their occasion the Iewes made not God their defence, but put their trust in them, and were therefore now punished, they shall feare left the like light vpon them. q Shall make one confession of faith with the people of God: by the speach of Canaan, meaning, the language, wherein God was then serued. r Shall renounce their superstitions, and proteste to serue God aright. s Meaning, of sixe cities, fiue should serue God, & the sixt remaine in their wickednes, and so of the sixt part, there should be but one lost.

and a pillar of the border thereof vnto the Lord.

20 And it shall bee for a signe and for a witnesse vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall crie vnto the Lord, because of the oppressors, and hee shall send them u a Sauiour and a great man, & shall deliuer them.

21 And the Lord shall bee knowen of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall know the Lord in that day, and doe x sacrifice and oblations, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

22 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shal smite and heale it: for hee shall returne vnto the Lord, and he shall be entreated of them, and shall heale them.

23 In that day shall there be a path from y Egypt to Asshur, and Asshur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Asshur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Asshur.

24 In that day shall Israell be the third with Egypt and Asshur, euen a blessing in the midst of the land.

25 For the Lord of hostes shall blesse it, saying; Blessed bee my people Egypt and Asshur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

t There shall be euident signes and tokens, that Gods religion is there: which maner of speech is taken of the Patriarks and ancient times, when God had not as yet appointed the place, and full maner how he would be worshipped.

u This declareth that this prophesie should be accomplished in the time of Christ.

x By these ceremonies, he comprehendeth the spirituall seruice vnder Christ.

y By these two nations, which were then chiefe enemies of the Church, he sheweth that the Gentiles and the Iewes should be ioyned together in one faith and religion, and should be all one fold vnder Christ their shepheard.

CHAP. XX.

a The three yeres captiuitie of Egypt & Ethiopia described by the three yeres going naked of Isaiah.

1 In the yeere that a Tartan came to b Ashdod, (when c Sargon king of Asshur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod, and taken it,

2 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, saying, Go, & loose the d sackcloth from thy loynes, and put off thy shooe from thy foote. And he did so, walking naked, and barefoote.

3 And the Lord said, Like as my seruant Isaiah hath walked naked, and barefoote three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt and Ethiopia,

4 So shall the king of Asshur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both yong men and olde men, naked and barefoote, with their buttockes vncouered, to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall feare and bee ashamed of e Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt f their glorie.

6 Then shall the inhabitant of this g yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whither wee fled for helpe to be deliuered from the king of Asshur, and how shall we be deliuered?

3 Therefore are my f loynes filled with ſorrow: ſorrowes haue taken mee as the ſorrowes of a woman that trauaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it; and I was amaſed when I ſaw it.

5 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch towre: eate, drinke: h ariſe, ye princes, anoynt the ſhield.

6 For thus hath the i Lord ſaid vnto me, Goe, ſet a watchman, to tell what he ſeeth.

7 And hee ſaw a charet with two horſemen: k a charet of an aſſe, and a charet of a camell: and hee harkned, and tooke diligent heede.

CHAP. XXII.

1 He propheſieth of the deſtruction of Ieruſalem by Nebuchad-nezzar. 15 A threatning againſt Shebna, 20 To whoſe office Eliakim is preferred.

THe burden of the a valley of viſion. What b ayleſt thee now that thou art wholly gone vp vnto the houſe tops?

2 Thou that art full of c noyſe, a citie full of haute, a ioyous citie: thy ſlaine men ſhall not bee ſlaine d with ſword, nor die in battell.

3 All thy princes ſhall flee together from the bow: they ſhall be e bound: all that ſhall bee found in thee, ſhall bee bound together, which haue fled from f farre.

4 Therefore ſaid I, Turne away from mee: I will weepe g bitterly: labour not to comfort me for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble, and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hoſtes in the valley of viſion, breaking downe the citie: and a h crying vnto the mountaines.

7 And thy chiefe valleyes were full of charets, and the horſemen ſet themſelues in aray againſt the gate.

8 And he diſcouered the k couering of Iudah: and thou diddeſt looke in that day to the armour of the houſe of the foreſt.

9 And ye haue ſeene l the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And ye numbred the houſes m of Ieruſalem, and the houſes haue ye broken downe to fortifie the wall.

11 And haue alſo made a ditch betweene the two walles, for n the waters of the olde poole: and haue not looked vnto the maker • thereof, neither had reſpect vnto him that formed it of olde.

12 And in that day did the Lord God of hoſtes call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldneſſe and girding with ſackcloth.

19 And I wil driue thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.

20 And in that day will I u call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah, 24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glory of his fathers house, euen of the nephewes and posterity z all smal vessels from the vessels of the cups, euen to all the instruments of musicke.

25 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall the a naile, that is fastened in the sure place, depart, and shall be broken, and fall: and the burden that was vpon it, shall be cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prophesie against Tyrus. 17 A promise that it shalbe restored.

THe a burden of Tyrus. Howle, ye ships of b Tarshish: for it c is destroyed, so that there is none house: none shall come from the land of d Chittim: it is e reuealed vnto them.

2 Be still, ye that dwell in the yles: the merchants of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue f replenished thee.

3 The g seede of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the haruest of the riuer was her reuenues, and she was a marte of the nations.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the h sea hath spoken, euen the strength of the sea, saying, I haue not i trauelled, nor brought vp children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgines.

5 (When the fame commeth to the Egyptians, they shall be k sory, concerning the rumor of Tyrus.

6 Goe you ouer to l Tarshish: howle, ye that dwell in the yles.

7 Is not this that your glorious citie? her antiquitie is of ancient dayes: her owne feete shall lead her afarre off to bee a sojourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyrus (that m crowneth men) whose merchants are princes, whole chapmen are the nobles of the world?

9 The Lord of hosts hath decreed this, to staine the pride of all glory, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe through thy land like a flood o ye n daughter of Tarthish: there is no more strength.

11 Hee stretched out his hande vpon the sea: hee shooke the kingdomes: the Lorde hath giuen a commaundement concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof.

12 And he sayd, Thou shalt no more reioyce, when thou art oppressed: O virgine p daughter of Zidon, rise vp, goe ouer vnto Chittim, yet there shalt thou haue no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans: this was no people: q Asshur founded it by the inhabitants of the wildernesse: they set vp the towers thereof: they raised the palaces thereof, and he r brought it to ruine.

14 Howle ye ships of Tarshish: for your s strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shal Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres (according to the yeeres of one king) at the ende of t seuentie yeeres, shall Tyrus u sing as an harlot.

c Tyrus is destroyed by Nebuchad-nezzar.

d By Chittim they meant all the yles and countreyes Westwatd from Palestina.

e All men know of this destruction.

f Haue haunted thee, and enriched thee.

g Meaning, the corne of Egypt, which was fed by the ouerflowing of Nilus.

h That is, Tyrus, which was the chiefe port of the sea.

i I haue no people left in me, & am as a barren woman that neuer had child.

k Because these two countreyes were ioyned in league together.

l Tyrus willeth other merchants to goe to Cilicia, and to come no more there.

m Who maketh her merchants like Princes.

n Thy strength will no more serue thee: therefore flee to other countreys for succour.

o For Tyrus was neuer touched nor afflicted before.

p Because Tyrus was built by the e of Zidon.

q The Caldeans which dwelt in tents in the wildernesse were gathered by the Assyrians into cities.

r The people of the Caldeans destroyed the Assyrians: whereby the Prophet meaneth, that seeing the Caldeans were able to ouercome the Assyrians, which were so great a nation, much more shal these two nations of Caldea & Assyria be able to ouerthrow Tyrus.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shal be [a] holy vnto the Lord: it shal not be laid vp nor kept in store, but her marchandise shall be for them that dwel before the Lord, to eat sufficiently, and to haue durable clothing.

a He sheweth that God yet by the preaching of the Gospel will call Tyrus to repentance, and turne her heart from auarice & filthy gaine, vnto the true worshipping of God and liberalitie toward his Saints.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 13 A remnant reserued shall praise the Lord.

BEhold, the Lord maketh the [a] earth emptie, and he maketh it waste: he turneth it vpside downe, and scatereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shalbe like people, like [b] priest, and like seruant, like maister, like maide, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borower, like giuer, like taker to vsury.

3 The earth shalbe cleane emptied, and vtterly spoyled: for the Lorde hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the world is feebled and decayed: the proud people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth [c] also decaieth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerlasting couenant.

6 Therefore hath the [d] curse deuoured the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are [e] burned vp, and few men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merry heart, doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce, endeth: the ioy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shal not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall bee bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The citie of [f] vanity is broken downe: euery house is shut vp, that no man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streets: all ioy is darkened: the [g] mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the citie is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 Surely thus shall it be in the mids of the earth, among the people, [h] as the shaking of an olive tree, and as [i] grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift vp their voyce: they shal shoute for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the sea.

15 Wherefore prayse yee the Lord in the valleyes, euen the Name of the Lord God of Israel, in the yles of the sea.

16 From the vttermost part of the earth wee haue heard prayses, euen glory to the [k] Iust, and I sayd, [l] My leannesse, my leannesse, woe is me: the transgressors haue offended: yea, the transgressors haue grieuously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And hee that fleeth from the noise of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and he that commeth vp out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the [m] windowes from on high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake.

19 The earth is vtterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolued: the earth is moued exceedingly.

20 The earth shall reele to and fro like a drunken man, and shall be remooued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall be heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 And in that day shall the Lord [n] visit the hoste of the high ones that is on high, euen the kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shall bee gathered together as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall be shut vp in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be [o] visited.

23 [p] Then the Moone shall bee abashed and the Sunne ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall bee before his ancient men.

b Because this was a name of dignitie, it was also applied to the which were not of Aarons family, & to signifie also a man of dignitie, as 2. Sam. 8. 18 & 20. 25. 1. chron. 18. 17. and by these words the Prophet signifieth an horible confusion, where there shall bee neither religion, order, nor policie. Hose 4 9.

c That is, rendereth not her fruit for the sinne of the people, whom the earth deceiued of their nouriture, because they deceiue God of his honour.

d Written in the Law, as Leuit. 26. 14 d ut. 28.

16. thus the Prophets vsed to apply particularly the menaces and promises, which are generall in the Law. e With heat & drought, or else, that they were consumed with the fire of Gods wrath. f Which as it was without order, so now should it bee brought to desolation and confusion: and this was not only meant of Ierusalem, but of all the other wicked cities. g Because they did not vse Gods benefits aright, their pleasures should faile, and they fall to mourning. h Hee comforteth the faithfull, declaring that in this great desolation the Lord will assemble his Church, which shall praise his Name, as Chap. 10. 32.

i From the vtmost coasts of the world, where the Gospel shall be preached, as verse 16.

k Meaning, to God, who will publish his Gospel through all the world.

l I am consumed with care, considering the affliction of the Church, both by forreine enemies and domesticall. Some reade, my secret, my secret: that is, it was reuealed to the Prophet, that the good should be preserued, and the wicked destroyed.

m Meaning, that Gods wrath and vengeance should be ouer and vnder them: so that they should not escape no more then they did at Noahs flood.

n There is no power so high or mighty, but God will visit him with his rods.

o Not with his rods, as verse 21. but shall be comforted.

p When God shall restore his Church, the glory thereof shall so shine, and his ministers (which are called his ancient men) that the Sunne and the Moone shall be darke in comparison thereof.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiuing to God in that that he sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, by punishing the wicked, and maintaining the godly.

O Lord, thou [a] art my God: I will exalt thee, I will prayse thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, according to the counsels of old, with a stable truetth.

2 For thou hast made of a [b] citie an heape, of a strong citie, a ruine: euen the palace [c] of strangers of a citie, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the [d] mightie people giue glory vnto thee: the citie of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast beene a strength vnto the poore, euen a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadowe against the heat: for the blast a Thus the Prophet giueth thanks to God, because he will bring vnder subiection these nations by his corrections, and make them of his Church which before were his enemies.

b Not onely of Ierusalem, but also of these other cities, which haue been thine enemies.

c That is, a place wherein all vagabonds may liue without danger, & as it were, at ease, as in a palace.

d The arrogant and proud, which before would not know thee, shall by thy corrections feare and glorifie thee.

e The rage of the wicked is furious, till God breake the force thereof.

f Meaning that as the heat is abated by the raine, so shal God bring downe the rage of the wicked.

g As a cloud shadoweth from the heat of the sunne, so shall God asswage the reioycing of the wicked against the godly.

h To wit, in Zion, whereby he meaneth his Church, which should vnder Christ be assembled of the Iewes and the Gentiles, and is here described vnder the figure of a costly banket, as Matt. 22.2.

i Meaning, that ignorance and blindnes, whereby we are kept backe from Christ.

k Hee will take away all occasions of sorrow, and fill his with perfect ioy, Reuel. 7.17. and 21.4.

l By Moab are meant all the enemies of his Church.

m There were two cities of this name: one in Iudah, 1. Chro 2.49. and another in the land of Moab, Iere. 48.2. which seemeth to haue beene a plentifull place of corne, Chap. 10.31.

of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noyse of the strangers, as the heat in a drie place: he will bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heat in the shadow of a cloud.

6 And in this [h] mountain shall the Lord of hostes make vnto all people a feast of fat things, euen a feast of tried wines, and of fat things full of marrow, of wines tried and purified.

7 And he wil destroy in this mountaine [i] the couering that couereth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations.

8 He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will [k] wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people wil he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Lo, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he wil saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyful in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and [l] Moab shalbe threshed vnder him, euen as strawe is threshed in [m] Madmenah.

11 And he shal stretch out his hand in the mids of them (as he that swimmeth, stretcheth them out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall hee bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shal he bring downe, and lay low, and cast them to the ground, euen vnto the dust.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared, in what consisteth the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

a This song was made to comfort the faithfull, when their captiuitie should come, assuring them also of their deliuerance, for the which they should sing this song.

IN that day shall [a] this song be sung in the land of Iudah, Wee haue a strong citie: [b] saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes.

2 [c] Open yee the gates, that the righteous nation, which keepeth the trueth, may enter in.

3 By an assured [d] purpose wilt thou preserue perfit peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5 For hee will bring them downe that dwell on high: [e] the high citie he wil abase: euen vnto the ground will hee cast it downe, and bring it vnto dust.

6 The foote shall treade it downe, euen the feete of the [f] poore, and the steppes of the needie.

7 The way of the iust is righteousnesse: thou wilt make equall the righteous path of the iust.

8 Also we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy [g] iudgements: the desire of our soule is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirite within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the worlde shall learne [h] righteousnesse.

10 Let mercy [i] be shewed to the wicked, yet hee will not learne righteousnesse: in the land of vprightnes wil he doe wickedly, and will not behold the maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lorde, they will not beholde thine high hand: but they shall see it, and be confounded with [k] the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine [l] enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord, vnto vs thou wilt ordeine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other [m] lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but wee will remember thee onely, and thy Name.

14 The [n] dead shall not liue, neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased the [o] nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast inlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lorde, in trouble haue they [p] visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastening was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe, that draweth neere to the trauaile, is in sorrowe, and crieth in her paines, so haue wee bene in thy [q] sight, O Lord.

18 Wee haue conceiued, we haue borne in paine, as though wee should haue brought foorth [r] winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fall.

19 [s] Thy dead men shall liue: euen with my body shall they rise. Awake, and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy [t] dew is as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come, my people: [u] enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

A prophesie against the kingdome of Satan, 2 and of the joy of the Church for their deliverance.

IN that a day the Lord with his sore and great and mightie b sword shall visite Leviathan, that pearcing serpent, euen Leviathan that crooked serpent, and hee shall slay the dragon that is in the sea.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard c of red wine.

3 I the Lord doe keepe it: I will water it every moment: lest any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

4 Anger d is not in mee: who would set the briers and the thornes against me in battell? I would goe thorow them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will he e keepe my strength, that he may make peace with mee, and hee at one with mee?

6 f Hereafter, Iaakob shall take roote: Israel shal flourish and grow, and the world shall be filled with fruit.

7 Hath hee smitten g him as hee smote those that smote him? or is hee slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In h measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when hee bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iaakob be purged, and this is all the i fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, that the groues and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the k defenced citie shall bee desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken, and left like a wildernesse. There shall the calfe feed, and there shall her lu, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are drie, they shall bee broken: the l women come and set them on fire: for it is a people of none understanding: therefore hee that made them, shall not have compassion of them, and hee that formed them, shall have no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the channell of the m River, vnto the riuer of Egypt, and yee shall bee gathered one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shal the great trumpe be n blowen, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Ashur: and they that were chased into the lande of Egypt, and they shal worship the Lord in the holy mount at Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennesse of Israel. 9 The vntowardnesse of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doth all things in time and place.

WOe to the a crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the b valley of them that bee fat, and are ouercome with wine.

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mightie and c strong hoste, like a tempest of haile, and a whirlewind that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflow, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall bee troden vnder foot, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall bee a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as d the hastie fruit afore summer, which when he that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the e residue of his people,

6 And for a spirite of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for f strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But sthey haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the prophet haue erred by strong drinke, they are swallowed vp with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

y Meaning, shall discover her blood.

a At the time appointed.

b That is, by his mightie power, and by his word. He prophesieth here of the destruction of Satan and his kingdome vnder the name of Leuiathan, Asshur and Egypt.

c Meaning, of the best wine which this vineyard, that is, the Church should bring foorth as most agreeable to the Lord.

d Therefore he will destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his owne mercies sake, and cannot be angry with it, but wisheth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, whom he meaneth by briers and thornes.

e He meaneth if Israel will not come by gentlenesse, except God make them to feele his rods, & so bring them vnto him.

f Though I afflict and diminish my people for a time, yet shall the roote spring againe and bring foorth in great abundance.

g Hee sheweth that God punisheth his in mercie, and his enemies in iustice.

h That is, thou wilt not destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe wind of affliction.

i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, til the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed.

k Notwithstanding his saiour that hee will shew them after: yet Ierusalem shall be destroyed, and grasse for cattell shall grow in it.

l God shall not haue regarde of mighty enemies: for the very Assyrians shall doe it to their great shame.

m He shall destroy all from Euphrates to Nilus: for some shall runne toward Egypt, thinking to haue escaped.

n In the time of Cyrus by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

a Meaning, the proud kingdom of the Israelites, which were drunken with worldly prosperitie.

b Because the Israelites, for the most part dwelt in plentifull valleys, he meaneth here by the valley of them that had abundance of worldly prosperitie, and were, as it were crowned therewith, as with garlands.

c He seemeth to meane the Assyrians, by whom the ten tribes were caried away.

d Which is not of long continuance, but is soone ripe, and first eaten.

e Signifying, that the faithfull which put not their trust in any worldly prosperitie, but made God their glory, shall be preserued.

f He will giue counsell to the gouernour, and strength to the captaine, to driue the enemies in at their

g Meaning the hypocrites, which were among them, and were altogether corrupt in life & doctrine, which is here meant by drunkennesse and vomiting.

h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine: but were foolish, and as vnmeet as yoong babes.

i They must haue one thing oftentimes told.

k Let one teach what he can, yet they shal no more vnderstand him, then if hee spake in a strange language.

l That is, the Prophet, whom God should send.

m This is the doctrine, wherevpon we ought to stay and rest.

n Shew to them that are wearie and haue need of rest, what is the true rest.
o Because they will not receiue the word of God when it is offered, it commeth of their owne malice, if after their hearts be so hardened, that they care not for it, as before, Chap. 6.9.
p They thought they had shifts to auoid Gods iudgements, and that they could escape though all other perished.
q Though the Prophets condemned their idoles and vaine trust of falsehood, and vanity, yet the wicked thought in themselues that they would trust in those things.

s He shall be quiet, and seeke none other remedies, but be content with Christ.
t In the restitution of his Church, iudgement and iustice shall reigne.
u Gods corrections & affliction.
x Affliction shall discouer their vaine confidence, which they kept secret to themselues.
y Terrour and destruction shall wake you to learne that which exhortations & gentlenesse could not bring you vnto.

c As the plowman hath his appointed time, and diuers instruments for his labour, so hath the Lord for his vengeance: for hee punisheth some at one time, and some at another, some after one sort and some after another, so that his chosen seed is beaten, and tried, but not broken, as are the wicked.

rest: a giue rest to him that is weary: and this is the refreshing, but they would not heare.

13 Therefore shal the word of the o Lord bee vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little, that they may go and fall backward, and be broken and be snared and be taken.

14 Wherefore heare the word of the Lord, ye scornefull men that rule this people, which is at Ierusalem.

15 Because ye haue said, Wee haue made a p couenant with death, and with hell are wee at agreement: though a scourge runne ouer, and passe through, it shall not come at vs: for wee haue made q falsehood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are wee hid,

16 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will lay in Zion a stone, a r tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. He that beleeueth, s shall not make haste.

17 Iudgement also will I lay to the rule, and t righteousnesse to the balance, and the u hayle shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shal ouerflow x the secret place.

18 And your couenant with death shalbe disanulled, and your agreement with hell shall not stande: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe through, then shal ye be trode downe by it.

19 When it passeth ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe through euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be onely y feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

20 For the bed is z strait that it cannot suffice, and the couering narrowe that one cannot wrap himselfe.

21 For the Lord shall stand as in mount a Perazim: he shall be wroth as in the valley b of Gibeon, that he may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his act, his strange act.

22 Nowe therefore bee no mockers, least your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lorde of hostes a consumption, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

23 Hearken ye, and heare my voyce, hearken ye, and heare my speech.

24 Doth the plowman plow all the day, to sowe? doth he open and breake the clots of his ground?

25 When he hath made it c plaine, will he not then sowe the fitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rie in their place?

26 For his God doeth instruct him to haue discretion, and doth teach him.

27 For fitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele bee turned about vpon the cummin: but the fitches are beaten out with a staffe, and cummin with a rod.

28 Bread corne when it is threshed, bee doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart still make a noyse, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

29 This also commeth from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsaile, and excellent in workes.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophesie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the traditions of men.

Ah a altar, altar of the citie that Dauid dwelt in: adde yeere vnto yeere: b let them kill beastes.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there it shall be heauinesse, and sorow, and it shall be vnto me like c an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou bee humbled, and shalt speake out of the d grounde, and thy speech shall be as out of the dust: thy voyce also shall be out of the ground like vnto that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreouer, the multitude of thy e strangers shall be like small dust: and the multitude of strong men shall bee in a moment, passeth away, and it shall bee in a moment euen suddenly.

6 Thou shalt bee visited of the Lorde of hostes with thunder and shaking f a great noyse, a whirlewinde, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the g multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shall bee as a dreame or vision by night: euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and lay siege vnto it.

8 And it shall bee like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold, he h eateth: and when he awaketh, his soule is emptie: or like as a thirstie man dreameth, and loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold, hee is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations bee that fight against mount Zion.

9 i Stay your selues and wonder: they are blinde, k make you blinde: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath couered you with a spirit a The Ebrewe word Ariel signifieth the lyon of God, and signifieth the Altar, because the Altar seemed to denoure the sacrifice that was offered to God, as Ezek. 43. 16.

b Your vaine confidence in your sacrifices shall not last long.
c Your citie shall be full of blood as an altar whereon they sacrifice.
d Thy speach shall be no more so lofty, but abased, and low, as the very chamers, which are in low places, and whisper, so that their voyce can scarce be heard.
e Thine hired souldiers in whome thou trustest shall be destroyed as dust or chaffe in a whirlewind.
f The enemies that I will bring to destroy thee,

& that which thou makest thy vaine trust, shall come at vnawares, euen as a dreame in the night. Some reade, as if this were a comfort to the Church for the destruction of their enemies.

spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath he couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the words of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall he say, I can not: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that cannot reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And hee shall say, I can not reade.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people [k] come neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue removed their heart farre from me, and their [l] feare toward mee was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, even a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisedome of their wise men shall [m] perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Woe vnto them that [n] seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lorde: for their workes are in darkenesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuises shall it not bee esteemed [o] as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Hee made mee not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, Hee had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a little while, and Lebanon shall bee [p] turned into Carmel? and Carmel shalbe counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscurity, and out of darkenesse.

19 The meeke in the Lorde shall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruell man shal cease, and the scornefull shalbe consumed: and all that hasted to iniquitie shalbe cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the [q] word, and tooke him in a snare: which reproued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lorde vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redeemed Abraham, Iaakob shall not nowe bee confounded, neither now shall his face bee pale.

23 But when hee seeth his children, the worke of mine handes, in the midst of him they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, [r] shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured shall learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1 He reproueth the Iewes which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsell, 3 And sought help of the Egyptians, 10 Despising the Prophets. 16 Therefore hee sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them, 18 But offereth mercie to the repentant.

WOe to the [a] rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and [b] couer with a couering, but not by my Spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselues with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4 For his [c] princes were at Zoan, and his Ambassadours came vnto Hanes.

5 They shall be all ashamed of the people that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shall be a shame and also a reproch.

6 The [d] burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and olde lyon, the viper, and fiery flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto [e] her, Their strength [f] is to sit still.

8 Now goe, and write [g] it before them in a table, and note it in a booke that it may be for the [h] last day for euer and euer:

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not [i] heare the Law of the Lord,

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophesie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophesie [k] errours.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the holy One of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy One of Israel, Because ye haue cast off this worde, and trust in [l] violence and wickednesse, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking commeth suddenly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a Potters vessell, which is broken without pitie, and in the breaking thereof is not founde [m] a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take wa-k Because they are hypocrites and not sincere in heart, as Matth 15.8.

l That is, their religion was learned by mans doctrine, and not by my word.

m Meaning, that whereas God is not worshipped according to his word, both magistrates and ministers are but fooles and without vnderstanding.

n This is spoken of them which in heart despised Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

o For all your craft saith the Lord, you cannot be able to escape mine hands, no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it selfe.

p Shall there not be a change of all things? and Carmel, that is a plentifull place in respect of that it shall be then, may be taken as a forrest, as Chap 32.15, and thus he speaketh to comfort the faithfull.

q They that were about to finde fault with the Prophets words, and would not abide admonitions, but would intangle them and bring them into danger.

r Signifying, that except God giue vnderstanding and knowledg, man cannot but murmure and murmure against him.

a Who contrary to their promise, take not me for their protectour, and contrary to my commandement seeke helpe at strangers.

b They seeke shifts to cloke their doings, and not godly meanes.

c The chiefe of Israel went into Egypt in ambassy to seeke helpe, and abode at their cities.

d That is, a heauie sentence or prophesie against the beasts that caried their treasures into Egypt, by the wildernesse, which was South from Iudah: signifying, that if the beasts should not be spared, the men should be punished much more grieuously.

e To wit, to Ierusalem.

f And not to come to and fro to seeke helpe.

g That is, this prophesie.

h That it may be a witnes against them for all posteritie.

i He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, and bringeth also all miserie to man: to wit, because they would not heare the word of God, but delighted to be flattered and led in errour.

k To reason vs not by the word of God neither be so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, as Ierem. 11.21.

l Meaning, in their stubbornesse against God, and the admonitions of his Prophets.

m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shall be without recouerie.

ter out of the pit.

15 For thus saith the n Lord God, the holy one of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue sayd, No, but we will flee away vpon o horses. Therefore shall ye flee. Wee will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fiue shall yee flee, till yee be left as a beacon vpon the p top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord waite, that he may haue q mercy vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of r iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Jerusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: hee will certainely haue mercy vpon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when he heareth thee, he will answere thee.

20 And when the Lorde hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shalbe no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy s raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a worde behinde thee, saying, This is the way, t walke yee in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And yee shall u pollute the couering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, x Get thee hence.

23 Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seede, when thou shalt sowe the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat, and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winowed with the shouel, and with the fanne.

25 And vpon euery hie y mountaine, and vpon euery hie hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers shall fall.

26 Moreouer, the light of the Moone shall be as the light of the z Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seuen folde, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lorde shall binde vp the breache of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, a the Name of the Lord commeth from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is graue, his lippes are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 And his spirite is as a riuer that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it diuideth asunder, to fanne the nations with the fanne of b vanitie, and there shall bee a bridle to cause them to erre in the tawes of the people.

29 But there shal be a song vnto you as in the c night, when a solemne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as he that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mighty one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme, with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and haile-stones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the d rodde.

32 And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall e cleaue fast, which the Lorde shal lay vpon him with f tabrets and harps, and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shal he fight f against it.

33 For a Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the h King: he hath made it i deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lorde, like a riuer of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

n Oft times by his Prophets he put you in remembrance of this, that you should only depend on him.

o We will trust to escape by our horses.

p Whereas all the trees are cut downe saue two or three to make masts.

q He commendeth the great mercies of God, who with patience waiteth to call sinners to repentance.

r Not onely in punishing, but in vsing moderation in the same, as Iere. 10.24 and 30.11.

s Or, instruction.

t God shal direct al thy wayes, and appoint thee how to goe either hither or thither.

u Ye shall cast away your idoles which you haue made of golde and siluer, with all that belongeth vnto them, as a most filthy thing and polluted.

x Shewing, that there can be no true repentance, except both in heart and deede we shew our selues enemies to idolatry.

y By these diuers maners of speech he sheweth that the felicitie of the Church shall be so great, that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.

z When the Church shall be restored, the glory thereof shall passe seuen times the brightnesse of the Sunne: for by the Sunne and Moone, which are two excellent creatures, hee sheweth what shall be the glory of the children of God in the kingdome of Christ.

a This threatning is against the Assyrians, the chiefe enemies of the people of God.

a To driue them to nothing: and thus God consumeth the wicked by that meanes, whereby he cherisheth his.

b Ye shall reioyce at the destruction of your enemies, as they that sing for ioy of the solemne feast, which began in the euening.

c Gods plague.

i By these figuratiue speeches he declareth the condition of the wicked after this life.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He curseth them that forsake God, and seeke for the helpe of men.

WOe vnto them that goe a downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they bee very strong: but they looke not vnto the holy one of Israel, nor b seeke vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is c wisest: therefore he will bring euil, and not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirite: and when the Lorde shall stretch out his hand, the d helper shall fall, and hee that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lorde spoken vnto mee, As the lyon or lyons whelpe roareth vpon his praye, against whome if a multitude of shepheardes bee called, hee will not bee afraid at their voyce, neither will humble himselfe at their noyse: so shall a There were two speciall causes, why the Israelites should not ioyne amitie with the Egyptians: first, because the Lord had commanded them neuer to returne thither, Deut. 17.16 and 28.68: lest they should forget the benefite of their redemption: and secondly, lest they should bee corrupted with the superstition and idolatry of the Egyptians, and so forsake God, Iere. 2.18.

b Meaning, that they forsake the Lorde, that worldly things: for they cannot trust in both.

c And knoweth their crafty enterprises and will bring all to nought.

d Meaning, both the Egyptians and the Israelites.

e He sheweth the Iewes, that if they would put their trust in him, he is so able that none can resist his power: and so carefull ouer them, as a bird ouer her yong, which euer sheeth about them for their defence: which similitude the Scripture vseth in diuers places, as Deut. 32.11. matth. 23.37.

f He toucheth their conscience that they might earnestly feele their grieuous sinnes, and so truely repent, for almuch as now they are almost drowned, and past recouery g By these fruits your repentance shal be knowen, as Chap. 3.18. h When your repentance appeareth. i This was accomplished soone after when Sanherib's army was discomfited, and he fled to his castle in Nineueh for succour. k To destroy his enemies.

the Lord of hostes come ᵉ downe to fight for mount Zion, and for the hill thereof.

5 As birdes that flie, so shall the Lorde of hostes defend Ierusalem by defending and deliuering, by passing through and preseruing it.

6 Ye children of Israel, turne againe, in as much as yee are ᶠ sunken deepe in rebellion.

7 For in that day euery man shall ᵍ cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idols of gold, which your hands haue made you, euen a sinne.

8 ʰ Then shall Ashur fall by the sword, not of man, neither shall the sword of man deuoure him, ⁱ he shall flee from the sword, and his yong men shall faint.

9 And he shal goe for feare to his ⁱ tower, and his princes shall bee afraid of the standard, saith the Lord, whose ᵏ fire is in Zion, and his furnace in Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The condicions of good rulers and officers described by the gouernment of Hezekiah, who was the figure of Christ.

a This prophesie is of Hezekiah, who was a figure of Christ, and therfore it ought chiefly to be referred to him.

b By iudgement and iustice is meant an vpright gouernement, both in policie and religion.

c Where men are wearie with trauelling, for lacke of water.

d He promiseth to giue the true light, which is the pure doctrine of Gods word, and vnderstanding, and zeale of the same contrary to the threatnings against the wicked, Chap. 6.9. and 29.10.

e Vice shall no more be called vertue, nor vertue esteemed by power and riches. f He prophesieth of such calamity to come, that they will not spare the women and children, and therefore willeth them to take heede and prouide.

BEholde, ᵃ a King shall reigne in iustice, and the Princes shall rule ᵇ in iudgement.

2 And that man shall bee as an hiding place from the winde, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a drie place, and as the shadow of a great rocke in ᶜ a wearie land.

3 The eyes of ᵈ the seeing shall not bee shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall bee ready to speake distinctly.

5 ᵉ A niggard shall no more be called liberall, nor the churle rich.

6 But the niggard will speake of niggardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptie the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: hee deuiseth wicked counsels, to vndoe the poore with lying wordes, and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8 But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue his liberalitie.

9 ¶ Rise vp, ye women that are at ease; heare my voyce, ye ᶠ careleſſe daughters: hearken to my words.

10 Ye women, that are careleſſe, shall be in feare ᵏ aboue a yeere in dayes: ˡ for the vintage shall faile, and the gathering shall come no more.

11 Bee women, that are at ease, be astonied: feare, O yee careleſſe women: put off the clothes: make bare, and girde sackecloth vpon the loynes.

12 Men shall lament for the ⁱ teates, euen for the pleasant fields, and for the fruitfull vine.

13 Vpon the land of my people shal grow thornes and briers: yea, vpon all the houses of ioy in the citie of reioycing.

14 Because the palace shall bee forsaken, and the ‖ noyse of the citie shall bee left: the tower and fortresse shall be dennes for euer, and the delite of wilde asses, and a pasture for flockes, 15 Until the ᵏ Spirit be powred vpon vs from aboue, and the wildernesse become a fruitfull field, and the ⁱ plenteous field bee counted as a forrest.

16 And iudgement shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitfull field.

17 And the worke of iustice shalbe peace, euen the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer.

18 And my people shal dwel in the tabernacle of peace, and in sure dwellings, and in safe resting places.

19 When it haileth, it shall fall on the forrest, and the ᵐ citie shall be set in the low place.

20 Blessed are ye that ⁿ sow vpon all waters, and ᵒ driue thither the feete of the ore and the asse.

g Meaning, that the affliction should continue long, and when one yeere were past, yet they should looke for new plagues.

h God will take from you the meanes and occasions, which made you to contemne him: to wit, aboundance of worldly goods.

i By the teates he meaneth the plentifull fields, whereby men are nourished, as children with the teate: or the mothers for sorow and leanenesse, shall lacke milke.

‖ Or, multitude.

k That is, when the Church shall bee restored: thus the Prophets after they haue denounced Gods iudgements against the wicked, vse to comfort the godly, lest they should faint. l The field which is now fruitfull, shall be but as a barren forrest in comparison of that it shal be then, as Chap 29.17. which shall bee fulfilled in Christs time: for then they that were before as the barren wildernesse, being regenerate, shall bee fruitefull, and they that had some beginning of godlinesse, shall bring fooorth fruites in such abundance, that their former life shall seeme but as a wildernesse where no fruites were. m They shall not neede to builde it in high places for feare of the enemie: for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes from hurting of their commodities. n That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth forth in abundance: or in places which before were couered with waters, and now made dry for your vse. o The fieldes shall be so rancke, that they shall send out their cattel to eate vp the first crop, which abundance shall be signes of Gods fauour and loue towards them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The destruction of them, by whom God hath punished his Church.

c The Caldeans shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes and Persians shall do the same to the Caldeans.
d He declareth hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull when troubles come, to pray and seeke helpe of God.
e Which helpedst our fathers so soone as they called vpon thee.
f That is, the Assyrians fled before the armie of the Caldeans, or the Caldeans for feare of the Medes and Persians.
g When thou, O Lord, diddest lift vp thine arme to punish thine enemies.
h Ye that as caterpillers destroyed with your number the whole world, shall haue no strength to resist your enemies the Caldeans, but shall be gathered on an heape and destroyed.

p To helpe and deliuer my Church.
q This is spoken against the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but hee sheweth that their enterprise shall be in vaine, and that the fire which they had kindled for others, should consume them.

end of doing wickedly, t they shall doe wickedly against thee.

2 u O Lord haue mercie vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: bee thou, which wast x their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

3 At the noyse of the tumult, the y people fled: at thine z exalting, the nations were scattered.

4 And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of a caterpillers: and b he shal goe against him like the leaping of grashoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for hee dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

6 And there shall bee stabilitie of c thy times, strength, saluation, wisedome and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shall be his treasure.

7 Behold, d their messengers shall crie without, and the e ambassadours of peace shall weepe bitterly.

8 The f paths are waste: the waykaring man ceaseth: he hath broken the couenant: he hath contemned the cities: hee regarded no man.

9 The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is ashamed, and hewen downe: g Sharon is like a wildernesse, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

10 Now will I h arise, sayeth the Lord: now will I bee exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe.

11 i Yee shall conceiue chaffe, and bring foorth stubble: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12 And the people shall be as the burning of lime: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, yee that are k farre off, what I haue done, and yee that are neere, know my power.

14 The l sinners in Zion are afraide: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwel with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the euerlasting burnings?

15 Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill, 16 Hee shall dwell on m high: his defence shall bee the munitions of rockes: bread shall bee giuen him, and his waters shall bee sure.

17 Thine eyes shall n see the King in his glory: they shall behold the land o farre off.

18 Thine heart p shall meditate feare, Where is the Scribe? Where is the receiuer? Where is hee that counted the towers?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speech, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue, that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Looke vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feastes: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that cannot bee remooued, and the stakes thereof can neuer bee taken away, neither shall any of the coardes thereof bee broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lorde will bee vnto vs, as a place q of floods and broad riuers, wherein shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippe passe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our Lawgiuer: the Lord is our King, he will saue vs.

23 Thy r coardes are loosed: they could not wel strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the s praye bee diuided for a great spoyle: yea, the lame shall take away the praye.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiuen.

u They shall see Hezekiah deliuered from his enemies, and restored to honour and glorie.
x They shall be no more shut in as they were by Sancherib, but goe where it pleaseth them.
y Before that this libertie commeth, thou shalt thinke that thou art in great danger: for the enemie shall to sharpely assaile you, that one shall cry, Where is the clerke that writeth the names of them that are taxed? another, Where is the receiuer? another shall cry for him that valueth the rich houses, but God will deliuer you from this feare.
z Let vs be content with this small riuer of Shiloah, and not desire the great streames and riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in shippes, and destroy vs.
a He derideth the Assyrians and enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction, as they that perish by shipwracke.
b Hee comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shall be enriched both of body and soule.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Hee sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

COme neere, ye a nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare, and all that is therein, the world and al that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: he hath b destroyed them and deliuered them to the slaughter.

3 And their slaine shall be cast out, and their stinke shall come out of their bodies, and the mountaines shall bee melted with their blood.

4 And all the host of heauen c shalbe dissolued, and the heauens shalbe folden like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe falleth from the Vine, and as it falleth from the figge tree.

5 For my sword shall be d drunken in the thiuketh that heauen and earth perish.
d in my secret counsell, and in the heauens to destroy them, till my sword be weary with shedding blood.

a He propheseth of the destruction of the Edomites and other nations which were enemies to the Church.

6 The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fatte with the fatte and with the blood of the [f] Lambes, and the goates, with the fatte of the kidnies of the Rammes: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in [g] Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the [h] Vnicorne shall come downe with them, and the heifers with the bulles, and their lande shall bee dronken with blood, and their dust made fatte with fatnesse.

8 For it is the day of the Lordes vengeance, and the yeere of recompence for the iudgement of Zion.

9 And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into [i] Brimstone, and the land thereof shall be burning pitch.

10 It shall not bee quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall goe vp euermore: it shall bee desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe thorow it for euer.

11 But the Pelicane [k] and the Hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great Owle, and the Rauen shall dwell in it, and hee shall stretch out vpon it the line of [l] vanitie, & the stones of emptinesse.

12 [m] The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shall bee none, and all the Princes thereof shall bee as nothing.

13 And it shall bring foorth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holdes thereof, and it shall bee an habitation for Dragons, and a court for Ostriches.

14 There shall [n] meete also Iim and Iim, and the Satyre shall crie to his fellowe, and the Scrichowle shall rest there, and shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling.

15 There [o] shall the Owle make her nest, and lay, and hatch, and gather them vnder her shadowe: there shall the Vultures also bee gathered, euery one with her make.

16 Seeke in the [p] booke of the Lord, and reade: none of [q] these shall faile, none shall want her make: for [r] his mouth hath commanded, and his very Spirit hath gathered them.

17 And hee hath cast the [s] lot for them, and his hand hath diuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioy of them that beleeue in Christ. 3 Their office which preach the Gospel. 8 The fruits that follow thereof.

THe [a] desert and the wildernesse shall reioyce: and the waste ground shalbe glad and flourish as the rose.

2 It shall flourish abundantly, and shall greatly reioyce also and ioy, the glory of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it: the beautie of [b] Carmel, and of Sharon. They shall [c] see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God.

3 [d] Strengthen the weake hands, and confirme the feeble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Bee you strong, feare not: beholde, your God commeth [e] with vengeance: euen God with a recompense, he will come and saue you.

5 Then shall the eyes of the [f] blinde bee lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

6 Then shall the lame man leape as an hart, and the dumbe mans tongue shall sing: for in the [g] wildernesse shall waters breake out, and riuers in the desert.

7 And the dry ground shalbe as a poole, and the thirstie as [h] springs of water: in the habitation of Dragons, where they lay, shalbe a place for reedes and rushes.

8 And there shall be a path and a way, and the way shall be called [i] holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for [k] he shall be with them, and walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre.

9 There shall be no [l] lyon, nor noysome beastes shall ascend by it, neither shall they bee found there, that the redeemed may walke.

10 Therefore the [l] redeemed of the Lord shall returne and come to Zion with prayse: and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their heads: they shall obteine ioy and gladnesse, and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

[a] He prophesieth of the full restauration of the Church both of the Iewes and Gentiles vnder Christ, which shall bee fully accomplished at the last day: albeit as yet it is compared to a desert and wildernesse.
[b] The Church which was before compared to a barren wildernesse, shall by Christ bee made most plenteous and beautifull.
[c] He sheweth that the presence of God, is the cause that the Church doeth bring forth fruit and flourish.
[d] Hee willeth all to encourage one another, and specially the ministers, to exhort and strengthen the weake, that they may patiently abide the coming of God, which is at hand.
[e] To destroy your enemies.
[f] When the knowledge of Christ is reuealed.
[g] They that were barren and destitute of the graces of God, shall haue them giuen by Christ.
[h] It shall be for the Saints of God, and not for the wicked.
[i] God shall leade and guide them, alluding to the bringing forth of Egypt.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Sanacherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 Hu blasphemies against God.

NOw [a] in the [b] fourteenth yeere of King Hezekiah, Sancherib King of Assiur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the king of Assiur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and hee stood by the conduit of the vpper poole in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the

[a] This historie is rehearsed because it is as a seale and confirmation of the doctrine afore, both for the threatnings and promises: to wit, that God would suffer his Church to bee afflicted, but at length would send deliuerance.
[b] When hee had abolished superstition and idolatry, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to try their faith and patience.

cFor he was now restored to his office, as Isaiah had prophesied, Chap 22.20.
d This declareth that there were fewe godly to be found in y kings house, when hee was driuen to send this wicked man in such a weighty matter.
e Sancheribs chiefe chapeaine.
f Hee speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, falsly charging him, that he put his truste in his wit and eloquence, whereas his only confidence was in the Lord.
g Satan laboured to pull the godly king from one vaine confidence to another, to wit, from truste in the Egyptians, whose power was weake and would deceiue them, to yeeld himselfe to the Assyrians, and so not to hope for any helpe of God.
[Or, turne backe.
h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Sancheribs least captaines.
i Thus the wicked to deceiue vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord, but wee must trie the spirits, whether they be of God or no.
k They were afraid, lest by his words, he should haue stirred the people against the king and also pretended to sonne of Hilkiah the k steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the Recorder.

4 And l Rabshakeh saide vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you: Thus sayth the great king, the King of Assur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, m Surely I haue eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: in whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken staffe of reede, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pierce it: so is n Pharaoh King of Egypt, vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say vnto me, We trust in the Lorde our GOD: Is not that hee whose hie places and whose altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah and to Ierusalem, Yee shall worship before this altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the king of Assur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou despise any captaine of the o least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for charets and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lorde said vnto me, p Go vp against this land, and destroy it.

11 ¶ Then said Eliakim, and Shebna, q Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, r Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for wee vnderstand it) s talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent mee to thy master, and to thee to speake these words, and not to the men that sit on the wall? that they may eat their owne dongue, and drinke their owne t pisse with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and said, Heare the words of the great King, of the King of Assur.

14 Thus saith the King, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you: for hee shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in y Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliuer vs: this citie shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the King of Assur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Assur, u Make [with] appointment with me, and come out to me, that euery man may eat of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euerie man the water of his owne well,

17 Till I come and bring you to a lande like your owne land, euen a lande of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18 Least Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord will deliuer vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Assur?

19 Where is the god of x Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their country out of mine hand, that the Lorde should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they y kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the kings commandement was, saying, Answere him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, and Ioah the sonne of Asaph the Recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, z told him the words of Rabshakeh.

k That is, of Antiochia in Syria, of the which these two other cities also were: whereby we see how euery towne had his god or idole, and how the wicked make God an idole, because they doe not vnderstand that God maketh them his scourge, and punisheth cities for sinne.
n Not that they did not shew by euident signes that they did detest his blasphemie: for they had nowe rent their clothes, but they knew it was in vaine to vse long reasoning with this infidel, whose rage they should haue so much more prouoked.

CHAP. XXXVII.

2 Hezekiah asketh counsel of Isaiah, who promiseth him the victorie. 10 The blasphemie of Sancherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The ouerthrow of Sancherib by flame of the Angel, 38 and he himselfe of his owne sonnes.

AND a when the king Hezekiah heard it, he b rent his clothes, c put on sackcloth, and came into the house of the Lord.

2 And hee sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancellor, with the elders of the Priests, clothed in sackcloth, vnto d Isaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they sayde vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the e birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 It is be the Lord thy God hath f heard the words of Rabshakeh whom the king of Assur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with words which the Lord thy God hath heard, then g lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the king Hezekiah came to Isaiah.

6 And Isaiah said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of h words that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Assur haue blasphemed me.

7 Beholde, I will send a blast vpon him, declare by effect that he hath heard it: for when God punisheth, it seemeth to the flesh, that hee knoweth not the sinne, or heareth not the cause.

f Of the Egyptians and Ethiopians, that shall come and fight against him.

and he shall heare a f noise, & returne to his owne land, and I will cause them to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned, and found the king of Assur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

9 Yee heard also men say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God h deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hande of the king of Assur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what i kings of Assur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as k Gozan, and l Haran, and Reseph, and the children of Eden,, which were at Telassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamah, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers and read it, and he went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying,

16 O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, which m dwellest betweene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

17 Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare: open thine eyes, O Lord, and see, and heare all the words of Sanherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the liuing God.

18 Trueth it is, O Lord, that the kings of Assur haue destroyed all lands, and n their countrey.

19 And haue cast their gods in the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of mens hands, euen wood or stone: therefore they destroyed them.

20 Now therefore, O Lord our God, saue thou vs out of his hand, that o all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou only art the Lord.

21 ¶ Then Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent vnto Hezekiah, saying, Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel, Because thou hast prayed vnto me concerning Sanherib king of Assur, 22 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him. The p virgin, the daughter of Zion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne: The daughter of Ierusalem hath shaken her head at thee.

23 Whom hast thou railed on, and blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eies on hie? euen against the q holy One of Israel.

24 By thy seruants hast thou rayled on the Lord, and sayd, By the multitude of my charets I am come vp to the toppe of the mountaines, to the sides of Lebanon, and will cut downe the hie cedars thereof, and the faire fierre trees thereof, and I will goe vp to the heights of his top and to the forest of his fruitfull places.

25 I haue digged r and drunke the waters, and with the plant of my feete haue I dried all the riuers closed in.

26 Hast thou not heard howe I haue of olde time made it? and haue formed it long agoe? and should I now bring it, that it should bee destroyed, and layed on ruinous heapes, as cities defenced, 27 Whose inhabitants haue small power, and are afraid and confounded? they are like the grasse of the field and greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or corne blasted s afore it be growen.

28 But I know thy dwelling, and thy t going out, and thy comming in, and thy furie against me.

29 Because thou ragest against me, and thy tumult is come vp vnto mine eares, therefore will I put mine u hooke in thy nostrels, and my bridle in thy lippes, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou x camest.

30 And this shalbe a y signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere such as groweth of it selfe: and the z second yeere, such things as grow without sowing: and in the third yeere, sowe ye and reape, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit thereof.

31 And a the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take roote downeward, and beare fruit vpward.

32 For out of Ierusalem shall goe a remnant, and they that escape out of mount Sion: the zeale of the Lorde of hosts shall doe this.

33 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, concerning the king of Assur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoote an arrow there, nor come before it with shielde, nor cast a mount against it.

34 By the same way that he came, he shal returne, and not come into this citie, sayth the Lord.

35 For I will defend this citie to saue it for mine owne sake, and for my seruant b Dauids sake.

36 ¶ c Then the Angel of the Lord went out, and smote in the camp of Assur an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

g He boasteth of his policie, in that what he can find meanes to nourish his army: & of his power, in that that his army is so great, that it is able to dry vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters, which the Iewes had closed in.

r Signifying, that God made not his Church to destroy it, but to preserue it, and therefore he saith that he formed it of old, euen in his eternall counsell, which cannot be changed.

s Ebr. are short in hand.

t He sheweth that the state and power of most flourishing cities endureth but a moment in respect of the Church, which shall remaine for euer, because God is the maintainer thereof.

u Meaning, his counsels and enterprises.

x Because Sanherib shewed himselfe as a deuouring fish and furious beast, he vseth these similitudes to teach how he will take him and guide him.

y Thou shalt lose thy labour.

z God giueth signes after two sorts: some go before the things, as the signes that Moses wrought in Egypt, which were for the confirmation of their faith: and some goe after the thing, as the sacrifice, which they were commaunded to make three dayes after their departure. & these latter are to keepe a benefits of God in our remembrance, of the which sort this here is.

a He promiseth that for two yeeres the ground of it selfe should feed them.

b They whom God had deliuered out of the hands of the Assyrians, shall prosper: and this properly belongeth to the Church.

h Thus God would haue him to vtter a most horrible blasphemie before his destruction: as to cal the author of all trueth, a deceiuer: some gather hereby that Sheba had disclosed vnto Sanherib the answere that Isaiah sent to the King.

i Which was a citie of the Medes.

l He groundeth his prayer on Gods promise, who promised to heare them from betweene the Cherubims.

o Whom God had chosen to himselfe as a chaste virgine, and ouer whom he had a care to preserue her frō the lustes of the tyrant, as a father would haue ouer his daughter.

p Declaring hereby, that they that are enemies to Gods Church, fight against him, whose quarell his Church onely maintaineth.

q He boasteth of his policie, in that what he can find meanes to nourish his army: & of his power, in that that his army is so great, that it is able to dry vp whole riuers, and to destroy the waters, which the Iewes had closed in.

y Thou shalt lose thy labour.

z God giueth signes after two sorts: some go before the things, as the signes that Moses wrought in Egypt, which were for the confirmation of their faith: and some goe after the thing, as the sacrifice, which they were commaunded to make three dayes after their departure. & these latter are to keepe a benefits of God in our remembrance, of the which sort this here is.

Hezekiah is sicke. 5 He is restored to health by the Lord, and liueth fifteene yeeres after. 10 He giueth thankes for his benefite.

2 King. 20. 1.
2 chron. 32. 24.

IN * that a time was Hezekiah sicke vnto the death, and the Prophet Iesaiah sonne of Amoz came vnto him, and said vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord, Put thine house in an order, for thou shalt die, and not liue.

a Soone after that the Assyrians were slaine: so that God will haue the exercise of his children continuall, that they may learne onely to depend vpon God, and aspire to the heauens.

2 Then Hezekiah b turned his face to the wall, and prayed to the Lord, b For his heart was touched with feare of Gods iudgement, seeing he had appointed him to die so quickly after his deliuerance from so great calamitie, as one vnworthy to remaine in that estate, and also, foreseeing the greatchange, that should come in the Church, forasmuch as he left no sonne to reigne after him: for as yet Manasseh was not borne, and when he reigned, we see what a tyrant he was.

3 And said, I beseech thee, Lord, remember now how I haue walked before thee in trueth, and with a perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

4 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord to Iesaiah, saying,

5 Goe, and say vnto Hezekiah, Thus sayth the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteene yeeres;

6 And I will deliuer thee * out of the hand of the king of Assur, and this citie: for I will defend this citie.

7 And c this signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe this thing that he hath spoken,

8 Behold, I will bring againe the shadow of d degrees (whereby it is gone down in the diall of Ahaz by the e sunne) tenne degrees backward: so the sunne returned by ten degrees, by the which degrees it was gone downe.

9 f The writing of Hezekiah king of Iudah, when he had beene sicke, and was recouered of his sicknesse.

10 I said in the g cutting off of my dayes, I shall goe to the gates of the graue: I am depriued of the residue of my yeeres.

11 I said, h I shall not see the Lord, euen the Lord in the land of the liuing: I shall see man no more among the inhabitants of the world.

12 Mine habitation is departed, and is remooued from mee, like a shepheards tent: I haue cut off like a weauer, my life: he will cut mee off from the height: from day * to night, thou wilt make an end of me.

13 I reckoned i to the morning: but hee brake all my bones, like a lion: from day to night wilt thou make an end of me.

14 Like a crane or a swallow, so did I k chatter: I did mourne as a doue: mine eyes were lift vp on high: O Lord * it hath oppressed me, comfort me.

15 What shall I say? l he hath said it to me, and hee hath done it: I shall walke m weakely all my yeeres in the bitternesse of my soule.

16 O Lord, n to them that liue thus, and to all that are in them, the life of my spirit shall bee knowen, that thou causedst me to * sleepe, and hast giuen life to me.

17 Behold, for o felicitie I had bitter griefe, but it was thy pleasure to deliuer my soule from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my p sinnes behinde thy backe.

18 For q the graue cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that goe downe into the pit, cannot hope for thy trueth.

19 But the liuing, the liuing, hee shall confesse thee, as I doe this day: the father to the r children shall declare thy trueth.

20 The Lord was ready to saue me: therefore wee will sing my song, all the dayes of our life in the house of the Lord.

21 Then sayde Iesaiah, Take a lumpe of drie figges and s lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recouer.

22 Also Hezekiah * had said, t What is the signe that I shall goe vp into the house of the Lord?

i By my sinne I haue prouoked God to take my life from me.

k That is, in one day, or shortly.

l Ouer night I thought that I should liue till morning, but my panges in y night perswaded me the contrarie, the which the horrour, that the faithfull haue, when they apprehend Gods iudgment against their sinne.

m I was so oppreſt with sorow that I was not able to vtter my words, but onely to grone and sigh.

n To wit, sorow and griefe both of body and minde.

o God hath declared by his Prophet that I shall die, and therefore I will yeelde vnto him.

p I shall haue no release, but continuall sorowes whiles I liue. q They that shall ouer liue the men that are now aliue, and al they that are in these yeeres, shal acknowledge this benefite. r That after that thou haddest condemned me to death thou restoredst me to life. s Whereas I thought to haue liued in rest & ease, being deliuered from mine enemie, I had griefe vpon griefe. t He esteemeth more the remission of his sinnes, and Gods fauour, then a thousand liues. u For as much as God hath placed man in this world to glorifie him, the godly take it as a signe of his wrath when their dayes were shortened, either because that they seemed vnworthy for their sinnes to liue longer in his seruice, or for their zeale to Gods glory, seeing that there are so few in earth, that doe regard it, as Psal. 6.5. and 115.17. x All posteritie shal acknowledge, & the fathers according to their duety toward their children, shall instruct them in thy graces and mercies toward me. y Hee sheweth what is the vse of the Congregation and Church: to wit, to giue the Lord thankes for his benefits. 2 Reade 2. 3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto king Hezekiah, and sayde vnto him, What sayde these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto mee, from Babel.
4 Then said he, What haue d they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.
5 And Isaiah sayd to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hosts.
6 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue layed vp in store vntill this day, shall bee e carried to Babel: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.
7 And of thy sonnes, that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall bee f eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.
8 g Then sayd Hezekiah to Isaiah, The word of the Lord is good, which thou hast spoken: and hee said, Yet let there be peace and trueth in my dayes.

1 Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The comming of Iohn Baptist. 18 The Prophet reproueth the idolaters, and them that trust not in the Lord.

a This is a consolation for the Church, assuring them that they shall be neuer destitute of Prophets, whereby he exhorteth the true ministers of God chat then were, and those also that should come after him, to comfort the poore afflicted, and to assure them of their deliuerance both of body and soule.
b The time of her affliction.
c Meaning, sufficient, as Chap. 61.7. and full correction, or double grace, where as shee deserued double punishment.
d To wit, of the Prophets.
e That is, in Babylon and other places where they were kept in captiuitie and miserie.
f Meaning, Cyrus, and Darius which should deliuer Gods people out of captiuitie, and make them a ready way to Ierusalem: & this was fully accomplished, when Iohn the Baptist brought tidings of Iesus Christs cõming, who was the true deliuerer of his Church from sinne and Satan. Math. 3.3.

COmfort ye, comfort ye my people, will your God say.

6 A i voyce said, Crie, And he said, What shall I crie? All flesh is grasse, and all the k grace thereof is as the floure of the field.
7 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth, because the l Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it: surely the people is grasse.
8 The grasse withereth, the floure fadeth: but the m word of our God shall stand for euer.
9 O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie n mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voice with strength: lift it vp, bee not afraide: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold o your God.
10 Behold, the Lord God will come with power, and p his arme shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his worke before him.

i The voyce of God, which spake to the Prophet Isaiah.
k Meaning, all mans wisdome & naturall powers, Iam. 1.10, 1. pet. 1.24.
l The Spirit of God shall discouer the vanitie in all that seeme to haue any excellencie of themselues.
m Though considering the frailtie of mans nature, many of the Iewes should perish, and so not be partakers of this deliuerance, yet Gods promise should be fulfilled, and they that remained, should feele the fruite thereof.
n To publish this benefite through all the world.
o He sheweth at one word the perfection of all mans felicitie, which is to haue Gods presence.

r Declaring that as GOD onely hath all power, so doeth hee vse the same for the defence and maintenance of his Church.
s Hee sheweth Gods infinite wisedome for the same ende and purpose.

that will not rot, for an oblation? hee seeketh also vnto him a cunning workeman, to prepare an image, that shall not bee mooued.

21 Know ye nothing? haue ye not heard? is it not bene told you from the beginning? haue ye not vnderstood it by the [a] foundation of the earth?

22 He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grashoppers, he stretcheth out the heauens, as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out, as a tent to dwell in.

23 Hee bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the Iudges of the earth, as vanitie, 24 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowen, as though their stocke tooke no roote in the earth: for he did euen [a] blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewinde will take them away as stubble.

25 To whom now will ye liken mee, that I should be like him, saith the Holy one?

26 Lift vp your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth [b] out their armies by number, and calleth them all by names: by the greatnesse of his power and mightie strength nothing faileth.

27 Why sayest thou, O Iaakob, and speakest, O Israel, [c] My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed ouer of my God?

28 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard, that the euerlasting God, the Lord hath created the [d] ends of the earth? he neither fainteth, nor is weary: there is no searching of his [e] vnderstanding.

29 But he giueth strength vnto him that fainteth, & vnto him that hath no strength, he encreaseth power.

30 [f] Euen the yong men shall faint, and bee weary, and the yong men shall stumble and fall.

31 But they that waite vpon the Lorde, shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the egles: they shall runne, and not be weary, and they shall walke and not faint.

y Haue ye not the word of God which plainely condemneth idolatrie?

z Can you not learne by the visible creatures whom God hath made to serue yourvse, that you should not serue them nor worship them?

a So that his power appeareth in euerie place whersoeuer wee turne our eyes.

b Who hath set in order the infinite number of the starres.

c He rebuketh the Iewes, because they did not rest on the prouidence of God, but thought that he had forsaken them in their troubles.

d And therefore all power is in his hand to deliuer when his time commeth.

e Shewing, that man must patiently abide, and not curiously seeke out the cause of Gods delay in our afflictions.

f They that trust in their owne vertue, and doe not acknowledge that all commeth of God.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods iustice in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatrie. 27 Deliuerance promised to Zion.

KEepe [a] silence before mee, O ilands, and let the people [b] renew their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

2 Who raised vp [c] iustice from the East, and called him to his foote? and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the kings? he gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bow.

3 He pursued them, & passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feete.

a God, as though he pleade his cause with al nations requireth silence, that he may be heard in his right.

b That is, gather all their power and supports.

c Who called Abraham (who was the patterne of Gods iustice in deliuering his Church) from the idolatrie of the Caldeans to goe to and fro at his commaundement, and placed him in the land of Canaan?

4 Who hath wrought and done it? hee that calleth the [d] generations from the beginning. I the Lord am the [e] first, and with the last I am the same.

5 The yles saw it, and did [f] feare, and the endes of the earth were abashed, drewe neere, and came.

6 Euery man helped his neighbour, and sayd to his brother, [g] Be strong.

7 So the workeman comforted the founder, and he that smote with the hammer, him that smote by course, saying, It is ready for the sodering, and he fastened it with nailes that it should not be moued.

8 ¶ But thou, Israel, art my [h] seruant, and thou Iaakob, whom I haue chosen, the seede of Abraham my friend.

9 For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and sayde vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chosen thee, & not cast thee away.

10 Feare thou not, for I am with thee: bee not afraide, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, & helpe thee, & will sustaine thee with the [k] right hand of my iustice.

11 Beholde, all they that prouoke thee, shall be ashamed, and confounded: they shall be as nothing, and they that striue with thee shall perish.

12 Thou shalt seeke them, and shalt not [l] find them: to wit, the men of thy strife, for they shall bee as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

13 For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

14 Feare not, thou [m] worme Iaakob, and yee men of Israel: I will helpe thee, sayth the Lord and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel.

15 Behold, I will make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the [n] mountaines, & bring them to powder, and shalt make the hils as chaffe.

16 Thou shalt fanne them, and the wind shall cary them away, and the whirlewind shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glorie in the holy one of Israel.

17 When [o] the poore and the needie seeke water, & there is none, (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them:)

18 I will open riuers in [p] tops of the hils, and fountaines in the mids of the valleyes: I will make the wildernesse as a poole of water, and the waste [p] land as springs of water.

19 I will set in the wildernesse the cedar, the shittah tree, and the myrthe tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wildernesse the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together.

d Who hath created man and maintained his succession?

e Though the world set vp neuer so many gods, yet they diminish nothing of my glory: for I am all one, vnchangeable, which haue euer bene, and shalbe for euer.

f Considering mine excellent workes among my people.

g They assembled themselues and conspired against me to maintaine their idolatrie.

h He mooueth the obstinacie of the idolaters to maintaine their superstitions.

i And therefore oughtest not to pollute thy selfe with the superstition of the Gentiles.

k That is, by the force of my promise, in the performance whereof I will shew my selfe faithful and iust.

l Because they shalbe destroyed.

m Thus he calleth them because they were contemned of all the world, & that they considering their owne poore estate, should seeke vnto him for helpe.

n I will make thee able to destroy all thine enemies, be they neuer so mightie: and this chiefly is referred to the kingdome of Christ.

o That is, they that shall bee afflicted in the captiuitie of Babylon, rather change the order of nature, then they should want any thing, that crie to him by true faith in their miseries: declaring to them hereby that they shal lacke nothing by the way, when they returne from Babylon.

p God will rather change the order of nature, then they should want any thing, that crie to him by true faith in their miseries: declaring to them hereby that they shal lacke nothing by the way, when they returne from Babylon.

q That is, hath appointed, and determined that it shall come to passe.

20 Therefore let them see and knowe, and let them consider and vnderstand together, that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy one of Israel hath q created it.

r Hee biddeth the idolaters to proue their religion, and to bring forth their idoles, that they may bee tried whether they know all things, and can doe all things: which if they cannot doe, hee concludeth that they are no gods, but vile idoles.

21 r Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring foorth your strong reasons, sayeth the King of Iaakob.

22 Let them bring them forth, & let them tell vs what shall come: let them shew the former things what they be, that wee may consider them, and know the latter ende of them: either declare vs things for to come.

23 Shew the things that are to come hereafter, that wee may knowe that you are gods: yea, doe good or do euill, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

24 Behold, yee are of no value, and your making is of nought: s man hath t chosen an abomination by them.

s So that a man cannot make an idole, but hee must doe that, which God detesteth and abhorreth: for he chuseth his owne deuises, and forsaketh the Lords.

25 ¶ I haue raised vp u from the North, and he shall come: from the East sunne shal u he call vpon my Name, and shall come vpon x princes as vpon clay, and as the potter treadeth mire vnder the foote.

t Meaning, the Chaldeans.

u That is, Cyrus, who shall do all things in my Name, and by my direction: whereby he meaneth, that both their captiuitie, and deliuerance shall be ordered by Gods prouidence and appointment. x Both of the Chaldeans and others.

26 Who hath declared from the beginning that wee may knowe? or beforetime, that we may say, Wee is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth y your words.

y Meaning, that none of the Gentiles gods can worke any of these things.

27 I am the first, that sayeth to Zion, Behold, behold z them: and I will giue to Ierusalem a one that shall bring good tidings.

z That is, the Israelites, which returne from the captiuitie.

28 But when b I beheld, there was none, and when I enquired of them, there was no counsellour, and when I demaunded of them, they answered not a word.

a To wit, a continuall succession of Prophets and ministers.

29 Beholde, they are all vanitie: their worke is of nothing, their images are wind and confusion.

b When I looked whether the idols could doe these things, I found that they had neither wisedome nor power to doe any thing: therefore hee concludeth that all are wicked, that trust in such vanitie.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience & humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

BEholde, a my seruant: b I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule c delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth d iudgement to the Gentiles.

a That is, Christ, who in respect of his manhood is called here seruant. The Prophets vse to make mention of Christ after that they haue declared any great promise, because he is the foundation whereupon all the promises are made and ratified. b For I haue committed all my power to him, as to a most faithfull steward. Some reade I will establish him, to wit, in his office, by giuing him the fulnesse of my Spirit. c Hee onely is acceptable vnto me, and they that come vnto me by him: for there is no other meanes of reconciliation, Mat 12.18. eph.1.4. d He shall declare himselfe gouernour ouer the Gentiles, and call them by his worde, and rule them by his spirit.

2 He shall not e cry, nor lift vp, nor cause his voyce to be heard in the streete.

e His comming shall not be with pompe and noise, as earthly princes.

3 A f bruised reed shall he not breake, and the smoking g flaxe shall he not quench: hee shall bring forth iudgement in h trueth.

f Hee will not hurt the weake and feeble, but support & comfort them.

g Meaning, the wick of a lampe, or candle, which is almost out, but hee will cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter.

h Although hee fauor the weake, yet will he not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to trueth and equitie.

4 Hee shall not faile nor be discouraged till he haue i set iudgement in the earth: and the k yles shall waite for his law.

i Till he haue set all things in good order.

k The Gentiles shalbe desirous to receiue his doctrine.

5 Thus sayeth God the Lord, (hee that created the heauens & spread them abroad: he that stretched foorth the earth, and the buddes thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in l righteousnesse, and will holde m thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a n couenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles, l Meaning, vnto a lawfull and iust vocation.

m To assist and guide thee.

n As him by whom the promise made to all nations in Abraham, shalbe fulfilled.

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blinde, and bring out the prisoners from the prison: and them that sit in darkenesse, out of the prison house.

8 I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my o glory will I not giue to another, neither my prayse to grauen images.

o I will not suffer my glorie to be diminished: which I should doe, if I were not faithfull in perfourming the same, & the idolaters thereby would extoll their idoles aboue mee.

9 Behold, the former things are p come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

p As in times past I haue bene true in my promises, so will I be in time to come.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his prayse from the end of the earth: ye that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants therof.

11 Let the wildernesse & the cities therof lift vp their voyce, the townes that q Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rocks sing: let them shout from the toppe of the mountaines.

q Meaning, the Arabians, vnder whom he comprehendeth all the people of the East.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his prayse in the yles.

13 The Lord shall go forth as a r gyant: hee shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre, he shall shout and cry, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

r Hee sheweth the zeale of the Lorde, and his power in the conseruation of his Church.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still and refrained my selfe: now will I cry like a s trauailing woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once.

s I will haste to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred, as a woman that desireth to bee deliuered, when shee is in trauaile.

15 I will make waste mountaines and hilles, and dry vp all their herbes, & I will make the floods yles, and I will dry vp the pooles.

16 ¶ And I will bring the t blinde by a way that they knew not, and leade them by paths that they haue not knowen: I will make darknesse light before them, and crooked things streight. These things will I do vnto them, and not forsake them.

t That is, my poore people, which are in perplexitie and care.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall bee greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Yee are our gods.

18 ¶ Heare, yee deafe: and yee blinde, regard, that ye may see.

deafe as my messenger, that I sent? who is blind as the perfect, & blind as the Lords seruant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not, opening the eares, but he heareth not?

21 The Lorde is willing for his righteousnesse sake that he may magnifie the Law, and exalt it.

22 But this people is robbed and spoyled, and shall be all snared in dungeons, and they shall be hid in prison houses: they shall be for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoile, and none shall say, Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heede, and heare for afterwards?

24 Who gaue Iaakob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lorde, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient to his Law.

25 Therefore he hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and hee knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

a After these threatnings, he promiseth deliuerance to his Church, because he hath regenerate them, adopted them, and called them.

b When thou feest dangers and conspiracies on all sides, remember this benefit and the loue of thy God, and it shall encourage thee.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. He promiseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

BVt now thus saith the Lord, a that created thee, O Iaakob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, b feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, Thou art mine.

2 When thou passest thorowe the c waters, I will bee with thee, and thorow the floods, that they doe not ouerflowe thee. When thou walkest thorowe the very fire thou shalt not bee burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the holy one of Israel, thy Sauiour: I gaue d Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia, & Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore wil I giue e man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the f East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not back: bring my sonnes from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Euery one shalbe called by mine Name: for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

8 I will bring forth the blind people, and they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares.

9 Let all the nations be gathered g together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shew vs former things? let them bring forth their h witnesses, that they may bee iustified: but let them i heare, and say, It is truth.

10 You k are my witnesses, (sayth the Lord, and my l seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleeue me, and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside me there is no Sauiour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saued, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, (sayeth the Lord, that I am God.

13 Yea, before the day was, I am, and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it?

14 Thus saith the Lord your redeemer, the holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and m brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Chaldeans crie in the ships.

15 I am the Lord your holy one, the creator of Israel, your king.

16 Thus saith the Lord which maketh a way in n the sea, and a path in the mighty o waters.

17 Which he p bringeth out the q chariot and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towe.

18 Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of old.

19 Behold, I doe a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will euen make a way in the r desert, and floods in the wildernesse.

20 The wilde s beasts shall honour me, the dragons & the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wildernes to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21 This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shew forth my praise.

22 And thou hast not t called vpon me, O Iaakob, but thou hast v wearied me, O Israel.

23 Thou x hast not brought me the sheepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honored me with thy sacrifices. I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense.

b Meaning Gods wrath.

x Thou hast not worshipped me as thou oughtest to haue done. y Because thou hast not willingly receiued y which I did commandthee, thou didst grieue me. Whereby he sheweth that his mercies were the onely cause of their deliuerance, forasmuch as they had deserued the contrarie.

z Meaning, in true faith and obedience.

24 Thou boughtest me no sweete a sauor with money, neither hast thou made mee dunke with the fatte of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me b to serue with thy sinnes, and wearied me with thine iniquities.

CHAP. XLIIII.

1 The Lord promiseth comfort, and that he will assemble his Church of diuers nations. 9 The vanitie of idoles. 17 The beastlines of idolaters.

YEt now heare, O Iaakob my seruant, and Israel whom I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lorde that made thee, and formed a thee from the wombe: he will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iaakob, my seruant, and thou righteous, b whom I haue chosen.

3 For I will powre water vpon the c thirstie, and floods vpon the dry ground: I will powre my Spirit vpon thy seede, and my blessing vpon thy buds,

4 And they d shall growe as among the grasse, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One shal say, I am the Lords: another e shall be called by the name of Iaakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus sayth the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts, f I am the first, and I am the last, and without me there is no God.

7 And who is like me, that shall g call, and shal declare it, and set h it in order before me, since I appointed the i ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let k them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraid: haue not I told thee of old, and haue declared it? l you are euen my witnesses, whether there bee a God beside mee, and that there is no God that I know not.

a He created and chose thee from the beginning of his own mercy, and before thou couldest me it any thing.
b Whom God accepted as righteous: or which haddest occasion thereunto because of the Law, and of thine holy vocation.
c Because man of himselfe is as the dry and barren land, he promiseth to moysten him with the waters of his holy Spirit, Ioel 2.28. Ioh. 7.38. acts. 2.17.
d That is, thy children and posteritie shall increase wonderfully after their deliuerance from Babylon.
e By this diuersitie of speech, he meaneth one thing, that is, that the people shall be holy and receiue the true religion of God, as Psalme 87.5. f I am alwayes like my selfe, that is, mercifull toward my Church, and most able to maintaine it, as chap. 41.4. and 48.12. reuelat. 1.17. and 22.13. g And appoint them that shall deliuer the Church. h That is, declare vnto mee, how I ought to proceede herein. i God calleth the Israelites ancient, because he preferred them to all other, in his eternall election. k Meaning their idoles. l Reade Chap. 43.10. m Whatsoeuer they bestowe vpon their idoles to make them seeme glorious.

thing profit: and they are their owne witnesses, n that they see not nor know: therefore they shall be confounded.

10 Who hath made o a god, or molten an image, that is p profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all that are of the q fellowship thereof shall bee confounded: for the workemen themselues are men: let them all be gathered together, and r stand vp, yet they shall feare, and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coles, and fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea he is an s hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red chalke, he planeth it, and he purtreyeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man that it may remaine in t an house.

14 He will hewe him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: hee planteth a firre tree, and the raine doth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof and u warme himselfe: he also kindleth it, and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god and worshippeth it: hee maketh it an idole and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof euen in the fire, and vpon the halfe therof he x eateth flesh: he rosteth the roste and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe and sayth, Aha, I am warme, I haue bene at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof hee maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and sayth, Deliuer me: for thou art my God.

18 They haue not knowen, nor vnderstood: y for God hath shut their eyes that they cannot see, and their hearts, that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none z considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of it, euen in the fire, and haue baked bread also vpon the coales thereof: I haue rosted flesh, and eaten it, and shall I make the residue thereof an abomination? shall I bow to the stocke of a tree?

20 He feedeth = of ashes: a seduced heart hath deceiued him, that hee cannot deliuer his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

n That is, the idolaters seeing their idoles blinde, must needes be witnesses of their owne blindnesse, and feeling that they are not able to helpe them, must confesse that they haue no power.
o Meaning, that whatsoeuer is made by the hand of man, if it be esteemed as God, is most detestable.
p Whereby appeareth their blasphemie, which call images the bookes of the laitie, seeing that they are not onely here called vnprofitable, but chap. 41.24. abominable: and Ieremie calleth them the worke of errors, Ierem. 10.15. Habakkuk, a lying teacher, 2.18.
q That is, which by any way consent either to the making, or worshipping.
r Signifying, that the multitude shall not then saue the idolaters, when God will take vengeance, although they excuse themselues thereby among men.
s He describeth the raging affection of the idolaters, which forget their owne necessities to set forth their deuotion towards their idoles.
t To place it in some Temple.
u Hee setteth foorth the obstinacie and malice of the idolaters, which though they see by dayly experience that their idoles are no better then the rest of the matter whereof they are made, yet they refuse the one part, and make a God of the other, as the Papists make their cake god, and the rest of their idoles.
x That is, hee either maketh a table or trenchers.
y The Prophet giueth heere an answere to all them that wonder howe it is possible that any should be so blinde to commit such abomination, saying, that God hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their hearts. ‡ Ebr. turneth.
z Hee is abused as one that would eate ashes, thinking to satisfie his hunger.

21 a Remember

21 Remember these (O Iaakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue formed thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy sinnes as a mist: turne vnto me, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 Reioyce yee heauens: for the Lord hath done it: shoute, yee lower partes of the earth: breake forth into prayses, ye mountaines, O forrest, and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus sayeth the Lord thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the wombe. I am the Lord that made all things, that spread out the heauens alone, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the tokens of the soothsayers, and make them that coniecture, fooles, and turne the wisemen backward, & make their knowledge foolishnesse.

26 He confirmeth the word of his seruant, & performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Yee shall bee built vp, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 He saith to the deepe, Be drie, and I will drie vp thy floods.

28 He sayeth to Cyrus, Thou art my shepheard: and he shall performe all my delire: saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt bee built: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surely laide.

a Shewing that mans heart is most inclined to idolatrie, and therfore he warneth his people by these examples, that they should not cleaue to any but to the liuing God, when they should be among the idolaters

b He sheweth that the worke of the Lord toward his people shalbe so great, that the insensible creatures shalbe moued therewith.

c Hee armeth them against the soothsayers of Babylon, which would haue borne them in hand that they knew by the starres that God would not deliuer them, and that Babylon should stand.

d Of Isaiah & the rest of his Prophets, which did assure the Church of Gods fauour and deliuerance. e He sheweth that Gods worke should be no lesse notable in this their deliuerance, then when he brought them out of Egypt through the Sea. f To assure them of their deliuerance, hee nameth the person, by whom it should bee, more then a hundreth yeere before he was borne.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 9 God is iust in all his workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

THus sayeth the Lord vnto a Cyrus his b anoynted, whose right hand I haue holden, to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will goe before thee and make the d crooked straight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darknesse, and the things hid in secret places, that thou mayest e know that I am the Lord which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iaakob my seruants f sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, and name thee, though thou hast not knowen mee.

a To assure the Iewes of their deliuerance against the great tentations that they should abide, he nameth the person and the meanes.

b Because Cyrus should execute the office of a deliuerer, God called him his anoynted for a time, but after an other sort then he called Dauid.

c To guide him in his deliuerance of my people. d I will take away all impediments and lets. e Not that Cyrus did know God to worship him aright, but he had a certaine particular knowledge, as prophane men may haue of his power, and so was compelled to deliuer Gods people. f Not for any thing that is in thee, or for thy worthinesse.

5 I am the Lord and there is none other: there is no God beside mee: I a girded thee though thou hast not knowen me,

6 That they may know from the rising of the sunne and from the West, that there is none besides me. I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the b light and create darkenesse: I make peace and create euill: I the Lord doe all these things.

8 Yee heauens send the dewe from aboue, and let the cloudes droppe downe c righteousnesse: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice grow forth: let it bring them forth together: I the Lord haue d created him.

9 e Woe bee vnto him that striueth with his maker, the potsherd with the potsherds of the earth: shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy worke, f It hath none hands?

10 Woe vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten? or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

11 Thus sayth the Lord, the Holy one of Israel, and his maker, Aske me of g things to come concerning my sonnes, and concerning the workes of mine hands: commaund you me.

12 I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their h armie.

13 I haue raysed i him vp in righteousnesse, and I will direct all his wayes: he shal build my citie, and hee shall let goe my captiues, not for k price nor reward, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

14 Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the marchandise of Ethiopia, and of the Sabeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, and they shalbe l thine: they shall follow thee, and shall goe in chaines: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely, God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

15 Verily thou, O God, m hidest thy selfe, O God, the sauiour of Israel.

16 All they shalbe ashamed and also confounded: they shall go to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

17 But Israel shall bee saued in the Lord, with an euerlasting saluation: yee shall not be ashamed nor confounded: world without ende.

18 For thus sayth the Lord (that created heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, g I haue giuen thee strength, power and authoritie.

h I send peace and warre prosperitie and aduersitie, as Amos 3.6.

i He comforteth the Iewes, as if he would say, Though when yee looke to the heauens, & earth for succour, ye see nothing nowbut signes of Gods wrath, yet I will cause them to bring forth most certaine tokens of your deliuerance, and of the performance of my promise, which is meant by righteousnes.

k I haue appointed Cyrus to this vse and purpose.

l Hereby he bridleth their impaciencie, which in aduersitie and trouble murmure against God, and will not tarie his pleasure: willing that man should match with his like. & not contend against God

m That is, it is not perfitely made.

n In stead of murmuring, humble your selues, and aske what ye will for the consolation of my children, and you shall be sure of it, as ye are of these things which are at your cõmandement. Some reade it with an interrogation, & make it the application of the similitude o That is, the starres. p To wit, Cyrus, that I may shew by him the faithfulnesse of my promise in deliuering my people. p Meaning, freely, and without ransome, or any grieuous condition. r These people were tributaries to the Persians, and so King Artahshasthe gaue this money toward the building of the Temple, Ezra 7 21. f Whereas before they were thine enemies, they shall now honour thee. & thou shalt rule them: which was accomplished in the time of Christ t Hereby hee exhorteth the Iewes to patience, though their deliuerance bee deferred for a time: shewing that they should not repent their long patience, but the wicked and idolaters shall be destroyed.

u To wit, of man, but chiefly of his Church.
x As do the false gods, which giue vncertaine answeres.
y Al ye Idolaters which though you seeme to haue neuer so much worldly dignity, yet in Gods sight you are vile & abiect.
z He calleth the idolaters to repentãce, willing them to looke vnto him with the eye of faith.
a That is, that the thing which I haue promised shalbe faithfully performed.
b The knowledg of God, and the true worshipping shalbe through al the world, Rom. 14.11. Phil. 2.10. whereby he signifieth ỳ we must not onely serue God in heart, but declare the same also by outward profession.
c Meaning, the faithfull shall feele and confesse this.
d All the contemners of God.

and made it: hee hath prepared it, hee created it not in vaine: hee formed it to bee [u] inhabited) I am the LORD, and there is none other.

19 I haue not spoken [x] in secret, neither in a place of darkenesse in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seed of Iaakob, Seeke you mee: I the Lord doe speake righteousnesse, and declare righteous things.

20 Assemble your selues, and come: draw neere together, [y] yee abiect of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idole, and pray vnto a god, that cannot saue them.

21 Tell ye and bring them, and let them take counsell together, who hath declared this from the beginning? or haue told it of olde? haue not I the Lord? & there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sauiour: there is none beside me.

22 Looke vnto me, and ye shall be saued [z]: all the [a] ends of the earth shall be saued: for I am God, and there is none other.

23 I haue sworne by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in [a] righteousnesse, and shall not returne, That euery [b] knee shall bowe vnto mee, and euery tongue shall sweare by me.

24 Surely [c] he shall say, In ỳ Lord haue I righteousnesse and strength: he shall come vnto him, and all that [d] prouoke him, shall be ashamed.

25 The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glorie in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

1. The destruction of Babylon & of their idoles. 3. He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of his workes.

a These were the chiefe idoles of Babylon.
b Because they were of gold and siluer, the Medes and Persians carried them away.
c The Beastes that caried the idoles, fel downe vnder their burden.
d He derideth the idoles, which had neither soule nor sense.
e He sheweth the difference betweene the idoles and the true God: for they must be caried of other, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deut. 32.11.
f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preserue you for euer.
g The people of God, seeing their own calamitie and the flourishing state of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke ỳ their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the originall of all the idoles, to make them to bee abhorred of all men: shewing that the most that can bee spoken in their commendation, is but to prouoke them vile, Baruch 6. 25.

BEl is bowed downe: [a] Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the [b] beastes, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

2 [c] They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not ridde them of the burden, and their [d] soule is gone into captiuitie.

3 Heare yee me, O house of Iaakob, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are [e] borne of mee from the wombe, and brought vp of me from the birth.

4 Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vntil the hoare haires: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carie you, [f] and I will deliuer you.

5 ¶ To whom will yee make mee like, or make mee equall, or [g] compare mee, that I should be like him?

6 They draw gold out of the bagge, and weigh siluer in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bow down and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they cary him and set him in his place: so doeth hee stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe [h] to minde, O ye transgressers.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me,

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of olde, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a [i] bird from the East, and the man of my [k] counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.

12 Heare me, ye stubburne hearted, that are farre from [l] iustice.

13 I bring [m] neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tarie: For I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glorie vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the causes wherefore.

COme downe and sit in the dust, O [a] virgine, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no [b] throne, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more bee called, Tender and delicate.

2 Take the milstones, and [c] grind meale: loose thy locke: [d] make bare the feete: vncouer the legge, and passe through the floods.

3 Thy filthinesse shall bee discouered, and thy shame shall bee seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a [e] man.

4 [f] Our redeemer, the Lord of hostes is his Name, the Holy one of Israel.

5 [g] Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The Ladie of kingdomes.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou diddest shew them no [h] mercy, but thou diddest lay thy very heauie yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saydest, I shall be a Lady for euer, so that thou diddest not set thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest careles, ỳe saith in her heart, I am and none else: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shal know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shal come to thee suddenly in one day, the losse of children, and widowhoode, they shall come vpon thee h Become wise, meaning that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like mad men.

i That is, Cyrus, which shal come as swift as abird, and fight against Babylon. k Him by whom I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.
l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promise.
m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot abolish the promise of God, Rom. 3.3.

a Which hast liued in wealth & wantonnes, and hast not yet been ouercome by any enemie.
b Thy gouernement shall be taken from thee.
c Thou shalt be brought to most vile seruitude: for to turne the mill was the office of slaues.
d The things where in she setteth her greatest pride shall be made vile, euen from the head to the foote.
e I will vse no humanitie nor pitie toward thee.
f The Israelites shall confesse, that the Lord doeth this for his Churches sake.
g For very shame, and hide thy selfe.
h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that he punished the Israelites, because he would vtterly cast them off, and therefore in stead of pitying their miserie, thou diddest increase it.

iSo that thy punishment shalbe so great as is possible to be imagined.

k Thou didst think: that thine own wisdome, & policie would haue saued thee.

l He derideth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing but in God condemning also such vaine sciences, which serue to no vse, but to delude y people, & to bring them from depending onely on God.

m They shall vterly perish, and no part of them remaine.

n They shall flee euery one to that place, which he thought by his speculations to be most sure: but they should deceiue them.

a He detecteth their hypocrisie which vaunted themselues to be Israelites and were not so in deed.

b Meaning, the fountaine and stocke.

c They make a shew, as though they would haue none other God.

d He sheweth that they could not accuse him in any thing, forasmuch as he had performed whatsoeuer he had promised.

e I haue done for thee more then I promised, that thy stubburnnes and impudence might haue bene ouercome. Babylon. g Will ye not acknowledge this my benefite and declare it vnto others?

thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast sayd, None seeth me. Thy wisedome & thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebell, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none els.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shall fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, yer thou beware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy sothsayers (with whom thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profite, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the Astrologers, the starre-gazers, the Prognosticators stand vp, and saue thee from these things, that shal come vpon thee.

14 Beholde, they shall be as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of y flame: there shall be no coales to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shal they serue thee, with whom thou hast wearied thee, euen the merchants from thy youth: euery one shal wander to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrisie of the Iewes is reproued. 11 The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance.

HEare ye this, O house of Iakob, which are called by the name of Israel, & are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sware by the Name of the Lorde, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in trueth nor in righteousnesse.

2 For they are called of the holy city, and stay themselues vpon the God of Israel, whose name is the Lorde of hostes.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy browe brasse,

5 Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my caued image, & my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not ye declare it? I haue shewed thee new things, euen now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of old, and euen before this thou heardest them not, least thou shouldest say, Beholde, I knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knewe that thou wouldest grieuously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressour from the womb.

9 For my Names sake will I defarre my wrath, and for my praise will I refraine it from thee, that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue tried thee, but not as siluer: I haue chosen thee in the fornace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it: for how should my Name be polluted? surely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

12 Heare me, O Iaakob, and Israel my called, I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath layd the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens: when I call them, they stand vp together.

14 All you, assemble your selues & heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued him: he will doe his will in Babel, and his arme shall bee against the Caldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him, I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto mee: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and nowe the Lord God and his spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus sayth the Lord thy Redeemer, the holy one of Israel, I am the Lorde thy God, which teach thee to profite, and lead thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou haddest hearkened to my commandements: then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteousnesse as the waues of the Sea.

19 Thy seede also had beene as the sand, & the fruit of thy body like the grauel thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off nor destroyed before me.

20 Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Caldeans, with a voice of ioy: tell & declare this: shew it vnto the end of the earth: say yee, The Lord hath redeemed his seruant Iaakob.

21 And they were not thirstie: hee led them through the wildernesse: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no peace, sayeth the Lorde, vnto the wicked.

h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doeth not declare all things at once, least they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisedome

i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt: for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercy that I did chuse thee: so is it my free mercie that must saue thee.

l For I had respect to thy weaknes and infirmity: for in state there is some purenesse, but in vs there is nothing but drosse.

m I tooke thee out of the fornace where thou shouldest haue bene consumed.

n God ioyneth the saluation of his with his own honour: so that they cannot perish, but his glory should be diminished, as Deut 32.27.

o Reade Chap. 42.8.

p Reade Chap. 41.4.

q To obey me and to do whatsoeuer I command them.

r Meaning, Cyrus, whom he had chosen to destroy Babylon.

s Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers.

t This the Prophet speaketh for himselfe, & to assure them of these things.

u What things shall do thee good.

x That is, the prosperous estate of Israel.

y After that he had forwarned them of their captiuitie, and the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance.

z He sheweth that it shalbe as easie to deliuer them, as he did their fathers out of Egypt.

a Thus he speaketh, that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as chap 57 21.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleeue his promises. 6 Christ is the saluation of all that beleeue, and will deliuer them from the tyrannie of their enemies.

HEare ye me, O Iles, and hearken, yee people from farre. The Lord hath called a me from the b wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2 And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe c sword: vnder the shadowe of his hand hath he d hid me, and made me a chosen shaft, and hid me in his quiuer,

3 And sayd vnto mee, Thou art my seruant e Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

4 And I said, I haue f laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine & for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5 And now sayeth the Lord that formed mee from the wombe to be his seruant, that I may bring Iaakob againe to him (though Israel be not gathered,) g yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shal be my strength.)

6 And hee sayd, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iaakob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I wil also giue h thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest be my saluation vnto the ends of the world.

7 Thus sayth the Lord the redeemer of Israel, and his holy one, to him that is despised in soule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a i seruant of rulers, Kings shal see, and k arise, and princes shall worship, because of the Lord, that is faithfull: and the Holy one of Israel, which hath chosen thee.

8 Thus sayth the Lord, l In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in the day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I will preserue thee, and will giue m thee for a couenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the n earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

9 That thou maiest say to the o prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darknes, Shewe your selues: they shall feede in the wayes, and their p pastures shall be in all the tops of the hils.

10 They shall not be hungry, neither shal they be thirstie, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne: for he that hath compassion q on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he driue them.

11 And I will make all the mountaines, as a way, and my paths shalbe exalted.

12 Beholde, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North, and from the West, and these from the land of r Sinim.

13 Reioice, O heauens: and be ioyfull, O earth: burst foorth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercy vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hath s forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her child, and not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine t hands: thy u walls are euer in my sight.

17 Thy builders make x haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eies round about, and beholde: all these gather themselues together and come to thee: as I liue, saith the Lord, thou shalt surely y put them all vpon thee as a garment, & girde thy selfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shal surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that deuoure thee, shall be farre away.

20 The children of thy barrennes shall say againe in mine eares, The place is straite for mee: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, z Who hath begotten me these, seeing I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished them? behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will lift vp mine hand to the a Gentiles, and set vp my standard to the people, and they shal bring thy sonnes in their armes, and thy daughters shall bee caried vpon their shoulders.

23 And kings b shall bee thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shall bee thy nurses: they shall worship thee with their faces toward the earth, and licke vp the c dust of thy feete: and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be d taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus sayth the Lord, e Euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall bee taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shall be deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will saue thy children,

26 And will feede them that spoyle thee, with f their owne flesh, and they shall bee drunken with their owne blood, as with sweete a This is spoken in the person of Christ, to assure the faithfull that these promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psa. 2.7.

c By the sword and shaft, he signifieth the vertue and efficacie of Christs doctrine.

d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: this chiefly is meant of Christ, & may also be applied to the ministers of his word.

e By Israel is meant Christ, & all the body of the faithfull, as the members and their head.

f Thus Christ in his members complaineth that his labour and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approued of God.

g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine, yet God wil approue my ministerie.

h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 42.6. acts 13.47. luke 2.32.

k The benefit of their deliuerance shalbe so great that great & small shal acknowledge, & reuerence God for it.

n Signifying, that before Christ renew the earth by his word, there is nothing but confusion and disorder.

o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death.

p Being in Christs protection, they shall be safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies.

q Meaning that there should be nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

s Read Chap. 44. 23.

t He obiecteth what y faithfull might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort them, with a most proper similitude and ful of consolation.

u Because I would not forget thee.

x Meaning, the good order of policie and discipline.

y I haue a continuall care to build thee vp againe, and to destroy thine enemies.

z He sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church: to haue many children, which are assembled by the word of God, & gouerned by his Spirit.

a He sheweth that Christ will not only gather this great number of the Iewes, but also of the Gentiles.

b Meaning, that kings shall be conuerted to the Gospel, and bestow their power and authoritie for the preseruation of the Church

c Being ioyned with y Church, they shall humble themselues to Christ their head, and giue them all honour.

d He maketh this as an obiection, as though the Caldeans were strong, & had them in iust possession.

e This is the answere of this obiection, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them.

f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudges 7.22.2 Chron. 20.22. Chap. 19.2.

swerete wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy Sauiour & thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 5 Christes obedience and victory.

THus sayth the Lord, Where is that a bill of your mothers diuorcement, b whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor to whom I sold you? Behold, for your iniquities are ye sold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore c came I, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so d shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold, at my rebuke I drie vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darknesse, and make a f sacke their couering.

4 The LORD GOD hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I should know to minister a word in time to him that is g wearie: hee will raise mee vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious: neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the h smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not bee confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is neere that iustifieth me: who will contend with mee? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come neere to me.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe me: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shall waxe old as a garment: the moth shall eate them vp.

10 i Who is among you that feareth the Lorde? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darknes, and hath no light, let him trust in the Name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle k a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall yee haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorow.

7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

HEare me, ye that follow after righteousnes, & ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the b rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, & he shal make her desert like Eden, and her wildernes like the garden of the Lord: ioy & gladnesse shall be found therein: prayse, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto mee, my people, and giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for a c Lawe shall proceede from mee, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My d righteousnes is neere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine e armes shal iudge the people: the iles shal wait for me, and shal trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the f heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner: but my saluation shall bee for euer, and my righteousnesse shall not bee abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousnesse, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eate them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousnesse shalbe for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp, as h in the olde time in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the i dragon?

10 Art not thou the same which hast dried the sea, euen the waters of the great deep, making the depth of the sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall k returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euerlasting ioy shalbe vpon their head: they shall obteine ioy and gladnes: and sorow and mourning shall flee away.

12 I, euen I am he, that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldest feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall bee made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lorde thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and layed the foundations of the earth? and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue l hasteneth to be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lorde thy God that diuided a He comforteth the Church that they should not be discouraged for their small number.

e The time that I wil accomplish my promise.

f My power and strength.

g He forewarneth them of the horrible changes and mutations of al things, & how he will preserue his Church in the mids of all these dangers.

i Meaning Egypt Psal. 87. 4.

k To wit, Pharaoh, Ezek. 29. 3.

m He comforteth them by the short time of their banishment for in 70 yeeres they were restored, & the greatest Empire of the world destroyed.

a Meaning, that hee had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea 2. 2.

b Which should declare that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shew none.

c Signifying, that he sold them not for any debt or pouerty, but that they sold themselues to sinnes to buy their own lusts & pleasures.

d He came by his Prophets and ministers, but they would not beleeue their doctrine & conuert.

e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of olde, when I dried vp the red sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iorden?

f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod. 10. 21.

g The Prophet doeth represent here the person and charge of them that are iustly called to the mystery of Gods word.

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and misery. i As they that are taught, & made meet by him. k I did not shrinke from God for any persecution or calamitie. Whereby he sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for none other recompense of the wicked but after this sort, & also what is their comfort. l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey aright Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heauen. m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuises, and haue refused the light and consolation, which God hath offered: therefore ye shall remaine in sorow, and not be comforted uided the Sea, when his waues roared: the Lord of hosts is his name.

CHAP. LI.

16 And I haue put my wordes in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hande, that I may plant the heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp, O Ierusalem, which hast dronke at the hande of the Lord the cup of his wrath: thou hast dronken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide them among all the sonnes, whome thee hath brought foorth: there is none that taketh her by the hand of all the sonnes that she hath brought vp.

19 These two things are come vnto thee: who will lament thee? desolation and destruction and famine, and the sword: by whom shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy sonnes haue fainted, they lie at the head of al the streets as a wild bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and dronken, but not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, euen the dregs of the cup of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand that spoyle thee: which haue said to thy soule, Bow downe, that we may go ouer, and thou hast layd thy body as the ground, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

m Meaning of Isaiah, and of all true ministers, who are defended by his protection.

o That al things may be restored in heauen and earth, Eph. 1. 10.

p Thou hast bin iustly punished & sufficiently, as Chap. 40. 2. this punishment in the elect is by measure, and according as God giueth grace to beare it: but in there probate it is the iust vengeance of God to driue them to an insensiblenes and madnes, as Iere. 25. 15, 16.

q Whereof the one is outward, as of the things that come to the bodie: as war & famine: and the other is inward, and appertaineth to the mind: that is, to be without comfort: therefore he saith, How shalt thou be comforted?

r But with trouble and feare.

CHAP. LII.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

ARise, arise: put on thy strength, O Zion: put on the garments of thy beautie, O Ierusalem, the holy Citie: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the vncircumcised and the vncleane.

2 Shake thy selfe from the dust: arise and sit downe, O Ierusalem: loose the bands of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lorde, Ye were solde for nought: therefore shall ye be redeemed without money.

4 For thus saith the Lorde God, My people went downe aforetime into Egypt to sojourne there, & Ashur oppressed them without cause.

5 Nowe therefore what haue I here, saith the Lorde, that my people is taken away for nought, and they that rule ouer them, make them to howle, saith the Lorde? and my Name all the day continually is blasphemed?

6 Therefore my people shall knowe my Name: therefore they shall knowe in that day, that I am he that doe speake: behold, it is I.

7 How beautifull vpon the mountaines are the feete of him that declareth and publisheth peace! that declareth good tidings, and publisheth saluation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth!

8 The voyce of the watchmen shall bee heard: they shal lift vp their voice, and shoute together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring againe Zion.

9 O yee desolate places of Ierusalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem.

10 The Lorde hath made bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth shall see the saluation of our God.

11 Depart, depart yee: goe out from thence, and touch no vncleane thing: go out of the midst of her: be ye cleane, that beare the vessels of the Lord.

12 For yee shall not goe out with haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lorde will goe before you, and the God of Israel will gather you together.

13 Beholde, my seruant shall prosper: he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high.

14 As many were astonied at thee (his visage was so deformed of men and his forme of the sonnes of men) so shall hee sprinkle many nations: the Kings shall shut their mouthes at him: for that which had not bene tolde them, shall they see, and that which they had not heard, shall they vnderstand.

a No wicked tyrant, which shall subuert Gods true religion, and oppresse the consciences.

b Put off the garments of sorow & heauines, and put on the apparel of ioy and gladnes.

c The Babylonians paied nothing to me for you: therefore I will take you againe without raunsome.

d When Iaakob went thither in time of famine

e The Egyptians might pretend some cause to oppresse my people, because they went thither & remained among them, but the Assyrians haue no title to excuse their tyranny by: and therefore will I punish them more then I did the Egyptians.

f To wit, by the wicked, which thinke that I haue no power to deliuer them.

g Signifying, that the ioy and good tidings of their deliuerance should make their affliction in the meane time more easie: but this is chiefly meant of the spiritual ioy, as Nahum. 1. 15. rom. 13. 15.

h The Prophets which are thy watchmen, shall publish this thy deliuerance: this was begun vnder Zerubbabel, Ezra and Nehemiah, but was accomplished vnder Christ.

i As ready to smite his enemies and to deliuer his people.

k He watneth the faithfull not to pollute themselues with the superstitions of the Babylonians, as Chap 48. 20. 2. cor. 6 17.

l For the time is at hand, that the Priests and Leuites chiefly (and so by them all the people which shall be as Leuites in this office) shall carie home the vessels of the Temple, which Nebuchad-nezzar had taken away.

m As your fathers did out of Egypt.

n Meaning Christ, by whom our spirituall deliuerance should be wrought, wherof this was a figure.

o In the corrupt iudgement of man, Christ in his person was not esteemed.

p He shall spread his word through many nations.

q In signe of reuerence, and as being astonished at his excellencie r By the preaching of the Gospell.

CHAP. LIII.

1 Of Christ and his kingdome, whose word few will beleeue. 6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousnes, 12 And is dead for our sinnes.

WHo will beleeue our report? and to whom is the arme of the Lorde reuealed?

2 But hee shall growe vp before him as a braunch, and as a roote out of a drie ground: hee hath neither forme nor beautie: when we shall see him, there shall be no forme that we should desire him.

a The Prophet sheweth that very fewe shall receiue this their preaching of Christ and of their deliuerance by him, Iohn 12. 38.

rom 10. 16.

b Meaning, that none can beleeue, but whose hearts God toucheth with the vertue of his holy Spirit.

c The beginning of Christs kingdome shall be small, & contemptible in the sight of man but it shal grow wonderfully, & flourish before God.

d Read Chap. 11. 1.

3 He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes, and hath experience of e infirmities, wee hid as it were our faces from him: hee was despised, and wee esteemed him not.

4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and caried f our sorowes: yet we did iudge him as plagued, and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But hee was wounded for our transgressions, hee was broken for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

6 All we like sheepe haue gone astray, we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layde vpon him the i iniquitie of vs all.

7 He was oppressed, and hee was afflicted, yet did he not k open his mouth: hee is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumme, so hee openeth not his mouth.

8 Hee was taken out from l prison, and from iudgement: m and who shal declare his age? for he was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

9 n And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though he had done no wickednesse, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

10 Yet p Lord would breake him, & make him subiect to infirmities: when o hee shall make his soule an offering for sinne, he shall see his seede and shall prolong his dayes, & the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

11 He shal see of the p trauaile of his soule, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my q righteous seruant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall deuide the spoyle with the strong, because hee r hath powred out his soule vnto death, and he was counted with the transgressors, and he bare the sinne s of many, and prayed for the transgressors.

o Christ by offering vp himselfe shal giue life to his Church, & so cause them to liue with him for euer.

CHAP. LIIII.

1 Most of the Gentiles shall beleeue the Gospel, when of the Iewes. 7 God leaueth his for a time, to whom afterward he sheweth mercie.

REioyce, O a barren that didst not beare: breake forth into ioy and reioyce, thou that diddest not trauaile with childe: for the b desolate hath more children then the married wife, sayeth the Lord.

2 c Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spred out the curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cordes, and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seede shall possesse the Gentiles and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not bee ashamed, neither shalt thou bee confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy d youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy e widowhoode any more.

5 For hee that f made thee, is thine husband (whose Name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole g world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirite, and as a h yong wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a litle while I haue forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with euerlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee as the i waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shall remoue, and the hils shall fall downe: but my mercie shal not depart from thee, neither shall the couenant of my peace fall away, sayeth the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with the k carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with saphires.

12 And I will make thy windowes of Emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall bee l taught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In m righteousnes shalt thou bee established, & be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, the enemie shall gather himselfe, but without mee: whosoeuer shall gather himselfe in thee, o against thee, shall fall.

16 Behold, I haue created the p smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue, that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lordes seruauntes, a After that hee hath declared the death of Christ, he speaketh to the Church, because it should feele the fruit of the same, & calleth her barren, because that in the captiuitie she was as a widow without hope to haue any children.

b The Church in this her affliction and captiuitie shal bring forth no children then when she was at liberty: or this may be spoken by admiration, considering the great number that should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childhood, & therfore this was accomplished, when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel.
c Signifying that for y great number of children, that God should giue her, shee should seeme to lacke roome to lodge them.
d The afflictions which thou hast suffered at the beginning.
e When as thou wast refused for thy sinnes, Chap. 50. 1.

g His glory shal shine through y whole world, which seemed before to be shut vp in Iudea.

l By the hearing of his word and inward mouing of his Spirit.
m In stability and surenesse, so that it shal stand for euer.
n And therefore shall not preuaile.

CHAP. LV.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The ioy of the faithfull.

HO, euery one that a thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue b no siluer, come, buy, and eate: come, I say, buy c wine and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore do ye lay out siluer and not for bread? d and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto mee, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delite in e fatnesse.

3 Encline your eares, & come vnto me: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euerlasting Couenant with you, euen the f sure mercies of Dauid.

4 Behold, I gaue him for a witnesse to the people, for a Prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, h and a nation that knew not thee, shal runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the Holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while hee may i be found, call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked k forsake his wayes, and the vnrighteous his owne imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he will haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgiue.

8 For my l thoughts are not your thoghts, neither are your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts aboue your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring foorth and bud, that it may giue seede to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth:

11 So shall my m word be, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto mee voyde, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore yee shall goe out with ioy, and bee led foorth with peace: the n mountaines and the hils shall breake forth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the field shal clap their hands.

13 For thornes, there shall growe firre trees: for nettles shall grow the myrthe tree, and it shall be to the Lord o for a name, and for an euerlasting p signe that shall not bee taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against Shepheards that deuour their flocke.

THus saith the Lord, a Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my b righteousnesse to bee reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doth this, and the sonne of man which layeth hold on it: bee that keepeth the c Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which d is ioyned vnto the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separated me from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a drie tree.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take hold of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine e house and within my walles, a place and a f name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerlasting name, that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, and to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not, and embraceth my couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine house of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall bee accepted vpon mine altar: for mine house shalbe called an house of prayer for g all people.

8 The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All yee beasts of the field, come to deuour, euen all yee beasts of the forrest.

10 Their h watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they cannot barke: they lie and sleepe and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedy dogs can neuer haue ynough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

a Christ by proposing his graces and gifts to his Church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined works, and the Epicures, which are full with their worldly lusts, and so thirst not after these waters.

b Signifying, that Gods benefites cannot bee bought for money.

c By waters, wine, milke and bread, he meaneth all things necessarie to the spirituall life, as these are necessarie to this corporall life.

d Hee reproueth their ingratitude which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labor to obteine those which are nothing profitable.

e You shall be fed, abundantly.

f The same couenant, which through my mercie I ratified and confirmed to Dauid that it should be eternall, 2 Sam. 7. 13. actes 13. 34.

g Meaning, Christ, of whom Dauid was a figure.

h To wit, the Gentiles, which before them diddest not receiue to be thy people.

i When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word.

k Hereby hee sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, and how we cannot cal vpon God aright, except the fruites of our faith appeare.

l Although you are not soone reconciled one to another, and iudge me by your selues, yet I am most easie to be reconciled, yea, I offer my mercies to you.

m If these small things haue their effect, as dayly experience sheweth, much more shall my promise which I haue made and confirmed, bring to passe the things which I haue spoken for your deliuerance n Reade Chap. 44 23. and 49 13.

o To set forth his glory.

p Of Gods deliuerance, and that he will neuer forsake his Church.

a God sheweth what he requireth of them after that he hath deliuered them, to wit, the works of charity, wherby true faith is declared.

b Which I will declare toward you, and powre into your hearts by my spirit.

c Vnder the Sabbath he comprehendeth the whole seruice of God and true religion.

d Let none thinke himselfe vnmeete to receiue the graces of the Lord: for the Lord will take away all impediments, and will forsake none which will keepe his true religion and beleeue in him.

e Meaning, in his Church

f They shall bee called after my people, and be of the same religion, yea, vnder Christ the dignitie of the faithful shalbe greater then the Iewes were at that time

g He reby hee meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, to whom the faithfull offer continuall thankesgiuing, yea, themselues h Not only for the Iewes, but for all others, Mat 21. 13.

i Meaning, the enemies of the Church, as Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. Thus he speaketh to feare the hypocrites, & to assure the faithful, that when this commeth they may know that it was told them before k He sheweth that this affliction shall come through the fault of the gouernors, prophets, and pastors, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice & obstinacie prouoked Gods wrath against them.

l We are well yet, and to morrow shalbe better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues, before they come: thus the wicked contemned the admonitions & exhortations, which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1 God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 3 Of the wicked idolaters, 9 And their vaine confidence.

THe righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away [a] from the euill to come.

2 [b] Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, every one [c] walketh before him.

3 But you [d] sorcheres children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer, and of the whore.

4 On whom haue ye iested? vpon whom haue yee gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not ye rebellious children, & a false seed,

5 Inflamed with idoles vnder euery greene tree? and sacrificing the [e] children in the valleyes vnder the tops of the rocks?

6 Thy portion is in the smooth stones of the riuer: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delight in [f] these?

7 Thou hast made thy [g] bed vpon a very hie mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8 Behinde the [h] doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discouered thy selfe to another then me, and wentest vp, & diddest [i] enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee & them, and louedst their bed in euery place where thou sawest it.

9 Thou wentest [k] to the Kings with oyle, and diddest increase thine ornaments, and send thy messengers farre off, and didst humble thy selfe vnto hell.

10 Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifolde iourneyes, yet saidst thou not, [l] There is no hope: thou [m] hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou hast not grieued.

11 And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast [n] lyed vnto mee, and hast not remembred mee, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of [o] long time: therefore thou fearest not me.

12 I will declare thy [p] righteousnesse and thy workes, and they shall not profite thee.

13 When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together, deliuer thee: but the wind shal take them all away: vanitie shal driue them away: but he that trusteth in me, shall inherite the land, and shal possesse mine holy Mountaine.

14 [q] And he shal say, Cast vp, cast vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

15 For thus saith he, that is high and excellent, her that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the Holy one, I dwell in the hie and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit, to reuiue the spirit of the humble, & to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16 For I will not contend for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, [r] for the spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

17 For his wicked [s] couetousnesse I am angrie with him, and haue smitten him: I hid me and was angrie, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

18 I haue seene his wayes, and will [t] heale him: I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19 I create the [x] fruite of the lippes to be peace: peace vnto them that are far off, and to them that are neere, saith the Lord: for I will heale him.

20 But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can [y] not rest, whose waters cast vp mire and dirt.

21 There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

a From the plague that is at hand, and also because God will punish the wicked.
b The soule of the righteous shalbe inioy, and their body shall rest in the graue vnto the time of the resurrection, because they walked before the Lord.
c He threatneth the wicked hypocrites, whovnder the pretence of the Name of Gods people, derided Gods worde and his promises: boasting openly that they were the children of Abraham, but because they were not faithfull and obedient as Abraham was, he calleth them bastards, and the children of forcerers, whichforsooke God and fled to wicked meanes for succour.
d Reade Leuit. 18.21.2 King. 23.10.
e Meaning, euery place was polluted with their idolatrie; or euery faire stone that they found, they made an idole of it.
f In the sacrifices which you offering before these idoles, thought you did serue God.
g To wit, thine altars in an open place like an impudent harlot, that careth not for the sight of her husband.
h In stead of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the postes and doores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6 9. & 27.1. thou hast set vp signes and markes of thine idolatry in euery place.
i That is, diddest increase thine idolatry more and more.
k Thou diddest seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by gifts and presents, to helpe thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians, & more & more diddest torment thy selfe.
l Although thou sawest all thy labors to be in vaine, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault and leaue off.
m He derideth their vnprofitable diligence, which thought to haue made all sure, and yet were deceiued.
n Broken promise with me.
o Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenitie & grow to further wickednesse.
p That is, thy naughtinesse, idolatries and impieties: which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their obstinacie.
q Meaning, the Assyrians and other, whose helpe they looked for.
r God shall say to Darius and Cyrus.
s I will not vse my power against fraile man whose life is but a blast.
t That is, for the vices and faults of the people, which is meant here by couetousnesse.
u Though they were obstinate, yet did I not withdraw my mercy frō them.
x That is, I frame the speach and wordes of my messengers which shal bring peace.
y As well to him that is in captiuitie, as to him that remaineth at home.
z Their euill conscience doeth euer torment them, and therefore they can neuer haue rest. Reade Chap. 48.22.

CHAP. LVIII.

1 The office of Gods ministers. 3 The workes of the hypocrites. 6 The fast of the faithfull. 13 Of the true Sabbath.

CRy [a] aloude, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shewe my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob, their sinnes.

2 Yet they [b] seeke mee dayly, and will know my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will draw neere vnto God, saying,

3 [c] Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold, in the day of your fast you will seeke [d] your will, and require all your debts.

4 Beholde, ye fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as yee doe to day, to make your voyce to be [e] heard aboue.

5 Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow downe his head like a bull rush, and to lie downe in sackecloth, and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6 Is not this the fasting, that I haue chosen, a The Lord thus speaketh to the Prophet, willing him to vse all diligence and seueritie to rebuke the hypocrites.

b They wil seeme to worship me, and haue outward holinesse.
c He setteth forth the malice and disdaine of the hypocrites, which grudge against God, if their workes be not accepted.
d Thus he conuinceth the hypocrites by the second table and by their dutie toward their neighbour, that they haue neither faith nor religion.
e So long as ye vse contention and oppression, your fasting and prayer shall not be heard.

chosen, to loose the bandes of wickednesse, to take off the heauie burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye breake euery yoke?

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from thine owne flesh.

8 Then shall thy [h] light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall growe speedily: thy [i] righteousnesse shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall imbrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shal answere: thou shalt cry, and he shal say, Here I am: if thou take away from the middes of thee the yoke, the putting foorth of the [k] finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou [l] powre out thy soule vnto the hungry, and refreth the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the [m] darkenesse, and thy darkenesse shall be as the noone day.

11 And the Lorde shall guide thee continually, and satisfie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall bee of thee, that shall builde the olde [n] waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations of many generations, and thou shalt bee called the repairer of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou [o] turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight, to consecrate it, as glorious to the Lord, & shalt honour him, not doing thine owne waies, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word,

14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lorde, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feede thee with the heritage of Iaakob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

2 The wicked perish through their owne iniquities. 12 The confessions of sinnes. 16 God alone will preserue his Church, though all men faile.

BEhold, the Lords hand is not shortened, that it cannot saue: neither is his eare heauie, that it cannot heare.

2 But [a] your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, & your sinnes haue hid his face from you, that yee will not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

4 No man calleth for iustice: no man [b] contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanitie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischiefe, and [c] bring forth iniquitie.

5 They hatch cockatrice [d] egges, and weaue the spiders [e] webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trod vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webbes shall bee no garment, neither shall they couer themselues with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their hands.

7 Their feet run to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoeuer goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is [f] iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth [g] iustice come neere vnto vs: we wait for light, but loe, it is darkenes: for brightnesse, but we walke in darkenesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the [h] blind, and wee grope as one without eyes: wee stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like [i] beares, and mourne like doues: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our [k] sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceiuing and vttering out of the heart false [l] matters.

14 Therefore [m] iudgement is turned backeward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the streete, and equitie cannot enter.

15 Yea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euill, maketh himselfe a [n] praye: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement,

16 And when hee sawe that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer himselfe. [o] Therefore his arme did [p] saue it, and his righteousnes it selfe did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousnes, as an habergion, and an [q] helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As to make recompense, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompense to his enemies: he will fully repay the [r] Ilands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the Sunne: for the enemie shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto [s] them that turne from iniquitie in Iaakob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my Couenant with them, sayth the Lorde, My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, [t] shall not depart

q Signifying, that God hath al meanes at hand to deliuer his Church, and to punish their enemies.

r To wit, your enemies which dwell in diuers places, and beyond the sea.

s He sheweth that there shalbe great afflictiō in the Church, but God wil euer deliuer his.

t Whereby he declareth that the true deliuepart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seede, nor out of the mouth of the seede of thy seede, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for euer.

CHAP. LX.

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

ARise, O Ierusalem: bee bright, for thy a light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

2 For behold, darkenesse shall couer the b earth, and grosse darkenesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shalbe seene vpon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in c thy light, and kings at the brightnesse of thy rising vp.

4 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and beholde: all d these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall bee nourished at thy side.

5 Then shalt thou see e thine eyes, thine heart shall be astonied and e enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be conuerted vnto thee, f the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

6 The f multitude of camels shall couer thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring golde and incense, and shew forth the prayses of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of g Kedar shalbe gathered vnto thee: the rammes of Nebaioth shal serue thee: they shall come vp to be accepted vpon mine h altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 Who are these i that flee like a cloude, and as the doues to their windowes?

9 Surely the yles shall waite for me, and the shippes k of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their siluer and their golde with them, vnto the name of the Lord thy God, and to the holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sonnes of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their l kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercie I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shal be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and the m kingdome, that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shall be vtterly destroyed.

13 The n glorie of Lebanon shal come vnto thee, the firre tree, the elme and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary: for I will glorifie the place of my o feete.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bowe vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall p downe at the soles of thy feete: and they shall call thee, The citie of the Lord, Zion of the holy one of Israel.

15 Whereas thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the q breasts of kings: and thou shalt knowe, that I the Lord am thy Sauiour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Iaakob.

17 For brasse will I bring golde, and for yron will I bring siluer, and for wood brasse, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernement r peace, and thine exactours righteousnesse.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction, within thy borders: but thou shalt call f saluation, thy walles, and praise, thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightnesse of the s moone shine vnto thee: for the Lorde shalbe thine euerlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy sunne shall neuer go downe, neither shall thy moone be hidde: for the Lorde shalbe thine euerlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorow shalbe ended.

21 Thy people also shall be all righteous, they shall possesse the lande for euer, the t graffe of my planting shall be the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

22 A little one shall become as a u thousand, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

a The time of thy prosperitie and felicitie: whereas speaking of Babylon, he commanded her to goe downe, Chap. 47.1.

b Signifying, that all men are in darkenesse, till God giue them the light of his spirit, and that this light shineth to none but to those that are in his Church.

c Meaning, that Iudea should be as the morning starre and that the Gentiles should receive light of her.

d An infinite number from all countreyes, as Chap. 49.18.

e For ioy: as the heart is drawen in for sorrow.

f Meaning, that euerie one shall honour the Lord with that wherewith he is able: signifying, that it is no true seruing of God, except we offer our selues to seruehis glorie, and all that we haue.

g That is, the Arabians, that haue great abundance of cattel.

h Because the altar was a figure of Christ, Heb 13.10 he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him which is not offered to him by this altar, who was both the offering and the altar it selfe.

i Shewing what great number shall come to the Church, and with what great deligence & zeale.

k The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friends and seruers forth of the Church.

l Meaning, Cyrus and his successours: but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serue Christ, being conuerted by his Gospel.

m He sheweth that God hath giuen all power and authoritie here in earth for the vse of his Church: and that they which will not serue and profite the same, shall be destroyed.

n There is nothing so excellent, which shall not serue the necessitie of the Church.

o Signifying, that Gods maiestie is not included in the temple, which is but the place for his feete, that we may learne to lift vp to the heauens.

p To worship their head Christ by obeying his doctrine.

q Both hie and low shalbe ready to helpe and succour thee.

r Thy gouernors shall loue thee, & seeke thy wealth and prosperitie.

f Meaning, not a temporal felicitie, but a spirituall, which is fulfilled in Christs kingdome.

t Signifying that al worldly means shall cease, and that Christ shall be all in all, as Reuel. 21.22. & 22.5.

u The children of the Church.

x Meaning, that the Church should bee miraculously multiplied.

CHAP. LXI.

4 He propheseth that Christ shalbe anointed, and sent to preach. 10 The ioy of the faithfull.

THE a Spirit of the Lorde God is b vpon mee, therefore hath the Lorde anointed me: he hath sent me to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp the b broken hearted, to preach libertie to the c captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison,

2 To preach the d acceptable yeere of the Lorde, and the day of c vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne, Luke 4.18.

a This appertaineth to all the Prophets & ministers of God, but chiefly to Christ, of whose abundant graces euery one receiueth according as it pleaseth him to distribute.

b To them that are liuely touched with the feeling of their sinnes.

c Which are in the bondage of sinne.

d The time when it pleased God to shew his good fauour to man, which S. Paul calleth the fulnesse of time, Gal. 4.4.

4 And they ſhall build the olde waſte places, and rayſe vp the former deſolations, and they ſhall repaire the cities that were deſolate and waſte throlow many t generations.

5 And the ſtrangers ſhall u ſtand & feede your sheepe, and the ſonnes of the ſtrangers ſhall be your plowmen and dreſſers of your vines.

7 For your ſhame you ſhall receiue z double, and for confuſion a they ſhall reioyce in b their portion: for in their land they ſhall poſſeſſe the c double: euerlaſting ioy ſhall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue iudgement & hate d robberie for burnt offering, and I will direct their worke in trueth, and will make an euerlaſting couenant with them.

9 And their e ſeed ſhalbe knowen among the Gentiles, and their buddes among the people. All that ſee them, ſhall know them, that they are the ſeed which the Lord hath bleſſed.

10 f I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my ſoule ſhall be ioyfull in my God: for hee hath clothed mee with the garments of ſaluation, and couered me with the robe of righteouſneſſe: hee hath decked mee like a bridegrome, and as a bride tyeth her ſelfe with her iewels.

1 The great deſire that the Prophets haue had for Chriſts comming. 6 The diligence of the Paſtours to preach.

3 Thou ſhalt alſo be a d crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 Ie ſhall no more be ſayde vnto thee, e Forſaken, neither ſhall it be ſaid anymore to thy land, Deſolate, but thou ſhalt be called ‖ Hephzi bah, and thy land ‖ Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land ſhall haue an f husband.

5 For as a yong man marrieth a virgin, ſo ſhall thy ſonnes g marrie thee: and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, ſo ſhall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue ſet h watchmen vpon thy walls, O Ieruſalem, which all the day and all the night continually ſhall not ceaſe: i yee that are mindefull of the Lord, keepe not ſilence,

9 But they that haue gathered it, ſhall eate it, and praiſe the Lord, and the gatherers thereof ſhall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.

10 l Goe thorow, goe thorow the gates: prepare you the way for the people: caſt vp, caſt vp the way, and gather out the ſtones, and ſet vp a ſtandard for the people.

i He exhorteth the miniſters neuer to ceaſe to call vpon God by prayer for the deliuerance of his Church, and to teach others to doe the ſame.

CHAP. LXIII.

1 God ſhall deſtroy his enemies for his Churches ſake. 7 Gods benefits towards his Church.

WHo is this that commeth a from Edom, with red garments from Bozrah? he is glorious in his apparell, and walketh in his great ſtrength. b I ſpeak in righteouſnes, and am mighte to ſaue.

2 c Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winepreſſe?

3 I haue troden the wine preſſe alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for a This propheſie is againſt the Idumeans, and enemies, which perſecuted the Church, on whom God will take vengeance, and is here ſet forth all bloody after that he hath deſtroyed them in Bozrah, f chiefe citie of the Idumeans: for theſe were their greateſt enemies, and vnder the title of circumciſion, & the kinred of Abraham, claimed to themſelues the chiefe religion & hated the true worſhippers, Pſal 137. 7.

b God anſwereth them that asked this queſtion, Who is this? &c. and ſaith, Yee ſee now performed indeed the vengeance which my Prophets threatned.
c An other queſtion to the which the Lord anſwereth.

d Shewing, that when God punisheth his enemies, it is for the prout and deliverance of his Church.

e God sheweth that he hath no neede of mans helpe for the deliverance of his, and though men refuse to doe their duetie through negligence and ingratitude, yet hee himselfe will deliuer his Church, and punish the enemies, reade Chap 59.16.

f I will astonish them, and make them so giddie, that they shall not know which way to goe

g The Prophet speaketh this to moue the people to remember Gods benefits in times past, that they may be confirmed in their troubles.

h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should bee holy and not deceiue mine expectation.

i He bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had bene his owne.

k Which was a witnesse of Gods presence: and this may be referred to Christ, to whom belongeth the office of Saluation.

l That is, the people of Israel being afflicted, called to remembrance Gods benefits, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past. m Meaning, Moses. n That is, in Moses, that he might well gouerne the people: some refere this guiing of the Spirit to the people o Peaceably and gently, as an horse is ledde to his pasture. p Hauing declared Gods benefites shewed to their forefathers, he turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring him to continue the same graces toward them. q Thy great affection which thou bareft toward vs. r Meaning, from the whole body of the Church. s Though Abraham would refuse vs to bee his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our father.

I will tread them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foote in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my rayment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the d yeere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to vpholde: therefore mine owne e arme helped mee, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I wil tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them f drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth

7 I will g remeinber the mercies of the Lord, and the prayses of the Lord according vnto all that the Lorde hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, & according to his great mercies.

8 For he sayd, Surely they are my h people, children that wil not lie: so he was their sauiour.

9 In all their troubles he was i troubled, and the Angel k of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie hee redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was he turned to be their enemie, and he fought against them.

11 Then he l remembred the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the sea with the m shepheard of his sheepe? where is hee that put his holy Spirit within n him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euerlasting Name.

13 He led them through the deepe, as an o horse in the wildernes, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 p Looke downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine holinesse, and of thy glory. Where is thy q zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from r me.

16 Doubtles thou art our father: though s Abraham bee ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lorde, art our Father, and our redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lord, why hast t thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy u seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it but a little x while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 Wee haue beene as they, ouer whom thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

t By taking away thy holy Spirit from vs by who we were gouerned and so for our ingratitude diddest deliuer vs vp to our owne concupiscence, & didst punish sin by sin according to thy iust iudgement.

u Meaning, for the couenants sake made to Abraham, Izhak & Iaakob his seruants. x That is, in respect of the promise which is perpetual: albeit they had now possessed the land of Canaan a thousand and foure hundreth yeere: and thus they lament, to moone God rather to remember his couenant, then to punish their sinnes.

CHAP. LXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people. 6 Mans righteousnesse is like a stinking clath.

O That thou wouldest a breake the heauens, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burneth, as the fire caused b the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which wee looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the worlde they haue not c heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doeth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meete him, d that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembred thee in thy e wayes: behold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in f them is continuance, and we g shall be saued.

6 But we haue all bene as an vncleane thing, and al our h righteousnesse is as filthy cloutes, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take holde of thee: for thou hast hidde thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the i clay, and thou art our potter, and we al are the worke of thine hands.

9 Bee not angry, O Lord, k aboue measure, neither remember iniquitie for euer: lo, we beseech thee, behold, we are al thy people.

a The Prophet continueth his prayer, desiring God to declare his loue toward his Church by miracles, and mighty power, as hee did in mount Sinai.

b Meaning, the raine, haile, fire, thunder, and lightenings.

c Saint Paul vseth the same kinde of admiration, 1 Cor. 2.9. marueiling at Gods great benefite shewed to his Church by the preaching of the Gospel.

d Thou shewedst fauour toward our fathers when they trusted in thee, and walked after thy commandements.

e They considered thy great mercies.

f That is, in thy mercies, which hee calleth the wayes of the Lord

g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs. h Wee are iustly punished and brought into captiuitie, because wee haue prouoked thee to anger, and though wee would excuse our selues, yet our righteousnesse and best vertues are before thee as vile cloutes, or, (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iust iudgement thou mayest vtterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, when by it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth when God deeth not immediatly send succour.

l Which were dedicated to thy seruice and to call vpon thy Name.

m Wherein we reioyced and worshipped thee.

n That is, at the contempt of thine owne glory? though our sinnes haue deserued this, yet thou wilt not suffer thy glory thus to be diminished.

10 l Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wildernesse, and Ierusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuarie and of our glorie, m where our fathers praysed thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

12 Wilt thou holde thy selfe still n at these things, O Lord? wilt thou hold thy peace and afflict vs aboue measure?

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles and the reiection of the Iewes. 13 The ioy of the elect, and the punishment of the wicked.

a Meaning, the Gentiles, which knew not God, should seeke after him when he had moued their hearts with his holy spirit, Rom. 10.20

b Hee sheweth the cause of the reiection of the Iewes, because they would not obey him for any admonition of his Prophets by whom hee called them continually, and stretched out his hand to draw them.

c Hee sheweth that to delite in our owne fantasies, is the declining from God, and the beginning of all superstition and idolatrie.

d Which were dedicate to idoles.

e Meaning, their altars, which he thus nameth by contempt.

f To consule with spirits and to coniure deuils, which was forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.

I Haue beene sought of them that a asked not: I was found of them that sought mee not: I sayde, Beholde mee, beholde mee, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue b spread out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne c imaginations:

3 A people that prouoked mee euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in d gardens, and burneth incense vpon e bricks.

4 Which remaine among the f graues, and lodge in the deserts, which eate e swines flesh, and the broth of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, b Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, & a fire that g burneth all the day.

6 Beholde, it is h written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities and the iniquities of your fathers shalbe i together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed me vpon the hilles: therefore will I measure their olde worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a m blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seede out of Iaakob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherite my mountaine: and mine elect shal inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And n Sharon shall be a sheepefolde, and the valley of Achor shall bee a resting place for the cattell of my people, that haue sought me.

11 But yee are they that haue forsaken the Lorde, and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the o multitude, & furnith the drinke offerings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I p number you to the sworde, and all you shall bowe downe to the slaughter, because I called, and yee did not answere: I spake, and yee heard not, but did euil in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, my seruants shall q eate, and yee shall be hungry: beholde, my seruants shall drinke, and yee shall be thirstie: beholde, my seruants shall reioyce, and yee shall bee ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and yee shall crie for sorowe of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And yee shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my r chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you, and call his seruants by s an other name.

16 He that shall blesse in the t earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and hee that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former u troubles are forgotten, and shal surely hide themselues from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I wil create x new heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembred nor come into minde.

18 But bee you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for beholde, I will create Ierusalem as a reioycing, and her people as a ioy, 19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall be no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shall be no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath y not fulled his dayes: for he that shall be an hundreth yeeres old, shall die as a yong man: but the sinner being z an hundreth yeres old shal be accursed.

21 And they shal a build houses and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and eate the fruite of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabite: they shal not plant, and another eat: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall inioy in olde age the worke of their hands.

23 They shall not labour in vayne, nor bring foorth in feare, for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lorde, and their budde

g By the multitude and number he meaneth their innumerable idoles of whom they thought they could neuer haue ynough.

p Seeing you cannot number your gods, I will number you with the sword.

r By these words, Eate and drinke, hee meaneth the blessed life of the faithfull, which haue alwayes consolation and full contentment of all things in their God, though sometimes they lacke these corporall things.

s Meaning, that he would call the Gentiles, who should abhorre euen the very name of the Iewes for their infidelities sake.

t Then by the name of the Iewes.

u By blessing, and by swearing is meant the praysing of God for his benefits, and the true worshipping of him, which shall not be onely in Iudea, but through all the world.

x I will no more suffer my Church to bee desolate as in times past.

y I will so alter and change the state of my Church, that it shall seeme to dwell in a newe worlde.

z Meaning, in this wonderfull restauration of the Church, there should be no weakenesse of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all should bee fresh and flourishing: and this is accomplished in the heauenly Ierusalem when all sinnes shal cease, and the teares shall bee wiped away.

a Whereby he sheweth that the infidels & vnrepentant sinners haue no part of this benediction.

b He proposeth to the faithfull the blessings which are contained in the law, and so vnder temporall things comprehendeth the spirituall promises.

m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithfull branches of his vineyarde, when he destroyeth the rotten stockes, that is, the hypocrites.

n Which was a plentifull place in Iudea, to feede sheepe, as Achor was for cattell.

y I will so alter and change the state of my Church, that it shall seeme to dwell in a newe worlde.

z Meaning, in this wonderfull restauration of the Church, there should be no weakenesse of youth, nor infirmities of age, but all should bee fresh and flourishing: and this is accomplished in the heauenly Ierusalem when all sinnes shal cease, and the teares shall bee wiped away.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands. 3 He despiseth sacrifices done without mercy and faith. 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake. 19 The vocation of the Gentiles 23 The perpetuall Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is everlasting.

THus sayeth the Lorde, a The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footestoole: where is that house that yee will build vnto mee? and where is that place of my rest?

a My maiestie is so great, that it filleth both heauen and earth, and therfore can not be included in a Temple like an idole: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which trusted in the Temple and sacrifices.

2 For all these things hath mine hand made, b and all these things haue been, saith the Lord: and to him will I looke, euen to him that is poore, and of c a contrite spirite and trembleth at my words.

b Seeing that both the Temple and the things therein with the sacrifices, were made and done by his appointment he sheweth that he hath no need thereof and that he can be without them, Psal. 50. 10.

c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiueth my doctrine with reuerence and feare.

3 Yee that killeth a bullocke, is as if hee d slewe a man, he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogs necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if hee offered swines blood: he that remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne waies, and their soule delighteth in their abominations.

d Because the Iewes thought themselues holy by offering of their sacrifices, 4 Therefore will I e chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none would answere: I spake and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things which I would not.

e Reade the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his f word, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall bee ashamed.

f Before whose face they should tremble.

6 g A voyce soundeth from the citie, euen a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lorde, that recompenseth his enemies fully.

g The enemies shall shortly heare a more terrible voice, euen fire and slaughter, seeing they would not heare the gentle voyce of the Prophets which called them to repentance.

7 Before h shee trauelled, shee brought foorth: and before her paine came, she was deliuered of a man child.

h This shall passe the capacitie of man to see such a multitude that shall come vp at once, meaning, vnder the preaching of y Gospell whereof they that came vp out of Babylon, were a figure.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? shall the earth bee brought forth in one i day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for assoone as Zion trauelled, she brought foorth her children.

i Declaring hereby, that as by his power and prouidence woman trauelleth, and is deliuered: so hath he power to bring forth his Church at his time appointed.

9 Shall I k cause to trauell, & not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth and shalbe barren, saith thy God?

l That ye may reioyce for all the benefits that God bestoweth vpon his Church:

12 For thus sayeth the Lorde, Beholde, I will extend m peace ouer her like a flood, and the glory of the n Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall yee suckle, ye shall be o borne vpon her sides, and be ioyfull vpon her knees.

m I wil giue her felicity and prosperitie in great abundance.

n Reade Chap. 60. 16.

o Ye shall be cherished, as her dearely beloued children.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall reioyce, and your p bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be knowen among his seruants, and his indignation against his enemies.

p Ye shall haue new strength and new beautie.

15 For behold, the Lord will come with fire, and his charets like a whirlewinde, that he may q recompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sword all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shalbe many.

17 They that sanctifie r themselues, and purifie themselues in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating s swines flesh, and such abomination, euen the mouse, shall be consumed together, sayeth the Lord.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ieremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Beniamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gaue it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident reuelations of prophesie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eighteene yeeres vnder the said King, and three moneths vnder Iehoahaz, and vnder Iehoiakim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Iehoiakin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fortie yeeres, beside the time that hee prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people for their idolatry, couetousnesse, subtiltie crueltie. excesse, rebellion and contempt of Gods word: and for the consolation of the Church, reuealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubburne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainely of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted & rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgment against the wicked, yet will hee euer shew himselfe a preserver of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgment to be abolished, then will hee declare himselfe victorious in preserving his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied. 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

THe a wordes of Ieremiah the sonne of b Hilkiah one of the Priestes that were at c Anathoth in the land of Beniamin.

2 To whom the d word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the e sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, vnto the ende of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the fift f moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I g formed thee in the wombe, I knewe thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordeined thee to bee a Prophet vnto the h nations.

6 Then said I, i Oh, Lord God, behold, I cannot speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lorde sayd vnto mee, Say not, I am a childe: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and what soeuer I commaund thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand a That is, the sermons and prophesies.

b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of § Law vnder king Iosiah, 2. King. 22 8.

c This was a city about 3. miles distant from Ierusalem, & belonged to the priests the sonnes of Aaron, Iosh. 21. 18.

d This is spoken to confirme his vocation & office: forasmuch as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God.

e Meaning the Nephew of Iosiah: for Iehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, & therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioachim that reigned no longer.

f Of the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, who was also called Mattaniah, and at this time the Iewes were caried away into Babylon by Nebuchad-nezzar.

g The Scripture vseth this maner of speech to declare that God hath appointed his ministers to their offices before they were borne, as Isaiah 49. 1. Galatian. 1. 15. h For Ieremiah did not onely prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites and other nations. i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon the world, he was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pittie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmitie of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isaiah 6. 11. Exod. 3. 11. and 4. 1.

k Which declareth, that God maketh them meet & assureth them, whom he calleth to set forth his glory, giuing them all meanes necessarie for the same, Exod. 4.12. isa. 6 7.

l He sheweth, what is the authoritie of Gods true ministers, which by his word haue power to beate downe whatsoeuer lifteth it selfe vp against God: and to plant and assure the humble and such as giue themselues to the obedience of Gods word, 2. Cor. 10.4. heb. 4.12. and these are the keyes which Christ hath left to loose and binde, Matt. 18.18.

m He ioyneth the signe with the word for a more ample confirmation, signifying by the rod of the almond tree, which first buddeth, the hastie comming of the Babylonians against the Iewes.

n Signifying, that the Caldeans & Assyrians should be as a pot to seeth the Iewes which boyled in their pleasures and lustes. o Syria and Assyria were Northward in respect of Ierusalem, which were the Caldeans dominion. p I will giue them charge and power to execute my vengeance against the idolaters, which haue forsaken mee for their idoles. q Which declareth that Gods vengeance is prepared against them, which dare not execute their duety faithfully, either for feare of man, or for any other cause, 1. Cor 9.16. r Signifying on the one part, that the more that Satan and the world rage against Gods ministers, the more present will he be to helpe them, Iosh. 1.5. hebr. 13.5. and on the other part, that they are vtterly vnmeete to serue God and his Church which are afraid, and doe not resist wickednesse, whatsoeuer danger depend thereon, Isa. 50.7. ezek. 3 8.

and k touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto mee, Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

10 Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer the l nations and ouer the kingdomes, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throw downe, to build, and to plant.

11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I sayde, I see a m rodde of an almond tree.

12 Then said the Lord vnto mee, Thou hast seene aright: for I wil hasten my word to performe it.

13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto mee the second time, saying, What seest thou? and I said, I see a seething n pot looking out of the North.

14 Then said the Lord vnto mee, Out of the o North shall a plague be spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, sayeth the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my p iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore trusse vp thy loynes, and arise, and speake vnto them all that I command thee: be not afraid of their faces, lest I q destroy thee before them.

18 For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a defenced citie, and an r yron pillar, and walles of brasse against the whole land, against the kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priests thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 For they shall fight against thee: but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, sayeth the Lord.

CHAP. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefites done vnto the Iewes. 8 Against the Priests and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Goe, and crie in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee, with the a kindnes of thy youth, and the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after mee in the wildernesse, b in a land that was not sowen.

3 Israel was as a thing c hallowed vnto the Lord, and his first fruites: all they d that eate it, shall offend: euill shall come vpon them, saith the Lord.

4 Heare yee the word of the Lord, O house of Iaakob, and all the families of the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in me, that they are gone e farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become f vaine?

6 For they said not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the lande of Egypt? that led vs thorow the wildernes, thorow a desert and waste land, thorow a drie land, and g by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed thorow, and where no man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into a plentifull countrey, to eate the fruite thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when yee entred, yee h defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

8 The Priests said not, i Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the k Law, knew me not: the l pastours also offended against mee, and the Prophets prophesied in m Baal, and went after things that did not profit.

9 Wherefore I wil yet n plead with you, saith the Lord, and I will pleade with your childrens children.

10 For goe yee to the yles of o Chittim, and behold, and send vnto p Kedar, and take diligent heed, and see whether there be such things.

11 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their q glory, for that which doeth not r profit.

12 Be ye s heauens, be astonied at this: be afraide, and vtterly confounded, sayeth the Lord.

13 For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken me t the fountaine a According to that grace and fauour, which I shewed thee from the beginning, when I did first chuse thee to be my people, and married thee to my selfe, Ezekiel 16.8.

b When I had deliuered thee out of Egypt.

c Chosen aboue all others to serue the Lord onely, and the first offered to the Lord of all other nations.

d Whosoeuer did challenge this people, or selfe did annoy them, was punished.

e That is, fallen to most vile idolatrie.

f Altogether giuen to vanitie, and are become blinde and insensible as the idols that they serue.

g Where for lack of all things necessary for life, ye could looke for nothing euery houre but present death.

h By your idolatry and wicked maners, Psal 78.58. and 106. 38.

i They taught not the people to seeke after God. k As the Scribes, which should haue expounded the Law to the people. l Meaning, the princes and ministers: signifying, that all estates were corrupt. m That is, spake vain things, and brought the people from the true worship of God to serue idoles: for by Baal, which was the chiefe idole of the Moabites, are meant all idoles. n Signifying, that he would not as he might, straightway cõdemne them, but sheweth them by euident examples their great ingratitude, that they might be ashamed & repent. o Meaning, the Grecians and Italians. p Vnto Arabia, q That is, God which is their glory, & who maketh them glorious aboue all other people: reprouing the Iewes, that they were lesse diligent to serue the true God, then were the idolaters to honour their vanities. r Meaning, the idols, which were their destruction, Psal. 106.36. s Hee sheweth that the insensible creatures abhorre this vile ingratitude, & as it were tremble for feare of Gods great iudgements against the same. t Signifying, that when men forsake Gods word, which is the fountaine of life, they reiect God himselfe, and so fall to their owne inuentions, and vaine confidence, and procure to themselues destruction, Ionah 2.8. zech. 10.2.

of liuing waters, to dig them pits, euen broken pits, that can holde no water.

14 Is Israel a [t] seruant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoyled?

15 The [x] lyons roared vpon him and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt without [y] an inhabitant.

16 Also the children of [z] Noph and Tahapanes haue [a] broken thine head.

17 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lorde thy God, when hee [b] ledde thee by the way?

18 And what hast thou now to doe in the way of [c] Egypt? to drinke the water of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Assur? to drinke the water of the [d] River?

19 Thine owne wickednesse shall [e] correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reproue thee: know therefore and beholde, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feare is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hostes.

20 For of olde time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou saydest, [f] I will no more transgresse, but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all hie hils, and vnder all greene trees.

21 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, whole [g] plantes were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto mee into the plants of a strange vine?

22 Though thou wash thee with [h] nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before mee, saith the Lord God.

23 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I [k] followed Baalim? beholde thy wayes in the valley, & know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift [l] dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes:

24 And as a wilde [m] asse, vsed to the wildernesse, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not wearie themselues, but will find her in her [n] moneth.

25 Keepe thou thy feete from [o] barenesse, and thy throte from thirst: but thou saydest desperatly, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I follow.

26 As the [p] theefe is ashamed when he is found, so is [q] the house of Israel ashamed, they, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets,

27 Saying to a tree, Thou art my [r] father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten mee: for they haue turned their backe vnto mee, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and helpe vs.

28 But where are thy gods, that thou hast made thee? Let them arise if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according [s] to the number of thy cities, are thy gods, O Iudah.

29 Wherefore will [t] ye pleade with mee? yee all haue rebelled against mee, sayeth the Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your [u] owne sword hath deuoured your Prophets like a destroying lyon.

31 O generation, take heed to the word of the Lord: haue I beene as a [x] wildernesse vnto Israel? or a land of darkenesse? Wherefore sayeth my people then, Wee are lordes, [y] wee will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maide forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without number.

33 Why dreſt thou prepare thy way, to [z] seeke amitie? euen therefore will I teach thee, that thy wayes are wickednesse.

34 Also in thy [a] wings is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltlesse, surely his wrath shall turne from mee: beholde, I will enter with thee into iudgement, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wayes? for thou shalt bee confounded of Egypt, as thou art confounded of Assur.

37 For thou shalt goe forth from thence, and thine hands vpon [b] thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper therein.

p There was no way, which thou didst not haunt to seeke after the idoles, and to trot a pilgrimage.
q This is to be vnderstood of the comming of Christ: for then they shall not seeke the Lord by ceremonies, and all figures shall ceate.
r Meaning the Church, where the Lord will be present to the worlds end, Mat. 28.20.
f Where they are now in captiuitie.
t The Ebrewe word signifieth a friend or companion, and here may be taken for a husband, as it is vsed also, Hose. 3.1.
u Signifying that God whom they had forsaken, would bring their enemies vpon them who should lead them captiue & make them to cry and lament.
x This is spoken in the person of Israel to the shame of Iudah, which stayed so long to turne vnto God.
y For their idolatry, Gods vengeance hath light vpon them and theirs.
z They iustifie not themselues, or say that they would follow their fathers, but condemne their wicked doings, and desire forgiuenesse of the same, as Ezra. 9 7. Psal. 106.6. Isa. 64.6.

gaine vnto her? shall not this land b be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many c louers: yet d turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and beholde, where thou hast not played the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the wayes, as the e Arabian in the wildernesse: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the showres haue beene restreined, and the f latter raine came not, and thou hadst a g whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

4 Didst thou not still cry vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will he reserue it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lorde sayd also vnto mee, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, hast thou seene what this rebell i Israel hath done? for thee hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, & there played the harlot.

7 And I sayd, when she had done all this, Turne thou vnto mee: but thee returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.

8 When I sawe, how that by all occasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast k her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraide, but she went also, and played the harlot.

9 So that for the lightnes of her whoredome she hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stocks.

10 Neuertheles for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with m her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lorde said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath n iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and cry these words toward o the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast p scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but ye would not obey my voice, saith the Lord.

14 O yee disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a city, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion,

15 And I will giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreouer, when ye be increased, and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, saith the Lord, they shall say no more, The q Arke of the couenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to mind, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, r The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thence forth they shall followe no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shal walke with the house Israel, and they shall come together out of the lande of the s North, into the land, that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I sayde, Howe did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and said, Thou shalt call me, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from mee?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her t husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, saith the Lord.

21 u A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerted their way, and forgotten the Lorde their God.

22 Yee disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. x Beholde, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truely the hope of the hilles is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lorde our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our y fathers labour, from our youth, their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie downe in our confusion, and our shame coureth vs: z for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 4 He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 5 The destruction of Iudah is prophesied for the malice of their hearts. 19 The Prophet lamenteth it.

O Israel, if thou returne, a returne vnto mee, saith the Lord: and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoone.

a That is, wholly and without hypocrisie, Ioel 2. 12. not dissembling to turne and serue God as they doe which

2 And thou shalt b sweare, The Lord liueth, in truetly, in iudgement, and in righ-

b Thou shalt detest the name of idoles, Psal. 16.4. and shalt with reuerence sweare by the liuing God, when thine othe may aduance Gods glory, and profit others: and here by swearing he meaneth the true religion of God.

teousnesse, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glory in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Breake vp your fallow ground, and sow not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, least my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions.

5 Declare in Iudah, and shew forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blowe the trumpet in the land: cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standard in Zion: prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The lion is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shall bee destroyed without inhabitant.

8 Therefore girde you with sackcloth: lament and howle, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, sayeth the Lord, the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the Princes, and the Priestes shalbe astonished, and the prophets shall wonder.

10 Then said I, Ah, Lorde God, surely thou hast deceived this people, and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword pearceth vnto the heart.

11 At that time shall it be said to this people and to Ierusalem, A drie wind in the high places of the wildernesse commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither to fanne, nor to cleanse.

12 A mightie winde shall come vnto mee from those places, and now will I also giue sentence vpon them

13 Beholde, hee shall come vp as the cloudes, and his charets shall be as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. Woe vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be saued: how long shall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make ye mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the skoutes come from a farre countrey, and cry out against the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the fielde, because it hath prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lord.

18 Thy waies & thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shalbe bitter, therefore it shall pearce vnto thine heart.

19 My belly, my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: my heart is troubled within mee: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standard, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish: they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to do well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and void: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines, and lo, they trembled, and all the hilles shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birdes of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wildernesse, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord sayde, The whole land shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full end.

28 Therefore shal the earth mourne, and the heauens aboue shalbe darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole city shall flee, for the noise of the horsemen and bowemen: they shal goe into thickets, and clime vp vpon the rockes: euery citie shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt bee destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou clothest thy selfe with skarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou trimme thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers wil abhorre thee, and seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman trauailing, or as one labouring of her first childe, euen the voyce of the daughter Zion that sigheth and stretcheth out her handes: woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murtherers.

c He willeth them to plucke vp the impietie and wicked affection & worldly respects out of their heart, that the true seede of Gods word may be sowen therin, Hos. 10.12. and this is the true circumcision of the heart, Deut 10.16 rom. 2.29 col 2.11.

d He warneth them of the great dangers that shal come vpon them by the Caldeans, except they repent and turne to the Lord.

e He speaketh this to admonish them of the great danger when euery man shall prepare to saue himselfe, but it shalbe too late, 2. King. 25.4.

f Meaning Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babylon, 2. King 24.1.

g That is, the false prophets which still prophesied peace and securitie.

i The North winde, whereby he meaneth Nebuchad-nezzar.

k But to cary away both corne & chaffe.

l Meaning that Nebuchad-nezzar should come as suddenly as a cloud that is carried with the winde.

m This is spoken in the person of all the people, who in their affliction should cry thus.

n Which was a citie in the vtmost border of Israel Northward toward Babylon.

o Which was in the midway betwixt Dan and Ierusalem.

p Which keepe the fruites so straitly, that nothing can come in nor out, so should the Babylonians compasse Iudah.

q He sheweth that the true ministers are liuely touched with the calamities of the Church, so that all the parts of their body feele the griefe of their heart, albeit with zeale to Gods glory they pronounce his iudgements against the people.

r Meaning the cities which were as easily cast downe as a tent.

s Their wisedom and policie tend to their owne destruction, and pulleth them from God.

t By these maner of speeches he sheweth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the land, & also condemneth the obstinacie of the people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tidings, seeing that the insensible creatures are moued therewith as if the order of nature should bee changed, Isa. 13.10. and 24.23. ezek. 32.7. ioel. 2.31. and 3.15.

u But for his mercies sake he will reserue himselfe a residue to be his Church, and to praise him in earth, Isa 29.

x Neither thy ceremonies nor rich gifts shall deliuer thee.

y As the Prophets were moued to pitie the destruction of their people, so they declared it to the people to moue them to repentance, Isa. 22.4. chap. 9.1.

CHAP. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man found neither among the people nor the rulers. 15 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

RVnne to and fro by the streetes of Ierusalem, and beholde nowe, and knowe and inquire in the open places thereof, if yee can finde a man, or if there bee any that executeth iudgement, and seeketh the truth, and I will spare it.

2 For though they say, The [b] Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsly.

3 O Lorde, are not thine eyes vpon the [c] truth? thou hast [d] stricken them, but they haue not sorowed: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receiue correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

6 Therefore I sayde, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they know not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get mee vnto the [e] great men, and will speake vnto them: for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God, but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bonds.

6 Wherefore [f] a Lion out of the forrest shall slay them, and a [g] Wolfe of the wildernesse shall destroy them: a Leopard shall watch ouer their cities: euery one that goeth out thence shalbe torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

7 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken me, and sworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adultery, and assembled themselues by companies in the harlots houses.

8 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man [h] neyed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not visit for these things, saith the Lord? shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 [b] Climbe vp vpon their wals, and destroy them, but make not a full ende, [i] take away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

11 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuously trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

12 They haue [k] denyed the Lorde, and sayd, It is not he, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

13 And the Prophets shall be as [l] winde, and the word is [m] not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, Because ye speake such words, behold, I will put my words into [n] thy mouth, like a fire, and this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

15 Loe, I will bring a nation vpon you [o] from farre, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lord, which is a mighty nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say

16 Whose quiuer is as an [p] open sepulchre: they are all very strong.

17 And they shall eate thine harueſt and thy bread: they shall deuoure thy sonnes, and thy daughters: they shall eate vp thy sheepe and thy bullocke: they shall eate thy vines and thy figge trees: they shall destroy with the sword thy fenced cities, wherein thou diddest trust.

18 Neuertheleſſe at those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will not make a full end of [q] you.

19 And when [r] ye shall say, Wherefore doth the Lord our God do these things vnto vs? then shalt [r] thou answere them, Like as ye haue forsaken me & serued strange gods in your land, so shall ye serue strangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the house of Iaakob, and publish it in Iudah, saying, 21 Heare now this, O foolish people, and [s] without vnderstanding, which haue [t] eyes and see not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare yee not me, sayth the Lord? or will ye not be afrayd at my presence, which haue placed the sand for the [u] bounds of the sea by the perpetuall decree, that it cannot passe it, and though the wawes thereof rage, yet can they not prevaile, though they roare, yet can they not passe ouer it?

23 But this people hath an vnfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they say not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due season: he reserueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the harueſt.

25 Yet your [x] iniquities haue turned away these things, and your sinnes haue hindred good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked persons, that lay waite as hee that setteth snares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

27 As a cage is ful of birdes, so are their houses full of deceite: thereby they are become great and waxen rich.

28 They are waxen fat and shining: they doe ouerpasse the deedes of the wicked: [y] they execute no iudgement, no not the iudgement of the fatherlesse, yet they [z] prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore

29 Shall I not visite for these things, saith the Lord? or shal not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

31 The [a] prophets prophesie lies, and the priests ‖ receiue gifts in their hands, and my people delight therein. What will ye then doe in the end thereof?

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to [d] a beautifull and dainty woman.

3 The pastors with their flockes [e] shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feed in his place.

4 [f] Prepare warre against her: arise, and let vs goe vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hostes said, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Ierusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the midst of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: [g] cruelty and spoile is continually heard in her before me with sorow and strokes.

8 [h] Be thou instructed, O Ierusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the remnant of Israel: turne [i] backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish, that they may heare? Behold, their eares are [k] vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken: behold, the worde of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delite in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: [l] I will powre it out vpon the [m] children in the streete, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the husband shall euen be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their landes, and wiues also shall bee turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hande vpon the inhabitants of the lande, sayeth the Lord.

13 For from the least of them, euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse, and from the prophet euen vnto the priest, they all deale falsly.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete wordes, saying, [n] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the [1] slaine: when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus sayth the Lord, Stand in the wayes and beholde, and aske for [o] the olde way which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall find rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set [p] watchmen ouer you, which said, Take heed to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We will not take heed.

18 Heare therefore, yee [q] Gentiles, and thou Congregation knowe, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruite of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heede vnto my wordes, nor to my lawe, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee incense from Sheba, and sweete calamus from a farre country? Your burnt offrings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will lay stumbling blockes before this people and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people commeth from the [r] North countrey, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shielde shall they bee weaponed: they are cruell, and will haue no compassion: their voyce roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses, well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Sion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our hands [s] ware feeble: sorow is come vpon vs, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sworde of the enemie and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, girde thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set [u] thee for a defence and fortresse among my people, that thou mayest know and try their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitours, walking craftily: they are brasse, and yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The [x] bellowes are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate siluer, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

2 Ieremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the word of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the Temple. 13 The euils that shall come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

THe words that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords House and crie this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all ye of Iudah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

o Wherein the Patriarkes and Prophets walked directed by the word of God: signifying, that there is no true way, but that which God prescribeth. p Prophets which should warne you of the dangers that were at hand.

a Beleeue not the false prophets, which say } for the Temples sake and the sacrifices there, the Lord wil preserue you, and so nourish you in your sin, and vaine confidence.

b God sheweth on what conditiō hee made his promise to this Temple: that they should bee an holy people vnto him, as hee would be a faith full God to them.

c As theeues hid in holes and dennes, thinke themselues safe, so when you are in my Temple, you thinke to be couered with the holinesse therof, and that I cannot see your wickednesse, Mat. 21. 13.

d Because they depend so much on the Temple, which was for his promise, that hee would bee present, and defend them where the Arke was: he sendeth them to Gods iudgements against Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 300. yeares, and after was taken, the Priest slaine, and the people miserably discomfited, 1 Sam. 4. 11. chap 26. 6 e That is, I neuer ceased to warne you, as Isa 65. 2 Pro 1. 23.

f He sheweth what is the only remedy to redresse our faults: to suffer God to leade vs into the way, and to obey his calling. Isa. 66. 4.

g I will send you into captiuitie as I haue done Ephraim, that is, the ten tribes

h To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednesse, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auaile them, while they remaine in their obstinacie against God, and will not vse the meanes that he vseth to call them to repentance, Chap. 11. 14. & 14. 11.

4 Trust not in • lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgement betweene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppresse not the straunger, the fatherlesse and the widow, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then b will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adultery, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not,

10 And come and stand before me in this house, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this House become • a denne of theeues, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euen I see it, saith the Lord.

12 But goe yee nowe vnto my place which was in Shilo, d where I set my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because yee haue done all these workes, saith the Lord (and I • rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would ‘ ye answere)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this House, whereupon my Name is called, wherein also ye trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast e you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seede of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not h pray for this people, neither lift vp crie or prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streetes of Ieruselem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to i the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke mee to anger, saith the Lord, and not themselues to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of the ground, & it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh.

22 For k I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, whē I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voice, and I will bee your God, and ye shalbe my people: and walke ye in al the wayes which I haue commaunded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubburnnesse of their wicked heart, and went backeward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto l this day, I haue euen sent vnto you all my seruaunts the Prophets, m rising vp earely euery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare me, nor incline their eare, but hardned their neck, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speake all these words vnto them, but they n will not heare thee: thou shalt also crie vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine • haire, O Ieruselem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the high places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his p wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, saith the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name is called, to polute it.

31 And they haue built the high place of q Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their sonnes and their daughters in the fire, which I ‘ commaunded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall burie in Topheth, till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beastes of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 • Then I will cause to cease from the cities of Iudah and from the streetes of Ierusalem, the voyce of myrth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bride-

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord moueth the people to amendment. 10 Hee reprehendeth the lying doctrine and the couetousnesse of the Prophets and Priests.

AT that time, sayeth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the Kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priestes, and the bones of the Prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their [a] graues.

2 And they shall spread them before the sunne and the moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, and whom they haue followed, and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shalbe as dung vpon the earth.

3 And death shalbe desired [b] rather then life of all the relidue that remaineth of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shal they [c] fal and not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they haue stablished them selues to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I hearkned and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery [d] one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the stoorke in the ayre knoweth her appointed times, and the Turtle, and the crane, and the swallow obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the [e] iudgement of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, Wee are wise, and the Law [f] of the Lord is with vs? Loe, certainly in vaine made hee it, the pen of the Scribes is in vaine.

9 The [g] wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue reiected the word of the Lord, and what wisedome is in them?

10 Therefore wil I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: [*] for euery one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsly.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, [h] Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the slaine: when I shall visit them, they shall bee cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shall bee no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the fig tree, and the leafe shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.

14 Why doe we stay? [i] assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with [k] gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 [*] We looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from [l] Dan, the whole land trembled at the noyse of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the citie and those that dwell therein.

17 For behold, I will [m] send serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed: and they shall sting you, sayeth the Lord.

18 I would haue [n] comforted my selfe against sorow, but mine heart is heauy in me.

19 Beholde, the voyce of the cry of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey, Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her King in her? Why [o] haue they prouoked me to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The [p] haruest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not holpen.

21 I am [q] sore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauie, and astonishment hath taken me.

r Meaning, that no mans helpe or meanes could saue them: for in Gilead was precious balme, Chap. 46 11. or els deriding the vaine confidence of the people, who looked for helpe at their Priests, who should haue bene the Physicians of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hos. 6. 8.

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce. 26 The vncircumcision of the heart.

OH that mine head were full of [a] water, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the slaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh that I had in the wildernes a [b] cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people and goe from them: for they be all [c] adulterers and an assembly of rebels,

3 And they bend their tonges like their bowes for [d] lies: but they haue no courage for the truth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euil to worse, and they haue not knowen me, sayth the Lord.

4 Let euery one take heede of his neighbour, and trust you not in any [e] brother: for euery brother wil vse deceit, and euery friend will deale deceitfully, a The Prophet sheweth the great compassion that he had toward this people, seeing that hee could neuer sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang ouer them. Which is a speciall note to discerne the true pastors from the hirelings: Reade Chap 4. 19.

b He sheweth that this were more quietnesse, and greater safetie for him to dwell among the wilde beastes, then among this wicked people, saue that God hath enioyned him this charge.

c Vtterly turned from God.

d To belie and slander their neighbours.

e Meaning, that all were corrupt, and none could find an honest man.

5 And euery one will deceiue his friend, and will not speake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to doe wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the midst of deceiuers: through deceit they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

7 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will melt them, and try them: for what should I else doe for the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth waite for him.

9 Shall I not visit him for these things, saith the Lord? shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wildernesse a mourning, because they are burnt vp, so that none can passe through them: neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the foule of the ayre, and the beast are fled away, and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wise to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken that he may declare it, Why doeth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wildernesse, and none passeth through?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my lawe, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked therafter,

14 But haue walked after the stubbornes of their owne heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them,

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knowen, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Take heed, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come.

18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye lids gush out of water.

19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, How are we destroyed, and vtterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbour to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the young men in the streetes.

22 Speake, Thus saieth the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lie euen as the dung vpon the fielde, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisedome, nor the strong man glory in his strength: neither the rich man glory in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth, glorie in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord which shew mercie, iudgement, and righteousnesse in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will visite all them, which are circumcised, with the vncircumcised:

26 Egypt, and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the vtmost corners of them that dwell in the wildernesse: for all these nations are vncircumcised, and all the house of Israel are vncircumcised in the heart.

f They haue so practised deceit, that they cannot forsake it.

g They had rather forsake God then leaue their wicked trade.

h With the fire of affliction. Psal. 28.3. and 120.4.

i Signifying all the places about Ierusalem should be destroyed.

k Meaning, that they are all without sense and vnderstanding, and that God hath taken his spirit from them.

l Hee sheweth that the children cannot excuse themselues by their fathers: for both father and child, if they be wicked, shall perish.

m Reade Chap. 8.14.

n Seeing you can not lament your owne sinnes, call for those foolish women, whom of a superstition you haue to lament for the dead, that they by their fained teares may prouoke you to some sorow.

o As though they were weary of vs because of our iniquities, Leuit. 18.28. & 20.22.

p He derideth the superstition of the women, which made an art of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.

q Signifying, that there is no means to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgements: but when they thinke to be most sure, and most farre off, then are they soonest taken.

r Forasmuch as none can saue himselfe by his owne labour or any worldly meanes, he sheweth that it is in vaine to put our trust therein, but that we trust in the Lord, and reioice in him, who only can deliuer vs, 1. Cor. 1.31. 2. Cor. 10.17.

s These three points are necessary to know a right: his mercy, wherin consisteth our saluation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: & his iustice, wherby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull.

t Meaning both Iewes & Gentiles as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, reade Chap. 4.4.

HEare yee the worde of the Lord that hee speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lorde, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afrayd of such.

3 For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forrest (which is the worke of the hands of the carpenter) with the axe.

4 And another decketh it with siluer, and with golde: they fasten it with nailes and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp in the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot goe: feare them not, for they cannot doe euil, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O king of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdoms there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie.

u Foretelling the destruction of Babylon, Chap. 50.38. & 51.36.

v Meaning, that the Gentiles were deceiued in the starres, but their Lawes and ceremonies, whereby they confirme their idolatrie, which is forbidden, Deut. 12.30.

w The Prophets absurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, whereunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, read Isa. 44.12.

x He teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, & therfore ought only to be feared: and herein he sheweth them not only the euil that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow, Reuel. 15.4.

y Because the people thought to haue images, was a meane to serue God, & to bring them to the knowledge of him, he sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanity, the worke of errors, vers. 15. and Hab. 2.18. calleth them the teachers of lies, contrary to that wicked opinion that they are the bookes of the lay people.

z Siluer.

f Whereas they found the best gold, shewing that they thought nothing too deare for their idoles: some read Ophir, as 1. King. 9. 28.

g This declareth that all that hath beene in this Chapter spoken of idoles, was to anne the Iewes whē they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and now with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against the idolaters, & how to answere them to their shame which should exhort them to idolatry, & therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memorial, whereas all the rest of his writing is Ebrew.

h The more that man thinketh to doe any thing well by his owne wisedome, & not as God instructeth him, the more doeth he prooue himselfe to be a vile beast.

i By these words, portion and rod, he signifieth their inheritāce: meaning that God should be al sufficient for them, and that their felicitie consisted in him alone, and therfore they ought to renounce all other helps and succours, as of idoles, &c. Deut. 32. 9. Psal. 16. 5.

k The Prophet willeth the Iewes to prepare themselues to this captiuitie, shewing that it was now at hand that they should feele the things whereof he had tolde them.

l It is my iust plague, and therfore I will take it patiently: wherby hee teacheth the people howe to behaue themselues towards God.

m He sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament.

p He speaketh this, because that Nebuchadnezzar purposed to haue made war against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, he turned his power to goe against Ierusalem, Ezek. 21. 21. therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction.

q Considering that God had reuealed vnto him the certitude of their captiuitie, Chap. 7. 16. hee onely prayeth, that he would punish them with mercie, which Isaiah calleth in measure, Chap. 27. 8. measuring his rods by their infirmitie, 1. Cor. 10. 13. for here by iudgment is meant not only the punishment, but also the merciful moderation of the same, as Chap. 30. 11.

r Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knowen and glorified by his mercie, that he vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies, hee prayeth that his glory may fully appeare both in the one and in the other, Psal. 79. 6.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold ᵗ from Vphaz, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blue silke, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods ᵘ that haue not made the heauens and the earth shall perish from the earth, ᵠ from vnder these heauens)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisedome, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

14 Euery man is a ʰ beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falshood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie, and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shal perish.

19 Woe is me for my destruction, and my grieuous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorrow, and I will beare it.

20 ˡ My tabernacle is destroyed, and all my coards are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtaines.

21 For the Pastors ᵐ are become beastes, and haue not sought the Lord: therfore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flocks of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the bruite is come, and a great commotion out of the ⁿ North countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a den of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know, that ᵖ the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord correct me, but with ᵠ iudgement, not in thine anger, least thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out ʳ thy wrath vpon the heathen that know thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iaakob, and deuoured him & consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

CHAP. XI.

1 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods couenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lorde forbiddeth Ieremiah to pray for them.

THe word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the wordes of this couenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, ᵃ Cursed bee the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this couenant,

4 ᵇ Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, Obey my voice, and do according to all these things, which I commaund you: so shall yee be my people, and I will be your God,

5 That I may confirme the othe that I haue sworne vnto your fathers, to giue them a land which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered ᶜ I and said, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord said vnto me, Cry all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, saying, Heare yee the words of this couenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, ᵈ rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Neuertheles they would not obey, nor incline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubburnnes of his wicked ᵉ heart: therfore I will bring vpon them all the ᶠ words of this couenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A ᵍ conspiracie is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my couenant which I made with their fathers,

11 There-

r Not that they could not abide to heare God named: (for herein they would shew themselues most holy) but because they could not abide to be sharpely reproued, and therefore desired to be flattered, Isa. 30. 10. and to be maintained in their pleasures, Micah. 2. 11. and not to heare vice condemned, Amos 7. 12.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they crie vnto me, I will not heare them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and crie vnto the gods vnto who they offer incense, but they shall not bee able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 [b] For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue yee set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray [i] for this people, neither lift vp a crie, or prayer for them: for when they crie vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

15 What should my [k] beloued worke in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy flesh [l] goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, then reioycest.

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene oliue tree, faire, and of goodly fruite: but with [m] noyse and great tumult hee hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lorde of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselues to prouoke mee to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught mee, and I know it, euen then thou shewedst me [n] their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs [o] destroy the tree with the fruite thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memorie.

20 But O Lord of hostes, that iudgest righteously, and tryest the reines and the heart, let me see thy [p] vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 Therefore speaketh thus of the men of [q] Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, [r] Prophesie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands)

22 Thus therefore saieth the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will visite them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes and their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yeere of their visitation.

1 The Prophet murmureth at the prosperitie of the wicked, although he confesse God to be righteous. 7 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 10 He speaketh against pastors and preachers, that seduce the people. 14 The Lord threateneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art [a] righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doth the way of the wicked [b] prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken roote: they growe, and bring foorth fruit: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their [c] reines.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe from the slaughter, and [d] prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbes of euery fielde wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beastes are consumed and the birdes, because they said, [e] He will not see our last end.

5 If thou hast run with the [f] footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses? and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the [g] swelling of Iorden?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried out altogether vpon thee, but beleeue them not, though they speake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearely beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto mee, as a [h] lyon in the forest: it crieth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto mee as a [i] bird of diuers colours? are not the birdes about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eat her?

10 Many pastours haue destroyed my [k] vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wildernesse.

a The Prophet confesseth God to be iust in all his doings, although man be not able to giue a reason of all his actes.

b This question hath bene alway a great tentation to the godly, to see the wicked enemies of God in prosperity, and his deare children in aduersitie as Iob. 21. 7. psal. 37. 1. and 73. 3. Hab. 1. 3.

c They professe God in mouth, but deny him in heart, which is here ment by the reines, Iere. 29 13. matth. 15. 8.

d The Ebrewe word is, Sanctifie them, meaning, that God would be Sanctified in the destruction of the wicked, to whom God for a while giueth prosperity that after ward they should the more feele his heauy iudgement when they lacke their riches, which were a signe of his mercie.

e Abusing Gods lenitie and his promises, they flattered themselues as though God would euer be merciful, and not vtterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselues in sinne, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubborne rebellion against God.

f Some thinke that God reproueth Ieremiah, in that that he would reason with him, saying, that if he were not able to match with men, that he were far vnable to dispute with God. Others, by the footemen, meane them of Anathoth, & by the horsemen them of Ierusalem, which should trouble the Prophet worse then his owne countrey men did.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

THus saith the Lord vnto mee, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward a Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes, the Lorde said vnto me, Arise, goe toward Perath & take the girdle from thence, which I commaunded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my words, and walke after the stubbornesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shal be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

a Because this riuer Perath or Euphrates was farre from Ierusalem, it is euident that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes should passe ouer Euphrates to bee captiues in Babylon, and there for length of time shou'd seeme to be rotten, although they were ioyned to the Lord be fore as a girdle about a man.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I tyed to mee the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lorde, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this worde, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euery b bottle shalbe filled with wine, & they shall say vnto thee, Do we not know, that euery bottle shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this lande, euen the Kings c that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse, 14 And I will dash d them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitie nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lord e our God before he bring f darkenesse, and or euer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles ye looke for g light, hee turne it into the shadow of death, and make it as darkenesse.

17 But if yee will not heare this, my soule shall h weepe in secret for your pride, & mine eye shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is carried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the i King & to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit down, for the crown of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of k the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be carried away captiue: it shall be wholy carried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes, and beholde them that come from the North: where is the l flocke that was giuen thee, euen the beautifull flocke?

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast k taught them to bee captaines and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorowe take thee as a woman in trauaile?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon mee? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts l discouered and thine heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke Moore change his skin? or the leopard his spots? then may yee also doe good, that are accustomed to doe euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South wind.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from mee, (sayeth the Lord, because thou hast forgotten mee, and trusted in lyes.

26 Therefore I haue also discouered thy skirts vpon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The vnfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, & of false prophets that seduce the people

THE word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the a dearth.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bin b brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the crie of Ierusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the wels, and found no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed and confounded, and c couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, & forsooke it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stand in the high places, and drewe in their winde like d dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 e O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the sauiour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that pitieth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as a f strong man that can not helpe? yet thou O Lord, art in the mids of vs, and thy name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto his people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not refrained their feete, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but hee will now remember their iniquity, and visit their sinnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, g Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they fast, I will not heare their crie, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, behold, the h Prophets say vnto them, Ye shal not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The prophets prophesie lies in my Name: * I haue not sent them, neither did I commaunde them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophesie vnto you a false vision, and diuination and vanity, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my Name, whom I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whome these prophets doe prophesie shall bee cast out in the streetes of Ierusalem because of the famine, and the sword, and there shall be none to burie them, both they and their wiues, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this word vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe i teares night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grieuous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: and if I enter into the citie, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer, the prophet also & the Priest goe a wandering * into a lande that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected l Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We * acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquities of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the * vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no praier for the Iewes, 3 but threatneth to destroy thē with foure plagues

THen said the Lord vnto mee, a Though Moses and Samuel stood before me, yet mine affectiō could not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall we depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, * Such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appoint ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the b dogs to teare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4 I wil * scatter them also in al kingdoms

1 The false prophets promised peace and assurance, but Ieremiah calleth to teares and repentance for their affliction, which is at hand, as Chap. 9. 1 Lam. 1. 16 and 2. 18.

m Both hie and low shall be led captiues into Babylon.

n Though the Prophet knew that God had cast off the multitude which were hypocrites and bastard childre, yet he was assured that for his promise sake, hee would stil haue a Church, for the which he praieth.

o Hee teacheth the Church a forme of prayer, to humble themselues to God by true repentance, which is theonly meane to auoide this famine, which was the beginning of Gods plagues.

p Meaning their idoles, reade Chap. 10. 15.

a Meaning, that if there were any man liuing mooued with so great zeale toward the people, as were these two, yet that he would not graunt this requeste, for as much as he had determined the contrary, Ezek. 14. 14. Zach. 11. 9.

d Not that the people was punished for the kings sinne onely, but for their owne sinnes also, because they consented to his wickednesse, 2 King. 21. 9.

c That is, I will not call backe my plagues, or spare thee any more.

h She that had many lost all her children.

i Shee was destroyed in the middes of her prosperitie.

k These are the Prophets words, complaining of the obstinacie of the people, and that he was reserued to so wicked a time: wherein also he sheweth what is the condition of Gods ministers: to wit, to haue all the world against them, though they giue none occasion.

l Which is an occasion of contention and hatred.

m In this perplexitie the Lord comforted mee, and said that my last dayes should be quiet: and by the enemie here meaneth here, Nebuzar-adan the captaine of Nebuchad-nezzar, who gaue Ieremiah the choyse either to remaine in his countrey, or to go whither he would: or by the enemie he meaneth the Iewes, which should after win Ieremiahs fidelitie, and therefore fauour him. n As for the people though they seemed strong as yron, yet should they not bee able to resist the hard yron of Babylon, but should bee led captiue. ‖Or, ransome. o He speaketh not this for desire of reuengeance, but wishing that God would deliuer his Church of them whom he knew to be hardened & incorrigible p I receiued them with as great ioy, as he that is athamished, eateth meate. q I had nothing to doe with the wicked contemners of thy word, but lamented bitterly for thy plagues: shewing what the faithfull should doe when they see tokens of Gods anger.

of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah king of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be sorie for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, & destroy thee: for I am c wearie with repenting.

7 And I will scatter them with the fan in the gates of the earth: I haue walked, and destroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widowes s are increased by me aboue the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the ‖assembly of the yong men a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and t speedily.

9 She that hath borne h seuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed her, whiles it was day: she hath bene confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10 ¶ k Wo is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, & a man that striueth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on vsury, nor men haue lent vnto me on vsury, yet euery one doth curse me.

11 The Lord said, u Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to entreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the x yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoyled without ‖ gaine, & that for all thy sinnes, euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to go with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visit me, and reuenge me of my o persecuters: take mee not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16 Thy wordes were found by me, and I did y eate them, and thy word was vnto me the ioy and reioycing of mine heart: for thy name is called vpon mee, O Lord God of hostes.

17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone z because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauinesse continuall? and my plague desperate and cannot be healed? why art thou vnto me a as a lyar, and as waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou b returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before mee: and if thou take away the c precious from the vile, thou shalt be d according to my word: let them returne d vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, and they shall fight against thee, but they shall not e preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee and to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

21 And I wil deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

r And hast not assisted me according to thy promise? wherin appeareth, that in the Saints of God is imperfection of faith, which through impatiencie is oft times assailed, as Chap. 20. 7.

f If thou forget these carnal considerations, and faithfully execute thy charge.

t That is, seeke to win the good from the bad. u To wit, as my mouth hath pronounced, Chap. 1. 18. and as here followeth verse 20. x Conforme not thy selfe to their wickednesse, but let them follow thy godly example. y I will arme thee with an inuincible strength and constancie, so that all the powers of the world shall not ouercome thee.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The Lord forbidding Ieremiah to marrie, sheweth him what should bee the afflictions vpon Iudah. 13 The captiuitie of Babylon 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

THe word of the Lord came also vnto me, saying,

2 Thou shalt not take a thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land.

4 They shall die of deathes and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shall be as dung vpon the earth, and they shall bee consumed by the sword and by famine, and their carkeises shall bee meate for the foules of the heauen, and for the beastes of the earth.

5 For thus sayeth the Lord, b Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor bee mooued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, sayeth the Lord, euen mercie and compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, c nor cut themselues, nor make themselues bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the d cup of consolatio to drinke for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also goe into the house of feasting to sit with them to eate and to drinke.

9 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your dayes the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegroome and the voyce of the bride.

a Meaning, that the affliction should be so horrible in Ierusalem, that wife and children should but increase his sorrow.

f Signifying the benefit of their deliuerance out of Babylon should be so great, that it should abolish the remembrance of their deliuerance from Egypt: but he hath here chiefly respect to the spirituall deliuerance vnder Christ.
g By the fishers and hunters are meant the Babylonians and Caldeans, who should destroy them in such sort, that if they escaped the one, the other should take them.
h That is, their sonnes and daughters, which they offered to Molech.
i He wondereth at the great mercy of God, in this deliuerance, which shall not onely extend to the Iewes, but also the Gentiles.

all these words, and they shall say vnto thee, Wherefore hath the Lorde pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is our iniquity? and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?
11 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saieth the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them, and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Lawe,
12 (*And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for behold, you walke euery one after the stubbornesse of his wicked heart, and will not heare me.)
13 Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a land that yee know not, neither you nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue other gods day and night: for I will shewe you no grace.
14 *Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come that it shall no more bee sayde, The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,
15 But, The Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel *from the land of the North, and from all the lands where he had scattered them, & I will bring them again into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.
16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many fishers, & they shall fish them, & after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from euery mountaine, and from euery hill, and out of the caues of the rockes.
17 For mine eies are vpon all their waies: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.
18 And first I will recompense their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthy *carions and their abominations.
19 O Lord, thou art my *force, and my strength and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers haue inherited *lies, and vanity, wherein there was no profite.
20 Shall a man make gods vnto himselfe, and they are no gods?
21 Behold, therefore I will this once *teach them: I will shew them mine hand and my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The frowardnesse of the Iewes. 5 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man. 9 Mans heart is wicked. 10 God is the searcher of the heart. 13 The liuing waters are forsaken. 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath commanded.

THe sinne of Iudah is *written with a pen of yron, and with the point of a diamond, and grauen vpon the *table of their heart, and vpon the hornes of your *altars.
2 *They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by their greene trees vpon the high hils.
3 *O my mountaine in the field, I will giue thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoyled, for the sin of thy hie places throughout all thy borders.
4 And thou shalt rest, *and in thee shalbe a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for ye haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shal burne for euer.
5 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, *Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and withdraweth his heart from the Lord.
6 For he shalbe like the heath in *the wildernes, & shall not see when any good commeth, but shall inhabite the parched places in the wildernes, in a salt land, and not inhabited.
7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.
8 *For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her roots by the riuer, & shall not feele when the heate commeth, but her leafe shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yeelding fruit.
9 *The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can know it?
10 I the Lord search the heart, and trie the reines, euen to giue euery man according to his waies, and according to the fruite of his workes.
11 *As the partrich gathereth the young, which she hath not brought foorth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shall be a foole.
12 As a glorious throne *exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuary.
13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall bee confounded: they that depart from thee, shall bee written *in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord the fountaine of liuing waters.
14 Heale me, O Lord, and I shall bee whole: *saue me, and I shall be saued: for thou art my prayse.
15 Behold, *they say vnto me, Where is the word of the Lord? let it come now.

b In stead of the law of God, they haue written idolatry and all abominations in their heart.
c Your sinnes appeare in all the altars that you haue erected to idoles.
d Some reade, So that their children remember their altars, that is, follow their fathers wickednesse.
e Zion that was my mountaine, shall now be leit as a waste field.
f Because thou wouldest not giue the lande rest at such times, dayes, and yeeres as I appointed, thou shalt hereafter be caried away, and it shall rest for lacke of labourers.
g The Iewes were giuen to worldly policies and thought to make themselues strong by the friendship of the Egyptians, Isa.31.3. and strangers, and in the meane season did not depend on God, and therefore he denounceth Gods plagues against them, shewing that they preferre corruptible man to God, Reade Psal.1.3.
i Because the wicked haue euer some excuse to defend their doings, he sheweth, that their owne lewd imaginations deceiue them, and bring them to these inconueniences: but God will examine their deeds by the malice of their hearts, 1.Sam.16.7. 1.Chro 28.9. Psal. 7.10. Chap.11.20. and 20.12. Reue 2.23. k As the partrich by calling gathereth others, which forsake her, when they see that she is not their damme: so the conetous man is forsaken of his riches, because he cõmeth by them falsly. l Shewing that the godly ought to glory in nothing, but in God: who doth exalt his, and hath left a signe of his fauour in his Temple. m Their names shall not be registred in the booke of life. n Hee desired God to preserue him that hee fall not into tentation, considering the great contempt of Gods word, and the multitude that fall from God. o The wicked say, that my prophesie shall not come to passe, because thou deferrest the time of thy vengeance.

a The remembrance of their contempt of God cannot passe, albeit, for a time he deferre the punishment, for it shall be manifest to men and Angels.

p I am assured of my vocation, & therefore know that the thing which thou speakest by me, shall come to passe, and that I speake not of any worldly affection.

q Howsoeuer the wicked deale rigorously with me, yet let me finde comfort in thee.

t By naming the Sabbath day, he comprehendeth the thing that is therby signified: for if they transgressed in the ceremonie, they must needes be culpable of the rest, reade Exod. 20.8. and by the breaking of this one commandement, he maketh them transgressors of the whole Law, forasmuch as the first and second Table are conteined herein.

Chap. 22.4.

16 But p I haue not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither haue I desired the day of misery, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee.

17 Bee not q terrible vnto mee: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersity.

18 Let them be confounded that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go and stand in the s gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem, 20 And say vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heede to your soules, and beare no burden in the t Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Neither cary foorth burthens out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither do ye any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commaunded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their necks stiffe, and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheless, if ye wil heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burthen through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye doo no worke therein,

25 Then shall the kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shal sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and shal ride vpon charets, and vpon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Beniamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offrings and sacrifices, and meate offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praysle into the house of the Lord.

27 But if yee will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burthen, nor to go through the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then wil I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God shroweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word. 18 The conspiracy of the Iewes against Ieremiah. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

The word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheeles.

4 And the vessell that he made of a clay, was broken in the hand of the potter: so he returned and made it another vessell, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I wil speake suddenly against a nation or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to roote it out, and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation, against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will u repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I wil speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it and to plant it.

10 But if it do euil in my sight, and heare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euery one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they said x desperately, Surely we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which commeth from the rocke of the field? or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanity, & their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the y ancient wayes, to walke in the paths and way that is not troden,

16 To make their land desolate & a perpetuall derision, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and wagge his head,

17 I will scatter them with an Eastwind before the enemie: I will shew them the backe, and z not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiah: for the Lawe a shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite u As the potter hath power ouer the clay to make what pot hee will, or to breake them when hee hath made them: so haue I power ouer you to doe with you as seemeth God to me, Isa. 45.9. wisedom. 15.7. rom. 9.20, 21.

b When the Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doth contrary to that which hee hath ordained in his secret counsell: but when he threateneth it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth man grace to repent, the threatning, (which euer containeth a condition it it) taketh no place: and this the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to mans iudgement.

c As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne selfe-will.

d As no man that hath thirst, refuseth fresh conduit waters which he hath at home, to goe and seeke waters abroad to quench his thirst: so they ought not to seeke for helpe and succour at strangers, and leaue God, which was present with them. e That is, the way of trueth, which God hath taught by his Law, reade Chap. 6.16. f I will shew mine anger, and not my fauour toward them. g This argument the wicked haue euer vsed against the seruants of God, The Church cannot erre: we are the Church, and therefore whosoeuer speaketh against vs, they ought to die, 1. King. 22.24 chap. 7.4. and 20 2. malachi. 2.4. and thus the false Church persecuteth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in multitude, but is knowen by the graces of the holy Ghost.

19 Hearken vnto me, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stoode before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore [i] deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them droppe away by the force of the sword, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and bee widowes: and let their husbands bee put to death, and let their yong men be slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the crie bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsell against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy light, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

He propheſieth the deſtruction of Ieruſalem for the contempt and deſpiſing of the word of God.

THus ſayde the Lord, Goe, and buy an earthen bottel of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Prieſts,

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the [a] Eaſt gate: and thou ſhalt preach there the words, that I ſhall tell thee,

3 And ſhalt ſay, Heare ye the word of the Lord, O [a] Kings of Iudah, & inhabitants of Ieruſalem, Thus ſayeth the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Beholde, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whoſoeuer heareth, his eares ſhall [b] tingle.

4 Becauſe they haue forſaken mee, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incenſe in it vnto other gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place alſo with the blood of innocents.

5 And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their ſonnes with fire for burnt offrings vnto Baal, which I [c] commanded not, nor ſpake it, neither came it into my minde.)

6 Therefore behold, the daies come, ſaith the Lord, that this place ſhall no more bee called [d] Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of ſlaughter.

7 And I will bring the counſel of Iudah and Ieruſalem to nought in this place, and I will cauſe them to fall by the ſword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that ſeeke their liues: and their karkeſſes will I giue to be meate for the foules of the heauen, and to the beaſtes of the field.

8 [e] And I will make this citie deſolate, and an hiſſing, ſo that euery one that paſſeth thereby, ſhall be aſtonished and hiſſe becauſe of all the plagues thereof.

9 [f] And I will feede them with the fleſh of their ſonnes, and with the fleſh of their daughters, and euery one ſhall eate the fleſh of his friend in the ſiege and ſtraitneſſe, wherewith their enemies, that ſeeke their liues, ſhall hold them ſtrait.

10 Then ſhalt thou breake the bottell in the ſight of the men that goe with thee,

11 And ſhalt ſay vnto them, Thus ſayeth the Lord of hoſts, Euen ſo will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a [g] potters veſſell, that cannot bee made whole againe, and they ſhall burie them in Topheth, till there be no place to burie.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, ſaith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Topheth.

13 For the houſes of Ieruſalem, and the houſes of the Kings of Iudah ſhall be defiled as the place of Topheth, becauſe of all the [f] houſes vpon whoſe [a] rooffes they haue burnt incenſe vnto all the hoſte of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had ſent him to propheſie, and he ſtood in the court of the Lords houſe, and ſaid to all the people,

15 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced againſt it, becauſe they haue hardned their neckes, and would not heare my words.

CHAP. XX.

Ieremiah is ſmitten and caſt into priſon for preaching the word of God. 3 He propheſieth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking ſtocke for the word of God. 9 He is compelled by the ſpirit to preach the word.

WHen Pashur the ſonne of Immer, the Prieſt, which was appointed gouernour in the houſe of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah propheſied theſe things,

2 Then Pashur ſmote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the [a] ſtockes that were in the high gate of Beniamin which was by the houſe of the Lord.

3 And on the morning Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the ſtockes. Then ſaid Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but [a] Magor-miſſabib.

4 For thus ſayeth the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terror to thy ſelfe, and to all thy friends, and they ſhall fall by the ſword of their enemies, and thine eyes ſhall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he ſhall carie them captiue into Babel, and ſhall ſlay them with the ſword.

5 Moreouer, I wil deliuer all the ſubſtance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the pretious things thereof, and all the treaſures of the kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which ſhall ſpoyle them, and take them away and carie them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine houſe, ſhall goe into captiuitie, and thou ſhalt come to Babel, and there thou ſhalt die, and ſhalt bee buried there, thou and all thy [b] friendes, to whome thou haſt

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am c deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast d preuailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cried out of wrong, and proclaimed e deolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch vnto me, and in derision daily.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, & I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the cayling of many, and feare on euery side. f Declare, said they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for my halting, saying, It may bee that hee is deceiued: so wee shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 g But the Lord is with me like a mightie giant: therefore my persecuters shall bee ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shall bee greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euerlasting shame shal neuer be forgotten.

12 h But, O Lord of hosts, that triest the righteous, and seest the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for hee hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 i Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

17 Because hee hath not slaine mee, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue beene my graue, or her wombe a perpetuall l conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorrow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

c Herein appeareth the impatiencie which oftentimes ouercommeth the seruants of God, when they see not their labours to profit, and also feele their owne weaknesse, reade Chap. 15.18.

d Thou diddest thrust me forth to this worke against my will.

e He sheweth that he did his office, in that he reprooued the people of their vices, and threatned them with Gods iudgements: but because he was derided and persecuted for this, he was discouraged, and thought to haue ceased to preach, saue that Gods spirit did force him thereunto.

CHAP. XXI.

Hee propheseth that Zedekiah shall bee taken, and the citie burned.

THe word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 a Enquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs: (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that hee may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will b turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which beliege you without the walles, and I will assemble them into the mids of this citie.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, & with a mightie arme, euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saieth the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruaunts, and the people, and such as are left in this city, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and he shal smite them with y edge of the sword: he shal not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saieth the Lord, Behold, I set before you the c way of life, and the way of death.

9 d He that abideth in this city, shal die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that beseige you, he shall liue, and his life shall be vnto him for a e pray.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euill, and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 ¶ And say vnto the house of the king of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, f Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath goe out like fire and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your works.

13 Behold, I come against thee, g O inhabitant of the valley, & rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visite you according to the fruit of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire h in the forrest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

2 Hee exhorteth the king to iudgement and righteousnesse. 9 Why Ierusalem is brought into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is propheried.

THus said the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the king of Iudah, and speake there this thing.

a Not that the King was touched with repentance of his sinnes, and so sought to God as did Hezekiah when he sent to Esaih, 2 King. 19.1. Isa. 37.2. but because the Prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaoh sought vnto Moses, Exod. 9.28.

D King of Iudah, that sittest vpon ‖ throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, & thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus saith the Lord, a Execute yee iudgement and a righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and vexe not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if yee doe this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this house, * and ride vpon chariots, and vpon horses, both he and his seruants and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these words, I b sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this house shalbe waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art c Gilead vnto me & the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wildernesse, and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will d prepare destroiers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe e cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 f And many nations shall passe by this citie, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great citie?

9 Then shall they answere, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods and serued them.

10 ¶ Weepe not for the dead, and be not mooued for them, but weepe for him g that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his native countrey.

11 For thus saith the Lorde, as touching h Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, He shal not returne thither.

12 But hee shall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by i vnrighteousnes, and his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I will builde me a wide house and large chambers: & he wil make himselfe arge windowes, and sieling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy k father eate and drinke and prosper when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnes, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, They shall l not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or Ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or Ah, his glory.

19 He shall be buried as an asse m is buried, euen drawen and cast foorth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Go vp to n Lebanon, and crie: shout in o Bashan and crie by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperity: but thou saidst, I will not heare, this hath beene thy maner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voice.

22 The wind shall feed all thy pastours, p and thy louers shall go into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednesse.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the q cedars, how beautifull shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauel?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though r Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to cary thee away: and thy mother that bare thee into an other country, where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land, whereunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessel, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they carried away, hee & his seede, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lorde, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shalbe no man of his seed that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

people, Ye haue scattered my flocke & thrust them out, and haue not visited them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your workes, saith the Lord.

3 And I wil gather the [a] remnant of my sheepe out of all countries, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their folds, and they shal grow and increase.

4 And I will set vp shepheardes ouer them, which shal feede them: and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shal any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous [b] branch, & a king shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shalbe saued, and * Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, * The Lord our righteousnesse.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that they shall no more say, The [c] Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

8 But, the Lord liueth, which brought vp and led the seede of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, and from all countreys where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the [e] prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath ouercome) for the presence of the Lord, and for his holy words.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildernesse are dryed vp, and their [h] course is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the prophet and the priest [i] do wickedly: & their wickednesse haue I found in mine [k] house, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shalbe vnto them as [l] slippery wayes in the darknes: they shalbe driuen forth and fal therein: for I wil bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnes in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the Prophets of Ierusalem [m] filthinesse: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the handes of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto [n] me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof, as Gomorah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feede them with [m] wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the prophets of Ierusalem is ‖ wickednes gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Heare not the words of the prophets that prophesie vnto you and teach you vanity: they speake the vision of their owne [o] heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye [p] shal haue peace, and they say vnto euery one that walketh after the stubburnnesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For [q] who hath stood in the counsell of the Lord that he hath perceiued and heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewind shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shal not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye [r] shall vnderstand it plainely.

21 * I haue not sent these Prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ran: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophecied.

22 But if they had stoode in my counsell and [s] had declared my words to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God [t] farre off?

24 Can any hide himself in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? Doe not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets sayd, that prophesie lies in my Name, saying, I [u] haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? † Doe the prophets delite to prophesie lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause [x] my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my Name for Baal?

28 The Prophet that hath a dreame, let him [x] tell a dreame, & he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, saith the Lord? and like a hammer that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that [x] steale my word euery one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I wil come against [y] prophets, saith the Lord, which haue sweete tongues, and say, [z] He saith.

32 Behold, I will come against them that prophesie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commaunded them: therefore they bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee, saying, What is the [b] burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The vision of the baskets of figs, 5 signifieth that part of the people should bee brought againe from captiuitie, 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

THe Lord shewed mee, and beholde, two a baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Jeconiah, the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Judah, and the princes of Judah with the workemen, and cunning men of Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

a The good figs signified them that were gone into captiuity, & so saued their life, as Cha. 21.8. and the naughtie figs them that remained, which were yet subiect to the sword, famine and pestilence.

2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figs that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then sayd the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Jeremiah? And I said, Figs: the good figs very good, and the naughtie very naughtie, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them, that are caryed away captiue of Judah to bee good, whom I haue sent out of this b place, into the land of the Caldeans.

b Whereby he approueth the yeelding of Iecoiah & his company, because they obeyed the Prophet, who exhorted them thereunto.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out,

7 And I will giue them an c heart to know me, that I am the Lord: and they shall be my * people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

d Which fled thither for succour.

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproch, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse, in al places, where I shall cast them.

10 And I wil send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

N B CHAP. XXV.

1 He prophesieth that they shalbe in captiuitie seuentie yeeres, 12 And that after the seuentie yeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 15 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

THe word that came to Jeremiah, concerning all the people of Judah in the a fourth yeere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Judah, that was in the first yere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel:

a That is, in the third yeere accomplished, & in the beginning of the fourth: for though Nebuchad-nezzar began to reigne in the ende of the third yeere of Iehoiakims reigne, yet that yeere is not here counted, because it was almost expired, Dan. 1.1.

2 The which Jeremiah the Prophet spake vnto al the people of Judah, and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yere of Josiah the sonne of Amon king of Judah, euen vnto b this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, & I haue spoken vnto you c rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

b Which was the fift yere and the ninth moneth of Iehoiakims reigne.

c That is, I haue spared no diligence or labour, Cha. 7.13.

4 And the Lorde hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They d sayd, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inuentions, & ye shal dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

d He sheweth that the Prophets wholly with one consent did labour to pull the people from those vices, which then reigned: to wit, from idolatry, and the vaine confidence of men: for vnder these two all other were conteined, 2. Kin. 17. 13. chap. 18.11. and 35.15. Ionah 3.8.

6 And goe not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheless ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your handes to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will send and take to me all the e families of the North, saith the Lorde, and Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations e round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

e The Caldeans, and all their power.

11 And this whole land ſhall be deſolate, and an aſtoniſhment, and theſe nations ſhall ſerue the king of Babel ſeuenty yeeres.

12 And when the i ſeuenty yeeres are accompliſhed, I will viſite k the king of Babel and that nation, ſayeth the Lorde, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall deſolation,

13 And I will bring vpon that lande all my words which I haue pronounced againſt it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Ieremiah hath propheſied againſt all nations.

14 For many nations and great kings ſhall euen l ſerue themſelues of them: thus will I recompenſe them according to their deedes, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Iſrael ſpoken vnto me, m Take the cup of wine of this mine indignation at mine hand, and cauſe all the nations to whom I ſend thee, to drinke it.

16 And they ſhall drinke, and be moued, and be mad, becauſe of the ſword, that I will ſend among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lordes hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had ſent me:

18 Euen Ieruſalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them deſolate, an aſtoniſhment, an hiſſing and a curſe, n as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaoh alſo king of Egypt, and his ſeruants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all ſorts of people, o all the kings of the land o of Uz: and all the kings of the lande of the Philiſtims, and p Aſhkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Aſhdod:

21 q Edom, and Moab, and the Ammonites,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of Arabia that dwell in the s deſert,

26 And all the Kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the world, which are vpon t earth, and the king of u Sheſhach ſhall drinke after them.

27 Therefore ſay thou vnto them, Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, Drinke and be drunken, and ſpew and fall, and riſe no more, becauſe of the ſword, which I will ſend among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuſe to take the cup at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus ſayth the Lord of hoſtes, Ye ſhall certainely drinke.

29 For loe, I begin to plague the x citie, where my name is called vpon, and ſhould you goe free? Ye ſhal not go quite: for I wil call for a ſword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, ſayeth the Lord of hoſts.

30 Therefore propheſie thou againſt them all theſe words, and ſay vnto them, * The Lord ſhall roare from aboue, and thruſt out his voyce from his holy habitation: he ſhall roare vpon his habitation, and cry aloud, as they that preſſe the grapes, againſt all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The ſound ſhal come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuerſie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, and he will giue them that are wicked to the ſword, ſaith the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus ſayeth the Lord of hoſts, Behold, a plague ſhall goe forth from nation to nation, and a * great whirlewind ſhalbe raiſed vp from the coaſts of the earth, 33 And the y ſlaine of the Lord ſhal be at that day from one end of the earth, euen vnto the other end of the earth: they ſhal not be mourned, neither gathered nor buried, but ſhalbe as the dung vpon the ground.

34 Howle, z ye ſhepheards, and cry, and wallow your ſelues in the aſhes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of ſlaughter are accompliſhed, and of your diſperſion, and ye ſhall fall like a precious veſſels.

35 And the b flight ſhall faile from the ſhepheards, and the eſcaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of the cry of the ſhepheards, and an howling of the principal of the flocke ſhall be heard: for the Lorde hath deſtroyed their paſture.

37 And the ‡ beſt paſtures are deſtroyed becauſe of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath forſaken his couert, as the lion: for their land is waſte, becauſe of the wrath of the oppreſſour, and becauſe of the wrath of his indignation.

5 And to heare the words of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this house like d Shiloh, and will make this citie a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house of the Lord.

8 Now when Jeremiah had made an ende of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and said, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Why hast thou prophesied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This e house shalbe like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Jeremiah in the house of the Lord.

10 And when the Princes of Judah heard of these things, they came vp from the kings house vnto the house of the Lord, and sate downe in the entrie of the f new gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priests and the Prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, g This man is worthie to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

13 Therefore nowe amend your wayes and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that hee hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands: doe with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But know yee for certaine, that if yee put mee to death, yee shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truth the Lord hath sent mee vnto you to speake all these words in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priestes, and to the Prophets, This man is not worthie to die: for he hath spoken to vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then arose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Morashite i prophesied in the dayes of Hezekiah king of Judah, and spake to all the people of Judah, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Zion shall bee plowed like a field, and Jerusalem shall bee as heape, and the mountains of the k house shalbe as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Judah, and all Judah put him to death? did hee not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the l plague, that hee had pronounced against them? thus might wee procure great euill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Urijah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-iarim, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah.

21 Now when Jehoiakim the king with all his men of power, and all the Princes heard his words, the King sought to slay him. But when Urijah heard it, he was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Jehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Urijah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Jehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and m cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam n the sonne of Shaphan was with Jeremiah that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

l Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who cannot abide to heare Gods word declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the ende they preuaile nothing, but pronoke Gods iudgements so much the more.

m As in the first, Hezekiahs example is to be followed, so in this other Iehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household.

n Which declareth that nothing could haue appeased their furie, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Jeremiah at the commandement of the Lord sendeth bonds to the king of Iudah, and to the other kings that were neere, whereby they are moued to be subiects to Nebuchad-nezzar. 9 He warneth the people and the kings and rulers that they beleeue not false prophets.

1 In the beginning of the reigne of a Jehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Judah came this word vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee b bonds, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And send them to the King of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon by the hand of the messengers, which come to Jerusalem vnto Zedekiah the king of Judah, great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whome it pleased mee.

6 But now I haue giuen all these landes into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel my c seruant, and the beastes of the fielde haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his d sonne, and his sonnes sonne, vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great Kings shall e serue themselues of him.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your enchanters, nor your sorcerers, which say vnto you thus, Ye shal not serue the king of Babel,

10 For they prophesie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will yee die, thou, and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the King of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shall not serue the King of Babel: for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not f sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the Prophets that prophesie vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your Prophets that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold, the vessels of the House of the Lord shall now shortly bee f brought againe from Babel, for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that yee may liue: wherefore should this citie be desolate?

18 But if they bee Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Judah, and at Jerusalem, goe not to Babel.

19 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, concerning the g pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke not, when hee caried away captiue Jeconiah the sonne of Jehoiakim king of Judah from Jerusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Judah and Jerusalem.

21 For thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Judah, and at Jerusalem, 22 They shall bee brought to Babel, and there they shall be vntil the day that I visite them, sayeth the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

1 The false prophesie of Hananiah. 12 Jeremiah reproueth Hananiah, and prophesieth.

AND that same yeere, in the beginning of the a reigne of Zedekiah King of Judah in the b fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of c Gibeon, spake to mee in the house of the Lord, in the presence of the priests, and of all the people, and sayd,

5 Then the Prophet Jeremiah said vnto the d prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priestes, and in the presence of all the people that stoode in the house of the Lord,

6 Euen the Prophet Jeremiah said, Go beeit: the e Lord do so, the Lord confirme thy words which thou hast prophesied, to restore the vessels of the Lordes house, and all that is caried captiue from Babel, into this place.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before me and before thee in time past, f prophesied against many countreyes, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

1 Jeremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 Hee propheſieth their returne after ſeuentie yeeres. 16 Hee propheſieth the deſtruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Jeruſalem. 21 He threatneth the prophets that ſeduce the people. 25 The death of Shemaiah is propheſied.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babel burnt [m] in the fire.

23 Because they haue committed [a] villanie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying words in my name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I know it, and testifie it, saith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the ‖ Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for [o] Iehoiada the Priest, that ye should be officers in the House of the Lorde, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophecieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31 [b] Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophesied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed: hee shall not haue a man [p] to dwell among this people, neither shal he behold the good, that I will doe for my people, saith the Lord, because he hath spoken rebellionsly against the Lord.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 and comforteth the Church.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, [a] Write thee all the words that I haue spoken vnto thee, in a booke.

3 For lo, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, sayeth the Lorde: for I will restore them vnto the land that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Wee haue heard a [b] terrible voyce, of feare, and not of peace.

6 Demaund now and beholde, if man trauaile with childe. Wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into paleneſſe?

7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none hath been like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that [d] day, sayeth the Lord of hostes, I will breake [e] his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serue themselues [f] of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lord their God, and [g] Dauid their King, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iaakob, saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, sayeth the Lord, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not [h] vtterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and [i] thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue striken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 [l] Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall bee deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shall bee spoyled, and all they that robbe thee, will I giue to bee robbed.

17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The cast-away, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tents, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shall be builded vpon her owne heape, [m] and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

6 For the dayes shall come that the i watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall crie, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto k Zion, to the Lord our God.

8 Behold, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the world, with the blind and the lame among them, with the woman with child, and her that is deliuered also: a great company shall returne hither.

9 They shall come m weeping, and with mercy will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riuers of n water in a straight way, wherin they shal not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is o my first borne.

12 Therefore they shall come and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall runne to the bountifulnesse of the Lorde, euen for the r wheate, and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe and bullockes: and their soule shal be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorrow.

13 Then shall the virgine reioyce in the s dance, and the yong men, and the old men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorrowes.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with t fatnes, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith y Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weeping. u Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saieth the Lord, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy.

17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

set thine heart toward the path e way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go aslray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the LORD hath created d a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compasse a man.

23 Thus saith the LORD of hosts, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The LORD bl esse thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shal dwel in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue satiate the weary soule, & I haue replenished euery sorowfull soule.

26 Therefore I waked, and beheld, and my sleepe f was sweete vnto me.

27 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the LORD, that I will sow the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah g with the seede of man and with the seede of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so wil I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the LORD.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, the dayes come, saith the LORD, that I will make a h new couenant with the house of Israel, & with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they i brake, although I was ‖ an husband vnto them, saith the LORD.

33 But this shall bee the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After k those dayes, saith the LORD, I will put my Law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

34 And they shall l teach no more euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the LORD, for they shall all know mee from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the LORD: for I will forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more.

35 Thus saieth the LORD, which giueth m the Sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the Moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the LORD of hostes.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the LORD, then shall the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus saith the LORD, If the heauens can be measured, n or the foundations of the earth bee searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seede of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the LORD.

38 Behold, the dayes come, saieth the LORD, that the o city shalbe built to the LORD from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shall goe foorth in his presence vpon the hill Gareb, and shall compasse about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsegate toward the East, shall bee holy vnto the LORD, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

d Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sin, he sheweth how this should bee procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whom a woman should conceiue and beare in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because hee should bee borne of a virgin without man: or, he meaneth, that Ierusalem which is like a barren woman in hercapitinitie should bee fruitfull, as she is ioyned in mariage, and whom God blesseth with children.

e Hauing vnderstood this visiō of the Messiah to come, in whom the twohouses of Israel and Iudah should be ioyned, I reioyced.

f I will multiply and enrich them with people and cattell.

g The wicked vsed this prouerbe, when they did murmure against Godsiudgements pronounced by the Prophets, saying that their fathers had committed the fault, & that the children were punished, Exe. 18.3.

h Though the couenant of redemption made to the fathers, & this which was giuen after, seeme diuers, yet they are all one, and grounded on Iesus Christ, saue that this is called new, because of the manifestation of Christ, and the abundant graces of the holy Ghost giuen to his Church vnder the Gospel. i And so were the occasion of their owne distorcement through their infidelitie, Isa. 50.1. ‖ Or, master.

k In the time of Christ, my Law shall in stead of tables of stone be written in their hearts by mine holy Spirit, Heb. 8.8, 10.

l Vnder the kingdom of Christ there shall none bee blinded with ignorance, but I will giue them faith and knowledge of God for remission of their sinnes and dayly increase the same, so that it shall not seeme to come so much by the preaching of my ministers as by the instruction of my holy Spirit, Isa. 54.13. but the full accomplishing hereof is referred to y kingdome of Christ, when we shalbe ioyned with our head.

m If the Sunne, Moone and starr cannot but giue light according to their ordinance, so long as this world lasteth, so shall my Church neuer faile, neither shal any thing hinder it: and as sure as I will haue a people, so certaine is it, y I will leaue them my word for euer to gouern them with.

n The one and the other is impossible.

o As it was performed, Nehem. 3.1 By this description hee sheweth that the cities should be as ample and beautifull as euer it was: but he alludeth to the spirituall Ierusalem whose beauty should be incomparable.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah u cast into prisō because he prophesied that the citie should be taken of the King of Babylon. 7 Hee sheweth that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came vnto Ieremiah from the LORD, in the a tenth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Iudahs house.

3 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, Thus saieth the LORD, b Behold, I will giue this citie into the hands of the king of Babel, and he shall take it?

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah shal not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely bee deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face.

5 And he shall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he bee, vntill c I visite him, saith the LORD: though yee fight with the Caldeans, yee shall not prosper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah said, The word of the LORD came vnto me, saying,

7 Behold, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee and say, d Buy vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for the ‖ title by kinred appertaineth vnto thee d to buy it.

b Till I take Zedekiah away by death: for he shall not die by the sword, as Chap. 34.4.

c Whereby was meant that the people should returne againe out of captiuitie, and enioy their possessions & vineyardes, as verse 15. and 44.

k Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth, that their posteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, shall be punished both for their owne wickednesse, and that the iniquitie of their fathers, which is likewise in them, shall be also reuenged on their head.

l Meaning, that his miracles in deliuering his people, should neuer bee forgotten.

to me in the court of the prison, according to the worde of the Lord, and sayde vnto mee, Buy my e fielde, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Beniamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen f shekels, and ten pieces of siluer.

10 And I writte it in the booke, and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed g according to the Law, and custome, with the booke that was open,

12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen h vessell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lorde, saying,

17 Ah Lorde God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing i hard vnto thee.

18 k Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their l children after them: O God the great and mighty, whose name is the Lord of hosts,

19 Great in counsell, & mighty in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his works)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this m day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a lande that floweth with milke and hony.

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Behold, the n mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it, by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, & behold, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast sayd vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all o flesh: is there any thing too hard for mee?

28 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, & he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this city, and set fire on this citie, and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rooffes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their p youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked mee to anger with the workes of their handes, sayeth the Lord.

31 Therefore this city hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, & of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priestes, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe & not the face: though I taught them, o rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name was called, to defile it,

35 And they built the hie q places of Baal, which are in the valley of r Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes and their daughters to s passe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now t therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shal be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 Behold, I will gather them out of all countreyes, whereto I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath: and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while hee was yet shut vp in the a court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker b thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I wil answere thee, and shew thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the c mounts, and by the sword,

5 They come to d fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselues with the dead bodies of men, whom I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my e face from this citie, because of al their wickednesse.

6 ¶ Behold, f I will giue it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah, and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will g clense them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name, a h ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare, and tremble for all the goodnesse, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this citie.

10 Thus sayeth the Lord, Againe there shal be heard in this place (which ye say shal be desolate, without man, and without beast, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voyce of the toy and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, i Praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the house of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shalbe dwelling for shepheards to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the k mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, & in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Behoulde, the dayes come, (sayeth the Lord) that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

15 In those dayes and at that time will I cause l the branch of righteousnesse to grow vp vnto Dauid, and hee shall execute iudgement, and righteousnesse in the land.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saued, and Ierusalem shall dwel safely, and be that shall call m her, is n Lord our righteousnes.

17 For thus sayeth the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before me to offer o burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus sayeth the Lorde, If you can breake my couenant of the p day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season,

21 Then may my couenant bee broken with Dauid my seruant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priestes my ministers.

22 As the armie of heauen cannot bee numbred, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Hee threatneth that the citie and the King Zedekiah shalbe giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 He rebuketh their cruelty toward their seruants.

THE word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when * Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, * I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shal burne it with fire,

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shal behold the face of the king of Babel, and hee shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah: Thus saith the Lord of thee, thou shalt not die by the sword.

5 But thou shalt die in b peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh Lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 (When the king of Babels host fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the worde that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people which were at Ierusalem, d to proclaime libertie vnto them,

9 That euery man should let his e seruant goe free, and euery man his handmaid, which was an Ebrewe or an Ebrewesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, and euery one his handmaid, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them go.

11 But afterward they f repented, and caused the seruants and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants & handmaides.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of seruants, saying,

14 * At the terme of seuen yeres let ye goe, euery man his brotheran Ebrew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee sixe yeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

15 And yee were now turned, & had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in g the House, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But yee repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, & euery man his handmaid, whom yee had set at liberty at their pleasure, to returne and hold them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and handmaids.

17 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde, Yee haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedom euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terrour to all the kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before me, when they h cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the parts of the calfe,

20 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, & into the hand of them that seeke their life, & into the hand of the king of Babels hoste which i are gone vp from you.

22 Beholde, I will command, saith the Lord, and cause them to returne to this city, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

2 Go vnto the house of the [a] Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

3 Then tooke I Iaazaniah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the [‖] treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, & cups, and [d] said vnto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: For [e] Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commaunded vs, saying, [f] Yee shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

7 Neither shall you build house, nor sowe seede, nor plaint vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes yee shall dwell in tents, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our daies, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue wee vineyard, nor field, nor seede,

10 But wee haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to [g] all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, wee said, Come, and let vs goe to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the host of Aram: so we [h] dwell at Ierusalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Go, and tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will [i] ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commaunded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, [k] rising early, & speaking, but ye would not obey me.

15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, saying, Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and yee shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but yee would not incline your eare, nor obey me.

16 Surely, the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commaundement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euil that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [l] spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Ieremiah sayde vnto the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because yee haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commaunded you, 19 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m] not want a man to stand before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah endyteth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people, & readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth [a] yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this worde vnto Ieremiah from the Lorde, saying,

2 Take thee a roll or booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen [b] from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roll, or booke.

5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am [d] shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and read the roll, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lorde, in the audience of the people in the Lords house vpon the [e] fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger, & the wrath that the Lorde hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded him, reading in the booke the wordes of the Lorde in the Lords Lords house.

9 ¶ And in the fifth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lorde, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the Secretarie, in the higher court at the entrie of the [h] new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the Princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the words that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they sayd vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that wee may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were [i] afrayde, both one and other, and sayd vnto Baruch, We will certifie the king of all these words.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how diddest thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, Hee pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote them with yncke in the booke.

19 Then sayd the Princes vnto Baruch, Goe, [k] hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they layde vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and told the King all the words, that hee might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudi to fetche the roule, and hee tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the Princes, which stood beside the King.

22 Now the King sate in the winterhouse, in the [l] ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure sides, he cut it with the pen-knife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntil all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afrayde, nor rent [m] their garments, neither the king, nor any of his seruants that heard all these words.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the king, that hee would not burne the roule, but hee would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet: but the Lord [n] hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe [o] another roule, and write in it all the former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, [p] Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainely come [q] & destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, He shall haue [r] none to sitte vpon the throne of Dauid, and his [r] dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visit him and his seed, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the Scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeedeth Ieconiah. 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah going into the land of Beniamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten, and put in prison.

AND [a] King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for [a] Koniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel [b] made King in the lande of Iudah.

2 But neither hee, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the words of the Lord, which he spake by the [‡] ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King [c] sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah [d] went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

g The fast was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before that Ierusalem was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel and his companions were led away captiues.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the requeſt of Ebed melech the king commandeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah ſheweth the king how he might eſcape death.

THen Shephatiah the ſonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the ſonne of Pashur, and Iucal the ſonne of Shelemiah, and Pashur the ſonne of a Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had ſpoken vnto all the people, ſaying,

2 Thus ſayeth the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, ſhall die by the ſword, by the famine and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, ſhall liue: for he ſhall haue his life for a prey, and ſhall liue.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord, This citie ſhall ſurely bee giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which ſhall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes ſayd vnto the King, We beſeech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ‖ weakeneth the hands of the men of warre b that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuch wordes vnto them: for this man ſeeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king ſaid, Behold, hee is in your hands, for the king can denie c you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and caſt him into the dungeon of Malchiah the ſonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the priſon: and they let downe Ieremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: ſo Ieremiah ſtacke faſt in the mire.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the ‡ blacke Moze, one of the Eunuches, which was in the kings houſe, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the king ſate in the d gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings houſe, and ſpake to the king, ſaying,

9 My lord the king, e theſe men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue caſt into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, ſaying, Take from hence thirtie men ‡ with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the houſe of the king vnder the treaſurie, and tooke there old rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by cordes into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moze ſayd vnto Ieremiah, Put nowe theſe olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine armeholes, betweene the cordes. And Ieremiah did ſo.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiah with cords, and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and and Jeremiah remained in ſ the court of the priſon.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king ſent, and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the thirde entry that is in the houſe of the Lorde, and the king ſaid vnto Jeremiah, I will aſke thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah ſaide to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou ſlay mee? and if I giue thee counſell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king ſware ſecretly vnto Jeremiah, ſaying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs theſe ſoules, I will not ſlay thee, nor giue thee into the handes of thoſe men that ſeeke thy life.

17 Then ſaide Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus ſaith the Lorde God of hoſtes, the God of Iſrael, If thou wilt goe forth vnto the king of Babels h princes, then thy ſoule ſhall liue, and this citie ſhall not bee burnt vp with fire, and thou ſhalt liue, and thine houſe.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the king of Babels princes, then ſhall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they ſhall burne it with fire, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king ſaid vnto Jeremiah, I am carefull for the Jewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, leſt they deliuer me into their hands, and they i mocke me.

20 But Jeremiah ſaid, They ſhall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voice of the Lorde, I beſeech thee, which I ſpeake vnto thee: ſo ſhall it bee well vnto thee, and thy ſoule ſhall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuſe to goe forth, this is the word that the Lorde hath ſhewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are k left in the kings houſe, ſhall bee brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and thoſe women ſhall ſay, Thy friends haue perſwaded thee, and haue preuailed againſt thee, thy feete are faſtened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

23 So they ſhall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands, but ſhalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie ſhalt thou cauſe to bee burnt with fire.

24 Then ſaid Zedekiah vnto Jeremiah, Let no man know of theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderſtand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and ſay vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou haſt ſaid vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not ſlay thee: alſo what the king ſaid vnto thee,

26 Then ſhalt thou ſay vnto them, I humbly l beſought the king that hee would not cauſe mee to returne to Johonathans houſe to die there.

27 Then came all the Princes vnto Jeremiah and aſked him. And hee tolde them according to all theſe words that the king had commaunded: ſo they left off ſpeaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiah abode ſtill in the court of the priſon, vntill the day that Jeruſalem was taken: and hee was there, when Jeruſalem was taken.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar beſiegeth Ieruſalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing, is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His ſonnes are ſlaine. 7 His eyes are thruſt out. 11 Ieremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebed melech is deliuered from captiuitie.

IN the ninth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel and all his hoſte againſt Jeruſalem, and they beſieged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken a vp.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and ſat in the middle gate, euen Nereg al, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarſechim, Rab-ſaris, Nereg al, Sharezer, Rabmag, whith all the reſidue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah ſawe them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the city by night, through the kings garden, and by the b gate between the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes.

5 But the Caldeans hoſt purſued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the deſert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto c Riblah in the lande of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.
